Dr. Lyman has examined more colleges for this association than any other man. Including three that he has examined twice, and the three colleges assigned to him this year, the total number is fifteen.

An entire section received a mark of "incomplete" at the University of Syracuse, because five men walked out of a final examination after declaring their refusal to compete against the cribbing that had taken place.

COUNCIL COMMITTEE PLANS INVESTIGATION

Group Will Probe Activities That Need Financial Support.

Detailed plans for investigation of Nebraska publications and other student activities requiring financial support, looking to the adoption of a blanket tax for their support will begin this week, Howard G. Allaway, chairman, announced following a meeting of the Student council activities tax committee Friday afternoon.

Members of the committee have been assigned for this work as follows: Martha Hershey to the Daily Nebraskan, Jane Axtell to University Players, Jack Erickson to the athletic department, Marlo Smith to the Cornhusker and Anne Bunting to the Awgwan. John Gepson will compile a complete report on the activity tax plans used by other schools from information gathered in a recent questionnaire sent out by the committee.

Members of the committee will interview business managers of the organizations to which they have been assigned, secure data on present sales, price and income and estimates on reductions which would be possible under the blanket tax plan.

On the basis of these findings, a proposed blanket tax plan for Nebraska will be drawn up and submitted to the student body at the annual spring election in May. If given a favorable vote there, the Student council will give the plan to the university administration and board of regents with a recommendation for its adoption.

TEACHING METHOD PROVES EFFECTIVE IN SOUTH AFRICA

Iowa Graduate Teaches Natives How to Grow Better Crops.

AMES, Iowa.—"Demonstration" method of teaching, popularized by extension services and vocational agriculture teachers in the United States, are proving effective in South Africa.

In a letter to Louis E. Orcutt, New York, former student at Iowa State college in 1909, George A. Roberts, who graduated in '06, now a teacher and missionary in South Rhodesia, South Africa, tells how he is teaching natives to grow better crops of wheat. Mr. Orcutt sent a letter to H. E. Pride, alumni secretary of Iowa State.

In one case an old man, Kajato, came to Mr. Roberts saying he was hungry and wanted to grow some wheat. Such a request from the older natives is unusual. Mr. Roberts and his class helped Kajato plow a small field. On one side manure was applied while the other was left untreated. The manure side yielded several times as much wheat as the other.

"The old man and his wife now have enough food for the season," Mr. Roberts said, "and he has preached a lot of good sermons about that wheat field."

Juniors or seniors who have had their pictures taken for either the fraternity or sorority section may have the same picture placed in the junior-senior sections, he explained for the additional payment of $2.25. The regular price for these pictures is $3.50.

According to the printing contract, which was let last week, the cuts and panels for the junior and senior sections must be in the hands of the printer by the first week in April, which makes it absolutely necessary that we close these sections the 25th, the editor stated.
