LAW STUDENTS NAME RODGERS AS IVY DAY ORATOR AT ELECTION

Yellow Jacket Candidate Wins by Margin of Six Votes.

By a margin of six votes, Ralph Rodgers, yellowjacket faction candidate, was elected Ivy Day orator by students in law college yesterday. Rodgers lives in Lincoln and is a member of Sigma Chi fraternity.

The election count reveals Rodgers polled forty-five votes, while his opponent, George Mickel, Delta Tau Delta and blueshirt faction candidate, received thirty-nine votes. Rodgers is a junior in law college, while Mickel is a senior in that college.

Only Law Students Vote.

Selection of the Ivy Day orator, student speaker at the annual Ivy Day ceremonies, was delegated to students in law college only by action of the student council at a special meeting Monday night. In past elections the orator had been selected by the entire student body at the general spring elections.

Rodgers will deliver his speech during the afternoon of the Ivy Day ceremonies, which will be held this year on Thursday, Mary 4. Walter Huber, Delta Theta Phi, was the Ivy Day orator last year.

MORTAR BOARDS DROP DECORATIONS PLANS

Desire to Increase Society Scholarship Fund Brings About Economy.

Plans for decorations for the Mortar Board party have been abandoned, according to an announcement made Tuesday by Jane Axtell and Delores Deadman, committee in charge of decorations.

This economy has been effected in order that the Motor Board society may increase its scholarship fund by $100. Any additional receipts from the party will be donated to the fund for permanent decorations for the coliseum, sponsored by the Innocents society.

Mel Snyder to Play.

Mel Snyder and his Gold Coast orchestra who come direct from the famous Muelbach hotel in Kansas City, to play for the party, have achieved an international reputation as entertainers. The orchestra will present the Owens Sisters trio as an added entertainment.

Members of Motar Board, Alpha Delta Lambda, and Tassels, are in charge of the sale of tickets, which cost one dollar.

Members of Mortar Board wish to stress the fact that the party will be informal.

COL. OURY SPEAKS TO PERSHING RIFLES

Military Department Head Tells of Experiences Overseas.

Col. W. H. Oury, head of the military department, spoke on his services overseas to the members of the Pershing Rifles at their meeting Tuesday in Nebraska Hall. He described the training the soldiers went thru before going to France, the voyage across, the training they received before going to the front, battle formations, battle objectives, and how the objectives were accomplished.

"There is much unrest at the present time," he stated, "and there is no telling what will happen." In future wars the captains and lieutenants will be the main factors in combat he asserted.

HUNT NAMES DEBATE TEAM

Soderlund, West Comprise Negative Squad to Argue Debt Question.

Harold Soderlund and Henry West were chosen in the tryout on Monday afternoon to form a negative team for competition in inter-collegiate debates this semester. The question argued in the tryout was Resolved: That the inter-allied World war debts and reparations should be cancelled.

Soderlund, Lincoln, is a sophomore pre-law student and West is from Syracuse and a junior in the college of Arts and Sciences. The judge for the tryout was Evert M. Hunt, former university debater and a graduate of the law school.

FEBRUARY BLUE PRINT IS PLACED ON SALE

Magazine Features Article On 'Your Preparation For College.'

The February issue of the Nebraska Blue Print will be placed on sale this morning. The magazine which is published by the college of engineering of the university, will be sold at a booth in Mechanical Arts building.

"Russia Industrializes," is the cover design of this issue, while a picture of Brace Laboratory of Physics is the frontpiece.

"Your Preparation for College," by Hoe Deklotz, '33, tells of the lacking of high school students entering the university without sufficient preparation. "Every high school student should prepare himself for college entrance, whether he feels that it will be possible for him to continue his education or not. Generally speaking, the courses that are necessary to meet the entrance requirements are those which will benefit him most in everyday living," states the article.

Another article in the February Blue Print, "Nebraska Engineers Are Known to the World," by Charles Devore, '34, managing editor of the magazine, offers a few notable examples in defense of the title. Devore, in his article tells of such men as Ivan F. Baker, La Monte J. Belnap, Luther R. Branting and Clyde E. Dempster.

Hugh H. Schmidt's article on "Hoover Dam" also appears in this issue. It relates fact concerning the '165 million dollar project.'

