SPECIAL LECTURERS AND TEACHERS WILL SUPPLEMENT STAFF

Thirteen Nationally Known Educators Are Guest Instructors.

Supplementing the regular university teaching staff for the summer session are thirteen men and women of national prominence in the educational field who have been invited to offer courses in specialized field or to supplement the regular work by special lectures.

Dr. Frederick M. Hunter, Chancellor of the University of Denver one of the guest lecturers, is an alumnus of the University. He is former superintendent of the Lincoln schools and of Oakland, Calif. He is a former president of the National Educational association and for a number of years has been instructor in the summer sessions of Columbia and the University of California.

Dr. Hunter, who was a Cornhusker football player while in school here, visited Lincoln twice this year. Last fall he attended the installation of Alpha Theta Chi, local fraternity of which he was a member, into Chi Phi national fraternity. This spring he addressed the annual Honors convocation here.

Other guest instructors and lecturers for the summer are:

Frank J. Bruno, chairman of the department of social work at Washington university, St. Louis, who is president of the National Conference of Social Work. He is

Tennis, Dancing and Playground Offered

Classes in tennis, folk dancing and playground will be offered during the summer session by the department of women's physical education.

Tennis classes will be held at 7, 8 and 9 o'clock during the short session only. Folk dancing at 11 o'clock and playground at 10 o'clock will be held throughout the nine weeks' session.

Chancellor Points Advantages Offered In Summer Session

Planned to meet the constantly changing requirements in the field of education, the University of Nebraska summer session for which registration started today affords an excellent opportunity for educational advancement.

Supplementing our regular faculty, we have added about twenty men and women of equal caliber who will give students the benefit of their experience. All the regular facilities of our libraries, laboratories, and classroom buildings are at the disposal of our summer students.

I hope that the several thousand young men and young women who have come to the University of Nebraska for this summer session will take advantage of these facilities and will leave the campus at the end of the session better qualified to meet their several problems.

E. A. BURNETT,
Chancellor.

BULLETIN DESCRIBES EXTENSION DIVISION

Correspondence Course Study Open in 25 Departments.

The university print shop has just completed the printing of 5,000 copies of the new 1933 correspondence study bulletin, published by the university extension division. The new bulletin lists 142 college courses in twenty-five different departments of study which are available for correspondence instruction.

The bulletin points out that since this type of instruction has been offered by the University of Nebraska, 6,815 students have completed courses carrying 32,086 credit hours. A total of 2,381 persons were enrolled with the extension division during the year 1932-33. Copies of the bulletin may be had without charge by calling at the extension division on the second floor of Former Museum building.

The extension division is co-operating with the summer school session by offering work to complete courses carried in the short session for an additional hour credit.

Moritz Greets Students; Urges Reading Nebraskan Announcements

Greetings to Summer Session Students:

The university extends to you a most cordial welcome with the assurance that every effort will be made to make your stay during the summer session both pleasant and profitable. It is most commendable that during this period of reconstruction your faith in the need for educational growth for professional advancement has not been impaired.

Our responsibility to re-establish public faith in an educational philosophy which will meet the needs of our present changing social order and will exert a positive influence upon those fundamental principles essential to good government, challenges our best efforts and attention. Let us accept this challenge with courage and a firm belief that both our social and economic problems can be solved only by the preservation of our system of public education.

As part of our program for the summer session, the Nebraskan will be published twice weekly as the newspaper and official bulletin of the university. All official announcements of importance to the student body will be printed in The Summer Nebraskan. It will serve not only as a news conveyer but also as a general university bulletin. Students will be held responsible for announcements appearing therein.

R. D. MORITZ,
Director of Summer Session.

2,500 STUDENTS ARE EXPECTED TO ENROLL IN SUMMER SESSION

Dual Long-Short Term Plan Continued; Classes Start Monday.

Registration beginning at 8 o'clock this morning in the coliseum opens the thirty-ninth annual summer session of the University of Nebraska which is expected to draw some 2,500 students from Nebraska and nearby states for the dual six and nine week periods. Registration continues until noon Saturday and classes begin at 7 o'clock Monday morning.

R. D. Moritz, director of the summer session, declined Thursday to make an advance estimate of the effect of the depression on enrollment this summer, but pointed out that the "pinch" operates in two directions in regard to summer school attendance. While many teachers have taken salary cuts and some are out of work, the tendency might be to reduce enrollment. On the other hand, he explained, further training increases the teacher's chance in the competitions for positions and this may bring some back to school.

Teaching staff of the summer session is composed of 150 from the regular staff of the university and thirteen guests teachers who will offer courses in specialized fields or supplement regular work by special lectures.

Following the plan used during the past two summers, the term will combine both short and long sessions, the first ending July 21 and the second August 4. Courses in forty-three departments will be offered during the long session and in thirty departments during the short session. Students may take work in both sessions, completing the work in certain six-week classes by extension for an additional hour of credit.

Greatest stress during the summer is being placed on courses in education, since a large part of the student body will be teachers from out in the field returning for both graduate and undergraduate work. A nine-weeks summer session of teachers college high school, running concurrently with the long session of university work, will provide practice teaching opportunity.

POOL TO BE POPULAR SUMMER RECREATION

Classes for Credit in Swimming Will Be Limited.

Use of one of the largest indoor swimming pools in the country will constitute one of the most popular forms of recreation during summer school session if interest in the tank this summer holds up to that of last summer when swimming classes drew the largest enrollment in the school.

Regular swimming classes for credit will be held daily for both men and women and will be limited according to Director R. D. Moritz. Men's swimming classes will be held at 11 o'clock daily with women's classes at 8, 9, 10, 2 and 3. The 2 o'clock class, for beginning women, will be held only during the short session. Women's classes are divided beginning and intermediate.

Recreational swimming hours are 12 to 2 and 4 to 6 daily.

Admittance to the pool requires swimming permits which will be issued after examination by the student health service in Pharmacy hall, second floor.

FOUR OFFICERS LEAVE CITY

Military Instructors Are Sent to Conservation Corps in West.

Four officers of instruction in the University R. O. T. C. recently left Lincoln for assignment to the Civil Conservation Corps, President Roosevelt's new reforestation organization.

Majors Charles E. Speer and C. A. Bishop and Captain G. W. Spoerry left Lincoln May 31 for Fort Crook where they were given their C. C. C. assignments, the latter two going to Eugene, Ore., Wednesday this week and Major Speer proceeding to Sacramento, Calif. Captain John W. Crissy, the other officer leaving the university, left Lincoln May 27 for Fort Lincoln, N. D., and expected to be sent on to California.

Women's Residence Hall Is Open for Summer Students

Carrie Belle Raymond hall, Nebraska's new residence for women which opened last fall, will be used during the summer session as a residence for women students. Rooms and meals are available. The modern, fire-proof hall provides accommodations for 170 women with reception rooms, lounges, dining room and ballroom. Built during the summer of 1932 the hall is named after the late Mrs. Carrie Belle Raymond, long teacher in music and chorus director in the university. The building is located on "sorority row" on the east side of Sixteenth street north of R.
