ACCEPT BIDS ON NEW DORMITORY TUESDAY, DEC. 1

University Heads Will Open Work Soon, if Offers Satisfactory.

SEATON OUTLINES PLANS

Legislature Gives $200,000 Towards $375,000 Structure.

Bids submitted for the construction of the first unit of the women's dormitory will be opened a week from today and if satisfactory, building operations will proceed as soon as practical, according to L. F. Seaton, university operating superintendent. The dormitory is to be built on the east side of 16th street between S and T streets where wrecking of the structures now occupying the university property is already in progress.

Three years ago the state legislature set up a corporation with the power to borrow money for the construction of women's dormitories. At the same time the legislature appropriated $200,000 for the purchase of land and the construction of as much of the dormitory as the appropriation would permit. The university purchased the land on North 16th for approximately $107,000. The last session of the legislature reappropriated the $93,000 for the construction of the dormitory proper.

The cost of the first unit of the structure will be somewhere around $265,000, says Mr. Seaton. This means that the university will have to borrow about $175,000. The university is able to borrow this money without paying any commission and at a 5 percent interest rate by reason of a legislative act of the past session enabling state educational institutions to borrow money from the permanent state trust fund at that reduced interest rate. The university is taking advantage of this provision and will borrow the required amount of money as soon as the bids for the building have been accepted.

Central Unit is First.
The first unit to be constructed will be the central unit to which two additional wings or units will be added according to the plans. This three unit structure will face

AG MAGAZINE PLACED ON SALE YESTERDAY

November Issue Countryman Sells Over Thousand Copies Monday.

FEATURES STUDENT LIFE

The November issue of the Cornhusker Countryman, official college of agriculture student monthly publication, was distributed yesterday. George Round, editor, estimated that over 1,200 copies were distributed to students and high schools. The November issue features short stories about student life on the campus.

"Hayseed and Haywire" as written by Editor Round, again appears on the first page of the publication. In it he denounces the policy of Central City Republican in criticizing county agricultural agents.

Miss Margaret Fedde, chairman of the home economics department, has written the lead story for the November issue. In it she describes educational systems in Russia. She recently spent six weeks in Russia as a member of the international institute of Columbia university.

Kozelka Draws Page.
Another full page drawing is contributed to the Countryman by Art Kozelka, associate editor. He depicts Thanksgiving as it used to be and as it is today. In a story Kozelka also writes an interesting account of the 1931 Farmer's Formal.

Lyle Hodgkins has written another feature story in which he describes the recent eastern trip taken by the dairy products judging team to Atlantic City. Hazel Benson is the author of a story telling about Alaska. The story was written from an interview with Miss Martha Park of the home economics department.

In a full page story Bereniece Hoffman describes the recent disarmament conference while W. W. Hull and Mericeth Nelson have full page cartoon to illustrate the story. Evelyn Smith is the author of an article telling about the advantages of a home economics education.

Leads Huskers

Who will lead Nebraska's Big Six champions as game captain against the Pittsburgh Panthers Thanksgiving day. Rhea got himself a berth on mythical All-America eleven by his defensive play against Pittsburgh at Lincoln last year and hopes to repeat in the Smoky City Thursday. Announcement was made yesterday that Rhea will be married to Miss Marguerite Danielson, graduate of Nebraska last spring, following the game.

EXPECT FURTHER DEVELOPMENT OF WALKIE QUESTION

Interfraternity Council May Take Action on Matter.

SUBJECT OF COMMENT

Observer Says Initiative Rests With Coeds if Plan Succeeds.

BY THE OBSERVER.
Coeds may find themselves walking to parties yet! Since gentle hints from gentlemen of the campus have produced no "walking offers" from organized women's groups, the Interfraternity council will cast an eye on the problem this evening.

Following a Nebraska investigation of student sentiment over a week ago, the "Walk-a-date" issue has been the subject of considerable comment, debate and speculation. Many girls fear that something is about to be pulled on them.

As a matter of fact the sponsors of the new issue are innocent of any conspiracy against feminine comfort. They are simply trying to find a practical remedy for one of the heaviest of expenses which dating involves.

The point is not to prevent persons with cars from using them. Rather they are trying to create an open-minded attitude in order that students without cars need feel no embarrassment in asking a girl to walk to a party. Of course the condition of the weather and the function to be attended will be taken into consideration.

Several Points Settled.
The recent investigation defined (Continued on Page 2.)

PRESIDENTS WOMEN'S HONORARIES DISCUSS GRADES WITH A.W.S.

Dean Heppner Tells Group Heads of Value of Fine Scholarship.

Scholarship was stressed at the meeting of the A. W. S. council of presidents of sororities, dormitories and organized houses at Ellen Smith hall Monday evening. Presidents of many honorary groups for women on the campus were introduced and gave the scholastic requirement and means of election of their organization.

Miss Amanda H. Heppner, dean of women, gave a short talk at the outset of the meeting in which she stressed the importance of fine scholarship and its value. Miss Catherine Dunn of the sociology department addressed the presidents urging them to carefully consider their Christmas season.

By examples Miss Dunn explained the fine service given when groups make it possible for parents to provide a merry Christmas for their children, rather than having the members of the group entertain a group of school children at a party and give them each a gift. She urged groups to work thru the Social Welfare society and find families who will be in need of help this Christmas.

WEDNESDAY SET AS CORNHUSKER PHOTO DEADLINE

Downtown Studios Will Take No More Pictures For Annual.

STAFF REGRETS NOTICE

Urge That Reservations Be Made Immediately if Place Wished.

