TERRIBLE!

HOW IN BLAZES DO YOU DO IT?

ME? I EAT SHREDDED WHEAT!

THE MOST unexpected and pleasant things happen to you when you get the Shredded Wheat habit! That's because Shredded Wheat gives you the energy you need to make every day a push-over! It's Nature's own energy food—100% whole wheat!

That means nothing lost, and nothing added! All the energy-building elements that smart old Nature put into wheat are kept for you in Shredded Wheat.

How'll you have yours? Milk? Cream? Half and half? Order Shredded Wheat at the lunch counter.

When you see Niagara Falls on the package, you KNOW you have Shredded Wheat.

END SWEEPS BY SAUER A FEATURE HARD SCRIMMAGE

Sparkling Work of Staab, Fahrbruch Stands Out In Fray.

MEAD IS NUBBINS STAR

Husky Newcomer Promoted Along With Bristol To Varsity.

Dazzling end sweeps by George Sauer featured the varsity's 34 to 0 triumph over the Nubbins Saturday afternoon in a scrimmage at Memorial stadium. Two varsity teams reinforced by frequent substitutions alternated the eight, seven-minute periods against a pair of Nubbin squads.

Although Sauer was credited on home of the three touchdowns made by the first varsity eleven, it was his terrific line smashing and fast scampers around the ends that put his team in position to score. Bernie Masterson broke through the middle of the Nubbin line, cut back and galloped forty yards to the goal line for another marker, while Hub Boswell was responsible for a third when he went around end from the 4 yard line, after Sauer's plunging had advanced the pigskin that far.

More consistent than the work of the starting varsity backs was the play of Staab, Fahrbruch, Mathis and Eldridge of Bible's second string. This quartet played a heads up game all the way through.

The first score of the afternoon came when Franklin Meier, playing center for the second varsity fell on a blocked Nubbin punt for a touchdown, after Walt Pfum had smashed through from tackle position to ward off the punt. Staab's flip to Murray waiting on MEAD IS STAR.

Offering stubborn resistance all the way, the Nubbins' offensive attempts were confined mainly to the passing and running ability of Everett Mead, a husky back, who heaved two overhands to Chase and Milne late in the scrimmage. Ely, playing his customary roving center, hauled in Mead's next pass to snuff out the Nubbins' most promising scoring effort.

Mead, who hails from Hamburg, Ia., played a whale of a game for the B team, his accurate passing and occasional gains around end constituting the only threat to the first stringers. Coach Bible announced after the game that Mead and Morris Bristol, a tackle from Ansley had been promoted to the Varsity.

Hub Boswell started in the pass snatching department, his catches being good for first downs in almost every instance. Staab, Masterson and Fahrbruch also looked good on the throwing end.

Bible stated that the varsity first and second elevens would be due for a shakeup Monday, when he plans to start work on the double wingback system.

REPUBLICANS SUPPORT HOOVER IN PLATFORM

ling scant attention to matters of a political nature. We are of the opinion that continued American progress and success will in a large measure depend upon the active participation of its educated youth in public life and government. America's problems are too difficult to be satisfactorily met by "ward heelers."

3. We believe that the older generation with its fixed habits cannot be expected to make needed improvements in political affairs. Hope for improvement lies with the younger generation with its idealism, training, and vigor. That idealism, training, and vigor will be lost unless students learn to participate in government.

4. There is no country in the world where students spend more time studying about government than in America. There also is no country in the world where students play a significant part in politics. In Spain, Germany, and Russia students are playing active roles in governmental matters.

5. We believe that the supercilious attitude toward politics which is held by some students and instructors is not well founded and that its cultivation can bring none but undesirable results. The Menckens of America make no constructive suggestions.

6. A large number of university students are qualified voters. We feel that students of voting age should exercise their privilege of the franchise. We propose to conduct a campaign to get out the vote and to make available to all students complete information regarding absentee voting.

8. We are most emphatically of the opinion that a campaign among university students should be conducted upon a high plane. Students should carefully study and analyze the platforms of the various parties and the statements of the several candidates. Political participation on the part of university students should reflect a seriousness of purpose. University students should not be led away by blind partisanship or by the utterances of the demagogue. We propose to conduct our activities in a dignified manner, in keeping with the best traditions of the University of Nebraska.

7. We are confident that the best interests of Nebraska and the nation lie in the cultivation of Republican policies and the triumphant return of President Hoover to the White House. America is emerging from a terrific period of adversity. In the past crisis—our common crisis—not a single constructive suggestion was advanced by our democratic opponents. Every constructive proposal made came from that staunch leader President Hoover. We challenge our democratic friends to make a successful contradiction of this statement.

Snappy, heads up play that has characterized the Husker varsity workouts during the past week was not as much in evidence in Saturday afternoon's Varsity-Nubbins scrimmage. However, the boys did bear down in the later stages of a fighting Nubbins eleven after a fighting Nubbins eleven had dangerously threatened the Varsity goal.

This sophomore tackle, big Walt Pfum from Imperial, was really a power in the Varsity line yesterday. He was the lineman who crashed through to block a Nubbins punt, which was recovered for a touchdown by Franklin Meier, another sophomore who was playing center. Ulysses Schleuter was also making a big dent in his side of the line.

One thing that did make a difference in the play was the fact that both teams were using the same signals and the same plays. Any chance at deception was virtually eliminated.

Everett Mead, 185 pound half-back from Hamburg, Ia., joined the Nubbins squad Friday and was promoted to the Varsity on Saturday. His passing and ball lugging ability was conspicuously in evidence. Here is a man who throws the ball accurately, and he had the first stringers worried as to just where he was planning to plant the next one.

The irrepressible Ely is still at it. While introducing the Husker backfield men to the crowd Saturday, Bible turned to name the next gridders to the Varsity, but somehow his face seemed strangely unfamiliar among those who carry the pigskin for Nebraska. Just as he took a step forward to turn the unknown around, Ely withdrew with a sheepish grin. And of course, everyone got a big kick out of it.

Russia, and under Leopold Auer in Petrograd, he has reached eminence which has won acclaim in his appearances in Europe and North and South America.

Bauer Popular. Professor Carl Frederick Stockelberg, who appears as violin soloist with the fourth concert, is a well known faculty member of the university school of music. The professor was forced by increased duties at the school to resign from the position of concertmaster of the orchestra, which he held since the inception of the symphony.

"The audience filled every seat and overflowed onto the stage just as if the attraction were John McCormick or Galli-Curci instead of merely an interpretative poet making music by other poets," the New York Herald-Tribune says of Harold Bauer, pianist, who appears in an individual concert as the final symphony season's number. The San Francisco Examiner says of Bauer, "Bauer plays as if he were telling a wonderful story establishing his position as one of the outstanding figures in the art at our time."

Social activities were discussed briefly at the meeting, with the completion of the plans left to the house council.

SPORTS ATTRACT 148 AG STUDENTS 1931-2

Record Number Takes Part in Intramurals, Report Indicates.

A total of 148 college of agriculture students participated in intramural sports during 1931-32, according to an announcement made today by Wilbur Knight, athletic director at the college. The number competing was larger than in former years.

Offering a full intramural program of many sports, the program as outlined by Knight attracted practically every student in the college. Not deducting duplications 339 students competed. The year's program included nine events and the all around championships. Forty medals were awarded to the students during the year.

Knight's program offered the boys competition in tennis, handball, basketball, free throw, baseball, wrestling, and judging teams. Each individual was scored in each event.

Though Coach Knight has announced no definite athletic intramural program for the Ag college students for the present year, it is probable that he will again put forth efforts to get every student into some form of athletic competition.
