

SEVEN MATMEN NOMINATED FOR OKLAHOMA TRIP

Capt. Lehman Accompanies Squad for Initial Meet In Soonerland.

OPPONENTS UNDEFEATED

Have Defeated Jayhawks, Tigers; Huskers to Meet Mizzou Feb. 13.

Coach Joe Lehman announced Tuesday the personnel of the wrestling squad that will accompany him to Norman, Saturday. Don Shirley, 155 pounder, and Jerry Adam, heavyweight, are the two major letter winners making the trip. Walker will wrestle in the 135 pound class and Ackerman is entered in the 165 pound division. In the 125 pound class Burnett will make the trip and a coin must be flipped between Glenn Heady and Schmidt in the 115 pound grapple. Green will wrestle for the Huskers in the 145 class.

The Saturday contest will be the initial meet of the season for the Scarlet wrestlers. Coach Lehman was deprived of the opportunity to test the strength of his team in the postponement of the dual with Kansas Jan. 23. Coach Lehman hopes to reschedule the meet with the Jayhawks at a later date, probably in March.

Oklahoma is reported to have the best team in the history of their school. All of their men have had experience in varsity competition. The Sooners have vanquished both Kansas and Missouri in their first two attempts.

The first home contest will be with Missouri Feb. 13 and then comes Kansas State Feb. 20 at Manhattan. The team goes to Ames on Feb. 26.

GROUND HOG TUESDAY MAKES ANNUAL VISIT AS WEATHER PROPHET

available for an interview yesterday on the campus.

A reporter sent to get a statement from the nearest ground hog came back with a statement, all right, but subsequent investigation showed he had been misled by a denizen of the library basement.

Although official weather men jealously scoff at the predictions of Sir G. Hog, those predictions are looked to as accurate indications by many folk. In addition, the forecasts invariably furnish quantities of material for newspaper comment, thus incurring the displeasure of millions of newspaper readers.

Careful survey of Lincoln and vicinity has led to the conclusion that if any ground hog was so bold as to appear yesterday he undoubtedly got cold feet, so all of the marmots stayed not long from the protection of their dens, and are probably back sleeping now in warm underground castles.

BOWLING TOURNAMENT ENTERS SECOND LAP

Alpha Theta, Phi Kappa Psi, Lambda Chi Victors in Tuesday Matches.

Alpha Theta Chi and Phi Kappa Psi were the heavy winners as the second round of intramural bowling got underway Tuesday afternoon at the Lincoln bowling parlors. The Alpha Theta Keglers, last year's champions defeated Alpha Gamma Rho in three straight games upsetting 2,033 pins to 1,880 pins to 2,213 for the A. G. R.'s Moran, Alpha Theta Chi was high with a pin total of 512 for the three games.

Phi Kappa Psi took the Phi Kappa bowlers into camp in a trio of games, upsetting 2,033 ins to 1,880 for the Phi Kappa's. Pierce of Phi Kappa team was out in front in this match with a 550 total.

The final encounter of the afternoon found Lambda Chi Alpha too strong for Theta Xi, the former winning two of the three games. Don Carr, Lambda Chi Alpha, was high point man of the series with a mark of 531. The Delta Tau Delta Phi Delta Theta match has been postponed until later in the week.

A pair of matches scheduled today in League III bring Delta Sigma Lambda against Alpha Tau Omega and Beta Theta Pi against Phi Gamma Delta. They will start promptly at four o'clock.

League IX competition today finds Delta Upsilon meeting Sigma Phi Epsilon and Phi Kappa Psi encountering the Tau Kappa Epsilon male artists.

According to rules laid down by the director of intramural athletics, the percentage of games won and lost will determine the champion, and not the total number of pins.

Stephen Leacock, head of the economics department of McGill university, claims that humor "has got to be intelligible to the humblest intelligence or it won't do commercially. This keeps it from being pedantic and academic, but it tends to tempt it to be showy, flashy and indecent.

"It is my opinion that the world is visibly changing from the greatest age in the history of permanent literature to the new age of the mass production of transitory thought."

By admitting that slang "can be quite creative and contributes to the growth of the language," Professor Frank Baxter of the English department of the University of Southern California, upset all precedent.

The Husker basketball team should get wise to itself and begin carrying some kind of lucky piece around with them. How would a rabbit's foot do? Nebraska fans have seen the Scarlet five play superlative basketball against Kansas and Oklahoma, only to be outscored in a final period rush. Monday night, it was the other team who led at the half, but still that old jinx persisted in denying victory to the Blackmen after a comeback that would do credit to any cage club. There just ain't no justice!

Steve Hokuf still retains the basket eye that helped give him a post at guard on the first All Big Six selection last year. Steve was swishing them through the netting in great style last night at the coliseum, seemingly fully recovered from a back injury received in an auto accident during vacation.

You may not agree, but it is the writer's opinion that Andy Beck, Oklahoma goal artist is the best forward of any Big Six floor this season. Roadcap is certainly good, but he doesn't measure up to Beck's all around playing ability. Beck, an All-America high school performer from Oklahoma City has an uncanny basket sense in addition to teaming well with his mates.

He dribbled away from "Dutch" Koster once for a basket in the recent game with the Sooners, and when a player does that on Koster he's fast!

Johnny Cooper, Missouri sophomore ace will be seen here Feb. 26 when the Tigers and Huskers clash. Cooper has been unstoppable thus far this season.

Referee Quigley was really belittling out orders in the mix with Iowa State Monday night. In the two previous games at which he officiated this year, it seemed that the famous Quigley "fire" was missing, but it was there the other night. His lungs were more than getting their share of exercise.

In this same connection, I can't see the objections made concerning this same Quigley's officiating by Missouri. The explanation in this latter case seems to be found in the fact that the Tiger cagers play plenty of football along with their basketball, and Quigley called them on it.

The Arizona Wildcat observes that the Bachelors club, founded at the University of Arizona a few short weeks ago to force the women of the university to pay their share of college debts, has already died at natural death.

Former Husker Athlete Chosen Olympic Coach

AMES, Ia.—The selection of Hugo Ottopalk, Iowa State wrestling coach, as head coach of the United States Olympic wrestling team comes as an honor award to a man who "eats and sleeps" wrestling and promotes the sport in every word he says.

Ottopalk's colorful career as an athlete in his undergraduate days at the University of Nebraska and as coach here makes him well qualified for the honor that comes to few coaches, since the Olympics are held but once every four years. He was selected from a field of eighteen nationally known wrestling tutors to prepare the United States team for the Olympic games, after the final tryouts are completed in Columbus, O., July 7 and 8.

Since coming to Iowa State to coach, Ottopalk has developed two Olympic wrestlers, Arthur Holding and Ralph Prunty, both members of the 1928 squad. In addition he has trained five national champions in Prunty and Holding, Harold Boyvey, Hugh Linn and Dick Cole.

Besides his duties as wrestling and golf coach, he serves as secretary of the National Collegiate Wrestling Coaches' association, president of the Big Six Coaches' association, chairman of the Midwest A. A. U. wrestling committee, president of the Iowa Physical Education committee and member of the Olympic wrestling committee.
