WOMEN RESPOND AS TICKET SALES OPEN

Heavy Ducat Sale Reported For Leap Year Fete; Plan Feeds.

The sales campaign for the Leap Year party scheduled for February 20 which is under the sponsorship of Mortar Board, senior women's honorary, was reported by Juliette Deeken, Tassel president, to be progressing very rapidly and satisfactorily. "The enthusiasm evidenced by the unusual rapidity with which coeds are purchasing their tickets to the affair is very gratifying," she said.

Many reports are being received daily, according to Berenice Hoffman, of coeds who are planning joint dinner parties to precede the dance. "It is evident," she said, "that Nebraska women are very enthusiastic over the idea and intend to carry out the motif to a degree worthy indeed of the approbation of their guests for the evening."

The party, which is to be held in the university coliseum, is an innovation upon this campus and is, additionally, the first attempt of Mortar Board to sponsor such an affair. Permission has been received by the faculty committee on student affairs and the Student Council, and favorable resolutions have been passed by Interfraternity and Panhellenic councils closing the night to house parties. Tickets may be secured from any member of Mortar Board, or from a Tassel for one dollar.

While ticket sales are still going on it is reported that there are still many men students who are waiting for the telephone to ring. Other rumors which have come to the Daily Nebraskan office indicate that a fifty-fifty proposition will suit some men.

PROOFS MUST BE CHOSEN

Students must select the picture they want developed and turn in this choice today to the studios which are doing the Cornhusker's work. If this action is not taken, the photographers will select proofs of their own choice and develop them, according to Otis Detrick, editor.

The editor explained this move in declaring that fraternity and sorority sections are to be made up immediately, which necessitates immediate action.

Anyone having their proofs out must likewise turn them in today, designating their choice, if they desire to have their pictures in this year's annual.

The deadline for having pictures taken for these sections closed yesterday, and only those who made appointments with either Haucks or Townsends may yet obtain sittings for pictures to be in fraternity or sorority sections.

The junior and senior sections are not closed. Contrary to general student belief that they closed with the fraternity sections, they will be open until announcement is made by Cornhusker staff officials.

The two week session, offering only four courses, will last from June 13 to June 24. Students may register for nine hours of credit in the regular session. No credit will be given in the courses of the six weeks session until one extra hour of work has been made up by extension.

May Choose Short Course.

Students registered in the regular session may elect courses offered during one of the shorter sessions provided the total number of hours for which he registers does not exceed eighteen recitation periods per week, three laboratory periods being equivalent to one recitation period.

In addition to the regular instructional staff of the university, a distinguished group of visiting instructors will offer courses during the summer school sessions. Ten visiting instructors, from all parts of the country, will offer courses.

Fairy Tales Beneficial as Reading Matter for College Students, Says Prof. R. J. Scott When Questioned

By IMOGENE SOUDERS.

"Certainly—college students could derive a great deal of benefit and pleasure from reading fairy tales."

Thus spoke Professor R. J. Scott of the English department in regard to a recent statement made by Professor Joseph R. Taylor of the department of English at Ohio State. Prof. Taylor asserted that "college students should read fairy tales—the nonsense in the present readings, mystery tales and love stories—does more harm than a good fairy tale could ever do."

"I believe," Prof. Scott continued, "that a student's reading should be diversified and not confined to a particular type of material. If he has not read 'Alice in Wonderland,' 'Gulliver's Travels,' 'Hans Andersen's,' and 'Grimm's Fairy Tales' when he was young, he would find it enjoyable to do so. If he has read them, it would be well to renew their acquaintance."

Advises Wide Range.

Professor Scott advises students to choose their books from widely different sources. Biographies, historical novels, mystery tales, travel stories and excellent and interesting selection.

Professor Scott recommends the following books and authors:

Detective stories: By Mrs. Everhart, S. S. Van Dyne and A. Conan Doyle.

Historical novels: "The Two Cities" by Dickens, "Quo Vadis" and "With Fire and Sword" by Sienkiewicz, "Napoleon's Russian Campaign" by Tolstoy and "Last Days of Pompeii" by Bulwer Lytton.

Ordinary fiction: "Kim," "The Light That Failed," and "Selected Short Stories" by Rudyard Kipling.

Biographies: "The Winning of the West" by Theodore Roosevelt, "Mont St. Michel and Chartres" by Henry Adams, "Abraham Lincoln" by Lord Charnwood, "Life of Christ" by Papini, "The Story of My Life" by Helen Keller and Homer's "Iliad" and "Odyssey."

Modern Authors: Willa Cather and John Galsworthy.

CAGESTERS WILL LEAVE TODAY ON TWO-GAME TRIP

Tussles with Kansas State, Missouri Scheduled for Week-End.

