

THE DAILY NEBRASKAN

Station A, Lincoln, Nebraska
OFFICIAL STUDENT PUBLICATION
UNIVERSITY OF NEBRASKA
Published Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday, Friday and Sunday mornings during the academic year.

THIRTY-FIRST YEAR
Entered as second-class matter at the postoffice in Lincoln, Nebraska, under act of congress, March 3, 1879, and at special rate of postage provided for in section 1103, act of October 3, 1917, authorized January 20, 1922. Under direction of the Student Publication Board.

EDITORIAL STAFF
Arthur Wolf, Editor-in-Chief
MANAGING EDITORS
Howard Alloway, Jack Erickson
NEWS EDITORS
Philip Brownell, Oliver De Wolf
Laurence Hall, Virginia Pollard
Joe Miller, Sports Editor
Evelyn Simpson, Associate Editor
Ruth Schill, Women's Editor
Katharine Howard, Society Editor

The Dead And the Dying.

Upon the recommendation of The Daily Nebraskan, the Student Council, Wednesday, appointed a committee to investigate whether or not class offices should or should not be abolished.

Committees have a way of getting lost. One committee, a group of faction leaders selected to discuss duties for the presidents, is lost at the present time.

EFL this morning has an original and startling solution to the problem. He advances an entirely unique proposal but his logic is good.

Unless something is done class presidencies will go the same way. That, if it occurs, will be regrettable, but much more satisfactory than the present situation.

The Yellow Jacket faction once declared that they would urge the Student Council to abolish these offices if they were not given some duties.

The Daily Nebraskan realizes that political leaders have only too little time. It realizes that committees need time in which to function.

Classical antiquities: May I have this dance? Where do the tuxes go in the spring? Wonder if the Farmers Fair is anything like Laissez faire?

The Stranger At the Door.

The first active step toward the organization of the Barbs looking toward an improvement in the political situation on the campus will occur tonight when members of the realignment committee and other appointed by the committee chairman will talk to students in rooming houses in an effort to interest them in the project.

The plan, as advanced by the committee, should be familiar to all. It involves organizing a small group of Barb students around which to build a larger organization.

There is no doubt in the minds of the committee but what the plan will work if the Barb students will cooperate.

If the political situation is ever to be cleared up on the campus and if Barbs ever hope to make their passive strength felt, now is the time for action.

'Green Pastures.'

Once upon a time there was a little boy who saw a particularly fanciful and beautiful sunset. The gorgeous and magnificent colors impressed him tremendously.

Once upon a time there was another young fellow who saw a play called "Green Pastures." He sat through the seventeen scenes, heard the beautiful Negro spirituals, saw the tremendously moving drama unfold, and when it was over, "Gee," he said.

There are no words to express the simple effect of Marc Connelly's interpretation of the Negro faith. It is an attempt to get at the Negro religious psychology in terms of their own lives.

Its simple construction, its perfect continuity, and its everyday philosophy make it a play which will endure.

Jimmy Lewis.

The recent slash made in the athletic department makes necessary the dropping of four members of the staff. Among them is Jimmy LeLewis, known by almost all athletes thruout the state and by most everyone in the University of Nebraska.

Jimmy graduated from the University of Nebraska in 1926 and has since been on the staff of the athletic department. The story goes that Coach Schulte saw him running across the campus one day and asked him to come out for track.

The school that obtains the services of Jimmy Lewis will be fortunate. They will have an efficient and hard working young man. The school that gets him is to be congratulated.

Picnic season opens. People scratch necks. But the Devil whoops, as he whooped of old: "It's clever, but is it Art?"—Kipling.

What, no knickers yet?

MORNING MAIL

Found—One Job.

TO THE EDITOR: As everyone knows, the biggest problem confronting our local political B. D.s (Blah Dispensers) is the problem of finding something for our class presidents to do.

Perhaps we should bring forth some of that Campus spirit—no, I don't want to see what is in your hip pocket—and solve the problem ourselves.

The first thing to do is to install traffic lights at the intersections between Social Sciences and Teachers college, and also at the southwest corner of Andrews hall.

College Editors Say—

Dirty Crack. Most college students would rise up in "righteous indignation" if they were collectively labelled as cultured fourflushers.

Nine-tenths of collegians is perfectly willing to bask in the sunlit haze of blind admiration shed on it by the less educated mass of humanity.

The average college student has only a thin veneer of education. Usually he is educated just enough to make people think he is cultured.

He deals largely in generalizations and platitudes to cover up his assiminity, and boredom in his screen against exposure. He has no burning desire for intellectual enlightenment.

