Says Yearlings Outstanding As Gridsters. Has High Hopes.

BREAK EVEN ON GAMES

Win From Nubbins But Fail In Annual Contest With Varsity.

BY MURLIN SPENCER.

One of the most outstanding freshmen squads ever to grace the Nebraska campus is the term which may rightly be given to the 1931 yearlings coached by Ed Weir. Following the regular varsity practice preceding the Colorado Aggie game, the frosh hung up their suits after a year of comparative obscurity from the public eye.

A conference ruling prevented comparison of the Husker frosh with the yearlings of other schools. Officials of the Big Six ruled that no first year games could be scheduled for 1931.

The freshmen broke even on games played this fall, winning from the nubbins 2 to 0 in a game played for the benefit of charity and losing to the varsity in their annual game, 27 to 13.

Over 120 men answered the call for the freshman squad issued early in the fall, and after the usual out of a squad of approximately thirty was carried throughout the season. Minus regular games on their schedule the time of the frosh was devoted to the most part in learning plays used by the opponents of the varsity and giving the Huskers a few lessons on the tricks used by the other teams. In spite of the lack of attraction, the squad was kept intact for practically all of the season, showing that the men were playing for the love of the game and not for glory or press writings.

Use Sophomores.

This fall the varsity was compelled to use a number of sophomores in competition and next fall will be no exception. In fact, the yearling squad boasted of a number of men that will give the veterans a run for their money.

"Dutch" Schleuter, guard, gave the squad what was much trouble as any of their regular opponents and will be hard to keep off the team next year. Jurkovic, end; Plum, tackle; Meier, center; Johnson, guard; Hladky, tackle; and Crawford, end are other linemen that will make their bid for honors with the varsity next year. DeBrown, guard, Dukelow and Weir also showed possibilities.

Although the backs were not as plentiful this year as in other seasons, there were still a number that were outstanding. Roger Scholl, although small and light, will give all Nebraska quarters a run for their money. Milan King will also be in the running in 1932 at one of the back positions. King is a triple threat man. Eldrige, Parsons and Cockburn are other outstanding backs that will undoubtedly make the regular squad next fall.

Play Great Game.

The yearlings put up their greatest game of the season against the varsity in their annual tilt. The contest was not decided until the final quarter and then a sophomore backfield was sent in to decide the game. Schleuter and Meir put up great games in the line and Scholl and King stood out in the backfield. Steve Hotout, ineligible for varsity play, teamed with the yearlings and provided an extra punch. For two quarters the freshmen outfought, outplayed and outyarded the varsity, but the superior manpower of the Huskers decided the contest in the final period.

The nubbins team, fresh from a 13 to 7 victory over Peru normal week down before the yearling attack, 2 to 0. The strong forward wall of the frosh kept the nubbins in their own territory most of the game and was responsible for the two points made.

The first opportunity for the frosh to come into the spotlight will be in spring practice when the yearling come under the direction of the varsity coaches. Husker fans are expecting great things in the next three years from this class of 1935.

LINCOLN FIRM TO ERECT STRUCTURE

eventually a duplicate structure of three units will be erected behind the first building facing 17th st. $175,000 to be borrowed.

Since the appropriation by the legislature falls short of the actual amount of money needed for the dormitory construction, the corporation will borrow approximately $175,000. The university is able to borrow this money without paying any commission and at a 5 percent rate of interest by reason of a legislative act enabling state educational institutions to borrow money from the permanent state trust fund at that reduced interest rate.

Money borrowed to complete the first unit will, according to financial plans, be repaid from the operation of the dormitory. The dormitory is expected to be enough of a paying proposition, according to Mr. Seaton, so that it will help pay for, or at least justify the erection of additional units in a relatively short time.

The unit upon which Rokahr will begin work soon will, when completed, house 150 to 175 girls. Most of the girls living in the new building will be freshmen, although a number of upperclasswomen are expected to live in it. The ultimate objective of the university is to have dormitories providing room for every freshman girl in school, as well as all upperclasswomen who desire to live there.

Erection of the first unit of the dormitory system will in no way have as a natural sequence deferred sorority pledging. Although a provision which will prevent freshmen girls from pledging their freshman year may some day be realized, the building of the first unit will not effect such plans, according to Amanda Heppner, dean of women.

HUSKERS NAME OPPONENT ELEVEN.

Nebraska Regulars List Players Who Stood Out in Games Against Scarlet—Pittsburgh and Northwestern Land Most Position.

Table listing players from various schools (Pittsburgh, Northwestern, etc.) and their positions.

BY STEVE HOKUF.

Since everybody is picking all conference, all state and all America football teams, what would be more appropriate than a Cornhusker all opponent team? The all opponent team picked by the University of Nebraska players has everything that a coach could desire. Every man can find his own position and help some of the men alongside of him.

Of course there are many things to take into consideration when picking an all opponent team just as there are in picking all American teams. Some of the men could be at their peak the day they played Nebraska and would impress them more than others who have played more consistent football. But most of the men picked here have played great football throughout the 1931 season.

