

Twenty-Eight Huskers Pull Away Tonight for Minnesota Battle

NEBRASKA MUST STOP LUND AND MANDERS TO WIN

"Chief" Bauer Demonstrates Gopher Passes Against Varsity Thursday.

SWITCH STARTING POSTS Joy or Kilbourne Expected To Open at Hokuf's End Position.

Twenty-eight Husker gridgers accompanied by Coaches Bible, Browne and Schulte, Dr. Earl N. Deppen, Trainer "Doc" McLean, Business Manager John K. Schell and senior manager Ed Sichel pull away from Union station at 7 o'clock tonight bound for Minneapolis, where with the powerful University of Minnesota eleven at Northrup field.

Resuming football relations with the Gophers for the first time since 1919, the Scarlet-clad players hope to destroy the jinx that has found them on the long end of the score but twice in fourteen games. To win, Coach D. X. Bible's boys must stop the line-ripping plunges of Jack Manders, 200 pound all-Big Ten fullback and must break up a deceptive passing attack featuring the accurate arm of Francis "Pug" Lund, sophomore halfback star. On their own account, the Huskers will be forced to display a consistent offensive punch which was so lacking in the first tilt against Iowa State.

Ragged in Wednesday's scrimmage drill against the frosh, the varsity failed to impress Thursday afternoon when they took the defensive against Minnesota pass plays in a dummy scrimmage with the frosh. With Henry "Chief" Bauer, ineligible varsity back throwing his customary bullet passes, yearling receivers were open time and again for the airtails.

A new find in the place kicking department was uncovered Thursday in Lawrence Ely, the veteran center, delivering twenty consecutive boots thru the cross bars in practice. Morris Bristol, who has been alternating between guard and tackle, tried his hand at it Wednesday and scored one out of two attempts.

Bristol, a sophomore has been developing fast and is giving Warren Debus a stiff battle for the starting post at right guard for Saturday's game. The same is true for Clare Campbell, burly 190 pound guard from Friend. Bishop is recovering from his nose injury, and will probably open against Minnesota at left guard.

Lee Penney has been playing fine ball of late and the Tabor, Ia. lad is certain to start at left end. Whether Steve Hokuf will be able to play is still problematical, and in any event he is not expected to be in the starting lineup. Bob Joy or Bruce Kilbourne will fill in for Hokuf, with the edge going to Joy. Martin J. "Doc" McLean examined Hokuf's ankle Thursday, and reported that Steve would be in shape by Saturday, but the Crete blond will hardly be up to his usual standard.

Ulysses Schleuter, freshman tackle, may get in at the whistle in place of Corwin Hulbert, but the latter likely will get the nod because of greater experience. Ely at center and O'Brien at right tackle are certainties.

Two backfield combinations, one with Masterson calling signals and including Mathis, Boswell and Sauer and another with George Sauer directing the team from his fullback position, with Staab, Mathis and Boswell completing the quartet, are being considered by Coach Bible for the starting positions.

Coach Bernie Bierman's squad boasts a seven pound weight advantage in the line and a five pound advantage in the backfield over the Huskers, the Gopher forwards averaging about 195 pounds and the backs 181 pounds. The Nebraska line tips the scales at an average of 188 pounds, while the ball carriers scale 176 pounds.

The twenty-eight players on the trip roster are:

- Ends: Hokuf, Joy, Kilbourne, Penney, Raby.
- Tackles: O'Brien, C. Hulbert, Pflum, Schleuter, Scoggin.
- Guards: Debus, Bishop, Bristol, Campbell, Huber, Miller.
- Centers: Ely, Meyer.
- Quarterbacks: Masterson, Overstreet, Miller.
- Backs: Sauer, Boswell, Mathis, Staab, Murray, Parsons, Fahrbrusch.

LINCOLN GIRL CHOSEN PRESIDENT OF LEAGUE

Auxiliary of Women Voters Group Discusses Three Party Platforms.

