FROSH TAKE LEAD IN Y. W. FINANCE DRIVE

Marjorie Peterson Reveals Prize for Winning Class Group.

SENIORS PLACE SECOND

Freshman girls won the laurels yesterday noon at the Y. W. C. A. finance luncheon given in connection with the drive for funds now being held when they announced that their subscriptions for the day amounted to $126. This is the greatest amount that has yet been turned in at a single meeting, and gives the freshmen precedence over the seniors who have been first for the last two days. The sum reported yesterday brought the freshman total to $337.25. Their success has sharpened competition, and it will be of interest to learn which class will be first when the final results are checked up Tuesday noon, Nov. 10. There will be luncheon, Friday noon at which all pledges will be reported.

The seniors who are running the freshmen a close second, have a sum of $65 yesterday, making their total $334.25. The sophomores slipped to third place with a final checkup of $285.25. Their report today amounted to $65.75. The juniors although they have made progress with an increase of $59. in their sum total, are still fourth. They turned in $67.25 yesterday which makes their total, $273 up to date.

Marjorie Peterson, president of the Y. W. C. A., encouraged the workers with the announcement that the winning group at the close of the drive may select one of its workers to attend the annual Y.M.-Y.W. regional conference at Estes Park this summer. The Y. W. C. A. will contribute $25 toward her expenses. Following the luncheon, Mrs. E. A. Burnett, Mrs. John Senning, Miss Catherine Dunn and Miss Margaret Fedde addressed the workers.

JOHN SELLECK SIGNS CONTRACT IN DENVER FOR CHARITY TUSSLE

Opponent Is Unnamed, But Will Be a Colorado School.

Contract for the University of Nebraska to play some Colorado school in a charity game in Denver Dec. 5, was signed by John K. Selleck, director of finance of the athletic department, in the Mile High city Tuesday. The University of Nebraska, which previously published reports, the Husker's opponent has not as yet been selected but will be either the University of Colorado, Colorado Agricultural college, or the University of Denver. Selection of Nebraska's opponent will be made around Thanksgiving time, and will be made on the basis of the best showing made in the conference by one of three teams. The University of Denver stadium has been chosen as the site for the game. This is the largest stadium in the conference with a capacity of 32,000. According to Mr. Selleck, Colorado officials expect a crowd of approximately 25,000.

After all expenses are taken, the remainder of the receipts of the game will be divided evenly between Nebraska and Colorado charities. The game will be the tenth on the Husker schedule, and the fourth inter-sectional game to be played. Nebraska has not played in Colorado since 1902, and the western fans are looking forward to the appearance of one of the outstanding teams in the Big Six. Athletic directors in the conference gave all teams in the conference permission to play one charity game, but Nebraska is the first school to make definite arrangements. The game will be the first charity game the Huskers have ever played, although numerous Cornhuskers have played in the East-West game.

ANNUAL SALES GAIN MOMENTUM IN DRIVE

Mousel Reports Progress in Cornhusker Campaign Now Going On.

PICTURE TAKING SLOWS

Sales of the 1932 Cornhusker have been gaining momentum since the opening of the sales campaign Monday, according to business manager Russ Mousel. "The momentum of sales, however, is somewhat below the average daily sales necessary to attain the goal of 1,500 sales, set by the staff for the campaign, and there is still a long way to go in the remaining days of the drive," Mousel said. "To carry out the plans as laid out by the staff it will be necessary to put out the elaborate annual," he continued.

According to the business manager students are taking advantage of the 10 percent discount that goes with every cash purchase of a Cornhusker. "The reduced cash price of $4.50 will be in effect until Tuesday, Nov. 10, when the price will be changed to five dollars," he said.

"The installment plan for the year book has also met with popular approval of the students who have purchased the book. This plan, which enables students to pay one dollar when they place their order, another dollar on December 1 and another payment of one dollar on Jan. 15, and the rest when the book is delivered, will be in effect after the opening sales drive closes on November 10," according to Mousel.

None Available in Spring.
"In view of the value the book renders it is hard to understand why so many students hesitate to order. The value of the book increases with time as memories of the past are recalled in the most vivid form when the Cornhusker will be one of your treasured holdings. It must be remembered that there will be no books available next spring. All orders must be placed before the books are printed," asserted Mousel.

The picture taking for this Cornhusker has not been as large as was anticipated by the staff. "It looks like it has turned into a contest between the junior and senior classes and the Cornhusker. The juniors and seniors are holding out until a deadline date is set before going down to get their sittings and the Cornhusker isn't ready to announce the deadline."

