

BIG SIX RATINGS NOT CHANGED BY SATURDAY TILTS

Kaggies, Iowa State Remain In Tie With Huskers For Top Place.

THREE DRAW FOR LAST

K. U., Missouri and Sooners Have Still to Win First Game.

Kansas State	W	1	1000

Oklahoma	W	0	1000

By MURLIN SPENCER.

Conference standings of Big Six teams remained unchanged in spite of two games played last Saturday. Nebraska, Kansas Aggies and Iowa State still stand at the top with a perfect record while Kansas, Missouri and Oklahoma divide the three lower places with no wins to their credit.

There is certain to be a change after this week's games have been played, however, with Kansas Aggies meeting Iowa State and Kansas playing Oklahoma. Nebraska takes on the University of Iowa in a non-conference game and Missouri goes to Drake Friday night for their game under the floodlights.

Iowa State again furnished an upset to the dope setters by winning from Oklahoma 13 to 12 after the Sooners had been given the edge. Iowa State proved that it has a versatile attack and more strength than it has been credited with. The most sensational game of the week in conference circles and one which almost proved to be an upset was the work of the Missouri Tigers in holding the Cornhuskers to a 10 to 7 score and throwing a scare into the ranks of the Huskers by a passing attack unequalled by any other team in the Big Six.

Jayhawks Lack Punch.

Kansas Jayhawks again proved to be the punchless wonders and lost to Oklahoma Aggies 13 to 7 after starting out on what seemed first but soon dropped back into their state of suspended animation and allowed the Aggies to finish up the game as they chose.

Kansas Aggies avenged their defeat of last year at the hands of West Virginia by coming out on the long end of a 19 to 0 score. Turning to the scheduled games for this week, the Kansas Aggie-Iowa State game holds the spotlight as far as Big Six followers are concerned. The loser of this game will be dropped back into third place. Although the Cyclones have shown a powerful attack so far this season, the K-Aggies are doped to win. In fact, the Aggies are slated to take the conference championship this year, and if any team is to stop them, it will have to be Nebraska.

Nebraska Meets Iowa.

Nebraska takes on the Iowa Hawkeyes in a game which will interest fans. Iowa won from George Washington 7 to 0 Saturday. The Hawkeyes have been handicapped with a number of cripples this season, but they are expected to be in shape by the time they take the field against the Huskers. Nebraska has the victory of Iowa last year to avenge, and based on the showing of the two teams so far this season, it looks as tho it will be accomplished.

Kansas plays Oklahoma this week in what should be a close game with Oklahoma preferred to break into the win column. When Missouri takes the field against Drake Friday night, the Tigers will present a team encouraged over their showing against Nebraska last week and one which should win.

FACTORS IN IOWA STRENGTH

CAPT. OLIVER M. SANSEN—FULLBACK

INGWERTSEN IS A GRADUATE ENGINEER TURNED FOOTBALL COACH WHOSE EIGHT YEARS ON THE JOB AT IOWA ARE EXCEEDED IN THE BIG TEN ONLY BY THE SERVICE OF STAGG AND ZUPPKE

HIS MATES NAMED HIM AS IOWA'S MOST VALUABLE PLAYER IN 1930

COACH BURTON A. INGWERSEN

Capt. Oliver M. Sansen and Coach Burt A. Ingwersen are two factors which will have much to do with the outcome of the Nebraska-Iowa grid battle on the Memorial Stadium sod Saturday afternoon. Ingwersen has been turning out Big Ten teams which give other aggregations in the conference a run every year. Sansen, a fullback, starred in Iowa's victory over George Washington Saturday. He led the Iowa offense and kicked the point after Hickman's lone touchdown of the game. Iowa has been somewhat handicapped by injuries this year, but will bring its full strength against the Huskers Saturday.

More Band Uniforms Are Received Friday

Additional band uniforms have been received by the military department. William T. Quick, band director, announced Friday and may be checked out this week. Old men in the band will be given first choice for the new uniforms. Any old men in the band may turn in uniforms with which they are dissatisfied Monday and new men may check out uniforms Tuesday. There will be capes for all men.

birthday by taking a good crack at the Tiger in Missouri.

It is most unusual for a game to end 33 to 33. We wonder just what the other twenty men on the field were doing while Booth of Yale and McCall of Dartmouth were holding their little track meet. It was nice that after so much running the two teams could call it a day by tying the score.

