

HUSKERS CLIMB TO FOURTH PLACE WITH VICTORY OVER IOWA

Comparative Scores Favor
Jayhawkers in Week End Clash.

BIG SIX STANDINGS.

	K	W	L	Pct.	Pts	Opp.
Kansas	5	4	1	.800	161	125
Oklahoma	4	3	1	.750	116	103
Missouri	3	2	1	.667	93	90
Nebraska	4	2	2	.500	118	110
Iowa State	5	1	4	.200	112	147
Kansas State	5	1	4	.200	134	157

Placing themselves in fourth position among the Big Six teams by virtue of their 25 to 16 victory over Iowa State Monday night the Huskers still are very much in the race having won two games and lost the same number for an even .500 percentage. The defeat relegated the Iowans into a tie for the cellar position with the Kansas Aggies, and virtually ousted them from further championship considerations having only one win against four losses as a record.

Steve Hoku's great comeback to his old time form which he often exhibited in sharpshooting exhibitions two years ago was the main point of interest brought up in the Cyclone tilt. The Crete guard started contributing field goals to the Nebraska column in the first minute of play and set a blistering pace especially in the last half. Bob Belka, another Crete product who is a sophomore, was in the starting lineup for the first time this year, and Paul Mason, a regular last season, played a nifty game in that last half revival.

The Kansas Jayhawkers, who are the defending champs and are now leading the league, are to invade the Coliseum Friday evening in one of the feature clashes of the season. Three weeks ago the Scarlet five journeyed to Lawrence to face the Allen quintet and came out on the short end of the score, 32 to 29, after a tight battle. The score was closer than expected for the Huskers had lost five and won no games up to then.

Since that date Kansas has lost to Oklahoma and defeated Missouri, Iowa State, and the Kaggies, whereas the Nebraskans have dipped their colors to Missouri and trimmed the Kaggies and Iowa State. Last Tuesday evening at Ames the southerners beat Iowa State 35 to 20 and Nebraska won from the same outfit 25 to 16 which means that comparative scores set Kansas up as favorite to run off with honors. Victory for Nebraska would brand it as a team capable of setting back any crew in the circuit, and as an outfit to be reckoned with very seriously in title contention.

Coach Browne sent his proteges through a short workout Tuesday afternoon and plans to have a couple of hard drills Wednesday and Thursday afternoons in preparation for the Jayhawker game. All of the squad members emerged from the Monday mix in good shape and with Walt Henrion's ankle rapidly mending it is expected that all of the team will be in top shape Friday. Henrion played through most of the Iowa State game but was hampered by the bad foot.

CONFERENCE CATCHES

BY BURT MARVIN.

Well, I'm making my debut in this column and in the role of sports editor, and I suppose it is appropriate to state that I shall do my best to serve the readers with a bit of gossip of current interest among sports followers. Of course that's taking it for granted that there'll be a few readers perusing the fruits of my efforts. No doubt it would be embarrassing to me to list those persons as does George Round in his column which appears in this sheet at various times. Also since it is my duty to cover and describe the Nebraska games during the year I'll do that as long as they'll let me. Getting a title for this atrocity was mighty difficult because its hard to describe it in decent English language. (This one is probably temporary.)

Folks around here are beginning to realize that Nebraska is represented by a basketball team which flashes plenty of power and has potentialities of at least giving the other Big Six quintets a nice run for their money in the title race this winter. The two weeks lay-off didn't do the team any good and in the first half of the Iowa State game Monday evening the play was mighty ragged. But that second half comeback dispelled any doubt as to the caliber of the Brownemen. When a team scores eight points in less than three minutes of play at the opening of the second half as they did it is a mighty capable bunch of players.

It is certainly necessary that the basketball squad be a powerful one when a team such as the Kansas Jayhawkers is due to pair off with that squad. Kansas is now sitting at the top of the conference heap, and it is the popular impression that the seat is a fairly secure one. Of course there is plenty of basis on which such an assumption may be founded, for a team must control Capt. Bill Johnson, the six foot four inch center, before victory can be tucked away. Johnson leads the circuit scorers with 58 points in five games and what with his height assuring the tip-off and his basket eye packing plenty of danger for opponents there is a tremendous handicap to overcome. But three weeks ago the Huskers gave the Lawrence outfit a mighty close rub, losing out in the last two minutes of play and going down to defeat 32 to 29. Now that two victories have been experienced, whereas five straight defeats had preceded that game, the Friday game should pack plenty of thrills and first-rate ball.

Steve Hoku's was on the floor with a mighty good basket eye Monday and he certainly capitalized on it. Thirteen points is a good evening's total on any court, especially for a guard, and adding to his high point honors an exhibition of extraordinary skill in defensive underbasket play and floor work Hoku's certainly lived up to the athletic reputation he has built up in these parts during the last few years.

LARGE MUSKALONGE GIVEN TO MUSEUM

Huge Muskies Is Donated
To the University by York Man.

A fifty-five inch Muskalonge weighing fifty-three and a half pounds is the latest article to be presented to the museum at the University of Nebraska. This large fish was caught at Denis Chabot's, Lake of the Woods Ledge, St. Francis, Ont., by W. L. Kirkpatrick of York, Neb., last year. Mr. Kirkpatrick arranged for the mounting of the Muskies, had it encased in a dustproof cabinet, identified it with an engraved silver plate and donated it to the museum.

Schedule Announced For Girls' Rifle Club

Any girl interested in rifle firing may practice at the following hours; Wednesday, Feb. 1, from 3 to 5 o'clock, and Thursday, Feb. 2, from 3 to 5 o'clock. All signed record targets must be turned in. Plans are being made to reserve eight practice hours each week for members of the rifle firing club. Each girl will be required to practice at least two hours during the week. Odell Tombrink is in charge of the rifle firing club.

