

Y.W.C.A. MEMBERSHIP DRIVE HAS OPENED

Series of Teas and Office Hours Feature New Approach.

FROSH URGED TO JOIN

The annual Y. W. C. A. membership drive this year began Monday, Oct. 19, and continues for a week at the university Y. W. C. A. offices states. The first day of the drive there will be a membership tea at Ellen Smith hall from four to five o'clock, and another Thursday at the same hour. Offices during the campaign will be open every day of the week from four to five at Ellen Smith hall, and from twelve to one at the Home Economics parlors.

The University of Nebraska Y. W. C. A. begins its annual membership drive this week and invites all women students to join. It especially welcomes the affiliation of freshmen, for it desires to meet these new students, tell them of the opportunities that Y. W. C. A. offers and assist them to realize their ambitions," according to the announcement of the drive.

Purpose Explained.
The Y. W. C. A. is an organization founded with the desire of realizing a full and creative life through a growing knowledge of God and a determination to make this life possible for all people. With these basic standards, the University of Nebraska Y. W. C. A. has developed into one of the influential organizations on the campus.

For forty-seven years, it has welcomed the membership of all women students regardless of race or creed. It has been a determining factor in developing young women of ability and leadership.

This organization is divided into eleven departments or staffs, each one of which is devoted to the interests of a particular type of girl. The publicity staff, which is sponsored by Roseline Pizer is composed of a group of students interested in journalism. Their duty is to cover all the publicity for Y. W. C. A.

Organization Described.
The inter-racial staff is under the leadership of Helen Cassaday.

There are advantages here for the girl who is interested in racial problems. She not only has a chance to meet girls of other races, but also becomes more sympathetic to their problems.

Three groups comprise the commission staffs which are divided into freshman, sophomore and upperclass units. These are discussion groups, in which students have a chance to express themselves on all types of problems, social, political, and religious.

Girls who feel inclined toward music, literature, and art will be interested in the vesper staff and choir. This staff, which is headed by Dorothy Jensen, seeks to spread an appreciation of art to a technical campus by "appreciation hours."

The industrial staff is sponsored by Mildred Dole. Here economists and sociologists delve into the problems of the industrial world, and actually investigate the conditions under which employees are obliged to labor, and the finance staff, under the leadership of Eleanor Dixon, is open to the financiers and economists. Aileen Neely heads the membership staff.

This department must see that every girl on the campus has an opportunity to become affiliated with Y. W. C. A.

Prospective teachers who intend to be Girl Reserve advisers are members of the experimental Girl Reserve club.

The interchurch staff discusses religious prejudices and difficulties in their weekly meetings.

Students who belong to the conference staff, meet at Estes park each summer in group discussions to find an adequate philosophy of life and to have a chance to live it.

RULING OF KLUB CAUSES PROTEST BY LAW COLLEGE

The engineering college had a candidate, Miss Bartos, in the field for an honorary position. Whether they were unified enough in their support to get her elected is still another issue. By their own admission the engineers concede that they are far less organized for matters of this sort than are the law students. It is highly doubtful if engineers were able to organize thoroughly enough to elect the candidate from that college.

Partly thru its own negligence and in part due to a misunderstanding of eligibility requirements on the part of the registrar's office and one of the girl candidates, Kosmet Klub involved itself Monday, in one of those peculiar things which might be called a "muddle." It seems that they permitted an ineligible student, Miss Imogene Steinmeier of Anselmy, a member of Alpha Chi Omega and a freshman law, to be announced as an official candidate for Nebraska sweetheart. Resultantly an intricate mixup ensued which aroused law students in a body of protest.

Negligence Shown.
The negligence of Kosmet Klub consists of this:

When one of its own representatives checked eligibilities of candidates with the registrar, Saturday morning, he forgot to ask the registrar to check up on anything but the grade rating. He neglected to make it known to the eligibility checker that senior girls, i. e.—girls with over eighty-nine credit hours—were not eligible for the position this year.

