TASSELS REPORT HEAVY SALES OF PLAYERS TICKETS

Second Day Results Indicate Pep Girls Will Make Missouri Trip.

DRIVE CLOSING TONIGHT

778 Pasteboards Sold in Two Days; Margaret Chevront High.

That the Tassels society will take the grid trip to Missouri seems fairly well assured if students and faculty members continue to support their annual season ticket campaign for the University Players.

At the end of the first two days of selling their total is well over a hundred beyond last year's mark. At the close of reports, Tuesday evening, it was indicated that the Tassels had sold 788 tickets as compared to about 650 a year ago. The drive will continue through today and close this evening.

Total sales for Tuesday amounted to 444 tickets disposed of as compared with 344 sold Monday. On both days the Tassels have been well above last year's mark and every indication points to a new record for the year.

CORNHUSKER POSITIONS CLOSED TO APPLICANTS

Tardy Aspirants Besiege Annual Office; Staff Announced Soon.

Doors were closed Tuesday afternoon to applicants for positions on the Cornhusker staff. The call for more applications at the last minute netted the names of many students interested in this activity. The Cornhusker office was busy receiving applications Tuesday until the time set for closing.

The staff will be picked today if time permits and will be published as soon as completed, probably Thursday or Friday. Eligibility of applicants will have to be checked before the list can be made.

Response of the students in having their pictures taken has been good during the first few days. It is urged that the rest of the pictures be taken as soon as possible in order to avoid the usual last minute rush. The editor of the Cornhusker will appreciate the co-operation of all students in this matter.

Marionette Paderewski Features Act in Temple Saturday; Puppet Troup Will Present Acrobat Bill

"Come on, Jim, give that piano a shove—we gotta get it on this stage for Paddy."

Enter Paderewski. The famous musician bows to the excited audience and sits down at the piano. First he plays a gentle nocturne, then a march, and then a complicated thing with runs, trills, scales and other difficult things. So excited does he become that he leans from side to side, his hair falls over his eyes, and his eyebrows work in time to the music. This last feat may not seem very wonderful for Paderewski, but remember we are speaking of Marionette Paderewski.

One of the most difficult marionettes ever built is this moveable eyebrow Marionette Paderewski which is the work of Westworth Fling, part owner and puppeteer of the Lincoln Marionettes which are to be presented by the university Y. W. C. A. on Oct. 3 at the Temple theater.

Puppets are Realistic Actors. All marionettes to be used in the show on Saturday are "trick" marionettes which are of course the most difficult to build and to

TOMORROW MARKS BIRTH OF ANOTHER CAMPUS TRADITION

'Hello Day' Is New Addition To Wealth of Nebraska School Customs.

Tomorrow is hello day. Hello day is to be a new tradition on the Nebraska campus if ideas of the A. W. S. board and other groups work out. The idea was conceived at the Detroit convention of the A. W. S. board this summer. It is a new venture on the part of the upper classes to promote and secure a better feeling of friendship and co-operation among the freshmen.

All upper classes are asked to say "hello" to all freshmen wearing green buttons or scarlet and cream caps on that day, and the freshmen are asked to conform to the regulations set for them.

A. W. S. Board Inaugurates.

The day is being made possible by the freshman activity branch of the A. W. S. board of which Margaret Upon is chairman. The idea is being backed by A. W. S. Mortar Board, and the Innocents society.

Jean Rathburn, Mortar Board head, stated last night that that organization was heartily in accord with the plan, and that the group felt it would go a long way to bring back a friendly spirit on the campus and to get away from the clique idea.

Richard Dexereux, president of the Innocents Society, also said last night that the senior men's honorary would help push the project. He said that he felt it to be an excellent plan for the unity of spirit so much needed at Nebraska. "It is one of the duties of the Innocents society to sponsor school spirit and student loyalty to the institution. There can be no loyalty to school until we have loyalty to schoolmates," he said.

SPORTS MASS MEETING PLANNED FOR TONIGHT

ALL WOMEN INVITED

All girls, also not members of organized houses, interested in the sports program which has been planned for the coming year will be officially invited at the mass meeting Thursday evening, by Miss Clarice MacDonald, intramural head, to take part in any contests.

At the Thursday evening meeting the program of sports will be given to those present. A much larger and more complete schedule is being planned. With the opening of the new pool at least one intramural swimming meet a year can be made possible, and a riding club is hoped to be established, if horses are available. Speedball, which is usually the first sport on the fall program, may be delayed because of work being done to the outdoor field.

The awards for the winners of last year's sports will be made also at this time, and the new sport heads will be announced.

1931 GRADUATE GETS CHICAGO SCHOLARSHIP

John Stenvall of Hastings Given Annual Morey Prize Award.

