ALCOHOL IN GAS NOT NOTICEABLE. STATES BRACKETT

Data From Various Tests Are Summarized by Professor.

It is doubtful if the automobile user would notice any difference in power of fuel consumption when using a mixture of low grade gasoline with alcohol, Prof. E. E. Brackett of the Nebraska agricultural college concludes after a recently completed test.

The agricultural engineering de-partment head based his statement on a summarization of data from tests made on a stock, six cylinder gasoline engine belted to the tractor testing equipment at the college.

Since national legislation re-garding the use of corn alcohol with gasoline is pending, the Nebraska test has caused widespread interest. Backers of the proposed plan say forced use of 10 percent alcohol would reduce the grain surplus and cause an increase in the price of corn.

In the test, a mixture of 90 percent low grade, "competition" gas-oline and 10 percent by volume of absolute (water free) ethyl alcohol was compared with the gasoline alone. The gasoline engine was mounted in a tractor and belted on a loading machine exactly the same as when it was given the Nebraska tractor test a few months ago. The engine had a compression ration comparable to that of most 1931 model automobiles.

The alcohol used cost $2.50 per gallon and contained absolutely no water, Ordinary alcohol, containing even 1 percent water, would by the American Friends Service not mix with the gasoline, Brack-committee, which is sponsoring ett said.

CONCLAVE ON JUNE 19

Issues of Current World Situation Will Be Dealt With.

Among the many other attractions which are being arranged in the shadow of the Century of Progress exposition will be the second annual Midwest Institute of International Relations to be held at Northwestern university, Evanston, Ill., beginning Monday afternoon June 19 and closing Friday evening June 30.

The program will deal with the underlying issues of our current world situation as they affect world peace, with special emphasis on what individuals and organization can do for promoting world stability.

George H. Blakeslee, Clark university, Mass., will explain the crisis in the Orients. Blakeslee visited Manchuria, China and Japan as one of the experts with the famous Lytten commission of inquiry and was sent by the League of Nations to study "on the spot" and report concerning the Manchurian affairs.

Among other prominent speak-ers that will be present to appear on the program will be J. Emlyn Williams, Berlin correspondent of the Christian Science Monitor, who comes directly from Germany to the institute to talk on what is behind the headlines in Central Europe, Bernard Fay, of the College de Prance, Paris, author of the brilliant biographies of Washington and Franklin, who will lecture on "Nationalism and the Human Mind in 1935."

Harry D. Gideonse of the University of Chicago, Andrew W. Cordier, professor of history, Man-chester college, Ind., will address on the subjects of politics and our economic foreign policy. One of the evening lectures will feature Jane Addams, founder of Hull House, and the "First Citizen of America," who was awarded the Nobel Peace prize in 1931.

This institute is being arranged also similar institutes at Welles-

TAX PLAN WOULD LOWER COST 40%

The three-cent fee for support of the Student council was included in the plan by the committee, Allaway explained, to make the council financially independent in carrying out the projects, money for which it is now dependent on an annual assessment against other student balances on deposit with the student activities office. It would yield about $125 under the present university enrollment.

Plan Based on Enrollment.

The plan which is based on a total enrollment and sale of between 4,000 and 4,500, would in each case yield a larger total revenue than under the present individual sale and yet reduce the price to each student by about 40 percent.

This reduction to students who now patronize these activities and fact that they would be brought into the "pocketbook range" of students who now want to buy but cannot afford to, in the opinion of the council committee, more than offsets the opposition which may be raised against the plan by students not interested in activities.