The student paper at Harvard is expected to be slightly muzzled after its attack upon Army and asking for the severance of relations. The University of Denver student publication also put its fingers in the fire by attacking the methods of their coach. Possibly some time or other these student papers, especially the sports departments, will learn that it is a wise thing to think about a subject for a day or two when they become prompted to write a bitter attack upon their coaches or other teams. In the outside world, there is a libel law that prompts newspaper men to stop and think before they allow their bitter feelings to enter print.

MARGARET UPSON EXPLAINS RULES TO FROSH GROUP

The freshman activities group of the A. W. S. board met in Ellen Smith hall at 4 o'clock Monday. Margaret Upson, head of freshman activities, read and explained the A. W. S. rules for women. At the meeting next Monday, Bernice Hoffman, president of the board, will preside over an open discussion of the rules for the purpose of clarifying minor points and receiving suggestions for possible improvements.

PI K. A.-D. U. SOCCER SQUABBLE REMAINS UNDECIDED MONDAY

Student Horseshoe Pitchers May Enter Competition For Prizes.

SOPH MANAGERS CALLED

Ordinarily the soccer championship would have been awarded and the champions would have had due celebration a plaque and a couple of hundred points toward the all-university championship. But not this year. As the story goes, Delta Upsilon defeated Pi Kappa Alpha, 2 to 1 for the championship. This made the D. U.'s champions, with the Pi K. A.'s in runner-up position. The A. G. P.'s took two extra periods to subdue the Sig Eps for their third honors. But that is just the story.

It seems that the D. U.'s forgot to see the doctor and get the required certificates of eligibility. This fact came to the ears of the Pi K. A.'s, and they immediately filed a protest, with the result that no one is champion. The intramural office has announced they need more dope on the case before reaching a decision, and so both the D. U.'s and the Pi K. A.'s, can have lots of fun guessing the outcome. However, if the decision goes against the D. U.'s it is possible that the other teams may file protests, and if they are upheld, it may mean an entirely new round-robin before the championship is awarded.

Announce Horseshoe Prizes.

Barnyard golfers will have an opportunity to show their wares for a prize of a gold-plated pair of horse shoes resting in a leather carrying case according to present plans. The American horse shoe pitcher's association tournament will be open to all students and will last from Nov. 15, 1931 to May 15, 1932. The time will be divided into periods and the student who has the highest number of rings for each period will receive a pair of chromium plated horse shoes, also in a leather case.

The first period will open Nov. 15, and last until Jan. 15, 1932. The second period opens Jan. 16, and closes March 15. The last period will open March 16 and close May 15. The student with the highest percentage from each college represented will receive a medal. It may or may not be in a leather case.

The tug of war team finally selected will stage a two-out-of-three contest with a sophomore team to be picked by George Sauer, sophomore class leader, between the halves of the Iowa University-Nebraska game next Saturday.

IOWA COMING WITH STRONG GRID SQUAD

Saturday Contest Is First Hawkeye Game Here Since 1919.

INJURED VETS ARE BACK

IOWA CITY, Nov. 1.—Obstreprous behavior, unbecoming to a guest but tremendously satisfying to Hawkeye partisans, featured the last previous appearances of University of Iowa football teams at Lincoln against the University of Nebraska.

These examples of rudeness to the host, in the form of smashing shutout victories over the Huskers, occurred in 1918 and 1919. Now the 1931 Hawkeye team is making ready to play at Lincoln where their elder brothers violated rules of proper etiquette.

Iowans Not Confident.

No feeling of confidence permeates the ranks of the Iowans as they anticipate this twentieth game of the interstate series which began forty years ago. With a team harassed by injuries to "key" players and by a schedule which included three inter-sectional games of the first five, the Hawkeye record is far inferior to that of the Huskers.

When least expected, the Iowans smote Nebraska 12 to 7 in the final game of 1930, the first meeting of the universities in eleven seasons. Hawkeyes know that their present task will be more severe.

vere because of that upset victory, since the Huskers have looked forward to revenge since last November.

Old Gold athletes will be in good physical condition, because several of the regulars were reeled last Saturday. Randah Hickman, the halfback who drove thru Nebraska for 162 yards last year, has recovered his old speed after an ankle injury; and Jerome Kriz, the other halfback, is no longer bothered by a strained back.

Iowa's linemen will receive special attention this week, for they must play veteran Husker forwards, including all-American Hugh Rhea, 220 pound tackle.
