

BIBLE STRESSES SPEED, BLOCKING TUESDAY'S DRILL

Nubbins to Oppose Varsity With Ames' Plays in Open Scrimmage.

DISPLAY MORE ZIP, FIRE Bishop, Debus Look Good In Swinging Out for Interference.

Greater speed and better blocking are the slogans this week as the Nebraska varsity go thru brisk drills in preparation for the first game of the season Saturday against the Iowa State Cyclones.

Wednesday afternoon the Scarlet moleskinners will clash with the Nubbins in an open workout starting at 4 o'clock. The reserve squad will be using Iowa State plays featuring the passing and running talents of Dick Grefe, an All Big Six halfback selection from last year in addition to a pair of big, fast backs in Schroth and Theophilus. The latter, a former Randolph, Neb., high school star, is playing his first season with the Ames squad.

Huskies Show Fire. With the first cold snap of the season forcing them to keep moving, the Scarlet gridsters ran thru their plays with far more zip and fire in Tuesday's session. Outstanding were Clair Bishop and Warren Debus, the lightweight guards who swung out of the line to run interference in sensational fashion. Lee Penney, first string end who is recovering from a painful face infection, sailed down the field to nab some difficult passes as did Steve Hokut.

Chris Mathis divided his time between calling signals for a second string backfield including Miller and Murray at halfbacks and Fahrbruch at full, in addition to alternating with Staab at left half on the first varsity combination. Apparently, Bible is grooming Mathis to relieve Masterson at quarter and Staab at half.

The regular eleven which finds Hokut and Penney at the ends, Corwin, Hulbert and O'Brien at tackles, Bishop and Debus, guards, Ely, center with Masterson, Boswell, Sauer and Staab in the backfield will probably get the starting call Saturday against Ames. Clare Campbell, the game captain, may receive the nod for one of the guard posts.

NORTHWESTERN PICKS POTENTIAL GENIUSES

Select Class of Prodigies From Many Applicants Aged 14 or 15.

EVANSTON, Ill. (INS). Out of more than 100 applicants, President Walter Dill Scott of Northwestern university this week had selected his "class" of prodigies, whose college careers are to be watched with interest by educators throughout the country.

Those singled out as prodigies are either fourteen or fifteen years of age and were chosen because of marked ability shown in preparatory schools. Although in certain instances they will receive special attention, their courses in general will be the same as those taken by regular entering students.

Following is a list of President Scott's potential geniuses:

Mary Margaret Moore, fourteen, of Danville, Ill.—Daughter of an attorney; likes dancing, swimming and other sports; doesn't know exactly what she's going to do, other than to "have a good time."

Jane Alice Hall, fifteen, of Clovis, N. M.—Also a daughter of an attorney; plays tennis; wants to "take up journalism."

George E. Alcott, fifteen, of Weiner, Ark.—Son of a physician, plans to study medicine; plays basketball and baseball.

James Allan Norton, fifteen, of Flint, Mich.—Will major in creative chemistry because his mother teaches chemistry.

William Duncan Stech, fifteen, of New York—Plans to become an attorney; plays football and basketball; his mother is director of publications at Columbia university and his father is a research statistician.

DISCUSS LIFE IN RUSSIA

First Meeting of Fireside Group Held in Temple On Thursday.

The first Fireside Forum, a discussion group for upper classmen, was held in the Y. M. C. A. rooms in the Temple recently. A discussion of various phases of life and policies in Russia was given by Melvin Martin, who has just returned from a trip there.

This group will meet every Thursday evening from 7:30 to 8:30, according to John Johnson, who is in charge. The plans for the coming meetings are to discuss various topics of interest to students. On some occasions the meetings will be entirely round table discussions, and at others there will be speakers. All upper classmen and their friends are invited.

Mr. Martin will continue his discussion at the next meeting.

To those who want baseball again on the University of Nebraska campus and that includes the writer, John K. Selleck replies thusly:

"Buy your season athletic ticket and we will have baseball next spring. It's all a matter of finances. It is absolutely untrue to say that the athletic department has frowned on the diamond sport, but it is certain that unless students give greater support to the ticket campaign, there will be no funds for baseball."

Selleck also intimated that several minor sports activities might come under the economic ban this year. So there we are!

So far George Sauer has had no trouble with his ankle, the same member that caused him no end of trouble last year and which finally George had to submit to an operation. In fact, Sauer is firm in the belief that it feels stronger than the other ankle. Let's hope so, anyway.

COMPULSORY DRILL IN UCLA LIMELIGHT

ROTC Officers Threaten Student Handbill Distributor.

