LAW STUDENTS IN PROTEST AGAINST COUNCIL'S RULING

Intend Further Action on Nebraska Sweetheart Election.

TWO COURSES ARE OPEN

May Have Mass Meeting or Appeal to University Senate Committee.

Leaders of the law college students who have been protesting the action of Kosmet Klub in passing a rule limiting eligibility of Nebraska Sweetheart candidates to sophomores and juniors in school, are still not satisfied with the result of the controversy as the Student Council left it. At present, there is some indecision as to what course will be followed, according to one of the leaders, who requested that he not be quoted until definite action is decided upon.

The council, in a special meeting Wednesday, decided by a vote of 19 to 5 to allow the election of the Nebraska Sweetheart to stand as it was conducted, in other words to disregard the petition of the law college men to throw out the election. The council declared in its opinion that the election was fair and that the eligibility ruling of Kosmet Klub was justifiable and non-discriminatory.

May Appeal.

From the decision of the council, any group is entitled to present an appeal to the university senate. At the council meeting Wednesday, Walter Huber, one of the law representatives, and also a member of the council, requested information on the proper procedure for conducting an appeal. Whether or not this appeal is to be carried to the senate, the law leaders are not prepared to say, although they indicated the probability of doing so.

Earlier in the controversy there was some talk of calling a mass meeting. The new student council constitution provides for the calling of such a meeting by the president of the council if a petition for a meeting is presented bearing the signatures of a certain number of students. Such a mass meeting can adopt resolutions and pass motions expressing opinion, but its decisions or resolutions have no actual effect.

That such a mass meeting will not be called as some expected, was definitely stated by one of the men engaged in pushing the law college case. He indicated that whatever is done will be decided upon by Friday.

The law college representatives have throughout the contest objected to the office being called Nebraska Sweetheart when the qualifications for holding the office are determined by a small group, the Kosmet Klub. It rather appears, therefore, that their action may be directed away from attempting to have the election nullified, toward getting recognition of their contention that the sweetheart must either be called Kosmet Klub sweetheart, or else have her qualifications determined by a more representative group.

DAIRY TEAM WINS AT ATLANTIC CITY

Places Sixth in National Products Judging Contest.

IOWA SCORE HIGHEST

Another University of Nebraska judging team has scored a victory. This time the dairy products team won sixth place in the national dairy products judging contest held this week in Atlantic City. Sixteen teams completed. Dr. F. A. Downs, team coach, wired the information to the agricultural college Thursday evening.

Alvin Kivett, Carlyle Hodgkins and Glenn Burton were on the team. Kivett was the eighth highest individual in the contest.

Iowa won the national contest while Ohio, Michigan and Massachusetts were other high ranking teams. The Nebraska team ranked fourth in cheese judging and sixth in butter judging. Kivett stood seventh in cheese judging as an individual and Hodgkins ninth. In judging ice cream Kivett was tenth while Hodgkins ranked tenth in milk judging.

SOCIOLOGY GRAD SUPERINTENDS IN EMERGENCY WORK

Janet Schmitz, who was graduated from the University of Nebraska in '30, has been made district superintendent of one of the emergency stations set up by the United Charities of Chicago to meet the unusual needs of the coming winter. Miss Schmitz will work under her supervision, according to word released by the sociology department.

WILL DRIVE TO BEATRICE

Chemical Engineers Plan Inspection Pumping Station There.

Saturday morning at 7 o'clock the chemical engineers will leave for an inspection of the gas pumping station at Beatrice. This is one of a series of trips which are being sponsored by the chemical engineers society. The trip will be made in cars.

The pumping station is one of five which are located at about two hundred mile intervals along the pipe line. The line is the one which furnishes the district of Chicago with natural gas from the Panhandle of Texas.

All engineers or others who are interested in making the trip should notify John Mullen at P4553 before Friday night. The party will leave Chemistry hall promptly at 7 o'clock Saturday morning.

ALLAWAY AND TINLEY ANNEX FIRST HONORS FOR BEST STORIES

Award of the Sigma Delta Chi cup to Howard Allaway, a news editor of the Daily Nebraskan, for the best news story of the second semester of 1930-31 was announced at the annual Journalism banquet last night. Theta Sigma Phi, professional journalism sorority, sponsored the affair.

