UNOFFICIAL COUNT SHOWS 250 MEN FILE PREFERENCE

Check Reveals Decided Drop In Number Pledging This Semester.

RUSHEES DECIDE TO WAIT

Survey Indicates Greeks Have Reduced House Bills and Dues.

Approximately 250 rushees filed their choice of fraternities and attended the preferential dinners held at their respective houses Wednesday evening, according to an unofficial check made Thursday. The Interfraternity Council office announced that the official list of pledges for all fraternities would not be made public until Sunday morning.

A decided decrease in the number of men pledging this year as compared with last year was noted, and indications are that fraternities will with few exceptions, feel the effects of the depression more seriously than hitherto.

Many Do Not Pledge.

A not common occurrence was the last minute decision of many rushees to refrain from filing their choice, and instead to wait the necessary month as specified by the rules before pledging. As a result of the majority of fraternities having pledged but ten men or under, all prospects point to an intensive and extensive campaign in all houses to catch rushees who are still "hanging fire" and to locate and pledge men who have not yet been rushed.

An unofficial survey of many houses showed that fraternities have in general, reduced their house accounts and dues to meet the rushees' problem of cramped finances. Despite this attraction, it (Continued on Page 3.)

CAFE OWNERS ADOPT STUDENT WAGE SCALE

Money or Food Optional At Restaurants for Part-Time Work.

One hour's labor for each meal and twenty-six cents per hour, over the twenty-one hours per week was the standard scale for student help as set by the newly organized Lincoln Restaurant Operators association Wednesday.

Previously restaurants under the NRA banner had sought national interpretation of the ruling concerning wages to be paid student help, and appealed to L. H. Peebles, liaison officer for the NRA at St. Paul. Peebles interpreted the law in a letter to Dean T. J. Thompson, as optional whether owners pay help cash or food.

Peebles' full interpretation stated that students employed by restaurants and cafes under the NRA would either receive the minimum hourly rate for part-time employees and buy their own food, or they will receive the full hourly rate as part-time workers and have twenty-five cents deducted for each meal.

The question of the regulation of student help had been a perplexing problem to university officials. Since no action had been taken as to regulation of students by Lincoln operators of restaurants, the university had asked the national officers for a specific ruling on the issue.

Ramsay, Yenne to Secure Movies of Welfare Needs

Ray Ramsay, secretary of the alumni association, and Herb Yenne, instructor in the dramatics department, have been appointed to a committee in charge of securing movies of the actual needs for welfare work in the annual community chest campaign this fall according to word received yesterday. Ramsay will use his own camera to take pictures of relief activities for the next few days.

Age-Old Forms Interest Geologists Investigating State's Water Supply

Deep well irrigation projects, sand and gravel deposits, and Dutch Cleanser in the raw are all a part of the day's work to a geologist, according to Mr. A. L. Lugin, assistant professor of geology, who spent most of the summer in outlying parts of the state doing field work. Mr. Lugin's party spent their fifth season of work completing data of the United States Geological Survey, for the publication of a paper on water supply. In addition to the paper for the government, another paper compiled from research on ground water conditions will be published by the state.

Most of the time was spent in investigating Pleistocene formations. Pleistocene is only another name for the ice age, during which all deposits of any economic value to Nebraska were formed. All sand and gravel deposits are in this strata, in addition to most of the pure water. Volcanic ash, also formed during the ice age, and lying under most of central and eastern Nebraska, is the chief component of most scouring powders, particularly Dutch Cleanser. This strata is also rich in fossils.

These papers on geological findings, the prepared by the government, chiefly for professional geologists, are available to any of the general public who are interested.

WELCOME SERVICES TO BE GIVEN BY CHURCHES

Programs Being Arranged By the Student Religious Welfare Council.

GENERAL CITY WELCOME

Under the sponsorship of the religious welfare council, churches in Lincoln have made arrangements for special services for new and returning students this Sunday, according to an announcement released yesterday by Miss Adella Tombrink, secretary of the organization.

"In order that the university may more adequately meet the religious and spiritual need of the students the religious welfare council was instituted, and composed of seven faculty members," it was explained.