IS IMPORTANT SERIES

To Decide Whether Huskers To Remain in Race For Title.

By MURLIN SPENCER.

Coach Charley Black and his basketball squad will leave Friday for a two game series with Missouri and Kansas State, the results of which will determine whether Nebraska is to remain in the race for the Big Six conference title. Nebraska's first tilt will be played Saturday with Missouri followed by a second game at Manhattan Monday night.

The trip this weekend will be one of the most important the Huskers will take this season. Following the narrow defeat at the hands of Kansas Tuesday, Nebraska will be fighting to continue in the race. Missouri is undefeated, and showed by its victory over Kansas State a fast scoring team rated among the best in the conference. Nebraska will attempt to stop the scoring of John Cooper, sophomore, who almost single handedly defeated the Kaggies by three field goals in rapid order late in the final period of the game.

Star Is Out.

Kansas Aggies is still minus the services of their star, Cronkite, but have been coming along fast in spite of his absence. In a pre-season series with the Kansas Jayhawkers, the Aggies were nosed out by close scores and will give any team lots of trouble.

Plans for the Huskers to make the trip by auto were changed following the heavy snowstorm, thus cutting the number of men to make the trip down to nine, Henry, Lunney, Boswell, Lenser, Mason, Koster, Letts and Cople were nominated to go.

Defense occupied most of the time in practice Thursday night, with one team composed of Koster and Mason, guards; Hartley, center; Lunney and Henrick, forwards; meeting a team made up of Cople, Yordy, Lenser, Boswell. (Continued on Page 3.)

PUBLISH BULLETIN ON BANK FAILURES

Members Business Research Bureau Edit Study of Finance.

A bulletin entitled "National Bank Failures in Nebraska," a study compiled by the committee on business research of the college of business administration, has been published by the extension division. The bulletin is listed as No. 29 in the series of Nebraska Studies in Business.

The bulletin represents the results of a study of the failure of national banks in the state, and the purpose of the study was to see what light the experience with national bank failures throws on the general problem of bank failures in this state. It is expected that this bulletin will serve as a background for a subsequent study of state bank failures.

The pamphlet contains chapters on legal restrictions on banking activities, a summary of bank failures, and loan, borrowing, and dividend policies of failed banks. The study covers the period from January 29, 1920 to April 22, 1930.

The committee on business research, which compiled the bulletin, is composed of Professor T. B. Robb, chairman, and Professors G. O. Virtue, O. R. Martin, Dana F. Cole, E. C. Blood and E. S. Fulbrook.

Dr. Hertzler has been head of the sociology department of the university for many years and has written several text books on the subject. He has long been identified with social welfare activities in Lincoln.

Lincoln demonstrated that it is going to care for its own." The Lincoln community chest has raised $1,198,566 for community welfare work in the last ten years.

ALEXIS DESCRIBES WRONGS TO SPANISH

Speaker Declares Suffers From Prejudice and Misunderstanding.

Declaring that Spain has suffered from prejudice on the part of the English and that American histories have not given her due credit, Prof. Joseph E. Alexis of the department of romance languages explained the situation of the Spaniards in a talk before the Lions club Thursday.

Difference in points of view between English and Latin countries was offered by Alexis as reason for American failure to understand Spain and Spanish-American countries.

"We have been victims of propaganda," he declared, "and we have come to believe that the Spaniards have been cruel and bloodthirsty. As a matter of fact, when the Spaniards settled in America the Indians stayed, but when the English came the Indian was forced out, defeated by the Englishman's weapons of alcohol and gunpowder."

BRYAN RECEIVES DROUTH AID CHECK FROM UNIVERSITY

Relief Fund Takes $5,906 Jump as Grid Money Comes In.

HAVE FORMAL CEREMONY

Nebraska Contributes Total Share of Charity Game Receipts.

A check amounting to nearly six thousand dollars, representing Nebraska's share of the gate receipts in the Denver University-Nebraska charity football game played last month in Denver, was received yesterday noon, according to an announcement from the office of Governor Bryan.

The money received, which totaled $5,906.86, will be used in relief work in the drouth stricken areas of northeast Nebraska, the expenditure of the money being supervised by the state relief committee. The receipt of the money as the Cornhusker's bit toward charity nearly doubled the state relief fund, boosting the total slightly above $13,000.

Burnett Present.

Formal presentation of the check was made by a party including Chancellor E. A. Burnett, head football coach D. X. Bible, manager of athletics John K. Selleck, and senior members of the football team who played their last varsity game in the post-season game at Denver.

The players in the group at the formal presentation of the check were: Harold Nelson, game captain against the Colorado Aggies, Hugh Rhea, Charles Justice, George Koster, Lewis Brown, Bob Manley, Jim Gilbert, Everett Kreizinger, Jerry Adam, and Marvin Paul.

