REVUE QUEEN OF LAST YEAR WILL REIGN AT COURT

Miss Lucille Carrothers Is to Fill Kosmet Vacancy.

ACTS ARE REHEARSING

Twelve Skits to Be Given; Hoff Is Arranging Presentation.

Lucille Carrothers, Falls City, Kosmet queen last year, has consented to reign as queen of the Kosmet court again this year, taking the place resigned by Audrey Gregory.

The throne was vacated by Miss Gregory, who by right of succession was to be queen, when it was announced by Kosmet Klub that it had instituted a new ruling that eligibility for Nebraska sweetheart consisted of not less than twenty-seven hours nor more than eighty-nine. Miss Gregory gave as her reasons for such action: "Such an eligibility clause is unfair and discriminatory against the law students."

Arrives Nov. 6. Miss Carrothers, member of Kappa Alpha Theta, upon agreeing to reign as queen, announced that she would arrive in Lincoln Friday morning, Nov. 6, in time to permit dress rehearsals.

The twelve acts selected from the entry of twenty-four for the morning revue are being rehearsed regularly under the supervision of Kosmet Klub members, it was asserted yesterday by Wm. McGaffin, publicity director. The individual acts of these entries are (Continued on Page 4.)

MIZZOU GAME MARKS TRADITIONAL EVENT

Husker-Tiger Bell Will Get Its Annual Clanging Between Halves.

WAS OBJECT STRUGGLE

Between the halves of the Missouri-Nebraska game, next Saturday, the old bell originally belonging to a church in Seward, and for three years used as a trophy of victory for the winner of the annual Missouri-Nebraska game, will be carried to the center of the playing field, clanged, and returned to the Nebraska side of the game. At the end of the game, the bell will again be taken to the middle of the field where it will be retrieved by representatives of the victorious school.

Dick Deyereaux, president of the Innocents society, which originated the tradition, will ship the bell to Missouri by express this week, and will represent Nebraska at the game Saturday either in presenting the bell to some representative of Missouri or in bringing the bell back home if Nebraska wins the game.

Other members of the Innocents society who will attend the game will assist in the ceremony connected with the display of the bell. Representatives from the Student Council at Missouri will represent that school in the presentation of the bell to the winning school.

Is Third Time. For the three years that the custom has been observed, the bell has remained in Nebraska's possession, so that Missouri students have not really had an opportunity to get more than a long distance view of it from the stands and hear its vibrations as it (Continued on Page 3.)

Student Council Will Meet This Afternoon

The student council will meet this afternoon at 5 o'clock in University hall 106 to consider several matters of current business. All members are urged to be present to facilitate the proper handling of these matters. Please be prompt. EDWIN FAULKNER, President.

Dear Dad:

I know I should have mentioned it before, but better late than never.

You, and all the other Dads, are going to be the honor guests here when Nebraska's Cornhuskers play Iowa university's football team Nov. 7.

And more, Dad. You're to be guest at a Dad's day luncheon at the Chamber of Commerce at noon. All the other Dads will be there, and I want you there to show the other fellows what a real man you really are.

This is once, Dad, when you'll get real recognition. You'll be the one to whom everyone addresses his attention. And that game—Gee, Dad, there will be a real one. It will make you think of your younger days.

Come on down, Dad, and join the gang.

P. S.—Bring mother and Betty, too. They'll enjoy the day. And, on yes, send me about $10 for tickets—and books.

TO DADS AND MOTHERS.

We wish to take this opportunity through the columns of The Daily Nebraskan to extend a welcome to all the fathers and mothers who have sons or daughters registered in the University.

Dad's Day has been planned for you. Your son or daughter expects you. They will be disappointed if you do not come. They wish to show you the campus and the places where they live and work. Incidentally, they want to show you something about their student life and introduce you to their friends.

The students at the University are proud of their dads and mothers. They have planned to show you a good time. They are in earnest when they send you this invitation. The Iowa-Nebraska game will be a great game. Better say "yes" and join the crowd, you will be glad you came.

THE CHANCELLOR.

SIGN ORCHESTRA FROM OMAHA FOR FARMER FORMAL

Neil Friedberg's Music Is Selected to Play for Annual Event.

PICK QUEEN THURSDAY

Four Girls on Ballot for Ag College Honorary Position.

