

Indoor Tracksters Trounce Kansas State 69-35

LAMBERTUS BETTERS WORLD RECORDS IN DASH AND HURDLES

Husker Cinder Stars Carry Off Most of Individual Glory.

Two world records were bettered and five stadium marks passed into oblivion as the Nebraska tracksters conquered the Kansas Aggie cinder team 69-35 in an indoor dual meet at Memorial stadium yesterday afternoon.

Brilliant individual accomplishments were the order of the day and two-thirds of the first places were accredited to Coach Henry Schulte's artists.

As was anticipated, Heye Lambertus, provided the fans with the major thrills of the afternoon. Not satisfied with merely smashing stadium records in his specialties, the 60-yard dash and low hurdles over the same distance, the Husker trackster put on a sensational burst of speed that furnished him with the necessary stimulus enabling him to set an unofficial world record of 6.1 seconds in the dash and then after a forty minute interval returned to the track to equal the world mark of 6.4 seconds over the low sticks.

Lambertus' achievements were without question the standouts of the day, but the 24 foot 3 1-2 inch leap in the broad jump by Don Gray represented another record breaking performance. The former existing mark of 23 feet was eclipsed no less than three times by the Scarlet ace, who had already placed in the high jump.

Altho Nebraska athletes were monopolizing most of the individual glory, two Kaggie cindermen, Landon and Schmutz, determined not to be outdone and by virtue of triumphs in the half mile and 60-yard high hurdles respectively left their names to be written into the record books. Landon was particularly impressive, copping the mile run as well, thus gaining a tie with Lambertus for high point honors with ten counters.

After varsity pole vaulters had called it a day with Roby of Nebraska the winner at 12 feet 2 inches, Carl Nichols, Husker freshman pole vault sensation, demonstrated his ability in that event, when he vaulted nearly a foot higher in a special exhibition. Nichols, who improves vastly with the passing of each week, slipped over the bar at 13 feet 1-4 inch. His feat eclipsed the stadium in-

CORNHUSKERS FALL BEFORE OKLAHOMANS BY 38 TO 27 COUNT

Huskers End Race in Fifth Place With Three Wins And Seven Losses.

In the final game of the season for both teams the Oklahoma cage five trimmed the Husker outfit by a count of 38 to 27 in a fast encounter on the Coliseum floor Saturday evening.

The win was the seventh for the Sooners in the Big Six season and they finished up in second position among the teams of the conference, losing only three tilts. Nebraska culminated its season's play in fifth position with three wins and seven losses.

The Oklahoma attack featured a fast break with Browning, Beck, Main and Bross dividing the scoring quite evenly among themselves, and counting most of the points on fast lay-in plays.

Coach McDermott's men started fast and in the first four minutes of play chalked up 10 points and held the Brownemen scoreless. However, the Nebraska quint came back fast and Mason and Henrion soon had the score at 10 to 9.

At the end of twelve minutes of play the count favored the home team for the first, last and only time, 13 to 12. Beck tallied three times, Bross once and Main once before the half was over and the score at the intermission stood 22 to 13, Oklahoma.

Back on the floor in the second half things looked just as bleak for the Scarlet and 10 more points came the winners' way and the score stood 32 to 13. At this point Nebraska injected a little competition into the fray, Boswell accounting for seven points, Lunney six and Hokuf one. Percy Main and Bud Browning each scored three points for the visitors before the final whistle to account for the 38 to 27 score.

Henrion was the best of the Nebraska players on the floor, his shooting and ball handling in the first half keeping the Huskers in the ball game, while Mason and Hokuf also performed nicely. The four men who divided the burden of the Sooner attack, Browning, Beck, Main and Bross, all played good games both on the defense and offense, Nebraska having a hard time piercing the defense for most of the evening.

CONFERENCE CATCHES BY BURT MARVIN.

The track team certainly has the goods. When it turned back the Kansas State squad 69 to 35 Saturday afternoon at the indoor track the spectators were convinced of that fact. It is a well-balanced outfit also, good competitors being had in almost every event.

Heye Lambertus still stands as the outstanding performer for the Husker cause, and during the afternoon the junior from Gothenburg lowered one world's mark and tied another. That reminds one of the days of Roland Locke, when he was setting up records back in 1925-'26. Lambertus sprinted over the 60 yard dash course in 6.1 which ties the Big Six mark of Meier of Iowa State and the world's record. He had some tough luck and fell about halfway through the 60 yard high hurdle race, and then came back in the lows to tie the world's record of 6.4 seconds. The former indoor stadium records were 6.3 and 6.8 seconds respectively. He should set up new conference records in these events next Saturday in the Big Six meet at Columbia, Missouri, for the league mark in the dash is 6.1 and the low hurdle record is 7 flat.

Don Gray is another man who appears to be a sure record-breaker. In his specialty, the broad jump, he leaped 24 feet 3 1-2 inches to win the event against the Wildcats. The Big Six indoor record is held by Mell of Oklahoma at 23 feet 10 3-8 inches so it seems doomed to fall. Gray also chalked up another leap of 24 even. This second year man holds the Big Six outdoor broad jump record at 24 feet 2 1-2 inches. He also performs in the high jump in which event he cleared the bar at 5 feet 11 to tie for second place with Ray Toman, Nebraska sophomore trackster, who has regularly been clearing 6 feet 1 inch, but failed to come thru at that height yesterday.

A new unofficial indoor record for the stadium track was also set up in the pole vault by Carl Nichols of Ogallala who soared through the ozone and left the bar untouched as it rested at 13 feet 1-4 inch. Dean of Nebraska watched his old mark of 12 feet 10 7-8 go down. Nichols is a freshman, and two years ago established a new Nebraska high school record of 12 feet 5 3-8. I'm sure these fractions are right, but today I had to prove it about the broad jump record which I inserted in this column the other day.

By defeating the Kansas State team 69 to 35 Coach Schulte's men made it two victories for the indoor season for two weeks ago they journeyed to Minnesota and trounced the Gophers 68 to 36, a sizeable margin. Kansas State had previously trounced Missouri 64 1-2 to 28 1-2.