HAYSEED and HAYWIRE

By GEORGE ROUND

Dr. C. W. McCampbell, head of the animal husbandry department at the Kansas state agricultural college, is to be one of the chief speakers on the feeder's day program scheduled to be held on the college of agriculture campus on April 15.

If present expectations are to come true, there will be nearly 2,000 farmers on the campus for the annual event. Results of experimental livestock feeding will be disclosed during the program.

Ed Frerichs thinks this column is running stiff competition to O. O. McIntyre's. Don't be sarcastic, Ed. Then "Vanny" Horn glances through this "hokey" once in a while and stops long enough to say nice things.

Nebraska farmers are still applying for a limited number of forest tree seedlings and transplants as there are several thousand still available.

This Haword White who won both the Junior Ak-Sar-Ben showmanship contest and the judging championship at the college this year is none other than a brother of Myrtle White.

Radio will again be used this year in advertising the 1932 farmers fair to Nebraska people. Manager Fred Meredith is expected to give the first talk some time this week and will outline the plans of the senior fair board.

They say that Hugh Rhea maintains that Leland Copple has a glass jaw. Maybe so, but Rhea has a pretty big middle that would make a nice target.

OPEN CAMPAIGN TO ORGANIZE ALL BARB STUDENTS

(Continued from Page 1.) in U hall 106 to receive instructions and to decide on a uniform program of presentation.

The speaking organization tour Thursday night is the outgrowth of the work of a faction realignment committee whose first report advanced the theory of barb club organization to remedy the existing inequality at present existing in the campus political situation.

It was also pointed out by the realignment committee that welding the non-fraternity section of the student body more closely together would enable them to enjoy increased advantages in the fields of social and intramural sports activities.

The faction realignment committee is composed of the three faction heads, two faculty members, two representatives of the student council, and three members of the Innocents society, under whose stimulation the program of realignment was first brought forward.

In a statement made Wednesday Edwin Faulkner, president of the student council and ex-officio member of the committee in charge of adjustment, explained the purpose of the scheduled house to house tour of speakers, and outlined past developments in the reorganization program.

Faulkner, Pinkerton: Mrs. Bentz, 151 S. Mrs. Fox, 1414 S. Devereaux, Eastaday: Mrs. Bennet, 1121 Q; Mrs. Brehm, 1313 Q. Wolf, Craybill: Mrs. Snyder, 1437 Q; Mrs. McLaughlin, 1446 Q. McGaffin, Graham: Mrs. Westholm, 1516 Q; Mrs. Rymer, 1643 Q. Bell, Skade: Mrs. Francis, 1431 U; Mrs. Rodman, 1520 U. Detrick, Walker: Mrs. Vance,

Growing of Trees, Shrubs, Flowers Is Work of Substation at North Platte

A farmer's experimental laboratory securing for him the information he is anxious to have regarding the many problems that arise day by day—that is the experimental substation at the University of Nebraska at North Platte.

Constantly working on problems closest to the life of the Nebraska farmer of this section, the substation works on the plan that the ultimate end of its work is the development of a farm home where happiness and contentment abide.

As the substation is located in a region of rather scant rainfall with an average of about eighteen and one-half inches of annual precipitation and a variation of from slightly above ten inches as in 1931 to thirty-five inches in 1915, the conservation, storage and use of soil moisture naturally has been given primary consideration.

Wrestling and Debating Occupies Time of Donald Shirley, Law Student

BY HARRY FOSTER.

Wrestler and debater doesn't sound exactly like ham and eggs. Incongruous at first thought but when you consider that wrestling has developed into a rough and tumble and that heated arguments often lead to "I'll see you outside" the connection becomes less paradoxical.

Shirley, who is a junior in the Arts and Science college and intends to grapple with the legal profession, stated that he enjoyed wrestling the most but that he thought that he derived more personal benefit from his forensic activities.

The strangleristic Demosthenes won five out of his seven bouts in the 1932 class this year. In spite of the fact that he is engaged in these two notable outside activities he has an enviable scholastic record and is at the present time holder of a tuition scholarship.

511 No. 18; Mrs. Sackett, 306 No. 17h. Nash, LeDoyt: Mrs. A. L. Burke, 319 No. 17th; Mrs. F. D. Burke, 321 No. 17th. Brownell, Craybill, W.: Mrs. Sheridan, 1507 R; Mrs. Lind, 1535 R. Hedge, Galleher: Mrs. Wolfe, 1449 S; Mrs. Dean, 1504 S. Alloway, Schmid: Mrs. Cumming, 1332 K. Thompson, Devereaux: Mrs. Burch, 1522 S; Mrs. Hammond, 1423 U.

