

CAGESTERS WILL MEET ST. LOUIS WEDNESDAY EVE

First Meeting of Teams for Two Years; Last Game St. Louis Won.

INJURIES NOT SERIOUS

Mason, Barger, Davison Are Suffering Bruises From Last Tilt.

A rejuvenated Cornhusker basketball team will meet the St. Louis university five in a non-conference contest Wednesday evening in the coliseum at 8 p. m. This game will be the first meeting of these teams in two years. The last game was played in 1930 on the Nebraska floor and ended in a victory for St. Louis, 44 to 42. Coach Black reports that there are no serious casualties among his varsity players, but Mason, Barger and Davison are still suffering from bruises collected Saturday. The Huskers, enlivened and heartened by their victory over Kansas State are expected to put up one of their best games of the year.

The previous encounter against the Billikens was a see-saw affair and a thriller to the closing whistle. Twice during the game Coach Black's men came from behind to cut down a ten point lead only to lose in the final minute of play by a lone goal.

St. Louis has a highly polished five that has been enjoying a satisfactory season thus far. Coach Nykies and his Billikens are making a road trip meeting Kansas State Agricultural college Tuesday night at Manhattan and the Nebraska five at Lincoln.

All Nebraska high school teams and their coaches have been invited to attend this game as guests of the athletic department and Coach Black. Twenty-three schools have accepted the invitation and mailed in their requests for free tickets. This will bring approximately three hundred players and coaches to the coliseum.

Teams from Sprague, Hickman, Friend, Tillotson, Elmwood, Oteo, Cortland, Weston, Valley, Louisville, Greenwood, Cheney, Malcolm, Murdock, Holmesville, Plymouth, Dorchester, Omaha Central, and four teams from Greater Lincoln—Bethany, Jackson, Teachers College, and Lincoln high school will be present.

Two "spiking joints" near the University of Minnesota campus have been closed by police following a liquor enforcement drive by the mayor of Minneapolis. Threats to institute proceedings against students whose names were garnered in the raids have been made by the mayor, who promises to close other cafes, restaurants and soft drink parlors near the campus which, he says, "serve set-ups to

MISSOURI BEATS SOONERS FOR BIG SIX LEADERSHIP

Tigers Win 27-20 Decision Over Wildcats; K. U. Forge Ahead.

HUSKERS SUBDUED K-AGS

Scarlet Click in Victory Over Wilcats; K. U. Defeats Ames.

BY JOE MILLER.

George Edward's Missouri five assumed undisputed leadership in the Big Six basket race Saturday night when it subdued the strong Oklahoma quintet 27 to 20 at Columbia. It was a case of the outstanding defensive team beating the best offensive outfit in the conference.

Additional features of last week's basketball play were Kansas' surprising victory over Iowa State 40 to 27 and Nebraska's triumph over the Kansas State tossers 32 to 26.

Bill Johnston, elongated Jayhawk center, snapped out of the lethargy that has characterized his play this season to score seventeen points against the Ames team and definitely eliminate the Cyclones from further title consideration.

Nebraska played a bang up brand of basketball to win by six points against Coach Corsaut's K-Aggies. Davison was the lone veteran in the lineup that outfought and outscored the Wildcats. It marked the first victory for the Blackmen on their home floor.

Kansas and Kansas State meet Friday night at Manhattan in a tilt that should decide which team shall remain in the battle for the conference championship. Each team has won three and lost three.

Oklahoma is in second place with a trio of wins and two losses. The Sooners take on Iowa State Monday night and Nebraska Saturday night. The latter tilt will be played at Norman.

Paul Mason, Husker guard, worked his way into the list of ten high scorers last week. He occupies ninth position with 37 points. Ted O'Leary of K. U. took the individual lead away from Andy Beck of Oklahoma who was shoved down to third place. O'Leary has 64 points to his credit, Cooper is second with 57 and Beck close behind with 55 counters.

Hallucinations of royal birth have fallen off among the inmates of Rockwood Mental hospital, according to an item in the Queen's University Journal, Kingston, Ontario. In normal times there are usually half a dozen claimants of the title Prince of Wales, but now there are only two.

First day registration in coed fencing courses at the University of Texas has increased 80 percent over last term at the same time.

THE long, looked-for explosion on the part of the basketball team finally occurred Saturday night and Kansas State happened to be the victim. Charley Black's men, playing heads-up basketball the entire game clicked for the first time this season before a home crowd. Davison, Lunney, Henrion, Boswell, and Mason played a superb game that the Wildcats could not match.

SPEAKING of home crowds, there can be no kick on the way students and outsiders have supported what has been a losing basketball team. In the majority of games played at the coliseum this year, the Huskers have piled up a big lead in the first part of the game, only to see their opponents come from behind to nip them in the closing minutes. Yet the crowds keep coming. All of which contradicts the theory that Husker fans patronize only a winning team.

KEN WHITE, husky Kimball halfback, has returned to school this semester and will report for spring practice. White showed great possibilities as a freshman ball lugger a year ago, before spraining an ankle that kept him out of active play the latter half of the season. Next year will be his first bid for a varsity position.

MINOT DAVISON and Paul Mason, Husker guards took a stiff pounding Saturday night from the K-Aggie basketers. Davison showed up for practice Monday afternoon with a bad shoulder, bulging lip, sore knee, and elbow injury. Mason was out on his feet in the third quarter after Eldon Auker, giant Wildcat guard had deliberately blocked him, knocking Mason to the floor. No penalty was called on Auker, however, although Mason was forced to leave the game. He returned a few minutes later. It was the fight displayed by these two men and the entire team that enabled Nebraska to run up the victory flag for the first home game this season.

BRUCE KILBOURNE, Forrest McPherson and Chris Mathis, all members of the 1931 varsity football team, have dropped out of school this semester.

COACH BLACK declared Monday that Kansas State plays the roughest basketball of any team in the Big Six. He also stated that the Nebraska-Kansas State tilt at Manhattan a few weeks ago was even rougher than the Saturday night dog fight at the coliseum!

The Scarlet mentor, when questioned about Johnny Cooper's scoring streak said that the Missouri sophomore star used an unorthodox method of shooting. He bats the ball in after leaving his feet. It was Black's prophecy that the return game between the Tigers and K-Ags to be played at Manhattan will find Cooper resting in the bleachers after leaving his feet for a shot.