LOS ANGELES. (CNS). Officers of the R. O. T. C., at the University of California at Los Angeles last week threatened to throw Lawrence Young, '32, "off the campus" if he persisted in distributing anti-militaristic circulars.

Young said that he had ordered 2,500 handbills, urging the abolition of compulsory military training, printed at his own expense and that he planned to form a student committee "to fight this thing to the finish." A position, bearing the signature of 1,000 students, asking that optional training be substituted for the present system, was denied by the University of California regents last year.

IMPOSTER PRETENDS TO BE SIG ALPHA MAN

Obtains Money, Clothes, and Fiancee Using Name of Football Star.

Laramie, Wyo. (CNS). How a fake fraternity "brother," impersonating a prominent University of Wyoming football player, obtained money from many trusting persons and in one town proposed marriage—only to leave the girl waiting at the church—was revealed here this week.

The man, last reported to be operating in Wisconsin, is in the habit of giving his name as "Walter Kingham of Cheyenne, member of Sigma Alpha Epsilon," it was reported.

He has obtained several loans from fraternity "brothers" in Casper, worked his way into the confidence of a Wisconsin widow and has taken french leave with another "brother's" new suit, in addition to all of the spare cash he could borrow, according to the record so far. He was still said to be operating, and S. A. E. national headquarters has been forced to issue a bulletin of warning to all chapters.

Meanwhile, University of Wyoming student leaders are contemplating the feasibility of some type of label for football players, such as "not good without this signature," accept none but the genuine.

DEAN BURR ANNOUNCES NEW HANDBALL RULING

Students to Reserve Courts For Each Day's Play On Current Date.

Rules for a new system of reserving tennis and handball courts at the Agricultural college campus were released from Dean W. W. Burr's office Saturday. The new plan indicates that more students will be able to be accommodated on the courts than formerly.

Students will be limited to one hour of play and reservations may not be made in advance of current date except when the courts are desired earlier than the office hours which are from 8 till 12 and from 1 to 5.

The rules released from Dean Burr's office indicate that there is a possibility that new handball courts may be installed in the horse barn for agricultural college students. At present all of the courts are located in the student activities building.

Students are urged to reserve the courts but not to do so unless they are going to use them. All of the courts for both tennis and handball are reserved for class use from 9 to 12, except Saturday.

TICKETS ARRIVE FOR MINNESOTA GRID TILT

A block of 500 tickets for the Nebraska-Minnesota game to be played Oct. 15 at Minneapolis were received Tuesday from University of Minnesota authorities and will go on sale immediately at the coliseum athletic office. The pasteborders are selling for $2.75, which includes the federal tax.

According to John K. Selleck, Husker business manager of athletics, the Nebraska section is located on the 50-yard line in the Minnesota stadium which is a horseshoe shaped affair. About 100 orders for tickets have already been received. Nebraska alumni living in Minnesota will sit with the Scarlet rooters and are purchasing their ducats through Selleck.

The Burlington railroad has announced a special round trip excursion rate of $11.04 for chair car and $14.95 for Pullman to apply for the week end of Oct. 15.

TEACHER ADDRESSES A.W.S. GUIDANCE GROUP

Fordyce, Education Head, Speaks to Students in Ellen Smith Hall.

The vocational guidance group of A. W. S., under the leadership of Gertrude Clarke, met at Ellen Smith hall Monday at 4 o'clock. Dr. Fordyce, chairman of the department of education, addressed the group on the subject of "Vocational Guidance." Dr. Fordyce is engaged in analyzing vocational choice and aiding girls in choosing their vocations.

In his speech, he stated that the choice of a course of study and the preparation for a vocation is becoming important for young women today, as doors of the different professions are opening to them.

"Success is dependent on the right choice and adequate preparation for a career," he said. "Competition is keen, both for men and women. Two girls out of every twelve are adapted for their vocation as a rule. Most students after being graduated take up whatever job they can get, and as a result become dissatisfied with everything," the professor asserted.

Made Unemployed Survey. A short time ago Dr. Fordyce made a survey of the unemployed and found that they were unemployed because they went into the wrong occupation, that they went into it because of a chance, not because they were adapted for it.

"There are two things to think of in choosing an occupation. It is necessary to be adapted to it and to enjoy it." He continued by saying that to make a scientific choice, it is essential to study yourself, to study the various occupations and to make adequate preparation for the one for which you are fitted.

"The wrong choice fills the country with drifting misfits, wastes time, and reduces the productive power of the country," he said.