HUSKERS IN TRAINING FOR FIRST TANK MEET

Champion Iowa Mermen to Invade Nebraska on February 11.

Coach Rudy Vogeler is running his swimming team candidates through regular practice sessions in preparation for the first meet of the season scheduled for Saturday, Feb. 11, with the Iowa State tanksters. The meet is to be held in the Husker pool, and the Ames swimmers are defending their Big Six championship which they have held for the last two years.

With three lettermen available around which a squad is to be formed the outlook is fairly favorable. The veterans are Bernie Masterson, 50 and 100 yard free style events; Dan Easterday, 440 yard free style, and Ray Gavin, back stroke.

Other men who have been regularly appearing for workouts are Howard Church, back stroke; William Kelley, free style; Gordon Fleisbach, free style; Jack Gavin, distance; Glenn Warrick, diver, and Palmer Gallup, breast stroke and diving.

NOTED PHOTOGRAPHER SHOWS WORK TUESDAY

Lincoln People Interested In Forming a Local Camera Club.

Edward Weston, well known modern photographer, exhibited his work Tuesday evening, Jan. 31, at 7:30 in Gallery B, Morrill Hall. People who were especially interested in photography witnessed the display and viewed the exhibition of the students in the University night class in photography which is held in the west end of the second floor corridor of Morrill Hall.

Considerable enthusiasm has been shown by many Lincoln people towards forming a Lincoln Camera club, according to Dwight Kirsch, chairman of the administrative committee of the School of Fine Arts. He states that if enough interest is shown, such an organization may be formed.

Altho plans for this group are only tentative, the membership would probably be confined to those who have already had some experience in making pictures, and are capable of doing finished work suitable for exhibition. Meetings would be held every two weeks for the purpose of criticizing plates and demonstrating new methods in photography.

ACT ON ROUNDUP PLANS

General Committee Works on Ideas for Engineers Convention.

A general committee for the third annual Nebraska Engineers Roundup met in Omaha, Jan. 31, to act on final plans for the meeting of Feb. 25, to be held at the Blackstone hotel in Omaha.

Dean O. J. Ferguson and Prof. V. L. Hollister of the college of engineering were members of the committee, but neither were able to attend. Other representatives from Lincoln were State Engineer R. L. Cochran, D. L. Erickson, city engineer, and D. D. Price.

The Nebraska Engineers Roundup is a meeting of all engineers in the state who wish to attend. It was organized two years ago so that engineering problems of the state might be discussed. Present enrollments show about 250 members.

The two previous meetings of the organization were held in Lincoln.

$25 Will Be Awarded By Art Association

Twenty-five dollars in prizes, made possible by J. L. Teeters, a member of the board of trustees of the Nebraska Art association, will be awarded to the creators of the three best posters done for the purpose of calling attention to the Nebraska Art Association's forty-third annual exhibition, Feb. 16 to March 19, in Morrill hall. Posters must be submitted by Feb. 8 and winners will be announced two days later.

Philippine Student Says Capitalists Have Kept Islands From Freedom

Tho he believes the bill for Philippine independence, enacted by congress over President Hoover's veto recently was dictated primarily by the American sugar interests, Candido Sorvida, Filipino senior in the university, says, he feels that the law as passed by congress is better than not achieving independence at all.

Mr. Sorvida, who is majoring in economics and hopes some day to be able to put his knowledge of economics to good use in the service of his government, comes from the town of San Manuel where his parents live. His brother graduated from Nebraska university in 1931, and Mr. Sorvida expects to receive his A. B. at the end of the second semester.

The chief objection to the bill which Mr. Sorvida pointed out is the provision which will prohibit immigration of Filipinos to this country when the bill goes into operation in ten years. He expressed regret that independence could not have been granted on the basis of the principles enacted in the Jones law, passed by congress under President Wilson, which emphasized the ideas of political independence without reservations or discriminatory provisions as soon as the Philippines were prepared for independence.

Says Government Stable.

Mr. Sorvida feels that there is no question as to the political stability of the government. That question was settled, he says, in 1916 when the Woods Forbes commission reported on the islands and recommended eventual independence. The question which has more recently prevented granting of independence is the economic weakness of the islands.

This objection to independence he depreciated on the grounds that certain American capitalists have been interested in preserving the Philippines under American jurisdiction. Mr. Sorvida also believes that there need be little worry as to foreign complications after independence has been achieved.

"It will be to the interest of all the great powers to see that the Philippines are not subjected by any other country," he said. "Japan, for one, has already stated that she will be the first to recognize Philippine independence."

"The Philippines have prospered under American leadership and government," Mr. Sorvida stated. He paid high compliment to the type of government and education established by Americans in the islands. He expects that under an independent status the policies and governmental institutions already set up will be continued. Aside from the ideal of independence which the Filipinos hold dearest, he said he believed they would prefer American rule to any other.

As President Palmer, head of the Philippine National university has stated, said Mr. Sorvida, "The Philippines do not wish to become a great world power; they wish to become the Switzerland of the Orient."

REP. CONE STARTS NEW BILL IN HOUSE Wants to Abolish Two Departments of the University.

A bill providing that the schools of architecture and fine arts would be abolished and their equipment sold or transferred to other departments on July 1 was introduced into the house of representatives.

Representative Trenmor Cone, the author of the bill, in commenting on it said that the purpose of the bill was to stress the need of economy and retrenchment in the university. Representative Cone declares that he is not against higher education.

In addition to removing the school of architecture and the school of fine arts and distributing their equipment the bill also provides that there would be big cuts in salaries.