The council is appointed by the chancellor, the university pastors, Y. M. and Y. W. C. A. secretaries, and a student representative from each denomination. The present officers of the organization are: Dr. Dean R. Leland, president; Professor Lulu Runge, vice president, and Miss Adella Tombrink, secretary.

AG STUDENTS BOAST OF BOOK SWAP SHOP

Phi Upsilon Omicron Opens Exchange in Home Ec Building.

With the opening of the Phi Upsilon Omicron Book Exchange today, Ag College students may again boast of their own "Swap Shop."

Students wishing to sell books may leave them at the Home Ec parlors, first floor of the Home Economics building, between 9:00 and 5:00 o'clock any day in next week.

Phi Upsilon Omicron, sponsor of the new exchange, will charge a small commission for handling the books, according to Miss Florence Buxman, in charge of the exchange. Miss Buxman says that calls are already coming in for text books.

Military Science Instructor Finds Most Civilian Conservation Corps Lads Intelligent and Well-Behaved

Two college men, one from the state of Missouri and the other from Oklahoma, were members of the detail at the Oregon civilian conservation corps camp commanded by Major Carl Bishop, instructor in the military department, during the first part of the summer.

After the close of school, Major Bishop was sent to a C. C. C. camp in the Eugene district on the eastern border of Oregon. Captain S. W. Spoerry, also an instructor in the military department, was sent to the same district but was not in the same camp with Major Bishop.

"Most of the men in camp were willing workers," Major Bishop said. "I heard very few complaints of overwork from the men, and very few grumbled even when called upon to do emergency work in the middle of the night."

"Many of them were intelligent men and easy to handle, and on the average they were well behaved," Major Bishop continued. "A great number of them were only eighteen and nineteen years old with the average somewhere around twenty years of age."

The camp at which Bishop was located, named Camp Rigdon, was twenty-six miles from the nearest railroad and near the headwaters of the Willamette river. The camp was established in a small clearing thirteen miles from Crescent Pass in a federal forest reserve. Camp Rigdon was a semi-permanent camp. Major Bishop declared. The tents for the men had wooden floors, mess halls were constructed and a bath house and water system for the camp was in-

MURIEL MOFFITT HONORED

Home Ec Senior Will Attend Merrill-Palmer School In Detroit.

Miss Muriel Moffitt, Home Economics senior, left Friday morning for Detroit where she will attend school this semester at the Merrill-Palmer university. Annually one girl is selected by a special board in the home economics department to represent Nebraska at Detroit.

Miss Moffitt is a member of Phi Upsilon Omicron and Omicron Nu, home economics sororities, and of the 1934 senior Farmers Fair board. She will be back at Nebraska for the second semester.

ALL UNIVERSITY PARTY OPENS SOCIAL SEASON

First of Seven Such Affairs Scheduled for Coliseum Saturday Night.

CHAPERONES SELECTED

The first social function of the school year following the chancellor's reception which officially opens the social season, will be the Get-Acquainted All-University party which will get under way in the Coliseum at 8:30 o'clock Saturday evening. This is the first of seven parties of this kind scheduled for the school year.

The chaperone committee made up of Marjorie Filley and Margaret Medlar has announced that the chaperones for the dance will be Prof. and Mrs. H. H. Marvin, Prof. and Mrs. H. C. Filley and Prof. and Mrs. A. W. Medlar.

Two parties have been arranged for the month of September by the Barb Council which is in charge of the affairs, the first being on the sixteenth and the second the night of Saturday, the thirtieth. The third party of the fall season is that which will serve as a part of the campus Dad's Day celebration on Oct. 28. This night has been designated as a closed night by the student council, that is, the All-University party will be the only dance permitted on the campus that evening.

The fourth of the affairs is to be held the evening of Dec. 9, the night following the Military Ball. All of the University parties are informal affairs. Next is a dance during the evening of Feb. 17, the night following the Interfraternity Ball. This is the final All-University party of the year to be held in the Coliseum. On March 10 is the first dance scheduled for the Student Activities building on the Agricultural college campus. Last of the year's dances is the party which will be held at the Activities building on March 31.