150 HIGH SCHOOL SENIORS ARE TO RECEIVE AWARDS

(Continued from Page 1.) with English and mathematics as requirements, will be given to at least two seniors in each school, the tests to be administered by high school officials, who will select the competing students on a basis of scholastic attainments.

This new system of scholarships brings the total number of such tuition scholarships at the state university up to 250, 100 having previously been offered to upper-class students on a basis of scholarship and financial need.

SAYS LABOR PLEDGES TO BE SATISFACTORY

(Continued from Page 1.) pledged for work to be done within the next three months, beginning April 1, and ending July 1, the committee has estimated that at least 1,000 men have already been promised employment.

"From a cursory investigation Wednesday afternoon after our report meeting at noon," Gundersen said, "I am confident we will have $750,000 more pledged by Thursday noon, thus bringing our total up to more than $1,000,000."

The largest single item reported Wednesday was the total for regiment nineteen in Division E, under Gen. Carl Bumstead, $227,345 having been pledged for work. The total for Bumstead's division was $231,168. Other totals to date are:

Division A, Harry Grainger, general: $104,498; Division B, Kendrick Ott, general: $72,978; Division C, general: $104,498; Division D, general: $104,498; Division E, general: $104,498; Division F, general: $104,498; Division G, general: $104,498; Division H, general: $104,498; Division I, general: $104,498; Division J, general: $104,498; Division K, general: $104,498; Division L, general: $104,498; Division M, general: $104,498; Division N, general: $104,498; Division O, general: $104,498; Division P, general: $104,498; Division Q, general: $104,498; Division R, general: $104,498; Division S, general: $104,498; Division T, general: $104,498; Division U, general: $104,498; Division V, general: $104,498; Division W, general: $104,498; Division X, general: $104,498; Division Y, general: $104,498; Division Z, general: $104,498.

The College World

BY LAURENCE HALL

Ninety percent of the men questioned at the University of Georgia said they would marry a woman sixty years old if she had a million dollars.

Russian college students are paid by the government, and if a student has dependents, the government also supports them.

A room in the city jail is the study hall for a student at Ohio State. He failed to stop for a red light, but the judge was lenient and made arrangements for him to study while serving sentence.

A course in Icelandic—both the modern language and the old Norse—has been added to the curriculum of the University of Idaho.

At the University of Berlin students are allowed six weeks to analyze the various professors offering each course.

"If the Canadian liquor system were introduced into this country under present legal and judicial systems, hell would be popping," said Benjamin Spence, Canadian journalist in a recent talk at Amherst.

Freshmen at Harvard who take German and French have the privilege of lunching at tables where the menu is printed and conversation carried on in these tongues.

A coed at Iowa State earns her way thru school by driving a bus, while a sophomore man at the same school struggles along by selling cakes which he bakes himself.

Sixty-five thousand dollars is the value put on a college education by William Atherton DuPuy, prominent statistician.

University of Minnesota chemists use five miles of rubber tubing, six tons of 50,000 bottles and a half million matches a year.

Two Missouri coeds settled the accumulated arguments of a year by throwing pies at each other. They were big thick butterscotch pies covered with meringue.

Elimination of politics from student publications is the noble work being carried on at Washington university by the Student Committee on Publications.

Roofing for the home team is enthusiastic at Illinois, where more than ninety kinds of grass are being tested to find the best variety for sodding the football field.

Sigma Delta Chi Will Meet Thursday Night

All active members of Sigma Delta Chi will meet at the Alpha Theta Chi house Thursday night for a dinner meeting followed by consideration of important business.

SORORITY TO PLEDGE THREE

Coed Honorary Journalism Society to Hold Rites Thursday. Theta Sigma Phi, honorary journalistic sorority, will hold pledging service for three new members at 4:30 Thursday afternoon.

Pershing Rifles Take In Three New Chapters

Three new chapters of Pershing Rifles, national honorary basic military fraternity, were recently admitted to the organization, it was announced by Claude Gillespie, national commander of the organization.

ANNOUNCING THE Grand Opening OF THE BEAUTIFUL, NEW BLUE PLATE GRILL

TODAY 5:30-8:30 Flowers for Ladies Cigars for Men At 1418 O

UNITARIAN CHURCH
12th and H Streets
Arthur L. Weatherly, Minister
The Church Without a Creed
Not the Truth, but the Search for Truth
Sunday, April 3
Goethe Centenary Commemoration
Prof. Lawrence Fossler, Speaker
On Top of the World...
... on Graduation Day
in a CAP & GOWN
From
LONG'S COLLEGE BOOK STORES
FACING CAMPUS