The misunderstanding on the part of the particular candidate is this:

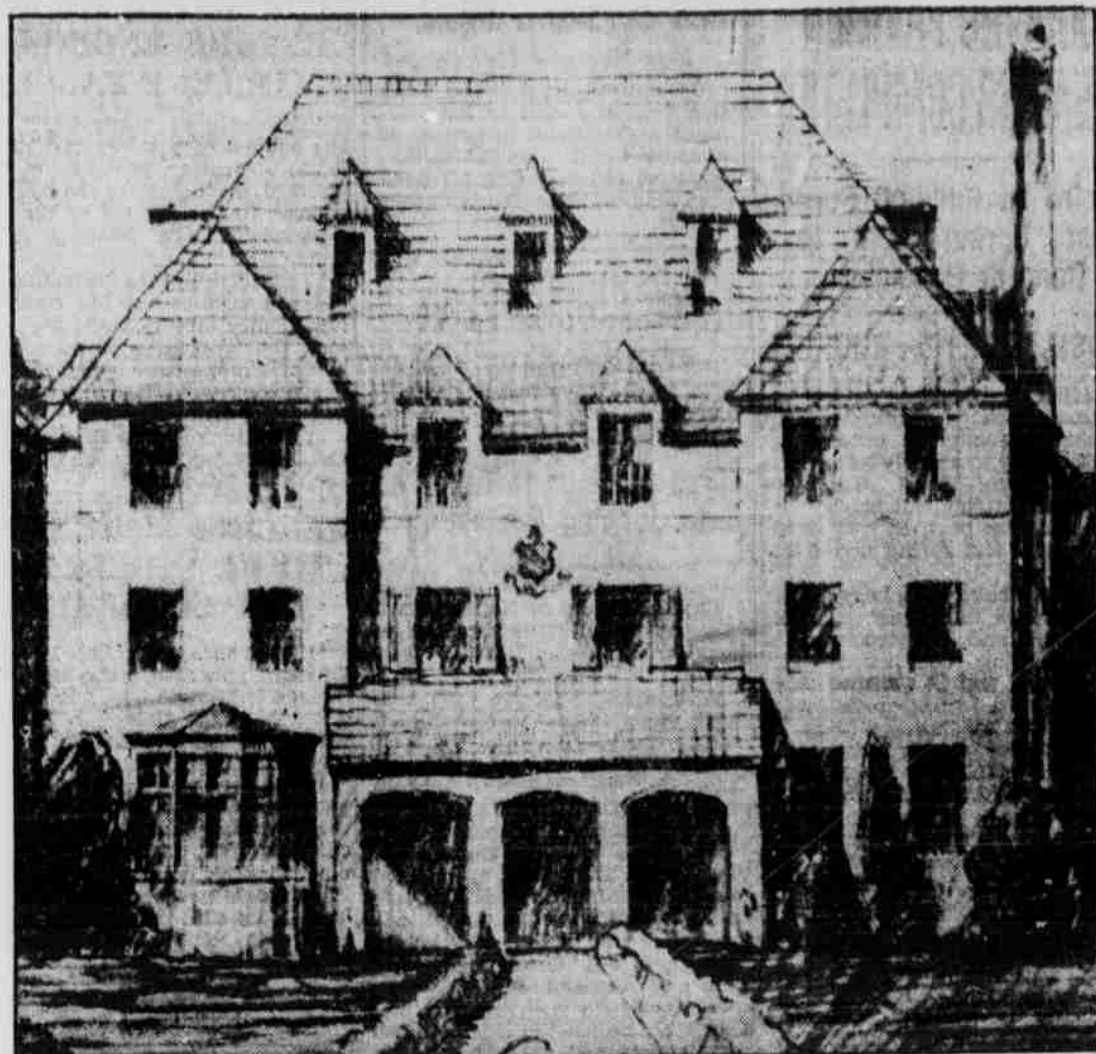

She took it for granted that requirements were the same as in former years and was not aware of the new ruling, prohibiting seniors, which Kosmet Klub passed at a meeting last week.

Richard Devereaux, president of Kosmet Klub, was out of town at the time that filings were announced and not until Sunday evening did he discover the error which had been made by one of the members of his organization—one of those, incidentally, who helped pass the new rule.

Monday the law college candidate was informed of her ineligibility and Monday evening the law college, speaking through the presidents of its respective classes, protested. Later Monday evening at 11 o'clock, Kosmet Klub held a special meeting and decided to stand by its ruling despite the error which one of its members had made. Still later Monday evening, Miss Audrey Gregory, Hastings, last year's Nebraska Sweetheart, resigned as queen of King Kosmet's court.

