PLAYERS TO OPEN SIXTH PRODUCTION, 'CAMILLE,' MONDAY

Augusta French and Herb Yenne Are Cast as Leads.

"Camille," sixth University Players production of the year, will open at the Temple theater tomorrow night, under the direction of Miss Alice Howell, chairman of the dramatics department at the university.

The new production, following closely upon the sensational run of "Porgy," brings to university theatergoers an entirely different type of story than has been heretofore presented.

The leading characters of the play, around whom the plot revolves, include Augusta French who takes the part of Camille, Herbert Yenne, cast as Armand, and Theodore Diers, who will portray the character of Monsieur Duval.

The story of "Camille," which was written by the younger Dumas, portrays the French bourgeois life of the middle eighteenth century.

The intriguing love story of the production is centered around the two leading characters, Armand and Camille. Deeply in love with the girl, Armand fails to consider her past life. Monsieur Duval, his father, determines to break up the affair by any method possible. He finally succeeds in accomplishing his mission, at the expense of the souls of the two young lovers.

Herb Yenne.

As leading man Mr. Yenne will appear in the University Players' next production, "Camille." The play opens at the Temple theater Monday, March 6 with Augusta French having the title role.

There are two remaining plays on the schedule of the players for the current season, "Camille" and a Shakespearean play, according to Miss H. Alice Howell, director of the organization. Mr. Yenne is also the author of the "Bar Nothing Ranch," which the Kosmet club will produce this spring.

With over 600 spectators in attendance, the Coll-agri-fun, annual production of Ag college students, was presented at the Students Activity building, Friday evening and netted a profit of more than $100, which will be contributed to the student loan fund.

The Ag college boarding club's skit "Highlights of Moviedom" was awarded second place by the judges while "Plantation Memories," presented by the ag college chorus, won third place.

The prizes given to the best skits were fifteen, ten and five dollars respectively. The show was judged by Miss Alice Howell and Mr. Zolley Lerner of the University Dramatics department, and Miss Frances McChesney, dramatics instructor at Lincoln high school.

Following the presentation of the skits, a free dance was held with music furnished by student orchestra under the direction of Professor W. T. Quick.

"We were more than pleased with the results of this year's show. The skits were numerous and better than last year, as well as realizing considerable financial return," said Manager Mark Hackman, who was in charge of this year's show.

The baritone also sang the "Stars Spangled Banner" at the inauguration ceremony Saturday. Other artists selected to appear in the pre-inaugural concert were Rosa Panselle, soprano; and Efreim Zimbalist, violinist.

Variety of Types to Be Represented In Cast of Klub Show, 'Bar-O Ranch'

Innocent ingenues, madonna like Lillian Gishes, merry, buxom Mae Wests, sophisticated Joan Crawford will be represented in the cast of the next Kosmet all male cast show, "Bar Nothing Ranch." The script calls for practically any type one could desire and for this reason should be an interesting production, according to Jack Thompson, president of the club.

"It's a tough life being a chorus girl in all male cast production," offers an ex-member of the pony chorus of one of previous shows. "You never know where your next dress or pair of shoes is coming from"—which is true enough for those men number ten feet and forty-two inch waist lines. We like to believe that there are just a few such coeds with those dimensions on the Nebraska campus. One is led to believe that more chorus boys or should we say girls?" of the Kosmet pony chorus would be clothed more properly, were there more of these buxom lasses on the campus around this time of the year. It is generally understood, however, that a chorus girl must keep her "girlish figure" so a strict, carefully chosen diet should bring results. "Nothing much can be done about the number ten shoes, however, concludes the ex-chorine.

"Keeping the youthful figure is not the major difficulty encountered as a male chorus girl," stated one of the smaller individuals who has kicked the chorus girls routine before the footlights. "Walking like the fairer sex and knowing where to put your hands presented the most trouble to me. I broke two pair of beads trying to be ladylike." (Continued on Page 3.)

TWENTY-TWO LYRICS SUBMITTED TO KLUB

Definite Selection of Music Will Not Be Made Until Later.

Twenty-two tunes and lyrics, submitted by eight students, have been received by Kosmet Klub for use in "The Bar-O Ranch," spring production scheduled by the Klub, according to an announcement made yesterday by Jack Thompson, president of Kosmet Klub.

"Response to the call for music has been unusually good this year," Charles McCarl, co-chairman of the committee in charge of music for the show, declared yesterday. "The quality of the music submitted is also exceptionally good, most of it being adaptable to use in the show," he continued.

Work on both the male and pony choruses will continue with the music already submitted, but any more received will receive consideration, Thompson said. The next rehearsal of the two choruses under the direction of Ralph Ireland and John Zeilinger has been scheduled for Monday night, March 6, in room 219 of Morrill hall at 7:15.

Definite selection of the music to be used in the show will not be made until all manuscripts have been received and all tunes tested for adaptability to the choruses, it was indicated. A number of students have signified their intention of submitting more music within the next two or three days, members of the Klub stated.

Casting Director Herb Yenne, who is also author of the play, and Chorus Director Ireland expressed gratification at the quantity and quality of music submitted for the show. Chorus rehearsals, which have been delayed by lack of music, will be speeded, Ireland indicated.

STUDENTS WHO BUY ANNUALS MAY VOTE FOR FAVORITE COED

Final Sales Drive to Close About Middle of Week, Says Skade.

Students purchasing copies of the 1933 Cornhusker during the final sales drive will have an opportunity to vote for their favorite coeds, according to an announcement made Saturday by Charles Skade, business manager.

Five girls will be selected by purchasers of the annual to be designated as "Cornhusker Coeds" in the feature section of this year's Cornhusker.

Every receipt blank will have a ballot attached with three spaces to be filled in by the purchaser with the names of any three girls of his choice. The girls will receive, in order of their naming, 5,000, 2,000 and 1,000 votes.

The ballots are to be turned in to a member of the Cornhusker staff. At the end of the drive, the votes will be counted by a faculty committee and the business staff, and the five winners announced.

It has been a general feeling that in the past the Cornhusker has not carried a sufficient number of coed pictures, and for that reason, the "Cornhusker Coed" idea has been inaugurated. There are no eligibility rules and votes may be cast for any girl in the university according to Skade.

A checkup on early sales showed that they had gained much momentum Friday, Skade ascribed this in part to the fact that sales- (Continued on Page 3.)

AIR FILM SCHEDULED ON MUSEUM PROGRAM

Airline Traffic Manager to Present Explanatory Lecture.

"Flying Across America in 27 Hours," a film prepared by the United Air Lines as an educational presentation of air transportation, will be the feature of the museum's program Sunday afternoon at 4:15 in the downstairs auditorium of Morrill hall. H. W. Peterson, district traffic manager of the airline in Omaha, will give an explanatory lecture during the showing of the film.

Of the fourteen cities shown in the film, the camera, during its taking, lingered over Lincoln showing several air shots of the city and a particularly good air view of Nebraska's new capitol. It is explained in the subtitle of the film that Nebraska's state house is regarded as one of the most beautiful buildings in the country and is architecturally outstanding. Air views of Omaha are also shown in the film.

In addition to a number of unusual "shots" of the western mountain region, the travel-picture shows the interior of the cabin plane, the serving of lunches aboard the ship, the continuous contact the pilot has with the various landing fields by means of the radio telephone, and the method of piloting the ship when visibility is impossible.

The children at 2:30 will hear the story of "Rip Van Winkle," the narrative by Washington Irving which will be told to them by Miss Marjory Shanafelt, in charge of the museum programs. They will also see two films, "Beavers at Home," and "Porto Rico."