WAS FINE ART STUDENT

John Stenvall, Hastings, who received his Bachelor of Fine Arts degree last spring, was recently awarded the Riordan-Morey fine arts scholarship. Taking advantage of the award, Stenvall is now in Chicago where he will enroll as a student to Chicago Institute of Art to which school the scholarship applies.

The award which is offered every two years was founded by Mrs. Morey and amounts to $500. It is presented to the graduate who is considered by the faculty to have made the best four year record in the University of Nebraska.

Stenvall has been recognized by the faculty and students for a number of years as the university's leading designer. His work of art has also been recognized outside of the university, since one of his designs was published in the American Federation of Arts last year, and many others published in magazines of lesser note. He also won two prizes for his work at the state fair this year. The map of Nebraska made of butter which was on display during the state fair and which was heralded as extremely artistic, was another of Stenvall's products.

The scholarship, which was founded by Mrs. Morey, prominent club woman of Hastings, entitles the receiver to one year's instruction.

FOOD SHOW HOLDS WIDE PUBLIC APPEAL

Demonstration in Coliseum To Continue Through Saturday.

Lincoln's first food show opened Monday, September 28, and will be continued through Saturday, October 3. It is hoped by the show officials that this will be made an annual affair. One of the features of the show is a free cooking school which is conducted daily at 8:00 o'clock in the afternoon by Mrs. Margaret E. Brown of Minneapolis, Minn.

Another feature is the meat cutting demonstration in charge of Prof. William J. Loeffle of the University of Nebraska college of agriculture, which is given daily.

Among the displays there are seventy-two booths, showing the products of forty-five business firms. Four automobile exhibits are on the floor of the coliseum. All kinds of cooking utensils, dishes, refrigerators, cooking stoves and other home furnishings are being shown in the collection of articles on display.

The show opens every afternoon at one o'clock and closes at five. It opens at 6:30 for the evening show and closes again at 11. Large crowds, including many retail dealers in groceries and meats from over the state and surrounding territory have witnessed the show.

STUDENTS MAY MAKE GREATER USE BOOKS

Announcement Cites Chance Offered by Library for Recreation.

An announcement from the library calls attention to the books in the library not prescribed for class assignments. It is relatively easy, according to the announcement, for students to choose books for recreational reading from the supply in the university library.

Although the stacks are closed to undergraduates, the announcement says, use of the catalog and keeping watch on the books placed on the home reading shelves near the loan desk enables selection of a varied supply of reading material.

Explaining the use of the home reading shelves the announcement says: "Here are placed collections of attractive books on subjects not in the curriculum. These are changed every few weeks, so that the students in the course of the year may become familiar with a large number of books on various subjects. The books now on the shelves are concerned with college life in its various phases."

HOUSES RESPOND AS HUMOR SHEET SALES CANVASS IS STARTED

Lau Reports Subscriptions Coming In Following Drive Monday.

The subscription campaign for the Awgwan, campus humor publication, was launched Monday night when members of Sigma Delta Chi, honorary journalism fraternity which sponsors the magazine, visited the Greek letter organizations on the campus in a house to house canvass.

As a result of the preliminary canvass, orders for the magazine are already coming in. Business Manager Bob Lau says. Several organizations have already sent in their bloc subscriptions, and more are expected to follow.

"The low rate of $2 for a bloc of twenty-five copies of each issue is being recognized as a notable bargain," Lau declared, "and the fraternities and sororities are giving every evidence that they will lend their support to the Awgwan this year."

Block Subscriptions $20.

In addition to the $20 rate, the price of bloc subscriptions will be further reduced ten percent, bringing the cost to $18 if paid for within ten days after the release of the first issue. Bloc subscriptions will also be delivered, Lau announced.

The drive for single copy subscriptions will begin upon the release of the first issue. Single rates will be $1, or $1.50 mailed. A special combination offer including a subscription to College Humor with the Awgwan will be offered for $3.20 mailed.

HOLD FLESH WARMING RITES FOR AG FROSH

Club Initiation Calls New Men to Horse Barns For Ceremony.

'HOT' TIME IS ASSURED

All is in readiness at the agricultural college for the annual freshmen Ag club initiation which is to be held in the horse barn tonight, according to Delphin Nash, president of the organization. The ceremony is scheduled to get underway at 7 o'clock.

Committeemen on the "flesh warming" initiation were named last week by Nash and they have been working since on the ritual which is promised to be something new and unusual.

Though the freshmen in the college of agriculture are not compelled to join Ag club, Nash says most of the first year men find it a little embarrassing if they are not a member of the organization. It is open to all men students in the college.

Freshmen are expected to report at the barn shortly before 7 o'clock for the ceremony. They are all requested to wear old clothing. After the initiation ceremonies, the new club members will be served a lunch.