The closed night party which has been arranged for the evening of Dad's Day, Saturday of the Oklahoma game, Oct. 28, is the first of the kind sponsored by the Barb Council. By Student Council ruling established last spring there are to be no parties other than the one in the Field House that evening. This is one of several closed parties scheduled to be held on the campus from time to time during the year. Other such affairs are the Homecoming party and the Military Ball. The aim in instituting the closed night is to establish on this campus varsity parties such as those run at neighboring state institutions.

With over half the year's program created last year by graduating seniors filled in addition to thirty-five members returning, the A Cappella choir, under the direction of John Rosborough has been reorganized for another school year.

The choir has been engaged to sing at the Westminster church again this year, according to Director Rosborough. Leading conductors of the middle west will again appear as guest conductors of the choir.

Rehearsals are held Monday afternoons, and Tuesday and Thursday evenings on the University campus.

Professor Witte Will Attend Kiwanis Meet

Prof. Parvin Witte, instructor in the school of music and director of the university glee club, has been selected as a delegate to the annual district convention of Kiwanis clubs, according to an announcement from the organization after a board meeting Thursday noon. Mr. Witte also part in a musical program at an Inter-club meeting in February last night.

TOTAL A BIT BELOW THAT OF LAST YEAR

Second Day of Registration for the Fall Semester Has More Students Signing Up Than Did the Corresponding Day Last Year.

TEN PERCENT OUT EXPECTED FIRST SEMESTER

Students May Start Changing Their Schedules Today According to Registrar's Announcement Made Thursday; Advisors Must Approve.

Second day registration for the fall semester, totaling one hundred and sixty-four students, surpassed second day registration of last year by one hundred and eight students, according to figures released yesterday afternoon by university officials.

Records for the first two days of fall registration, during which time the greater majority of new students register, show that fifty-six more students registered during that period this year than did last year. The total for the first two days in this year is 2,060, for last year 2,004.

Registration of students in the medical college and nursing school in Omaha will start this morning, officials announced. Registration for students entering the graduate college and for Lincoln teachers will continue thru the second day in October; it was also announced.

The total registration so far this year is 8,836 students, 1,776 having paid their fees before the first of September and 2,060 registering during the first two days. The total for the corresponding period last year was 4,019, 174 more than have registered so far this year. 2,066 paid fees by Sept. 1, and 2,004 registered the first two days.

On the basis of incomplete registration figures, there will be about a 10 percent decrease in the number of students in school for the first semester. Registration in the medical, nursing, and graduate colleges and late registrants will swell the present total, but they are not expected to bring the grand total up to last year's figures. Late registrants are expected, however, to continue coming in until the middle of November.

The present total will be increased about 1,000 students when the medical, nursing, and graduate enrollment is completed. Last year's figures show that for the first semester 566 graduates enrolled, and the registration in Omaha was 337 in the medical college and in 178 in the nursing school. These figures total 1,021, and the registration in these colleges is expected to remain approximately the same this year.

No students were registered for the first semester yesterday because the assignment committee did not meet to make assignments to classes.

No check has been made on the registration in the freshman, sophomore, junior, or senior classes or in the various colleges, but these figures will be prepared and published as soon as early registration is completed and accurate records taken, it was announced.

Changes in registration for classes will start today, the registrar's office declared yesterday afternoon. Drop and add cards had to be approved by the individual student's advisor and by the department chairmen before the change is completed.

No check has been made on the registration in the freshman, sophomore, junior, or senior classes or in the various colleges, but these figures will be prepared and published as soon as early registration is completed and accurate records taken, it was announced.

DURY ORDERS DEADLINE

September 30th Made Final Check-Out Date by Commandant.

Students in military cadet corps will have until Sept. 30 to check out uniforms according to an order of Colonel Dury, R. O. T. C. commandant. Members of the band will strap their uniforms on Sept. 30.

Each student enrolled is required to have a uniform which will be issued to him complete except for garrison belt and shoes on the payment of a ten dollar deposit. The deposit is returned after the close of the school year when the uniform is returned. Until Sept. 30 the bursar's representative, located in the basement of Nebraska hall, will receive the deposits and make the issue of the uniforms.