Neil Friedberg's orchestra, ten piece aggregation from Omaha, which played for a recent Barb party, has been scheduled to furnish the melodies for Farmer's Formal, Oct. 30.

"We have been very fortunate in securing this orchestra," Snipes remarked, "because they had previous bookings for Oct. 30 which they had to cancel."

Tickets were put on sale yesterday afternoon by Ray Murray, chairman of the ticket committee. Members of the Ag and Home Ec clubs are selling the tickets and they anticipate a sale of 250. Each ticket entitles the bearer to a vote for the Farmer's Queen. These votes must be in by Thursday evening.

Four Girls Eligible. Of the girls filing for candidacy, Tom Snipes announced that Carolyn White, Eleanor Dixon, Evelyn Krotz, and Ruthalee Holloway were eligible. All the girls are seniors in the college of agriculture except Eleanor Dixon, a junior.

Eleanor Dixon is a member of Tassels, the student council, the Home Economics association, and the Ag executive board. She is secretary of the Y. W. C. A. and is in charge of the finance drive. She is a member of a Home Economics honorary and is affiliated with Chi Omega sorority.

COUNCIL MEETS TONIGHT

Judiciary Committee Will Pass Judgment on Kosmet Election.

Final consideration as to what shall be done concerning the much mooted Nebraska sweetheart election will be given at a special student council meeting, this afternoon.

A week ago members of law college demanded that the entire election be thrown out and another balloting held. The question was referred to the student council committee. This committee is composed of Bernice Hoffman, chairman, Edwin Faulkner, Walter Huber, Gretchen Fee, and Julia Simanek.

During the week the judiciary committee has given serious attention to the problem and tonight they will make recommendations as to the disposal of the case.

The council meeting will be held in U hall, 109, at 5 o'clock.

NEBRASKANS DEBATE UNEMPLOYMENT WITH TURK FORENSIC DUO

Good Crowd Present to Hear Problem of Day Argued At Temple Theater.

A good crowd was present at the Temple Theater Tuesday evening, to hear unemployment insurance—its advantages and disadvantages, debated by A. Galib Rifa and Suha Zeki, Robert Colgate, Istanbul, Turkey, on one side, and L. Byron Cherry, and Charles Gray, University of Nebraska, on the other. Dean T. J. Thompson presided.

"The Turkish team took the affirmative side of the question, which was stated, 'Resolved that compulsory unemployment insurance should be adopted by the sovereign state (nations) as public protection against the vicissitudes of the machine age.'"

Rifat, introductory speaker, interpreted the question so as to apply to some future date, when there would be no great unemployment situation facing the world as at present. He pointed out that he and his colleague considered unemployment insurance not as a panacea for present ills, but as a preventive for future ones.

Would Restrict Compensation. He advocated a system whereby employers or their insurers would pay cash compensation to those forced into idleness by the "vicissitudes of the machine age," thus excluding striking employees or those who had been released because of incompetency. He advocated higher rates for employers (Continued on Page 3.)

The first regular rehearsal of the university glee club will be held tonight at 7 o'clock in the University School of Music, Harold Hollingsworth, director of the club, has announced. Twenty-seven men are expected to be present.

The following men were selected for the club after the tryouts and after their eligibility had been checked: First tenors: Gerald Mott, Tim Stark, Francis Jenkins, Robert Graham, Leon Thompson, and Dale Taylor. Second tenors are Lester Beals, Glen Shaw, Vic McAllister, Glen Le Doyt, Ed Shearburn, Frank Sharp, Richard Kelly, and William Butterfield.

Present plans call for two or three rehearsals a week. If the whole group cannot arrange to meet for a third rehearsal, sectional rehearsals will be held, Hollingsworth stated.

The club is in need of more first tenors, the directors stated, and if anyone should wish to try out he should call the school of music for an appointment. More voices will be admitted to the group when some of the students who tried out have removed conditions, Hollingsworth said.

SENDOFF RALLY SCHEDULED FOR TEAM THURSDAY

Chairman Mitchell Releases Plans for Pep Meeting 5:30 at Stadium.

Loyal Cornhusker football fans have been asked to gather at the large south gate at Memorial stadium at 5:30 Thursday afternoon to rally for D. M. Bible's Husker grid machine before the team leaves Thursday night for Columbia, Mo., and a tilt with the Tigers Saturday.