More than eighty-five students in the school of journalism, members of the faculty, and members of the staffs of the various campus publications attended the dinner, which was held at the University club. Jack Thompson, business manager of the Nebraskan, was toastmaster.

Allaway's story which won the cup bore the headline "House Quashes Proposed Inquiry." The story was published in the Feb. 6, 1931 edition of the Nebraskan. It concerned the abandoning by the state legislature of the proposed plan for an investigation of the university's financial administration.

Second place in the newswriting contest went to William McCleery, first semester editor, who's story was headed "Ramsay Tangles With Jensen at Senior Meeting." Third place was awarded to Frances Holyoke for her story entitled "Barbour Says Nebraska Has Union Building." Honorable mention went to Oliver DeWolf, Jack Erickson, and Mark Parker.

GRADUATE DESCRIBES BUREAU TO STUDENTS

Department of Agriculture Research Director Talks to Class.

TELLS OF STRUCTURE

Mr. A. F. Woods, director of research work, department of agriculture, described the internal structure of the bureau of agricultural research to Prof. John Senning's class in public administration, Thursday afternoon. Mr. Woods was graduated from the University of Nebraska with a B. S. degree in 1890. In 1892 he received his Master of Science degree, and in 1913 he was awarded an honorary Doctor of Agriculture degree by this institution.

Following the completion of his work in 1892, Mr. Woods, affiliated with the department of agriculture in Washington. He remained with this department for seventeen years, and then accepted the position of dean of the agricultural college at the University of Minnesota. Later he became president of the University of Maryland, and at the present time his work covers twenty-two bureaus connected with the department of agriculture.

Describes Structure. Mr. Woods confined his lecture to a description of the internal structure of the department of agriculture, with an explanation of the service of the various bureaus to general agriculture in the United States. In conclusion he pointed out the necessary training for students interested in the various phases of this department.

In introducing Mr. Woods, Professor Senning said, "Those engaged in the study of public administration would fall short of the purpose of such discipline, if they were wholly upon the printed matter to our investigation. We must seize upon every opportunity to observe directly the process of administration as it is actually carried on, and better still, receive the expert information acquired by experience.

ONE OF THESE TO BE QUEEN.

Ruthaloe Holloway, Evelyn Krotz, Eleanor Dixon, Caroline White. These four girls have filed for the honor of Farmer's Formal queen and one of them will be crowned at the annual farm festival tonight. The balloting on the girls closed last night. All of the girls are seniors in the college except Miss Dixon who is a junior.

CLASS PRESIDENTS SELECT TUG TEAMS

Soderlund and Sauer Meet With Faulkner to Plan Details.

INNOCENTS IN CHARGE

Between today and Saturday, Nov. 7, came the Iowa-Nebraska game, the respective heads of the freshman, and sophomore classes will select teams of twelve men each to represent their classes in a tug-of-war to determine whether or not the freshmen will continue to wear the scarlet and cream headgear until the first snow flies. Members of Corn Cob organization, will recommend to the two class presidents men from the groups they represent whom they feel can best help each class to win the struggle.

Eowin Faulkner, chairman of the Innocents committee on freshmen caps, met yesterday with Harold Soderlund and George Sauer, the two class presidents, and worked out the details of the contest. The affair will be staged between halves of the game and the two teams will make three trials in the middle of the field. The class whose representatives pull (Continued on Page 2.)

UTAH SUBMITS BID FOR CHARITY GAME

Authorities Invite Huskers To Salt Lake City for Post Season Meet.

COLORADO BANS GAME

The University of Utah has submitted a bid to the Cornhusker team for a post-season charity game to be staged at Salt Lake City upon the completion of the schedules of both teams. Utah authorities wired Herbert D. Gish, director of athletics, an invitation for a game after the Cornhusker authorities had been considering a post-season game with Colorado Aggies at Denver. Colorado authorities put a ban on a charity game because of faculty objection. The Cornhuskers had favored a charity mix with the Colorado Aggies over the Utah game because of the shorter trip. The Huskers play Pittsburgh on Pitt's home field on Thanksgiving day and it seemed inadvisable to make a long trek after so lengthy a journey.

