SOWLES AND BAILEY NAMED AS LEADS IN KOSMET KLUB SHOW

Selection of Other Parts Will Be Made Within Short Time.

Art Bailey, Lincoln, and Duncan Sowles, Kearney, will play opposite each other as the principal characters in "The Bar-O Ranch," Kosmet Klub's annual spring musical production, Herb Yenne, author and casting director of the show, announced yesterday afternoon.

Bailey, a member of Alpha Sigma Phi and sophomore in the college of arts and sciences, will impersonate Lynn McAllister, female lead, the owner of the dude ranch. Sowles, a member of Sigma Chi and sophomore in the college of business administration, will play the male lead, Spud Warren, the foreman of the ranch.

Both principals in the cast have had considerable previous experience in productions and activities of the dramatics department. They were picked from a field of several aspirants for leading parts in the production.

Regular rehearsals with character parts in the show are being held five days a week, Yenne said. Definite selection and announcement of the remaining character parts in the show will be made within a short time, he added.

A full rehearsal for all principals, character parts, and members of both choruses has been called for 2:15 this afternoon in room 203 of the Temple, Jack Thompson, co-director, stated yesterday.

BARBS PLAN TO HOLD LAST PARTY APRIL 1

Howie Christensen and His Orchestra Will Play At Event.

The varsity party, final party of the year sponsored by the baro council, will be held Saturday, April 1, in the Student Activities building at the agricultural college. Howie Christensen and his orchestra have been signed to furnish the music.

The price will be forty cents for men and twenty cents for women. Red and white streamers suspended from the ceiling will make up the decorations.

Chaperones for the affair have not been selected as yet but will be announced next week. Burt Marvin, chairman of the orchestra committee, assisted by Jens Peterson obtained the orchestra. Hughina Legge and Marjorie Filley will select the chaperones, and Vernon Filley is in charge of decorations.

LAST PLAY OF YEAR WILL OPEN APRIL 4

Miriam Kissinger, Zolley Lerner Have Leads in 'Romeo and Juliet.'

With Zolley Lerner and Miriam Kissinger in the leading roles, "Romeo and Juliet," the last University Players production of the year, will open at the Temple theater for a week's run, April 4 to 11, according to an announcement released yesterday by Miss H. Alice Howell, director of the play.

The famous Shakesperian romantic tragedy is being brought to university theater goers by popular request of students and faculty members of the university.

Rehearsals have been held regularly and from all indications should be the best performance of the Players this year, according to Miss Howell. A special matinee program is to be given school children Saturday, April 8, as well as a special performance at the Joslyn Memorial, April 22.

The leads for the new production, which is the sixth to be given by the Players this year, besides Zolley Lerner and Miriam Kissinger as Romeo and Juliet, include Francis Brandt, who will portray the part of Friar Lawrence, and Clara Christensen as the Nurse. Others who have leading roles in the forthcoming production will be Armand Hunter as Benvolio, Lee Young as Paris, Capulet as played by Edwin Quinn, Paul Miller as Peter. All the leads in the show

DERBY IS AWARDED TO RAY MACKLAND BY LAW STUDENTS

Freshman Claims That Dead Slave Can Be Replevined.

In a sweeping statement that set aside equity principles established through centuries of court opinion, Ray Mackland, freshman in the college of law, declared that a dead slave could be replevined, thereby earning the right to wear for one week the famous Brown Derby, awarded each week to the law student pulling the best "boner" in class.

Professor Orfield's equity class, in which Mackland's opinion was "handed down," felt that Orfield's question, "Can a dead slave be replevined?" ran Mackland's answer a close second, if not a tie.

After some discussion, in which it was pointed out that Mr. Orfield already possessed a black derby, Mackland was declared the winner and was awarded the Brown Derby with all due ceremony. It was the opinion of the class that such questions should be reserved for examinations.

Note: Legal glossary.—Replevin, Recovery of goods or chattels wrongfully taken or detained.

RECEIVES AN APPOINTMENT

Louise Pound to Be Member Of Literary Journal's Advisory Board.

Dr. Louise Pound, department of English, has recently been notified of her reappointment as a member of the advisory board of American Literature, the official journal of the American literature group of the Modern Language association.