SPECIAL TRAIN WILL BE RUN TO K-AGGIE CENTER

Statement Yesterday Gives Notice Special Rates Of $2.75 Fare.

BY PHIL BROWNELL.

A special train reserved for the exclusive use of University of Nebraska students will pull out of Lincoln early Saturday morning, Nov. 14, for Manhattan and the Cornhusker-Kansas Aggie game, it was announced yesterday. Considering the importance of the game and the usual number of students who attend nearby football games, it appears conservative to estimate that 600 students will be on board the train, besides the numerous students who will drive, according to Student council members who have made arrangements with the Union Pacific for the special to be run.

The entire band and the entire organizations of Corn Cobs and Tassels have definitely decided to make the trip. With this much support assured, the Union Pacific is ready to run the train for the special rate of $2.75 for the round trip.

One thousand tickets in the Nebraska section have been sent to John K. Selleck from Manhattan and are on sale now at the Student Activity office for $2.50. The office will also handle the round trip tickets.

Special Rates Given.

MAURICE BROWNE TO PLAY IN WAR DRAMA HERE NOVEMBER 16

Producer 'Journey's End' Makes Only Midwest Stop in Lincoln.

Making his only stop between Chicago and Denver in Lincoln, Maurice Browne will appear at the Temple theater on the afternoon and evening of Nov. 16 in "The Unknown Warrior."

Mr. Browne, original producer of "Journey's End" and owner of two theaters in London, makes the present coast to coast tour as a gesture of appreciation to the American public which he says "taught him all he knows." Mr. Browne is the founder of the Little Theater movement which he started in Chicago.

Gilbert Harry Doane, university librarian, states that the opinion of Alexander Greene, an authority on modern Irish literature, and modern drama, is most favorable. Mr. Greene believes that "The Unknown Warrior" is one of the finest dramas produced in recent years. He considers it superior to "Journey's End."

The play to be presented in Lincoln is the English adaptation of the play by Paul Raynal. The original cast with Maurice Browne in the leading role will appear. WORLD FORUM HEARS STAR EDITOR ON WAR

Lawrence Decries Financial Crises as True 'Weight of War' in Talk.

SAYS PEOPLE FOR PEACE

Speaking on the subject, "The Weight of War," J. E. Lawrence, editor of the Lincoln Star, addressed the World Forum, yesterday at its weekly luncheon held in the Grand Hotel.

Mr. Lawrence discussed the worldwide depression and then he cited incidents of the present crisis in the United States. "Every post war depression in the United States has been followed by another, usually more severe," he stated. "The Civil war was followed by the depression of 1873. The World war has been followed by the depression of 1921 and the depression of 1929. These financial crises are the true weight of war."

"Take for instance the condition of our Nebraska range section," he continued. "Most of these farmers were out of debt and some of them were considered rich men. Now they are penniless and very few out of debt."

He gave examples of the stories that come into a newspaper editor's office. According to Lawrence the real burden of a newspaper editor is not in the writing of copy. The thing that takes strength is answering the demands of the people.

A man of forty-five years who had been out of work for a year, came to his office. He claimed that his wife hardly made enough to support him. So Lawrence had to talk to this fellow and instill some new courage in him.

A farmer in western Nebraska wrote the editor saying, "we want to pay our debts, but you show us how!"

Tells of Overproduction.
Mr. Lawrence told of how the United States came to be in a position of overproduction. "During the war the wheat acreage doubled, the barley crop increased 50 percent and the corn crop 40 percent. When the war ended and the farmers could not sell what they had grown, prices fell and farming districts, of which we are a part, went broke," he declared.

"Until the administration adopts an international policy we will still be in a precarious position," he said. "We cannot erect tariff barriers and still expect our money invested in foreign countries to be profitable."

Thomson Says Pasteboards Going Fast; Plans Completed.

Plans were complete last night for the annual Dad's day activities Saturday, according to Cobe Thomson, in charge of the affair for the Innocents society. Tickets, placed on sale yesterday, are selling rapidly, he reported.

A full day for the visiting "Dads" has been planned. Outstanding features for their entertainment include the Kosmet Klub morning revue in Lincoln high auditorium, the noon luncheon at the Cornhusker hotel at noon with Wally Marrow's band and revue playing and talks by four prominent men, a march en masse to the stadium and the Nebraska-Iowa University football game in the afternoon.