With Colorado Aggies definitely out of the picture as an opponent it is not definitely known how the athletic department will react to the Utah invitation. Director Gish stated that no definite decision has been reached as to whether the Huskers will tackle a Rocky mountain region team and it is not known what the reaction to the Utah game will be.

Denver university and Colorado university are carrying on negotiations for a charity game but it is thought that the Colorado university authorities will follow in the footsteps of the Colorado Aggie school and refuse to participate in a post-season encounter.

STUDENT REPORTED BETTER

Webster Does Not Have Skull Fracture According To X-Ray Exam.

Injured in an automobile wreck Tuesday afternoon, Oct. 27, Gilbert Webster, teachers college senior, is reported as being somewhat improved. He is at St. Elizabeth hospital, and after being given an X-ray examination was reported as not having a fractured skull, which had at first been feared. He is suffering from a severe skull injury, however, and is rational only at intervals.

UNIVERSITY IS HOST TO TEACHERS MEETING

Over 3,000 Attend Opening Session Thursday at Field House.

GOVERNOR BRYAN TALKS

Over 3,000 school teachers attended the first of a two day session yesterday of the Nebraska State Teachers association. The convention is being held in the university coliseum.

The building was packed, the teachers filling most of the seats downstairs, and the balcony was thronged almost to capacity with instructors and a good delegation of visitors.

The day's program included many speakers of state and national recognition. M. C. Lefler of the Lincoln public schools presiding, introduced the speakers of the day. They were R. B. Carey, superintendent of the Beatrice schools; Carleton T. Washburne, superintendent of schools at Winnetka, Ill.; Dr. Griffith Taylor of the University of Chicago, and Governor Bryan. In addition to the talks, a brass quartet from Beatrice played several selections.

Program Opened Thursday. The program of yesterday morning officially opened the convention, but many teachers arrived before that time. Three banquets were held Wednesday night in honor of those who came early.

Governor Bryan, in his talk to those assembled, indicated that schools play a great part in the reconstruction which is to come. After welcoming the teachers the governor said, in the main, that if a child starts out without regard for honesty and that child is given an education, he becomes our worst public menace. Our real danger today is not from reds, communists or such, but it is from the learned crook.

In continuing, he declared the state was vitally interested in co-operating with the teachers in their work and that governmental officials had no desire to reduce teachers' salaries. He thought it was perfectly permissible for married women to teach in the public schools if the woman was helping (Continued on Page 4.)

Organization and History Pershing Rifles Is Told in First Number of New Magazine Edited by Carl Hahn

Publication of The Pershing Rifleman, the official organ of the national society of Pershing Rifles, has been announced by the local chapter. Carl J. Hahn, last year's major general, is the editor, and William Comstock is assistant editor.

The publication is dedicated to General John Joseph Pershing on the occasion of his seventy-first birthday, which was Sept. 13. Pershing was commander of the Nebraska R. O. T. C. unit at the time of the founding of the organization in the fall of 1892.

According to the Rifleman, the organization of Pershing Rifles had its beginning with the establishment of Company "A" in the fall of 1892 at Nebraska. At that time the company consisted of about forty men selected by Pershing for their excellence in drill in the cadet corps. These men were given extra drill and their organization was used as an example for the entire battalion at the university.

Becomes Varsity Rifles. In the spring of 1893, the organization took the name of Varsity Rifles. Its aims became fraternal in the military sense. The Varsity Rifles entered the Omaha Cup competition which was a competition in military maneuvers open to all cadet organizations in the United States. The Rifles failed to win the Grand National event, but it did win the Maiden Drill with a spectacular display.

RAMSAY LENDS SPICE TO KLUB MORNING REVUE

Alumni Secretary to Act as Master of Ceremonies At Kosmet Show.

TICKETS NOW ON SALE

Advance Sale Will Continue Until November 7; No Reservations.

The wit and humor of Ray Ramsay, the Will Rogers of the Cornhusker campus, will lend spice to the Kosmet Klub morning revue Saturday, November 7, an announcement from the show headquarters stated yesterday.

Ramsay, former Nebraska student and now secretary of the Alumni association, will act as master of ceremonies for the show, according to the official statement. "Ramsay is well known in Husker circles for his sparkling repartee, and announcement of his selection as master of ceremonies indicates that attendants at the morning show will enjoy many laughs at the expense of the performers," Bill McGaffin, publicity director for the revue, stated.