The rally will be the first drill field gathering to be staged this year. The students will be led through a series of yells by cheerleaders.

Then, as practice ends the crowd will form in two lines, making a lane through which the varsity squad members will go on their way to the dressing room while the band plays "The Cornhusker." The drill field rally was necessitated when it was found out that the Huskers would not leave Lincoln until midnight Thursday, Art Mitchell, rally chairman, said.

Coach Favors Time.

Coach Bible has decided it would do more for the spirit of the team in its game Saturday to have the rally in the afternoon than it would to see the team off at the depot, Mitchell said.

The rally chairman pointed out that while Missouri had failed to make much of a showing so far this year, Saturday's game would likely be a stiff encounter. "Missouri always plays its best game of the year against Nebraska," Mitchell said. "The Tigers feel that if they beat the Cornhuskers and lose to everyone else they have had a good year."

"Consequently, Saturday's game is likely to be stiffer than many persons think, and the Cornhuskers need plenty of support. Then, too, it will be Missouri's homecoming, and that will make the Tigers all the harder to beat."

"It seems that the Nebraska team will need to know the entire student body is behind it, and the only way to show your part is by being there," he told students.

GREETINGS, DADS.

For ten years, the Innocents society, a senior honorary organization at Nebraska, has been sponsoring Dad's Day.

We want it to be a big day for all Dads, for they certainly are the ones who make it possible for us and others to be here. We want the Dads to know we appreciate what they are doing for us.

We are joined in this feeling by all other organizations and individuals on the campus. We want the Dads to have a real day of it, and plans have been made accordingly.

The Innocents society feels that the day will be well worth the while of any Dad, and extends to all Dads a most cordial invitation to be here.

RIFLES TO FIRE SALUTE

To Commemorate Dedication Of Memorial Stadium at Iowa Game.

In commemoration of the dedication of Memorial stadium, Pershing Rifles will fire a salute of three rounds at the Iowa-Nebraska game Nov. 7, it was announced at the meeting last night by J. K. McGeehan, captain of the company. This is done every year by the group.

This firing unit will consist of the whole company. The ceremony will take place just before the start of the game, the captain announced. Part of the meeting period last night was devoted to a practice of the firing.

An initiation will take place Wednesday, Nov. 4, for the sophomores who were pledged at the beginning of the semester this fall and for the holdovers from last spring. Twenty-seven names will be sent to Dean Thompson's office to be checked for eligibility.

MILITARY HONORARY HOLDS BANQUET IN MEMORY ROOSEVELT

Scabbar and Blade Society Sponsors Speaking Program.

Honoring Theodore Roosevelt, Scabbar and Blade held a banquet at the Delta Sigma Lambda house last night. The day is kept each year as annual Scabbar and Blade day and this is the first year that the local chapter has observed the day.

Dean Thompson, the first speaker, expressed the belief that Scabbar and Blade was fulfilling a worthy purpose and said he would be glad to aid in the success of its projects.

Col. C. J. Frankforter said that Theodore Roosevelt was not a militarist, but was one who wisely believed in being amply prepared. He commended Scabbar and Blade for the type of officers it turned out and based his judgment on type of men assigned to duty under him at C. M. T. C. camps at Fort Crook and Fort Snelling.

Col. W. H. Oury, head of the university R. O. T. C. unit, pointed to the fine spirit of loyalty to the University of Nebraska and the country which results from military training because it is based on service. Service, he said, is the thing that patriotism is made of.

"No other institution has the traditions in a military way, except West Point, that the University of Nebraska has, this being the home and early command of Gen. John Pershing," he said. "We should recognize this distinction (Continued on Page 4.)"

CORNHUSKER SALE CAMPAIGN OPENS MONDAY MORNING

Last Year Scheme Again in Use Mousel Announces; Cash Price $4.50.

INSTALLMENTS POSSIBLE

Only Amount Annuals for Which Orders Placed Will Be Printed.

Sales drive for the 1932 Cornhusker starts next Monday, Nov. 2, and will continue until Tuesday, Nov. 10. The same plan as was used last year will be used again this year, in sale of the year books.

All books must be ordered in advance, as no extra copies will be printed and students will not be able to obtain them next spring, unless they have been ordered previously. During this sale the books may be purchased at a 10 percent discount if cash is paid. A convenient installment plan has been arranged for those who do not wish to pay the five dollars all at one time.