ALPHA SIGMA PHI WILL BUILD

Members of Alpha Sigma Phi plan construction of this new $55,000 home on their property at the southwest corner of 18th and R st. Plans are being made by a building committee consisting of R. C. Van Kirk, L. A. Crandall, Lincoln and Ray Fee and L. A. Hickman of Omaha. Construction will begin next summer. They plan to build the new property in red brick combined with cream colored stone.

Explanation of Kosmet Klub's refusal to allow the candidate's name to remain on the ballot Tuesday, is given by Richard Devereaux as follows:

"We decided to limit candidacies for this position to sophomore and junior girls for this reason: Other honorary positions for girls, such as honorary colonel which is limited by ruling, and prom girl which is limited by custom, go to seniors. In the Nebraska Sweetheart, we have decided to reserve something for girls in other classes. For that reason we withheld the law college candidate's name, not because of discrimination, but because of our ruling against seniors, from the ballot."

Law students made their protest official last evening with the dispatch of the following open letter signed by the presidents of the respective law classes:

To Whom It May Concern:
In order that there be no misunderstanding the law college wishes to state their position in the controversy concerning the election of the Nebraska Sweetheart. The whole affair is rather trivial. Who is Nebraska Sweetheart is an unimportant matter, both to her, the university, and us. Our complaint has to do with a matter of principle. We object to any election which is unfair, which is not conducted to law and which is made a farce by the domination of a small interested group of students.

In the past the Nebraska Sweetheart has been representative of the University of Nebraska. Her candidacy was not confined to any particular college or group. She was chosen from among all the girls on the campus. Comes now an organization and under the guise of a rule of eligibility imposes a ruling which automatically eliminates the law college from actual participation in the election. Although the lawyers are not deprived of their franchise, the exercise of it is of no avail as long as the nominations are in the control of the small group of interested students previously mentioned. Under this new ruling the law college will be very unlikely to have another candidate as Nebraska Sweetheart, by reason of the fact that most freshmen law students have three years of arts and science work before entering this college.

By what authority was this ruling passed? We question the right of any group or club to so control what is supposed to be a general university election, and that is the sole reason for our objection at this time.

If the Kosmet Klub feels that it is their show and they want a young lady representative of them they should choose a Kosmet Sweetheart under any set of rules they care to select. But if the young lady they use in their revue is to represent the U of N then she should be selected on the general university standards.

The student body of the law college spend six years in undergraduate work. No other group spends longer, few as long. No other group can be said to be more loyal to Nebraska institutions. It is singular that a member of such a group would be ineligible for any all University office.

The reason advanced for this new rule was that it would insure the return of the candidate the next year to be Queen. That this is entirely a false reason is too well demonstrated by the case of Audrey Gregory.

Our objection is not that our candidate was stricken from the ballot but that the manner in which it was done was improper and unlawful. As a matter of policy we must insist that University politics, however petty they may be, be conducted fairly and squarely to all concerned.

Robert Young.

As to the problem of what they will do about a queen for their morning revue, since Miss Gregory has resigned, President Devereaux declared that the club had made no definite plan of action yet, but that "there would be a queen for the revue regardless of what happened."

CELEBRITY ISSUE OF AWGWAN GOES ON STANDS TODAY

wan has ever had," Marvin Robinson, editor, said.

A larger campus individual sale of the Awgwan is anticipated than is usually obtained, and more copies are to be placed on sale at news stands and cigar stores than formerly.

"There are still a number of fraternity and sorority block subscriptions that have not been turned in, but if any are turned in before 11 o'clock this morning the copies will be delivered," Robinson said.

Work on the November issue has been started and material is being sent to the printers as fast as it comes in. The cover for this number is now being prepared.

"More contributors are needed, and anyone interested in writing short material or doing art work is requested to come to the Awgwan office any afternoon after 3 o'clock. The work will be explained and those who report will be given something to do," the editor said.

Stage decorations will feature Jayhawk and Cornhusker colors according to barb council representatives. An attempt will be made, they say, to emulate the fan-style decorations above the floor in a similar manner on the stage.