Chancellor Edgar A. Burnett and Dr. T. J. Thompson, dean of student affairs, have publicly lauded the present plans for the annual event.

Said the chancellor, "I wish to extend a welcome to all the fathers and mothers who have sons or daughters registered in the university." He continued, in a special edition of the Daily Nebraskan sent to all fathers, telling them that the program had been planned for them, and he hoped they would not disappoint their sons and daughters. "They wish to show you the campus and the places where they live and work. They want to show you something about their student life and introduce you to their friends. The students of this university are proud of you and they want to show you a good time. Their invitations were sent."

TUG OF WAR TEAMS CHOSEN BY LOWER CLASS PRESIDENTS

Freshmen and Sophomores Prepare for Contest at Saturday Game.

Plans of attack have been made and war conferences have been held by members of the freshman and sophomore classes in preparation for the tug of war struggle which will take place between twelve representatives of each class at the Iowa-Nebraska football game Saturday. Presidents Soderlund and Sauer have picked their teams and are scheduling practices this week.

Ed Weir, freshman football coach, has been secured by the yearlings to coach them in tug of war tactics. The big pull will be the feature of the interval between halves at the game. The winner of two out of three tugs of two minutes duration wins the match.

A victory for the freshmen gives them the privilege of discarding their red caps for the remainder of the season, if the frosh lose they will be forced to continue to wear their headgear until the Innocents society gives them permission to discard them.

Freshmen have been holding conclaves during the past week and the sophomores are likewise plotting to outpull their rivals. Men for the teams have been secured through the co-operation of all fraternities were considered in the selection of the teams. The following men already have been selected and the vacancies left by ineligible men will be filled immediately.

SUCCESS SEEN IN MOVE TO REDUCE SOCIAL EXPENSES

Hotels, Orchestras Indicate Will Cut Party Costs For Greeks.

OLD RULE IS DISCOVERED

Faculty Provision Forbids More Than $80 for Musicians.

By HOWARD ALLAWAY.
Success for the move by fraternities and sororities on this campus to cut social expenses was indicated by statements from one hotel and two of the three larger orchestras in Lincoln yesterday. All expressed willingness to cooperate with the Greek groups in the demand made thru the Panhellenic and Interfraternity councils Tuesday for price reductions on downtown ballrooms and orchestras for parties. The other hotel at which downtown parties are given promised an answer on the matter by tomorrow. The third orchestra leader could not be located.

An investigation by the Daily Nebraskan brought to light the fact that there now exists a rule passed by the faculty committee on student affairs forbidding fraternities and sororities to hire larger than ten-piece orchestras or pay more than eight dollars per man for school parties. This rule, according to Prof. E. F. Schramm, member of the faculty committee and faculty adviser to the Interfraternity council, was passed several years ago and has never, to his knowledge, been repealed. Fraternities and sororities have regularly violated it almost since the time it was passed.

Union Rate Is $75.
Investigation also showed that fraternities and sororities have been paying as much as $50 more than union wages for orchestras for their downtown parties during the past two years. The usual price for eleven or twelve-piece orchestras has been from $125 to $135. The union wage for a twelve-piece orchestra for a regular

EDITOR PLANS NEW AWGWAN FEATURES

Enameled Paper Enhances Appearance of Issue for November.

COPY DEADLINE NOV. 7

Several alterations in the style and material qualities designed to improve the artistic appearance of the magazine, will be instituted in the Renaissance number of the Awgwan, to be issued sometime near the middle of November. Besides the use of enamel paper, a high grade of glazed paper better adapted for reproduction of halftones, the appearance of the magazine will be enhanced by the use of the highlight halftone reproduction process which gives sharper details in the printing of cartoons, says Editor Marvin Robinson. This method of reproduction is used almost exclusively in the east in such magazines as the New Yorker, according to Robinson.

In carrying out the idea of the issue, the editorial matter will be along the idea of awakening to some of the weaknesses and defects present in various aspects of campus life. Francis Cunningham and Jack Erickson are the chief local contributors of feature stories in the November issue.

The number will contain a considerably greater proportion of original short material including jokes, according to the editor. A page of short poetry attempts will be included. George Dunn, Arne Engberg, and Bill Crabb have contributed largely to the short items in the issue.

The cover design by Norman Hanson is being engraved at the present time. Marjorie Quivey and Felix Summers are the chief contributors of art material in the issue. Marvin Robinson, editor, is still accepting material and has set Nov. 7 as the deadline after which no more contributions can be accepted.