If students so desire they may pay one dollar at the time they purchase the book. The second installment of one dollar will be due Dec. 1. The third payment of one dollar is to be made on Jan. 15, and the rest of the purchase price, two dollars, will be paid upon delivery of the book next spring. If the entire amount is paid at the time of purchase, during the opening sale only, the price will be $4.50.

That the plan of printing no more books than have been ordered is strictly enforced was shown last year. A number of calls for books came to this office last spring after the annual had been printed, but there were no books to supply the demands, as only the number ordered had been printed," Russell Mousel, business manager, stated.

Students Urged To Order. Students are urged to order their Cornhuskers during this sale in order to take advantage of the 10 percent discount or the installment plan that is being offered by (Continued on Page 3.)

ENROLLMENT AT AG COLLEGE STAYS UP

Little Decrease Shown From Registration Last Year Despite Hard Times.

Despite comparatively hard times, the enrollment for the first semester in the University of Nebraska college of agriculture is substantially the same as for the first semester of last year and more than for the second semester. The announcement was made from Dean Burr's office this morning.

Figures released from Dean Burr's office indicate that there is a total enrollment of 548 men and women registered in the college. This is four more students than for the second semester of last year and but forty under the enrollment for last year's first semester.

Men students in the Ag college again outnumber the women, 308 to 240. Likewise the freshmen class is the largest and the sophomore class the smallest. Fifteen students are taking special work in the college this semester.

Lincoln, Neb., Oct. 28, 1931.

Dear Dad:

Remember you told me last fall before I came down here that you'd be down for Dad's day? Well, now you've got to come. Nov. 7 is the big day.

From what Joe (you'll meet him) tells me, you'll have a wonderful time. I guess there is going to be a Dad's day luncheon at the Chamber of Commerce. All the boys and girls and their Dads will be there.

Then there's a football game in the afternoon. Iowa university's team is coming here. They think they're pretty good, but we'll show 'em. You've heard about Iowa, where they grow that tall corn.

Don't forget, now. It's a week from this Saturday. Be sure and be here. Nov. 7 is the day.

Oh, yes, I almost forgot. Kosmet Klub, the nicest organization on the campus, is having a big show the morning of the game. Nine different vaudeville acts will be presented by fraternities and sororities. They will really be good. You'll want to see that, too.

PLANS FOR DAD'S FETE SET DAY OF IOWA U BATTLE

November 7 Scheduled for Annual Occasion in Honor of Fathers.

The annual Dad's Day tradition, which was instituted in 1922 by the Innocents society, will be observed this year on November 7, the date of the Iowa university football game. The high spots of the day include a luncheon at the chamber of commerce and an en masse attendance at the game.

An added feature of the celebration will be a tug of war between two selected teams representing the freshmen and sophomore classes which will take place between halves of the game. The freshmen will be awarded the privilege of removing their red caps for the remainder of the season if they are triumphant and if defeated will be forced to continue wearing their headgear for at least two weeks.

President Soderlund and Sauer will choose the teams to represent their classes and the winner will be determined by two out of three tugs of two minute duration.

GISH CONFIRMS POST SEASON GAME REPORT

Denies Rumors of Invitation To Play With Denver or Colorado U.

RECEIPTS TO CHARITY

The Husker varsity will engage in a post-season game and the receipts will be donated to various charity funds, it was announced last night by Herbert Gish, athletic director.

Contrary to the number of calls received by Gish from correspondents of the Associated and United Presses and local reporters asking ratification that there would be a post-season game between the Huskers and either the University of Colorado or Colorado Aggies at Denver on Dec. 5, the university has received no invitation from either of the Colorado schools nor has any word passed between Nebraska and Colorado authorities to indicate that such a game would take place.

The conference directors have given Nebraska permission to hold such a contest for charity and the university's athletic directors have sanctioned such action. "The game will probably be Dec. 5," Gish declared. "This date is the latest possible time to hold a varsity game."

Denies Rumors.

Many phone calls have come to Gish, asking him to verify the rumors that the governor of Colorado had officially invited the Huskers to participate in such a game thru communication with Governor Bryan, that officials of Colorado Aggies and Colorado university have formally invited the Nebraska huskies to meet them in a charity game, and that the Nebraska athletic authorities accepted.