Of the ends Cronkite of Kansas Aggies received the most votes. He is a tall man, a great threat at receiving forward passes, beat Nebraska last year by taking a forward pass and scampering for a touchdown, and almost beat Nebraska again this year when he kicked a field goal early in the game. Schiele of Missouri was the other end on the first eleven, playing his greatest game of his career against Nebraska. Fencil of Northwestern and Collins of Pittsburgh were great ends but were outshined by the tackles who played beside them.

Riley of Northwestern and MacMurdo of Pittsburgh were unusual choices for their positions. Both played great games against Nebraska, and stopped every play coming their way. They also came out of the line to lead the interference. Foy of Kansas and Marvel of Northwestern have played good football all year. These four men along with Quate of Pittsburgh were the only men named for the tackle position.

Milligan of Pittsburgh was the outstanding guard that the Nebraska team ran into. Although not very large, he can stay in there and take it with the biggest of them, and is good on both offense and defense. The next three men were close together in the balloting, but Evans of Northwestern was given the edge over Rost of Kansas and Quate of Pittsburgh. Quate can be used at either guard or tackle. Daugherty of Pittsburgh had no competition for the center position. He is one of the greatest defensive centers in the country, and is great at sliding plays. An Ely put it: "Daugherty was a great center last year, but this year he was twice as good." Young of Oklahoma, who has been chosen on several Big Six conference teams was placed on the second team.

The backfield chosen by the Nebraska varsity as being that best that played against them was composed of Stuber of Missouri at quarter, Rentner of Northwestern and Heller of Pittsburgh at halfbacks, and Olson of Northwestern at fullback.

Stuber, Missouri quarterback, played a great game against the Scarlet. He almost led his team to a victory, scoring one touchdown by taking a pass and galloping sixty yards, and by tossing passes to Schiele almost scored another, the game ending a march on the 1-foot line.

Rentner of Northwestern was without a doubt the greatest halfback the Bibleman played against. He has made practically every All America team chosen, and has

FINAL STEPS ARE BEING COMPLETED ON STUDENT POOL

The pool is ten feet and the floor gradually slopes to a depth at the east end of three and one-half feet. Three diving boards, one high and two standard low boards are installed at the west end. The steps in the side of the tank are built into the walls rather than being attached as ladders to the side of the pool.

Present plans provide for keeping the pool open in the evenings until 9 or 10 o'clock. Everyone who uses the pool will be required to have a physical examination, according to Dr. R. G. Clapp, and persons with skin diseases or other communicable ills will be barred.

The pool is being financed by a special fee of $1.00 a semester which each student pays when he pays his medical fee upon registering. The funds for building the pool were taken from the university operating fund and will gradually be paid by means of this semester fee. The finance office is at present preparing a budget for the operation of the pool.

DOROTHY WEAVER WILL OFFICIATE AT COED PARTY

Miss Clara Rausch, of the physical Piper, assistant dean of women, will be honored guests at the affair.

Members of the A. W. S. freshman activities group will be in charge of the concessions and will sell refreshments throughout the evening. A clever booth has been arranged, and they will sell from baskets on the dance floor. Favors, furnished by downtown firms, will be distributed to each guest.

Gwendolyn Hager, general chairman of the party, reports that a larger crowd is expected this year than has ever previously attended the Cornhusker costume parties. She anticipates that the guest list will well approach 1,000.

Carolyn Van Anda of Fremont, Kappa Alpha Theta, is in charge of the publicity, and Mildred Gish of Lincoln, Kappa Delta, of the posters and advertisements. Harriett Dunlap of Holdrege, Alpha Chi Omega, has made general arrangements for the party, and Dorothy Orr of Lincoln, Kappa Alpha Theta, invited the judges and patronesses. Aileen Neely of Lincoln, Delta Delta Delta, arranged the program, and Miss Orr engaged the orchestra.

PLEDGES TO DRAMATIC CLUB GIVE FINAL SKIT

Aspirants to Entertain at Weekly Group Meeting Tomorrow Night.

The initial dramatic club pledge skit will be presented tomorrow in the club's regular rooms at 8:30 o'clock, according to present plans of the organization. The skit is presented by the pledges as a final requisite for initiation. The pledges to be initiated will be selected from the final group of try-outs.

Pledges to compose the cast of the first of a series of skits and short plays are Jessie Mae Kurk, Lincoln junior in fine arts college, and affiliated with Chi Omega; Donald Quinn, Lincoln, member of Alpha Sigma Phi, and sophomore in the college of arts and sciences; Lee Young, Parsons, Kas., sophomore in arts and science college, and member of Kappa Sigma; La Nelle Harry, Home, Kas., arts and science freshman, and member of Chi Omega.

The series of skits which will be presented is the second of its kind. The first was presented before the pledging of new members into the organization took place.

This is the first year in which the new members have had to pass thru two strenuous stages before being admitted into the organization as full fledged members. The purpose of the double test is to make it a more select group and to exclude all persons who are not deemed worthy of being a member of the one organization which has as its fundamental principles dramatic ability.