Mr. Schmidt writes of the purposes of the dam, how it was constructed, material used, and a description of the structure.

Joslyn Memorial Head Speaks Here Saturday

Paul H. Grummann, former professor of the university, now director of the Joslyn Memorial in Omaha, gave a talk following the unveiling and presentation of the Elizabeth Honor Dolan mural at the Y. W. C. A. Saturday afternoon.

Coeds Accorded Many Courtesies as Time for Mortar Board Party Nears

Nebraska coeds are wondering what may be the cause of the increased attentiveness accorded to them the past week by the opposite sex. What powerful motive has activated the males to perform hitherto neglected courtesies and favors?

It is not so much a mystery as the fair sex make it out to be; as if they didn't know the reason for this strange masculine behavior, as if they didn't know that every man, Blue Shirt, Yellow Jacket and Barb is soulfully praying that he will "rate" a date for the second annual Mortar Board party Friday night.

In fraternity and rooming house, a feeling of anxiety and expectancy reigns supreme. Study hour is forgotten. Who will be invited to the party and when? Around the telephone is gathered a group of hushed but hopeful Adonises. Even he who has that "mysterious power over women" is here. Suddenly the phone rings and there is

VARIETY OF TALENT SHOWN AT TRYOUTS FOR 'BAR-O RANCH'

Directors to Review More Candidates Sunday in Temple.

All varieties and types of talent, from female impersonations to eccentric dances, were demonstrated at the initial tryouts for "The Bar-O Ranch," Kosmet Klub spring production, held last night in the Temple.

About thirty men tried out for parts in the play. Each applicant demonstrated his dramatic abilities, as well as voice and chorus possibilities. The tryouts were directed by Herb Yenne, author of the play, Jack Thompson, president of the Klub, and Dr. Ralph Ireland, who will direct the choruses.

"We are very much encouraged by the variety of talent in evidence tonight," Thompson stated after the tryouts were completed.

CO-ED FOLLIES WILL BE GIVEN THURSDAY

Annual Style Show Under Sponsorship of A. W. S. Board.

The Co-ed Follies, an annual presentation for women students only under the sponsorship of the A. W. S. board, will be held Thursday evening, Feb. 23, from 7:00 to 9:00 o'clock in the Temple theater.

The program includes a style show under the direction of Gold & Co., interspersed with acts by the Chi Omega, Delta Gamma, Alpha Phi, Delta Delta Delta, Carrie Bell Raymond Hall and Gamma Phi Beta sororities; and the presentation of the "best dressed girl."

Models for the style show were selected by women experts from the three candidates submitted by each sorority. The coed to receive the title of best dressed girl will be chosen by the A. W. S. board from the group of candidates, each one of whom was put up by each of the sororities.

Eleanor Dickson has charge of the presentation of the Follies. The committee on the selection of acts is composed of Calista Cooper, chairman, Margaret Buel and Margaret Upson. Willa Norris is supervisor of general arrangements, Jane Boos of rehearsals and production, Bash Perkins of ticket sales, and Lucille Reilly of publicity.

Tickets, at twenty-five cents each, may be purchased from the agents in the various sorority and co-operative houses.

a mad scramble and mingled cries of "It's for me," or "It's mine," as the hopefuls dash for the phone. Then a silence as they tragically file out of the booth, sunken once more in melancholy doubt.

But picture the fortunate male who receives the long sought for invitation. He pauses a moment, studies his social schedule and then nonchalantly informs the fair lady that he is open that evening and will "do her the favor."

As he emerges from the phone booth where others have met disappointment, he is regarded with awe and envy by his fellows.

What luck is his! At last he shall grant his pocketbook rest, he shall be feted and entertained, and also shown every courtesy by those who have in the past received it.

On the other hand, coeds are busy making preparations for the big evening, determined to show the males that they can equal or

STATE SENATOR TO TALK Legislator Will Speak at Monthly Dinner Meeting Of Journalism Group.