The College League, junior auxiliary of the City league of Women Voters, met Thursday evening at Ellen Smith hall to elect officers. Dorothy Wiebusch, of Lincoln, a senior in teachers college, was named president, and Pauline McShane, also of Lincoln, a sophomore in the arts and sciences college, was chosen vice president.

These girls were elected to fill the vacancies left by the former president, Louise Wallace, who did not return to school this year, and Jane Boos, who had to resign from the position of vice president because of the point system.

Other officers of the College league are Louise Comstock, of Lincoln, secretary, and Irene Maurer, Madison, treasurer.

The platforms of the three major political parties were discussed at this meeting, with Mrs. Ruth Davis Hill, member of the City league and sponsor of the College group, leading the discussion.

Laundry Engineer Says Was Driven To Manufacturing Paddles by Frosh Demanding Them in Great Numbers

The business end of a professional flag pole sitter in many respects will resemble the hindmost extremities of many a male freshman at the close of the school year if A. E. Schoonover, engineer at Spier's laundry, has anything to say about it.

Needless to say, Mr. Schoonover fashions paddles . . . those lethal weapons of punishment dole out, slow torture to cringing freshmen.

This individual, with a few strokes of a drawing knife, can convert a perfectly harmless barrel stave into an instrument which, strange to say, is regarded with great glee by upperclassmen, and with glares by the unlucky freshmen.

Mr. Schoonover has been making paddles for four years and has no idea of how many injured feelings he has created in this time.

Barrels are Scarce. But suitable barrels in this present day are not as easy to find as one might imagine. In order to find them Mr. Schoonover must visit several places before his quota is satisfied.

Several laundries, the Orthopedic and St. Elizabeth hospitals, and the two ten cent stores all contribute to the general supply.

Originally the laundry and hospital barrels contained washing powder, while the ten cent stores receive candy, peanuts and other articles in them. The barrels which are practically new are broken into staves and later smooth handles are whittled, which serves to increase the great dexterity which an active son obtains after a semester's paddle swinging.

From ten to twelve satisfactory paddles may be fashioned from one barrel.

Mr. Schoonover did not originally have any idea about making paddles, and he defends his trade by declaring he was forced into it by the freshmen themselves.

"About four years ago a bunch of freshmen came to the door of the furnace room and yelled to ask me if I had any paddles. At the time I didn't know what they were and cared less. However, when shortly after another group asked the same question I inquired about it, and when the freshmen began to

Twin Calves at Ag College Barn Are Nine Weeks Old on Thursday Morning

Thursday, Oct. 13, was more than a day of quarterly examinations, it was more than a day for student motorists to get their brakes tested, and it was more than the usual day of democratic and republican controversy. In fact it was a great day at the College of Agriculture for just before breakfast time was the nine-week birthday of calf twins at the beef barn.

Charley Johnson, beef herdsman in the beef department, recalled Thursday that the twin calves—a male and a female—were nine weeks old to the minute shortly before breakfast Thursday. And the animals ate heartily, he said.

"John" and "Mary" as the twins are called by Johnson, are husky little animals. They were dropped by a Hereford cow, and it was about the fourth time in fifteen

METHODISTS PLAN PARTY PSYCHOLOGY COURSES

USE GUILFORD'S BOOK Publishers Recently Releases Experimental Studies Manual.

The department of psychology is using in its elementary laboratory courses a new manual prepared by Prof. J. P. Guilford. The manual, which was released by the publishers during September, is entitled "Experimental Studies in Psychology."

It involves several novel features for laboratory manuals. Instead of making the experiment the unit of study, the work is arranged in larger units or projects covering the more common topics in general psychology.

Each project requires about two hours of work in the laboratory with assigned readings upon the topic to be done outside the laboratory. The manual is also a workbook in which the student keeps orderly records, compiles data, and displays the results.

There are already indications that the manual will be adopted for use in other colleges and universities, according to Professor Guilford.

