STRAW VOTE TO BE TAKEN SOON BY 34 COLLEGES

Daily Nebraskan to Conduct Pre-Election Poll October 26.

MANY SCHOOLS BALLOT Princetonian Will Compile Results Sent In by Universities.

Student interest in politics showed an increase last week, as thirty-four colleges in twenty-three states of the United States prepared to participate in a nationwide poll of the candidates of the coming election.

The Daily Nebraskan will conduct a straw vote Wednesday, Oct. 26, the day after the student debate between John Gephson, representing the Student Republican club, and Howard L. Holtzendorf of the Student Democratic club.

The Daily Nebraskan will ask the Student Council for permission to maintain a voting booth in Social Sciences building, where, if permission is granted, balloting will be conducted during the morning from 9 o'clock to 12 o'clock, and in the afternoon from 1 o'clock to 5 o'clock. During the noon hour, all votes of the morning will be counted and the results tabulated.

Princetonian to Compile Results. The Daily Princetonian, of Princeton University, is conducting the nationwide poll. Every university and college in the United States which conducts a poll will send the results of the balloting to the Daily Princetonian, where the results will be tabulated. Results of the Nebraskan vote will be sent to the Princetonian.

Undergraduates of the universities alone will take this straw vote. What the preference will be, however, is not known, although Hoover is expected to follow with Roosevelt, Thomas and Foster following in order, according to the Princetonian.

Student interest in politics on the Nebraska campus has been seen in the organization of Republican, Democratic and Socialist clubs. The Democrats and Republicans will debate Tuesday, Oct. 25.

Among colleges conducting polls are Arizona, Stanford, Connecticut Wesleyan, Yale, Chicago, Kentucky, Tulane, Harvard, Wellesley, Amherst, Smith, Williams, Massachusetts Tech, Michigan, Minnesota, New Hampshire, Dartmouth, Princeton, Columbia, Cornell, Syracuse, New York, Vassar, North Carolina, Ohio State, Oklahoma, Carnegie Tech, Brown, South Dakota, Vanderbilt, Texas, Vermont, and the Virginia Military Institute.

Attorneys Design Cornices, Columns To Radio Music

Student in the department of architecture have found a way to relieve the monotony of five-hour laboratory periods. Saturday afternoon a radio was installed in a laboratory room in the basement of U hall and now the budding architects are designing their cornices and columns with a musical accompaniment.

The radio was installed last Saturday in order that the students might listen to the football game, and they were so well satisfied with it that they have decided to purchase one for permanent use. The members of the laboratory sections meeting there have decided to contribute towards its purchase. As to what will be done with the radio at the end of the term no decision has been made.

Members of the classes declare that they are able to get more work done and they do not get as tired during the long laboratory periods which meet from 1 o'clock to 6 o'clock.

WILL HOLD RALLY FOR HUSKERS IN OPPONENTS' CITY

Pep Meeting in Lawrence to Replace Usual Sendoff Given for Team.

FIRST ON FOREIGN SOIL Devereaux Asks Cooperation Of All Students Who Make the Trip.

A rally will be held at Lawrence for the Huskers Saturday, but no send-off rally is to be staged in Lincoln, according to William Devereaux, chairman of the rally committee of the Innocents Society. The special train is to arrive in Lawrence at 11:15 when a rally which will include the pep organizations, the band, and all of the students and Nebraska followers who make the trip will be held.

"Our big problem is to get the co-operation of the students who go to the game by cars," said Mr. Devereaux. "Also, we must simplify the organization as much as possible."

First Rally in Alien Town. "Never before has the University of Nebraska attempted to hold a rally in a foreign town," he said, "but we have every reason to believe that we will successfully carry out our plans."

He asserted that the Nebraskans would have a chance to rival the homecoming celebration of Kansas university. "I believe that if every student will co-operate with the pep clubs and the band, we will give Kansas a real show," he asserted.

Plans for the formal are going forward rapidly, according to Livingston. Al Ebers, Farm House, who has charge of decorating the student activities building for the event, has a novel plan of admitting the guests to the ball room but has announced no particulars. WARN AGAINST AGENTS SOLICITING ON CAMPUS

Administration States Men Are Not Approved by Authorities.