The governor explained that the cash funds were being used to supplement rations being forwarded from different sections of the state, and that the football check would probably make possible not only the caring for actual families that are in need, but also the purchase of feed for livestock and perhaps some seed to be distributed next spring.

In response, Coach Bible declared that the boys were glad to have taken a part in a game played for such a worthy cause and more than glad of the opportunity to do their bit.

BALL TICKET SALE REPORTED AS GOOD

Head Salesman Declares Supply May Soon Be Exhausted.

Heavy early sale of tickets for the Interfraternity ball in the Cornhusker hotel, Feb. 6, was reported at the close of the second day's sales yesterday by Charles Skade. Skade, who is in charge of the sales campaign, said an unofficial check showed tickets were going rapidly in the fraternity houses and at Long's and the Co-op bookstore.

Skade has not announced the date when tickets must be checked in but said he thinks the limited number of tickets will be exhausted soon. Sales for the event are limited to the capacity of the ballroom since the event will be held in a downtown ballroom rather than in the coliseum.

Ten tickets were checked out each Interfraternity representative at the council meeting Tuesday and the sales opened Wednesday morning.

Norman Galleher, chairman of the ball committee, is now back on the campus following his injury in an automobile accident two weeks ago and has resumed charge of the direction of plans. He reports that arrangements are practically complete with only the decorations contract yet to be let.

Reporters Sit in "Flies" Directly Over Stage to Get Fantastic Slant On Fantastic "Players" Production

By ARTHUR WOLF.

"New angles," cries the world. "Give us something new," they say. So Daily Nebraskan reporters, in an attempt to give readers something new, obtained a bird's eye view of the University Players' latest production, "Beggars on Horseback," Wednesday night, and a description of what they saw constitutes a fantastic angle on a fantastic production.

It may be that professional secrets will be revealed here that should not be. It may be that people already know the things that are about to be divulged. At any rate the authentic report of all that occurred behind the scene follows:

Among the more astounding things that occurred was a realization, as the play drew to a close, that the promoter was spending more time on Ray Ramsay from his unseem and all-important position, than on all the rest of the cast. Ray did not seem to forget his lines, it seemed rather that he was continually attempting to put a new line into the show.

Ramsay Does Stunting.

According to the solons behind the scenes the renowned Mr. Ramsay is continually doing that very thing and last night was no exception. During the court room

AG FACULTY GRANTS APPROVAL OF SKITS

Acts Selected for Coll-Agri-Fun Nite on Feb. 12.

Only two of the acts are of serious nature, Glenn Burton, manager of the show said. "And three are black faced comedies. A snow dance directed by Clarice Hads, junior in the college, promises to be the most colorful presentation of the evening. Some of the short course students are planning to enter the competition also."

Ray Ramsey, secretary of the Alumni association, Mrs. W. E. Field, jr., who had charge of the art exhibits at the state fair for the last five years, and the Rev. D. E. O'Connor, judged the competition.

According to Kenneth Ried, business manager, tickets will be on sale immediately after final examinations. ## STUDENT COUNCIL WANTS PLACE ON ATHLETIC BOARD

Undergraduate Lawmakers Will Try Again for Representation.

CITE OTHER COLLEGES

Huber, Head of Committee On Athletic Relations Favors Idea.

After unsuccessful attempts in the past to secure student representation on the athletic board of control, the student council will investigate the feasibility of securing such representation this year, according to a statement made by Edwin Faulkner, president of the council.

This decision was announced at the meeting of the council Wednesday night in a report made by the delegates to the National Student Federation association convention at Toledo, O., during the holidays, recommending such a procedure.

According to the report, made by Edwin Faulkner, president of the council, Julia Simons, secretary, and Prof. E. W. Lantz, faculty adviser to the council, most of the schools represented at the convention had some form or other of student representation or student control in matters of athletic policy concerning the university.

Unsuccessful Last Year.

Last year the athletic relations committee of the student council, with Walter Huber as chairman, made an unsuccessful attempt to secure student representation on the athletic board of control. The move was supported by Robert Kelly, president of the council at that time.

According to Huber, the athletic relations committee met with the athletic board and thoroughly discussed the question. Last spring the committee met with the board at a luncheon to talk over the matter.

At that time, the committee laid before the board a plan of having two student representatives on the board. These two students were to be elected by the student council. One member was to be a senior holdover from the board the preceding year, and the other would be a junior who would be a member of the board the following year.

Suggest Alternative.

The alternative plan suggested by the committee was to have the athletic relations committee of the student council meet with the athletic board of control on matters of athletics in which the students of the university were involved. The athletic board took the matter into consideration at the time and promised to make an answer. (Continued on Page 3.)