Journalism and politics will be correlated for Sigma Delta Chi members Thursday night when they gather for their monthly dinner meeting at the Lindell hotel to hear state Senator J. P. O'Furey of Hartington. Arrangements for the meeting are in charge of a Jack Erickson, who said about fifteen members of the professional journalism fraternity were expected to attend. The group heard Robert Burlingame, Vanity Fair author of "Nebraska on the Make," at its last dinner meeting.

NIGHT CLASSES HAVE LARGE REGISTRATION

Prof. Reed Says Total of 217 Taking Evening Courses.

Second semester registrations for night classes offered by the University of Nebraska thru the extension division total 217, according to Prof. A. A. Reed. Thirty-one different classes have been organized under faculty members and largest of these are history, geography, German, business law, campfire guardians training course, and accounting.

The registrants, largely teachers and students of Lincoln and surrounding vicinity, includes 68 men, 112 women and a number of children. Many professions including stenography, secretarial work, banking, farming, drafting, engineering and merchandising. There are also housewives, barbers, salesmen, librarians and mail carriers.

Purpose of enrollment for most of the registrants is that of working toward or securing a degree. These are a number, however, whose aims are professional advancement, pleasure, relaxation and the like.

Ages of persons registered for night school work at the University of Nebraska during the current semester vary from 18 to 50.

ENGINEERS TO HOLD ANNUAL CONVENTION

Roundup Will Be Staged at Hotel Blackstone in Omaha Feb. 25.

Under the sponsorship of the University school of engineering and various engineers clubs of Nebraska, the third annual engineers roundup will be held at the Hotel Blackstone, Omaha, Feb. 25.

Primarily designed to interest all those interested in engineering, this year's roundup will be in charge of the Omaha Engineers' club, with Theodore L. Frank, acting as chairman in charge of arrangements.

The morning session of this year's roundup will be featured by a talk on the Hoover Dam, by Dr. William Barr, of the Union Pacific railroad. In his talk Mr. Barr will stress the excellent engineering opportunities presented in this project.

Dean Anson Marston of Iowa State College, will discuss the engineering progress made along the Mississippi river, during the afternoon session. Richard Murison, a Chicago architect, will also speak at the afternoon session upon "A Century of Progress."

Following the traditional banquet, those attending the roundup will be entertained with short talks, dancing, and other entertainment.

The idea of engineers roundup was conceived two years ago by Dean O. J. Ferguson of the Engineering college, when the engineers clubs of Omaha, Grand Island, and the School of Engineering successfully staged a roundup. The idea met with much favorable comment and has been continued as an annual feature.

LEONARD IS ELECTED AS INTERFRATERNITY COUNCIL PRESIDENT

Thiel, Loomis and Schramek Are Other Officers Chosen.

Lynn Leonard was elected president of the Interfraternity council for the coming year at the regular election of the group Tuesday night.

Other officers chosen were Robert Thiel, vice president; Lloyd Loomis, secretary; and Joe Schramek, treasurer. The officers whom they replace are Norman Gallaher, president; Marvin Schmidt, vice president and John Zeilinger, secretary-treasurer.

For the first time in a number of years the council will have two women to fill the positions of secretary and treasurer, formerly filled by one man. The procedure was inaugurated at the Tuesday meeting at the request of the group.

Bryon Goulding, chairman of the Interfraternity Ball committee gave a report, which although not yet complete, indicated that the ball was a success and that the council will have a surplus to permanent decorations fund for coliseum. All council representatives

NEBRASKA DEBATERS LEAVE FOR TOURNEY

Will Take Affirmative of Debt Cancellation Question.

A Nebraska debate team composed of H. Vincent Broady and Howard Holtzendorff left Tuesday night for Denver where they will take part in a debate tournament, Feb. 23 and 24. The Nebraska men will take the affirmative on the question of the cancellation of the World war debts and reparations.

Nebraska will argue the question against the Teachers College of Greeley, Colorado, Agricultural College, and the University of Denver on Thursday, Feb. 23. The team will meet Western State Teachers, College of Gunnison, the Colorado Agricultural College for a second time, and the University of Colorado on Friday.

All of the debates in the tournament will be nondecision.

This meet is between the schools of this territory including the colleges in Colorado and the University of Nebraska. This is the first of these tournaments to be held and it is planned to make it an annual event.

This trip to Denver will replace one of the regular events planned for the debate team this semester.