Dr. Pound, who has been a member of the board for five years, retains a department editorship of American Speech, a bimonthly edited by her for seven years. She turned over its publication early this year, however, to Columbia university.

HOUSE APPROVES STUDENT SPIRIT

Senator Charles Green Admits Receiving Information And Suggestions From Former Instructor On University Staff.

The resolution protesting against the drastic cuts proposed by the special legislative committee adopted by the students at a mass meeting Thursday night, was submitted to the house of representatives late Friday, where it was approved and made a matter of record.

Urged by Cone of Douglas, and Vance of Seward, house members voted to extend the students a vote of thanks for their position, and "the fine spirit which they have displayed." The motion to adopt the resolution, failed however.

Earlier in the day, Senator Charles D. Green, member of the special legislative committee which recommended drastic salary cuts, admitted that in preparing the list he had received information and suggestions from Anton Jensen, a former instructor who was discharged from the university staff several years ago and who has been a persistent critic of its administration since then.

Green stated that Jensen had been present at the meetings and had also volunteered some data and advice regarding the salary list. "We were not influenced by the material which Jensen furnished, however," the senator stated. "We disregarded it and made the report from our own schedules. I compiled the salary list with the

DRAMATIC SOCIETY SCHEDULES TRYOUTS

Club Will Give Tests on Wednesday and Thursday Nights at Temple.

Wednesday and Thursday nights of this week the Dramatic club has scheduled tryouts for aspirants to membership in the organization. The tryouts will be held in room 306 at the Temple, Lee Young, president of the organization, said yesterday.

Candidates must file their applications at the Cornhusker office in the basement of U Hall Tuesday, Wednesday or Thursday afternoons. Blanks will be on hand to be filled in by those who desire to try out.

The tryout committee appointed from the membership of the club will judge the candidates upon poise, delivery, stage appearance and their general ability in presentation. Tryouts will consist of the presentation of a short skit or reading to be memorized by each candidate. It may be from three to five minutes long.

Those who try out may choose their own readings. They will be held each evening at 7:15. Young urged that freshmen and sophomores especially take advantage of this opportunity to gain membership into the club.

NEBRASKA DEBATERS JUDGE TOURNAMENT

Aurora High School Wins Tourney Staged in York.

Three members of the university debating team were the judges for the District 8 high school debating tournament held at York Friday, March 24. Charles W. Steadman, H. Vincent Broady, and Albert W. Seck were the judges for all teams competing.

Osceola, Ulysses, and Aurora, who were the contestants, each had two teams and debated on the question "Resolved, that at least one-half of all state and local taxes should be derived from other than tangible property." Single judges were used for each debate as three were in progress at one time.

Aurora was the winner of the tournament and will come to the state tourney to be held at the university April 13 to 15 to meet the winners of other district tournaments.

ORFIELD AND DOYLE WIN SCHOLARSHIPS

Assistant Law Professor And Student Receive Brandies Awards.

Lester B. Orfield, assistant professor of law, and James A. Doyle, law college student, are among twenty-five recipients of leading fellowships and scholarships granted for the next school year by Harvard university, according to an announcement received Friday from Harvard.

The Brandeis fellowship awarded on the basis of scholarship and teaching experience was granted Orfield and permits study in the Harvard graduate law school and provides for special research work. The fellowship was established in 1926 in honor of the seventieth birth of Justice Brandeis of the United States supreme court.

Doyle was awarded the Pugsley scholarship granted for scholastic standing and faculty recommendations which permits a year's study in the graduate college. "I am not for certain whether I will be able to take advantage of the award," Doyle states, "but I certainly hope to. It is my intention to study towards a J. S. D. degree."

If arrangements can be made to secure a leave of absence from the university faculty, Orfield stated that he intends to study at Harvard next year giving particular attention to the economic causes of crime. He intends to publish his findings.

Orfield received his A. B. and L. L. B. degrees from the University of Minnesota, a master of arts degree from Duke university, and his J. S. degree from Michigan. Doyle will receive his L. L. B. degree from the law college in June. His Ph. B. degree was received from Creighton university.