BAPTIST LEADER TO SPEAK AT MEETING

Traveling Secretary of Education Board to Address Class.

Dr. George R. Baker, associate secretary of the Baptist Board of Education of New York, will be the special speaker for the first Baptist University class Sunday. Dr. Baker travels over the country visiting schools and Baptist organizations.

Miss Ruth Randall, of Belleville, Kansas, will lead the worship service.

Miss Dorothy Holland, and Miss Annabelle Place, both of Lincoln, will have charge of the lunch to be served at the six o'clock social hour. Following the social hour, Kenneth Eaton, Torrington, Wyoming, will lead a discussion on Jesus' fundamental principles. Mr. Thomas Larson, Lincoln, Miss Evelyn Whitnah, and Miss Theima Brown, Omaha will speak briefly leading the discussion.

After the church service an informal "sing" and refreshments will be served at the student house, 1440 Q. St.

TWELVE TRY OUT FOR JUNIOR JUDGING TEAM

Begin Training for Series Of Intercollegiate Contests.

In preparation for intercollegiate livestock judging contests to be held this fall and winter, students in the college of agriculture who are trying out for the junior and senior teams will compete in a judging contest Saturday morning.

Prof. M. A. Alexander and Prof. R. R. Thalman of the animal husbandry department will have charge of the contest.

Twelve students are trying out for the junior judging team at the college under the direction of Prof. Thalman. The team will probably complete in the contest at the Denver livestock show this winter.

Those trying out include Harlan Bollman, Lawrence Condon, Harry Elkin, Neil Hall, Merrill Lee, Ray Murray, George Shadbolt, Virgil Taylor, Willard Waldo, Leonard Wenzel, Howard White and Everett Curry. White is the Ag student who won three major contests on the campus last year altho but a freshman at the time.

In the contest Saturday, the junior and senior aspirants will probably judge all classes of livestock and give oral reasons on some. The contest is to be held in the horse barn.

PASTOR TO DISCUSS LUTHERAN ACTIVITIES

Student Group Announces Program for Friday Night Meeting.

The Lutheran club of the university will hold its first meeting Friday evening at 8:15 o'clock in room 205 of the Temple building.

Rev. R. E. Rangelor, pastor of the St. James Lutheran church, will speak on the activities of the Lutheran church.

In addition to the talk a musical program and a short skit have been planned. The program will include vocal solos by Esther Kreucher of DeWitt, a number of accordion selections by Albert Blair and Emma Vogel of Lincoln, and the skit by members of the Grace Lutheran league.

Officers of the club who will be in charge are Charles DeVore, president; Irene Apfelback, vice president; Alberta Blair, secretary, and Marvin Troutwine, treasurer. A committee assisting the officers includes Irene Wedell, Elsie Beschornor and Kenneth Broman. Sponsors for the evening are Rev. G. A. Elliott of the First Lutheran church, and Rev. Rangelor.

Miss Jane Youngson Removes Name from Fall Election List

Miss Jane Youngson, who filed yesterday as candidate for honorary colonel, has been obliged to withdraw her name from consideration because of the fact that she has not sufficient number of credit hours to be classified as a senior. Eighty-nine hours are the minimum number which a student may have to rank as a senior student.

Only seniors are eligible for election to the position of honorary colonel.

The withdrawal of Miss Youngson leaves the race for honorary colonel confined to three contestants, a smaller number than ever before.

INNOCENTS ASK THAT STUDENTS SUPPORT TEAM

"We want every student out at the rally, tonight," asserted William S. Devereaux, chairman of the rally committee of the Innocents society. "The team must know that the students, one and all, are behind them in order that they put their utmost into the game."

"I have been talking to several members of the team," said Norman Galleher, business manager of the Daily Nebraskan, "and they tell me that it will mean a lot to them to have a real sendoff rally, and that they feel that their efforts are not being wasted if they know that the students are behind them."
