LUNCHEON OPENS SUPPORT CONTEST OF SPORT EVENTS

Athletic Department to Give Trips to Three Games To the Winners.

BIBLE TO SALESMEN

Representatives of Football, Track and Basketball Ask Assistance.

Inspired by noon luncheon addresses by head football coach D. X. Bible and head basketball Coach W. H. Brown, some 150 men and women student salesmen Tuesday afternoon opened the Cornhusker All-Campus Athletic Drive. The drive will continue until October 8 and among the prizes to leading men and women salesmen are included a trip to the S. M. U. game at Dallas, a trip to the Minnesota game, and a trip to Lawrence where the Kansas game will be held.

Urging students to maintain a staunch spirit in the sales campaign, Coach Bible declared that student support often meant the difference between defeat and victory.

"Like athletic teams," Coach Bible asserted, "student salesmen in a drive like this must give their utmost for the institution. If a thing is worth doing it is worth doing well and in my opinion this ticket drive is certainly worth while."

Coach Brown pointed out that despite the undesirable effects of the depression it would have brought at least one beneficial result if it turns the hearts of Nebraska students back toward the interests of their school.

If the Nebraska student body is receptive to this drive for support of the Cornhusker athletic teams, not only in football but in basketball, track, wrestling and swimming as well, I shall be thankful for the depression," declared Coach Brown.

As the third of the speakers at the noon luncheon, held at the Grand hotel, Charles E. S. chairman of the Innocents committee in charge of the drive, enunciates the doctrine that the students, having been given the responsibility

BUTTONS TO BE GIVEN ALL FRESHMEN GIRLS

Emblems Can Be Obtained Thursday Morning After Convocation.

All freshmen girls will receive their class buttons every day from Sept. 26 to 30. This also is a departure from previous years when the time of wearing the buttons was much longer.

"I consider it an honor for freshmen girls to be allowed to wear these buttons," says Margaret Upson, president of Mortar Board, who is in charge of the distribution of buttons.

"They not only are in accordance with an honored tradition of the university, but will act as a means of recognition and help the freshmen girl to become acquainted with the other members of her class," continued Miss Upson.

GOVERNING BODY RESIDENCE HALL CHOSEN MONDAY

House Council of Eleven Announced; Sponsors Reveal Plans.

The residents of Carrie Belle Raymond hall, new residence for women, met in a body for the first time Monday evening from 7 until 8 o'clock in the social room of the new dormitory. This is the first of a series of monthly house meetings. Dr. Elizabeth Williamson, social director, presided, and led a general discussion of regulations and problems pertaining to life in the hall.

A house council composed of three freshmen women, two sophomores, three juniors, and two senior members, was introduced. This group will act as a governing body, meeting once each week with Dr. Williamson. Service as proctors and as hostesses at the separate tables in the dining room will be numbered among their duties. The term of office is one semester.

Freshman members of the council are Gladys Klott, of Grand Rapids, Mich., Leona Pollard, who comes from Nebraska, and Eleanor Worthman, of Louisville.

Serving as sophomore representative on the council there will be Margaret Kerl, of West Point, Nola Swenson, whose home is in Galesburg, Ill., and May Svoboda, of Verdigris.

Marie Moss of Oakdale, Grace Kratky, of Omaha, and Florence Smiley, also of Omaha, are the members of the junior class chosen to serve on the house council.

The senior representatives eventually to number three when the sponsor of music is chosen, are now Miriam Kissinger, of Fairfield, director of dramatics, and La Verle Herman of Nickerson, leader of sports.

Plans for a sports program were discussed at this meeting by Miss Herman. The recreation room on the ground floor will be equipped for ping pong, paddle and deck tennis, indoor golf and other indoor sports, while a fine tennis court will be laid out on the grounds adjoining the hall. Miss Herman will organize among the girls sports teams which will enter intramural competition.

Miss Kissinger outlined briefly her plans as director of dramatics at Raymond hall. Each month a program of two or three one-act plays will be presented, all the parts to be taken by residents of the hall. In connection with these theatricals, the girls will be instructed in voice, gesture, stage make-up, and problems of stage technique.

CORNHUSKER INTEREST SHOWN BY APPLICANTS

Number of Positions Desired in the First Two Days Open for Filing.

EDITOR TO CHOOSE STAFF

That University of Nebraska students are interested in the work at the Cornhusker office is indicated by the number of applications received the first two days open to filings. The staff will not be chosen until after Thursday night, when the deadline for applications will have been passed at five o'clock, which leaves two more days for would-be editors and business managers to get in their bids for positions, according to the editor.

Not only has interest in filing applications been keen, but, for the most part, applicants seem to be after the same kind of jobs. More applications for Sports editor, intramural sports editors, both men's and women's; Agricultural editor and assistants and snapshot editor and assistants are desired. Ralph Spencer said late yesterday afternoon.

The job of snapshot editor will be one of the best and most interesting.

SIX MEN ATTEND GATHERING

Chemistry Instructors and Students Go to Summer Society Meet.

During the week of August 21, six men from the chemical department of the university journeyed to Denver to attend the meeting of the American Chemical Society. Professors R. C. Abbott, E. C. Hendricks, and C. E. Hamilton were there and were accompanied by three graduate students, Albert Lightbody, G. W. Beery, and H. H. Schumann.

About one thousand chemists were gathered there, and men with both industrial and educational interests were included in the ranks. The meeting was almost entirely western and mid-western in character.

4,244 STUDENTS REGISTERED FOR WORK THIS FAR

Final Figures From Medical and Graduate Colleges Not Yet Ready.

LITTLE DECREASE SEEN

Total Number Expected to Equal Last Year's Enrollment.

Total registration figures for the university, with the exception of the medical college at Omaha and the graduate college, whose registration figures are not completed yet, show 4,244 students enrolled by Monday evening, as compared with 4,806 a year ago.

The total enrollment in the medical and nursing schools will be available within the next few days and will swell the total. It is expected by university officials that total registration will be approximately the same as in normal years.

Those enrolling in the graduate college will not complete their registration until about the first of November. Four hundred ninety-eight registered for graduate work last year, while figures yesterday indicated that only 125 had enrolled in that college so far.

Administration officials expect registration in the medical, nursing, and graduate colleges will bring the total of 1932-1933 registration close to that of last year. Definite returns will be announced as soon as possible.

Registration by the various colleges will not be available for some time, it was announced late last night. No tally will be made until all registration has been completed. The figures will probably be checked in about a month.

COUNCIL TO FILL NEW POSITION ON ATHLETIC BOARD

Committee Appointments Are Also Listed for Group's First Meeting.

The Student council representative on the Athletic board will be elected at the first meeting of the student legislative body to be held at 5 o'clock Wednesday afternoon, in University hall 106, according to the president of the council. The council was empowered to select one member of the board from its own membership by the board of regents last spring when the council petition for student membership on the Athletic board was accepted.

The Athletic board, which is at present composed of faculty members, a representative of the stadium bondholders, and an alumni representative, has never before included student representation. The council last year presented a plan for student representation on that board and the board of regents adopted the council's recommendations after making some minor changes in the scheme as suggested by the Athletic board. Besides the council representative, another student to be selected by the "N" club later this semester.

Committee appointments for the year are also to be made at the first meeting of the council, according to the president. The Innocents society is again requesting the council for authorization to sponsor and conduct student rallies this year. The council will consider the Innocents' request Wednesday.

Representatives of two newly organized campus associations, the student democratic club, and the student republican club, are to present their constitutions to the council for acceptance.

The major project on which the council will be working this year, according to the president, is the investigation of the feasibility of adopting a student activity tax at this university. A committee to