Tickets for the show go on sale this morning. The tickets were distributed yesterday afternoon when the entire business and production staff met at 4:30 in the Kosmet Klub room. There will be no reserved seats sold, as the general admission price to all is fifty cents.

Advance sale of the tickets will continue until the show begins at 9:00 o'clock Saturday morning. Kosmet Klub members hope to sell day of the show, but if there are any left they will be sold at the door to those who have not purchased their tickets in advance.

The Kosmet Klub expects this to be the most outstanding production it has ever sponsored because of the unusual amount of talent on the campus this year. Several special acts have been arranged. The time required to put on the show will probably be a little over two hours. The place where the show will be given will be announced in the near future.

COLLEGIATE COMICS LAUD AWGWAN ISSUE

Robinson Receives Letters From Humor Magazines In Other Schools.

MORE MATERIAL NEEDED

Letters from exchanges of the Awgwan indicate very favorable acceptance of the Celebrity Number issued in October of this year. Editor Marvin Robinson reported yesterday. The humor magazine of the College of New York City, "Mercury," in a letter to the Awgwan state that they admire the appearance of the publication. They are reprinting some of the art work that appeared in the Celebrity Number. Many other exchanges have also congratulated the Awgwan staff on the appearance of the first issue, says Robinson.

Work on the November issue is progressing, he reported. More material is still needed, and will be accepted until Nov. 2, when it will have to be sent to the printers. Poetry and short features for the Renaissance issue are especially wanted.

The November issue, which will appear soon after Nov. 2, will contain many special features and interesting cartoons, says the editor. Any student who can write material for this issue is asked to bring it to the Awgwan office in university hall at once.

THIRTY CORN COBS LEAVE CAMPUS TODAY FOR MISSOURI GAME

Pep Group Travels by Train to Mizzou; Reserve Special Section.

The Corn Cobs will leave from the Northwestern depot, 7th and S streets at 5:30 this afternoon for Columbia, Missouri where they will attend the Tiger's homecoming game en masse. Approximately thirty cobs will make the trip and will be accompanied by a member of the faculty.

The schedule of the trip calls for a brief stop in Kansas City Friday night and the arrival of the delegation in Columbia at about 10:30 Saturday morning. The trip to and from Columbia and Kansas City will be made by bus while the journey from and to Lincoln and Kansas City will be made by train. The Cobs will leave Columbia for Kansas City at 2 o'clock Sunday morning and will eventually arrive in Lincoln sometime Sunday afternoon.

Selleck Orders Tickets. A telegram was sent to John K. Selleck last night to order a block of tickets for the football game. The Cobs are to have a special section on the fifty yard line.

The following members of the Corn Cobs will make the trip: Paul Carlson, Paul Brenton, Harold Caster, Jim Crabb, Ralph Copenhaver, Don Easterday, Harry Foster, Vernon Filley, Norman Finke, Morris Gordon, Norman Gallaher, Carl Humphrey, Harold Hinds, Milton Mansfield, Cleo Morrison, Al Pinkerton, William Dowell, Marvin Schmid, Oscar Stults, Leo Skalowsky, Dale Shoemaker, Jack Thompson, John Zelling, Dick Maybourne, Harry Rudolph, Ed Thompson.

Those attending the annual event will be forced to gain entrance thru a 50 foot dark tunnel made out of baled straw. The tunnel will be found on the second floor of the building and will wind about in the corridor into the dance floor. Blind alleys in the tunnel will make it more difficult to enter the barn.

Wear Overalls and Aprons Thursday, practically all of the students in the college wore overalls and aprons to arouse spirit for the occasion. Today they are again donning the farmer apparel and those not doing so will be deprived of some of their clothing. Daphin Nash, president of the A.G. club, has appointed a committee to see that all students wear old clothes today. In addition, the committee may deem the tank necessary for some boys and girls. WORKMEN REPLACING SOCIAL SCIENCE WALK

New Project Marks Another Step in Beautifying Husker Campus.

COST FIGURED AT $1,200.

In tearing out the old walk in front of the social science building, workmen are carrying on one of the many movements of the campus beautification program. This old walk, running approximately the length of Social Science is being completely replaced by one eight feet in width, connecting with the walk running in front of the new mall.

