SECOND WEEK OF ATHLETIC TICKET DRIVE PLANNED

"There will be many surprises throughout the campaign," Skade asserted, "for not only may salesmen vend their tickets to students but faculty members, their families, and the general public are also eligible as prospective purchasers under the contest rules."

Skade called attention to the fact that the $6.00 student ticket, selling at the lowest price in years, includes all Commusker athletic events—football, basketball, track, swimming, tennis and wrestling.

Three Fraternities Will Honor Pledges With Saturday Parties

Other Events of Interest Are the Annual Faculty Reception for Agriculture Students and Affair at Zeta Beta House.

Three fraternities are completing plans for house parties to be given this Saturday evening. All of these events are in honor of the new pledges. Delta Tau Deltas will have their annual "Squab Scramble" party following a dinner which will be attended by actives, alumni and pledges.

Delta Sponsor Their Annual Squab Scramble.

New pledges at the Delta Tau Delta house will be guests of honor at the annual "Squab-Scramble" party Saturday evening. Preceding the party alumni and members of the active chapter will preside at a dinner party also honoring the pledges.

Sigma Nu Actives Give Annual Party.

The Sigma Nu actives will entertain Saturday, Oct. 1, at their annual house party honoring the pledges. The music is to be furnished by Roger Wilkerson and his orchestra composed of all college students.

Farm House Schedules First Party of Year.

Farm House fraternity is scheduled to hold its first house party of the year Saturday for their pledges. The evening will be spent at informal dancing. Glenn Ledoyt and Chris Mathis are making arrangements for the party for the chapter.

Zeta Beta Taus Honor Pledges.

In honor of their pledges the Zeta Beta Taus entertained at a house party Saturday evening, Sept. 24. The guests danced to music furnished by the radio. Attending the party as chaperones were Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Levy and Rabbi Oggle.

Ag College Faculty Entertains Students.

Several hundred college of agriculture students attended the annual faculty reception held in the student activities building Saturday evening. The program featured games, dancing and other novel forms of entertainment.

Dr. P. A. Downs, who had general charge of the affair, described it as successful. Those in the receiving line included Chancellor and Mrs. E. A. Burnett, Dean and Mrs. W. W. Burr, Dean and Mrs. T. J. Thompson, Miss Amanda Heppner and Miss Margaret Feede.

Dwight Kirsch Gives Illustrated Lecture.

In courtesy to its past patrons and others connected with the University Players this organization will give a tea Sunday afternoon. The feature of this affair is the illustrated lecture to be given by Dwight Kirsch. Mr. Kirsch has taken photographs of all the settings used by the University Players for the last six years and will show them in colors at this time.

Tassels will assist Mrs. H. Alice Howell, director of the players. They will assist in ushering and in receiving.

Students Received By Newman Club.

The Newman club observed all University Church night by holding a reception for all Catholic students at the club rooms at 330 North 13th street. Following the serving of refreshments Jessie Conway, accompanied by Phyllis Grubb, sang several numbers. Other music for the evening was furnished by Charles Nowack and Pat Barton. Father Lawrence Christ, the chaplain, gave a short talk and introduced the officers who are: President, Joyce Shinkle of Wilbur; secretary, Elizabeth Costelloe of Lincoln; treasurer, Allan Murphy of Lincoln; social chairman, Loretta Borzych of Farwell; historian, Martie Ritchie, Lincoln; and house mother, Mrs. Alice Cornish.

Mu Phi Epsilon Entertains at Tea.

Mu Phi Epsilon, musical honorary sorority, entertained at a tea Saturday afternoon at the home of Prof. and Mrs. Carl F. Steckelberg. Miss Elizabeth Tierney and

Eminent Pianist

Rudolph Seidl, well known in Nebraska musical circles, will again conduct the Lincoln Symphony orchestra in its coming winter concert season.

Miss Hazel Gertrude presided at the tea table. The decorations and refreshments were carried out in the sorority's colors, which are purple and white.

Those who took part in the program were: Arlene Larson, Lois Leiferdink, Viola Curry, Betsy Benedict and Esther Kreuschner. Professor Steckelberg, accompanied by Mrs. Steckelberg, played a group of violin solos.

Musical Sorority Initiates Five.

Sigma Alpha Iota, national musical sorority, plans to initiate five new members Sunday at the chapter house. Miss Audrey Reed, sorority member, announced Saturday. The new initiates will be Helen Graham, Laura Kimball, Grace Wekesser, Bernice Cline and Catherine Simpson, all of Lincoln. The sorority plans formal pledging Tuesday evening.

SUNDAY BOOK REVIEW

OF THEE I SING, by George Kaufman and Marc Connelly.

If the United States governmental system could read this book or see the play from which the book came, then that government would have sufficient cause for hiding in the corner with its face to the wall and moaning, "Nobody loves me."

Not since Ben Hecht and Charlie MacArthur reeled off "The Front Page" has there been such a clever farce produced on the American stage, and even the book is guaranteed to provoke at least outright chuckles, unless your dyspepsia is particularly bad.

Before this, you have always been able to learn of governmental red tape and inconsistencies by asking most any patriotic citizen, but here we have the essence of the thing refined and concentrated with a spicy wit that is merciless. Solemnity, dignity, pompousness—these are travestied ruthlessly. The vice-president's position, political conventions and the workings of party politics—these are left lonely and quivering on the operating table of public laughter.

"Of Thee I Sing" the authors have called the book, and the melody combines both subtle and slapstick jest. Only one thing is missing from the book, and that is the musical score which George Gershwin wrote for the stage production.

It is unfortunate that few Nebraskans have had the opportunity of viewing the show itself, but if you ever have that chance, don't miss it. Until then, by all means read the book. It's more than merely amusing and enjoyable. It's screamingly funny! —FLM.

ENGINEERS' GROUP COMMITTEE MEETS

Because of the small attendance, the meeting of the freshmen engineers held Friday afternoon in the Temple, took on the form of a committee meeting. Discussion for future meetings. Discussion of time and place for the meetings took up most of the time.

Announcements of further meetings will be made later according to C. D. Hayes, Y. M. C. A. secretary.

"His interpretation touched the heights and the depths of music," states the New York Times, of Harold Bauer, pianist, who appears in recital as the fifth and concluding concert of the Lincoln Symphony orchestra season.

Barbour, M. H. Morrill, and J. P. Senning. This committee will select not over five candidates who will appear before the state board. H. A. Gunderman of Fremont has been named as the chairman of the state selection board.

Nebraska university was not represented in the selections made in 1931. John Pirie, a graduate of the university, will complete his work at the University of Oxford this year and Ervin Schimmel-pfenning, also from the university, finished at Oxford in 1931.

Nebraska's representative chosen in district competition last year was Price Heusner, a student at Swarthmore college. A candidate may apply either from his state of residence or from the state in which he is attending school.