Agents canvassing campus fraternity houses and other school organizations, saying that they have the approval of the administration, or of any school organization, are not to be recognized, according to announcements from Administration building Tuesday.

Last year such an agent, selling magazines and books, canvassed the campus saying that he had the approval of the interfraternity council. According to Norman Galleher, president of the council, such was not the case. "A campus organization has no right to say that it endorses any product," stated Galleher, "and although this fellow asked me for an endorsement, I told him no."

Students on the campus, who are bothered by solicitors have only to call Campus Officer L. C. Regier to be rid of them. The university rules forbid soliciting on the campus. Fraternity groups can easily be rid of agents by asking to see their license which is required of all agents selling in Lincoln.

PATTERSON SPEAKS AT VESPER SERVICE

Discusses the Necessity of Finding an Adequate Philosophy.

Dr. C. H. Patterson of the philosophy department of the university spoke on the moral test of a philosophy of life at the vespers service Tuesday evening, at Ellen Smith hall.

Dr. Patterson stated that everyone has a right to find out the truth about the universe; that it constituted one's philosophy of life and a person's philosophy of life is the most important thing about him. It is necessary to construct a world view in order to understand the relationship of all the experiences of human life. Then one should test his philosophy of life to see if it is adequate.

Moral Experiences Fundamental. Moral experiences, Dr. Patterson mentioned, were absolutely fundamental to a person's conduct of life. Because people are inherently moral they govern their lives according to some certain philosophy. Everyone has a philosophy of life whether he realizes it or not.

Quoting Plato Dr. Patterson told one of his myths and gave its explanation in modern terms. He said that everyone is choosing the kind of life he is to live and that this choice is irrevocable; once it is made it can never be changed. "There exists a world of moral experiences, of possibilities," said Dr. Patterson, "and every decision you make causes you to destroy certain of these possibilities. A sound philosophy of life surveys these possibilities systematically. Have some conception of the world. (Continued on Page 3.)"

Ray Ramsay and Boyd Krewson Fly To Minneapolis to Take Pictures of Cornhuskers in Action on Gridiron

Motion pictures taken of the Nebraska-Minnesota game promises to reveal the fine points of prominent plays and may even clear up the indecision over the results of that fatal lateral pass. Ray Ramsay, secretary of the Nebraska Alumni association, flew to Minneapolis in his plane accompanied by Boyd Krewson, Daily Nebraskan newspaperman, for the purpose of getting camera spots of the game, to be sent to the various Alumni chapters over the country.

This year Coach Bible has arranged with Ramsay to use the pictures in skull practice, so that the players can see themselves in position on the screen, and so clearly visualize their mistakes. Pictures will be taken at all Nebraska games during the season; and, after the last game, will be combined into a reel of 400 feet and shown wherever it is desired. Send Films to Alumni Clubs. According to Mr. Ramsay, the film becomes public property as soon as it is developed. This is the third year he has earned his complimentary season ticket in this way; but for the first time Saturday, he had the co-operation of a "still" photographer. The "stills" taken by Mr. Krewson are to be used on the first page of the "Nebraska Alumni Weekly," a paper edited by Oscar Norling, which comes out after every game during the football season, and is a supplement to the "Nebraska Alumni" magazine.

From the twenty-four pictures taken by Krewson of the most important plays, seven or eight are selected for publication. The Nebraska Alumni association has fifty-two chapters, located in all the important cities in the United States, Kansas City, New York, San Francisco, Denver, New Orleans, St. Louis, Cleveland, Des Moines, Detroit, Indianapolis, Chicago, Los Angeles, Washington, D. C. are among those to whom Mr. Ramsay's little picture show will be sent.

Take Off in Rain. Ramsay and Krewson took off at 6:30 Saturday morning right at the heels of the rain; they climbed up 2,000 feet and found themselves well over the clouds and with a twenty mile tail wind to push them (Continued on Page 4.)