Wednesday night is the deadline for having pictures taken for Junior and Senior sections of the Cornhusker. This deadline has been set by the studios, stated Otis Detrick editor of the annual. The Cornhusker staff did not wish to close the sections until they were full, but the studios set the deadline because the Christmas rush will make it impossible for them to handle the Cornhusker work after Thanksgiving vacation. Detrick said that it would be very probable that the sections would be filled by that time, unless the studios cannot handle all the students who try to get their pictures taken in the last days.

The Cornhusker staff regretted the fact that so short a notice was given of the deadline, but that cannot be helped because the studios have taken the matter out of their hands, according to Detrick. However he thinks that the individual who gets left out by these circumstances will have no one to blame but himself, since they have been warned several times during the last month to have their picture taken as soon as possible.

Make Own Appointments.

PEACE CONCLAVE ISSUES MESSAGE FOR PRESIDENT

Delegates Advise Hoover Wish in Manchurian Situation.

HOLD FINAL SESSION

Conference Votes to Keep Committee and Stage Student Poll.

The final session of the statewide student disarmament conference was held Sunday morning in Ellen Smith hall. More than 100 spectators heard the official delegates discuss methods of disarmament in the plenary session. A business session followed the plenary. Among the resolutions passed was one to be sent to President Hoover from the conference. It commended President Hoover for his efforts and urged him to take all measures possible to relieve, and peacefully, the Manchurian dispute. It recommended that he send a consultant from the United States to the league council which will consider the Manchurian crisis.

Maintain Committee.

The conference voted to have the committee which arranged the conference a permanent group to promote peace movements in Nebraska and to maintain a contact with all colleges in the state. It was the decision of the delegates that they should upon return to their campuses ask that more courses on international relations be placed in the curriculum. A survey will be made of the present facilities along this line.

CHAMPS ARE OFF FOR EAST TODAY

Squad of 29 With Coaches, Trainers and Managers Will Leave on Special Over Burlington Route At 7:40 This Morning.

SATURDAY DISPLAY SENDS NEBRASKA HOPES UP

Dopesters Give Panthers Edge, But Husker Showing Against Iowa State Indicates Hard Battle on Smoky City Field Thursday.

BY BOB GLOVER.

Twenty-nine Huskers will entrain for Pittsburgh at 7:40 this morning, together with their coaches and trainers. They will arrive there Wednesday morning with enough time to complete arrangements for the encounter on the following day.

A special Burlington train is carrying the Cornhuskers east. It is composed of two Pullmans, one dining car, one baggage car, and an observation car. Leaving the Burlington station in Lincoln it will proceed to Creston, Ia., where the Huskers will practice Tuesday afternoon. Wednesday afternoon will find the Huskers in Pittsburgh where they will practice in the Pitt stadium.

Thanksgiving, the day of days for football, will see an eager, powerful Cornhusker team dash onto Pittsburgh's gridiron, confident of climaxing their season with a display of football they can well be proud of. The Huskers will be announced only as fodder to be thrown to hungry Panthers, but since last Saturday the possibility has arisen that the Panthers will suffer greatly from indigestion and will no doubt leave their meal unfinished. The Panthers are strong, yes, very strong, but their adversaries for the day have determined to leave them weak and gasping. A most conservative prophet would say that the battle will be lively and hard fought to the finish.

Pittsburgh Waits.
Pittsburgh will be waiting expectantly for the Turkey day battle. Because of the fine showing of the Panthers this year their fans have become more and more sincere in their support and feel certain of success. It will take all the Huskers have in the way of natural prowess and that never-say-die spirit to completely overcome the combination with which Pittsburgh will greet them. But Coach Dana X. Bible will have with him that can do their best when faced with obstacles. They have done it before, so only the

WILL HUSKER FLASH RUN THRU PITT

"LOU"
BROWN

SCHERZINGER

For two years Lewis Brown, diminutive quarterback from Wisner, has been on the Nebraska football squad. For almost two years he has watched the play from the bench through almost every game. Then one disagreeable afternoon at Manhattan a week ago he went into the game with only minutes to play and sprinted seventy yards through the mud for the touchdown that saved the Cornhuskers from defeat by a team they had outplayed all the way.

Saturday the round, tow-headed youngster sidestepped and outran the whole Cyclone defense in an 80-yard dash that set off the best offensive display Bible's men have shown this year. This, too, was on a soggy field.

Thursday Nebraska, now champions of their own conference, will meet one of the most powerful teams of the east, the great Pitt Panthers. Brownie has made Cornhusker history during the last two weeks. He will be watched in the Thanksgiving day game. Nebraska fans are almost tempted to hope for another battle in the mud.

ILLINOIS COMIC USES AWGWAN'S DRAWINGS

Siren Editor Reprints Six Pieces Art Work From Recent Issues.

PLAN DECEMBER NUMBER

According to Editor Marvin Robinson of the Awgwan, the Siren, University of Illinois humor magazine, is reprinting two drawings from the Celebrity number and four from the Renaissance number of the Nebraska Comic. Letters from that university commenting on the appearance and general merit of the Awgwan have been received by the staff.

"Letters from many humor publications over the country have been received, complimenting the staff on this year's issues of the magazine, and many schools are reprinting art work from them," Robinson said.

"Plans are under way for an unusual and distinctive December 'Formal' number," he stated, "and we are anxious to work new talent into this issue of the magazine." However, he advised that people who have material should see him before the Thanksgiving vacation so they will be able to work on it during the vacation. The deadline for copy, he said, will probably be about Nov. 28.

"We will be able to use a large amount of material for the 'Formal' number, for which we are planning several new features which will be announced soon."

"The cover, which has been drawn for this issue is now in the hands of the engravers in New York and will be ready in the next few days," Robinson said.

Professor Orfield ultimately expects to publish a book on this subject.