"In studying your capacities, it is necessary to discover your weak as well as your strong points. Everyone differs from his associates and his talents differ within himself," he concluded.

Innocents Urge Quick Athletic Ticket Sales

With the announcement that reservations are now being received for seats in the stadium, it will behoove students to act quickly if they have postponed purchasing athletic tickets. Those who wait until after Wednesday will be obliged to accept whatever seats are left, and in all probability will not be able to get seats in the card section, which is the nucleus of the student section. The most intensive part of the ticket sale drive will be today and tomorrow. Do not put off buying your ticket any longer.

LAW COLLEGE STARTS OPEN LECTURE SERIES

Features Talks on Lives of Great Lawyers, Their Contributions.

Dean H. H. Foster of the Law college yesterday announced the inauguration of a series of special designed lectures for the orientation of the freshman law student to the work of the lawyer. The series which began last week by H. H. Wilson, who spoke on the life of a lawyer, will continue for several weeks with lectures on the lives and work of some of the more outstanding lawyers and judges.

A lecture on the life of Edward Coke, and his relation to the doctrine of the supremacy of the law was the second in the series. Among other legal biographies which will be discussed are those of Hale and Jeffreys, known as the best and worst of English judges, and the story of the life of "Mansfield, the Magnificent."

"Anyone interested in the study of the legal profession or the lives of those men who have affected its study," Dean Foster said, "is welcome to attend these lectures. They will be given weekly on Friday, at 11 o'clock, in 101 Law building."

WISCONSIN STUDENTS RESENT NOMINATION OF CRITIC TO SENATE

School Paper Flays Chapple For Calling University Communistic.

Madison. (CNS). Recent nomination of John B. Chapple, editor, for United States senator from Wisconsin on the republican ticket last fortnight was sharply criticized by The Daily Cardinal at the University of Wisconsin.

"When practically an entire population of a state reputed so politically wise as Wisconsin chooses a man to sit in the senate of the United States who has deserted the name of the state university, then it is certainly time to fear and question," stated The Cardinal.

The editors recalled that Chapple "has for more than ten months toured the state, attacking all liberal thought, playing upon the worst and the blindest prejudices of the people, slandering the administrative officers, professors and students of the university, both individually and collectively, and misrepresenting disgracefully."

Chapple has repeatedly charged that the university is a "hotbed" of radicalism, communism and agnosticism.

Alfred Adams, who is in charge of the meetings believes this one will be especially welcomed by the freshmen.

This is the first meeting for this group which will be organized to meet regularly. Prof. L. A. Bingham of the college of engineering is sponsoring the group.

AMES TEAM GETTING SET FOR HUSKER MIX

Veenker's Eleven Confident They Will Pin Defeat On Cornhuskers.

AMES, Ia.—Both the Cyclone football squad and its genial coach, George Veenker, began the week's practice Monday in high spirits. Coach Veenker seemed fairly well satisfied with the showing that the team made in trouncing Morningside Saturday—especially with the scoring power exhibited in the final quarter—and is this week concentrating on perfecting plays to down the first conference foe, Nebraska, at Lincoln Saturday.

The Cyclone mentor believes that his men found themselves in the second half of the Morningside game, and that that flash of power has instilled into them the confidence that will be needed to turn back the powerful Cornhuskers.

"I have kept the boys pretty busy for a month now," said Coach Veenker. "I'm going to ease up from now on and concentrate on a few new plays." He indicated that there would be little scrimmage on the schedule for this week.

The only somber spot on the Cyclone outlook is that Harold Templeton of Ocheyedan, end, will be out of the lineup for at least two weeks with a badly wrenched knee received in the Morningside game. Coach Veenker will be forced to draw from an already slim list of ends to fill the vacancy, and it is probable that Ivan Impson of Des Moines, who has been alternating between fullback and end, will remain at end until Templeton recovers.

The Cyclone line should be materially strengthened by the return of Gerald Smith of Milwaukee, guard, and Paul Berger of Manchester, Mo., tackle, who have been out with injuries. Jack Boyer of Des Moines will probably be in shape to start Saturday at center, but it is uncertain whether he or Magnus Lichter of Algona will get first call for that post.

PAVEMENT REPAIRS ARE MADE TUESDAY IN FRONT OF 'SOC'

Several "backings" in the pavement due to overlappings of the cement which forms the base for the bricks in front of the Social Science hall, were repaired yesterday by the Lincoln street department. The cement overlappings, which were caused by expansion, were being removed and replaced by asphalt. The asphalt will expand and contract without causing injury to the pavement. The work was supervised by L. C. Seacrest.