Sponsored by Innocents.
The all-university party Saturday night is being sponsored by the Innocents society. Members hope to make it an annual affair. Tickets are being sold by Corn Cobs, men's pep organization, at $1 per couple, and salesmen report that the pasteboards are selling well.

MORLEY DEPICTS MAYA FINDINGS IN CONVOCATION

of new sites, invisible from land travel.

"The Maya civilization which began some 2,000 years ago developed on the continental bridge, the area linking North and South America, to a point where it became the most highly developed aboriginal civilization in the western hemisphere," Dr. Morley stated.

Describes Carnegie Work.

The Carnegie institute, with which Dr. Morley is affiliated, has been at work on exploring, excavating and restoring specimens of this Maya civilization since 1914. Special emphasis has been placed on the exploration and restoration of Ohichen-Itza, said Dr. Morley, because from indications it was the most important and holiest city of that ancient period.

He described in detail the exploration and restoration of one of the temples of Ohichen-Itza—the Temple of Warriors, so named because it contained stone pillars which bore carvings resembling warriors.

Work on the Temple of Warriors has been in progress since 1925 and today it is partially restored. He concluded his lecture with a description of sacrificial offerings which are found usually below the altars in these ruined Maya temples. He pointed to a specimen which resembled a mosaic disc, extremely intricate in design, and composed of priceless turquoise. The center of the mosaic was a sand stone disc which, because of its rarity in that area is believed to have been valued higher by the Maya people than the turquoise.

Dr. Morley was introduced by Prof. J. O. Hertzler, chairman of the university committee on convocations, who explained that this was the first of a series of convocations at which it was planned to have speakers of distinction in various fields of research.

W. H. MORTON SPEAKS TO KANSAS TEACHERS

W. H. Morton, principal of teachers college high school and director of teacher training, addressed the Decatur County Teachers association, Saturday, at Oberlin, Kas., on the subject, "Pupil Behavior; the Teacher's Challenge."

GRADUATE WILL SPEAK AT SOCIETY MEETING

Irving McKinley to Tell of His Experiences in Russian Work.

MEETING OPEN TO ALL

Irving McKinley, graduate of the agricultural college, who has spent the last few years in Russia, will deliver the principal address at the Delta Union Literary society's annual homecoming meeting. The meeting will be held Friday night at 8:30 o'clock in room 303 of the Temple building.

McKinley's address will deal, in the main, with the problems he encountered during the last few years in attempting to teach the Russians the modern method of farming.

The homecoming meeting is to be an open one, according to word received from the committee in charge. Anyone interested is cordially invited to listen to the scheduled lectures and to take part in the entertainment which will follow.

In addition to McKinley's talk, the program will include various musical selections by members of the university school of music, and different games.

According to Harold Benschel and Christine Petersen, who are in charge of the program, there will be no admission charge.

The society pledged five new members at its regular meeting held Oct. 17. The pledges are Beulah Nicholas, Ruth Burhman, Clarence Dahl, Einer Dahl, and B. H. Ingrham. A second pledging will be held Oct. 17 when several more students will be taken into the organization.

"revival meeting" will start at 7:30.

An effort will be made to have all members of the Nebraska coaching staff there, according to the rally chairman. He said that in the event it would be impossible to secure DuTeau as a speaker an attempt would be made to get some other outstanding talker. He intimated that at least one more important personage would be added to the program at the stadium.

Carpenters have started construction of the platform to be erected for speakers, and installation of lights will be made before the rally Friday night.

WRITER PRESENTS HISTORY AND WORDS OF 'CORNHUSKER,' TRADITIONAL SONG.

Chorus.

For Nebraska and the Scarlet,
For Nebraska and the Cream
Tho' we've gone thru many a battle,

Our colors still are seen;
So in contest and in victory,
We will wave them for the team
And 'twill always stir a Cornhusker.

The old Scarlet and the Cream!

Robert Stephens, who served on the faculty of the School of Music, wrote the words and music to this song. He was a great football enthusiast, and followed the team as closely as his work would allow during the ten years he was here. The song was written in 1912, and shortly after Mr. Stephens left for Chicago, to be connected with the school of music at the University of Chicago. He is now on the teaching staff of the Conn School of Music in that city.

So that is how the "Cornhusker" was written. Can't we all learn the words and preserve a Nebraska tradition that is as worthwhile as it is beautiful? And remember, hats off!