This new walk will run from R street to the new mall and from there to the Memorial mall and will cost approximately $1,200. According to L. F. Seaton, operating superintendent, this walk will later be widened to a sixteen foot walk and will run the entire length of the campus. The elm trees in front of Social Science, now being moved will probably not be transplanted.

THETA CHI HONORS GUEST AT CHAPTER HOUSE BANQUET

Nebraska chapter of Theta Chi fraternity entertained Theodore Christianson, former governor of the state of Minnesota, at a banquet at the chapter house last night.

Mr. Christianson served as governor of Minnesota from 1925 until 1931. He attended school at the University of Minnesota where he is a member of Alpha Pi chapter of Theta Chi.

Reinhardt to Address Psychology Fraternity

Mr. Reinhardt of the sociology department will give a talk on "Isolation and Change" at the regular Psi Chi meeting, Monday, November 2, at 4 o'clock. The meeting will be in the psychology laboratory, room 215, in the social science building. Anyone that is interested is urged to come.

Freshmen Commissions Hold Informal Party

Two freshman commission groups met yesterday afternoon at 4 o'clock for an informal party. "Get-acquainted" games were played, and fudge was served as refreshments.

MANY STUDENTS TO ATTEND AG COLLEGE FORMAL

Annual Affair Expected to Attract Record Crowd This Evening.

NEIL FREIBURG TO PLAY

Activities Building Will Take On Barn-Like Aspect For Big Party.

With practically all of the final preparations made, all is in readiness at the agricultural college for the annual Farmer's Formal to be held this evening in the student activities building. Glenn Ledoijt, manager of the event, predicts a record crowd will attend.

Entertainment galore, novelty decorations, refreshments along with the annual crowning of the Farmer's Formal queen will feature the evening's program. Tom Snipes is chairman of the orchestra and entertainment committee, Ray Murray, chairman of the tickets committee, indicated Thursday night that more students will attend than ever before. The price has been cut from $1.50 to $1.00 per couple.

Neil Freiburg and his ten-piece Omaha orchestra is to play for the annual barn warming event. College of agriculture students who have heard the orchestra believe it to be the best ever to appear in Lincoln. The attraction of an outside good orchestra has helped the ticket sale considerably.

Freshmen Help. Freshmen in the college were encouraged from classes yesterday by help decorate the student activities building for the formal. Jack Niebauer and Alvin McDermott are co-chairmen of the decorations committee and will direct the decorating. Hundreds of bales of straw and hay will be moved into the building for the occasion.

As previously announced the building will take on the appearance of a barn. Miniature cornfields will be scattered over the dance floor and stalls will be found in both ends of the building. Pumpkins sitting on the corn stalks will help make the setting prettier.

Those attending the annual event will be forced to gain entrance thru a 50 foot dark tunnel made out of baled straw. The tunnel will be found on the second floor of the building and will wind about in the corridor into the dance floor. Blind alleys in the tunnel will make it more difficult to enter the barn.

Wear Overalls and Aprons Thursday, practically all of the students in the college wore overalls and aprons to arouse spirit for the occasion. Today they are again donning the farmer apparel and those not doing so will be deprived of some of their clothing. Y. W. GIRLS PUSHING FINANCIAL CAMPAIGN

Group Captains Work Hard In Effort to Annex First Honors.

CHECK-UP ON MONDAY

Anticipating the first big check-up of the Y. W. C. A. finance drive on Monday noon, class executives, captains and workers are pushing all efforts toward putting their class over the top. Berenice Hoffmann, Helen Baldwin, Anne Buntman, and Hallene Haxthausen, class executives, reported late Thursday that members of their respective groups were interviewing classmates assigned to them and several large pledges have already been made.

All workers from all classes will be guests of the Y. W. C. A. at lunches at Ellen Smith hall on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday of next week. Each day class executives will call upon the captains to report the totals of her workers for that day. A large bulletin board will be placed in the drive headquarters and the latest developments will be recorded.

Class competition is keen and while the seniors feel certain of victory, the other three contingents promise to give them real runs for the prize. Pep talks and singing will feature the noon day lunch meetings and all workers are urged to meet for the hour between twelve and one.
