HUSKER TRACKSTERS WILL MEET KAGGIES AND K. U. SATURDAY

Minnesota and Conference Meets Are Left on Schedule.

On the Husker track and field team's schedule for this week end is a triangular meet with Kansas and Kansas State at Manhattan, Kansas, this Saturday afternoon. This will be the first outdoor track meet listing regular events in which the Schultemen have competed this season.

Already having competed in the Drake and Kansas relays, and with the Minnesota duel affair and the Big Six championships yet to be held, the Huskers will have had five afternoons of competition this spring.

The Kansas university team is expected to have an equally as good chance to run off with first honors in Saturday's meet as Coach Schulte's outfit, although the scarlet outpointed the Jays in the indoor Big Six meet at Columbia, Missouri on March 11. Nebraska tied with Oklahoma 33 to 33 for the title, and close behind came Kansas with 29 1-2 points. However, the Kansas Aggies have a fairly strong aggregation this spring and will probably furnish stronger competition than they usually have in past seasons. Nebraska doubled the score on the Manhattan team in an indoor dual meet late in February.

In the Drake relays Nebraska placed in four events. The Saturday meet saw Don Gray grabbing second in the broad jump, Glenn Skewes taking fourth in the discus, the 880 yard relay team finishing second, and the distance medley foursome coming in third. Gray leaped out a distance of 23 feet 9 3-4 inches, while the winner of the event jumped 24 feet 4 in. Brooks of Chicago took first in defending his title he won last spring when he set up a record of 24 feet 8 3-8 inches. A week before at Kansas the Husker broad jumper won the same event with a jump of 24 feet 4 1-2 inches.

Skewes is a sophomore, and the meet at Des Moines was his first outdoor competition in Husker togs. He also is a pole vaulter. With the discus Saturday he attained a distance of 133.9 feet, while the winner tossed the platter 144 feet.

CONFERENCE CATCHES

BY BURT MARVIN.

Now that the track team is to compete in a meet with the regular events on the program fans will get a chance to see Heye Lambertus run his specialty, the 220 yard low hurdles. The first of the usual competition is the triangular affair with Kansas and Kansas State at Manhattan this Saturday afternoon. In the Drake and Kansas relays the Husker hurdler hasn't had much luck, the 220 yard lows not being on the list of events. He took third place in the 100 yard dash at Kansas two weeks ago, but failed to place at Drake last Saturday. He's doped to turn in a 23 second performance this spring, which is about world record time. Last year, as a sophomore, he turned in the time of about 23.6 in winning the conference championship.

Coach Schulte has revealed that he at one time was a master at the art of spinning a top. The Nebraska track mentor said that at one time he could flop the thing on a saucer several feet away, and make the top spin without breaking the saucer. My first problem would be to get it anywhere near the china. Every once in a while one finds the boys over in the dressing room playing around with tops or what-not, or playfully tossing benches at one another.

Now that the varsity track team has cleared out of the indoor track underneath the stadium, about half of the kids in town have appropriated the space for diversion. It doesn't cause Coach Schulte any worry; in fact he looks the boys over every once in a while to see if there are any potential champs in the group. He has one high-jumper, who is 12 years of age, practicing quite regularly. The little fellow has potentialities according to Coach Schulte, and the "Indian" is going to keep tab on him.

Glenn Skewes is starting out in track by doing right by himself. He took fourth place in the discus at Drake last Saturday in the first outdoor meet in which he has competed for Nebraska. He achieved the distance of 133.94 feet, about 10 feet behind the winner. The Imperial sophomore also pole-vaults and plays at a backfield post in football. He is one of the most promising prospects for a backfield position among the candidates for next fall's eleven. He performed on the Nubbins last season. Last fall during the football season he had somewhat of a reputation for disliking work of any sort, but he seems to have turned over a new leaf, for he has been out every night picking the flaws out of his discus-tossing and pole-vaulting forms.

STINER IS APPOINTED OREGON STATE COACH

Former Nebraska Football Star Receives One Year Contract.

Alonzo "Lonnie" Stiner, former Husker football star, has been appointed as head football coach at Oregon State College. The appointment was confirmed by the state board of high education at a meeting in Portland, Oregon, Saturday.

Stiner, whose home is in Hastings, came to Nebraska in 1925. He was the captain of the Cornhusker football squad for the year 1926-27. He was a member of Sigma Nu fraternity while he attended school here. Since leaving Nebraska he has been assistant football coach at Oregon. The appointment is for one year starting April 4, 1933.

STUDENTS ATTEND HOSPITALITY WEEK

Four Majors in Home Ec Department Go to Manhattan.

Four Home Ec majors from the Nebraska campus attended Hospitality week, at Manhattan, Kas., sponsored by the Home Ec club of the Kansas Aggies, on April 27, 28 and 29. The N. U. delegates were Valentine Klotz and Lorraine Brake, juniors, and Florence Buxman, and May Svaboda, sophomores.

The meet was attended by all high schools and colleges with Home Ec clubs. From 400 to 500 high school girls visited to exhibits on designs, clothing and other home ec. units, during the three days. Five contests, in clothing, design, foods, child care, and household economics were held. The high school students were quizzed on their ability in the five subjects and prizes were awarded winners.

All deck tennis matches will be played on the courts back of social science at 5 o'clock. Contestants must wear low heeled shoes.

WITTE IS HEAD OF WYOMING ATHLETICS

Former Nebraskan Declines Offer of Coaching Position.

Willard "Dutch" Witte, former Nebraskan athlete, has been appointed head of the Department of Athletics at Wyoming University for the year starting next September when school opens. Witte declined the athletic board's offer which would also have made him head football coach.

Witte was a prominent football and basketball player on the Husker teams in the three years 1928 to 1931. He performed at quarterback on the gridiron team and on the cage five played at forward. In both of these sports he was outstanding in the conference, and was one of the leading scorers in basketball among the league teams.

For the past two years the former Nebraska athlete has been head basketball coach at the Wyoming school, and has turned out two of the finest teams in the nation.

A successor to John "Choppy" Rhodes, another former Husker athlete, who has been coaching football at Wyoming, is yet to be selected. Rhodes resigned at the end of the 1932 season last December.

The ROMANS

had a phrase for it

"CAVEAT EMPTOR," meaning "Let the buyer beware." This wasn't used as a bit of balm to ease the ancient conscience; nor, yet was it placarded in the booths and stalls of the market-place. It was a piece of every-day knowledge, born of dear-bought experience.

A shopkeeper knew little about the source of his merchandise. This tunic he bought from a trader, who said it came from Byzantium. So he sold it as the latest Byzantian style. The trader told him the dye was pure Tyrian—it wouldn't fade. So he sold it as Tyrian dyed. But the buyer knew the responsibility was his own. If he guessed wrongly, or his judgment was poor, it was his hard luck.

Today fortunately, there are safer guides than the blanket-warning to "let your eyes be your market."

These guides are the newspaper advertisements. In this newspaper, they are a daily catalog of the best values in town—signed by responsible firms. If the goods are not all that is claimed for them, their sponsors would need to "beware." For no business can thrive on a one-time sale, or on dissatisfied customers.

A signed advertisement is, in a way, like a promissory note. The advertiser has made a statement, and affixed his signature as a sign of good faith.

So, read the advertisements before you go down town. Make this a daily habit, and see how much you save—in time, in temper, in money, in shoe leather
