

BIBLE GRIDDERS DRILL HARD FOR JAYHAWK GAME

Huskies Sent Against Frosh, Nubbins in Tuesday Scrimmage.

BACKS POLISH OFFENSE Masterson Looks Good as Coaches Stress Pass Department.

With every man in the squad reporting for action, Coach Dana X. Bible worked his men hard against both the freshmen and nubbins on Tuesday afternoon in Memorial stadium. With the Kansas game only four days away, the Cornhuskers increased their activity and yesterday's workout was a long, hard one.

Plunges Bring Gains. Altho line plunges brought many yards, the playing concentrated largely on passes, and consequently, considerable improvement on that means of attack was apparent.

For the second time this year a cut was made in the varsity squad. Three men Ludwig Gartner, guard, Warren Scoggan, tackle, and Clarence Nelson, were added to Joe Lehman's squad. This leaves Bible and his assistants with three full teams composed of three centers, five guards, six tackles, six ends, five quarterbacks, and nine other backfield men.

The three men who suffered casualties over the week end, Ely, Kreizinger and Kilbourne, were back in the harness and showing up well.

Now that the Big Six has approved the idea of charity games, the matter of suitable an opponent must be taken up. While selecting the opposition, the matter of finances must be kept in mind. It would be foolish to bring some team into Lincoln for the game when the expense would run almost as much as the receipts.

The favorites for the Big Six championship turned a complete circle last week when Kansas Aggies won from Kansas. Up to that time the Jayhawkers had been given the preference. Now the Aggies are on top with Nebraska given a chance to knock them off the peak.

The Cornhuskers can do lots better than to start thinking about the Kansas Aggie game on November 14. Nebraska has two conference games to play between now and that time—Kansas and Missouri. Coach Bible, scouting the Kansas-Kansas Aggie game returned with the report that Kansas has a strong team. In fact, it is only necessary to look at the size of the men to tell that Kansas is going to be awfully tough this Saturday, and Missouri isn't going to be any setup a week from then.

John K. Selleck, please take note. Somewhere, sometime, it was said that you cannot please everyone. Now that you have reduced the price of tickets to $1 for the remaining games for students, a man just came into the office and began to cry. After suppressing the flow of tears sufficiently to understand what the matter was, it seems that he is a student who bought a student athletic ticket. He bewails the fact that he cannot go to any basketball or baseball games, and after sitting down for a long time figured that the first two games cost him exactly $6.00. And here we were all rejoicing over the prospects of the students who could not pay the regular price getting in for a buck when this comes up. There's only one thing to do. Refund all the money for all season tickets and student athletic books and pass the hat at all games here on out. It's a tough life!

Late news notes on the flags and progress made in getting women to walk to parties are bad. There are no new flags up, in fact the Lone Wolf on the stadium is becoming more tattered and torn every day. Also, we have yet to hear of a woman that has walked any place. Our two pet campaigns seem to be going on the rocks, and we shall continue to keep you posted on their progress.

SCORES GREEK MEN FOR LACK RESPONSE

According to Miss Simpson, is promoted in the interest of making homecoming a more gala affair by reason of having more alumni return. It is to the interest of men as well as women to make for a successful homecoming, and where as the support given the A. W. S. board by the sororities has been as enthusiastic as it has ever been, I am disappointed in the reaction of the men students of the university," she said.

There is still time for stamps to be checked out this afternoon at the Nebraska office, according to Miss Simpson, and it is hoped that fraternities will co-operate in seeing that their representatives report. Those who have checked out stamps and have their money ready to turn in are asked to do so any afternoon this week from 3 to 5 at the Nebraska office.

Campaigns within sorority and organized women's rooming houses should be completed and money turned in at Ellen Smith hall any afternoon this week from 3 to 5 o'clock. The absolute deadline for all money and stamps to be in, according to Miss Simpson, is Friday at 5.

AG JUDGING PAVILION NEARING COMPLETION

Repairs on Building Burned Last Spring Will Be Done in November.

FINISH SLATE ROOFING

The judging pavilion on the agricultural college campus will probably be ready to occupy by Thanksgiving or shortly after, according to Prof. H. J. Gramlich, head of the animal husbandry department. The pavilion was damaged by fire last spring and is being repaired.

Workers have been busy on the building since the start of the school year and the structure is rapidly nearing completion. The slate roofing will be finished this week and actual work on the interior will start at once.

The Kingery Construction company of Lincoln which was awarded the contract for the building has twenty men working on the structure. The concrete seats in the judging arena on the first floor have already been done.

Commenting upon the newly repaired structure, Prof. Gramlich says it will afford the department a better place in which to carry on their work. The building will be practically fireproof with the elimination of the attic which was used formerly for storing seeds.

Instead of running east and west as before, the corridor on the second floor will run north and south. It will be seven feet wide. The entire second floor will be more commodious than before and have access to more light.

Present plans call for entertainment for the guests in the judging pavilion in the horse barn. Prof. Gramlich has lined up a program of stunts and exhibitions. In addition the prize winning livestock of the University of Nebraska will be paraded before the visitors.

At noon or shortly before, the guests will be taken to the student activities building where they will be served with a dinner by the college.
