COUNCIL WILL DECIDE FATE OF TAX PLAN

New Members Expected to Put Issues Before Regent Board.

WILL CONVENE TODAY

The student activity tax will take great strides toward becoming a reality at the Student Council meeting Wednesday afternoon at 5, according to John W. Gepson, Council president. The results of the poll this spring will be considered and will direct the number of activities included in the completed tax plans.

The tax committee to be appointed because of the vacancies left by last year's senior members will be selected this afternoon, and arrangements will be made to start immediately to prepare the tax for presentation before the Board of Regents at an early fall meeting.

"Members of this year's council will bend every effort to secure the approval of the Board of Regents for the proposed activity tax plan," declared John Gepson, "and I am quite confident that if the movement receives the unified support of the student body, there should be no question about the issue."

SCHOONER GOES TO PRESS IN OCTOBER

Size of Publication Will Be Cut to 60 Pages In This Issue.

The Prairie Schooner will go to press the last week in October alike in form to preceding editions with the exception that the size will be cut from the usual 80 page publication to one of perhaps 60, according to announcement today by Dr. L. C. Wimberly, member of the English faculty and sponsor of the edition.

The magazine is an outlet for literary efforts in the university and a medium of publication for the writing done in the middle-west. The Wordsworth chapter of Sigma Upsilon, literary fraternity, is aided by the university in printing the quarter annual magazine.

Student contributions are entered in competition with the most experienced of older writers of poetry and prose. However, definite plans for the edition are still tentative.

YEARBOOK CHIEFS CALL FOR STAFFS TO FILE THIS WEEK

Magee and Thiel Announce Sixty Positions Open on Campus Annual.

BOARD'S CHOICE IS FINAL

Officials Urge Interested Students Apply; Base Choice on Merit.

Sixty positions for staff members on the business and editorial sides of the Cornhusker are now open, according to announcements made Tuesday by Woodrow Magee and Bob Thiel, editor and business manager respectively, of the Cornhusker.

Thiel stated that twenty places were to be filled on the business staff while Magee listed a total of forty editorial staff positions to be filled. Both men urged that all students, men and women, interested in working in this major activity, secure application blanks immediately in the Cornhusker office, and to have their applications on file there before 4 o'clock, Friday, Sept. 22.

In calling for applicants for the various positions, both Thiel and Magee emphasized the fact that the publications board will supervise the appointment of all assistants, and that political pull or preference will have no bearing on the results.

Magee stated that the number of applications to date had been unusually low, and that many positions were as yet unapplied for. "The Cornhusker is a major activity and positions must be filled by students of merit," Magee said. "We have plenty of room for full-time workers, as well as those who can spend but part time."

ANNUAL FALL OPENING DISPLAY TO BE TONIGHT

Four Hour Show of Latest Styles and Fashions Is This Evening.

FIX ATTRACTIVE DISPLAY

This evening Lincoln merchants will stage their twelfth annual Fall Opening Display showing the latest styles and fashions in men's and women's clothes in one of the most elaborate events of its kind.

The Daily Nebraskan is cooperating with the event which will be of interest to the bulk of the students in publishing a review of the current trends in the fashions for the college "cakes" and coats.

The display marks the official presentation of what will be the new and smart things in fall wear according to Clarence Swanson who is the chairman of the committee in charge of arrangements. It is the intention of the merchants to make their displays as attractive as possible to insure the success of the year's opening.

4194 STUDENTS ENROLL FOR INITIAL SEMESTER

Medical School and Graduate College Not Included In the Total.

4362 NUMBER YEAR AGO

Four thousand, one hundred and ninety-four students have registered for work in the university for the first semester of the school year 1933-1934, according to official figures released yesterday afternoon. That figure includes registration through Monday evening.

The total so far does not include registration in the medical college in Omaha or in the graduate college, according to the registrar's office. Figures from the medical college will be published later, and registration in the graduate college will not be completed until Oct. 1.

Fewer Register This Year.

A check-up on the registration figures for the same period last fall revealed that the total registration at that time was 4,362 students, a difference of only 168 more students than have registered so far this year.

In the school of nursing at Omaha, 119 students have registered for work, according to the statement from the registrar's office, while the total registration at that school last year was 115 students. One reason for the unexpectedly low drop in the number of students registered for work in school so far this semester is the fact that an unusually large number of new students have enrolled. A great number have transferred to Nebraska from other schools and a large number of freshmen registered, officials stated.

RAY RAMSAY TO SPEAK AT FIRST 'Y' MEETING

Freshmen Invited to Attend Council's Discussion Wednesday.

The Freshman Council of the University Y. M. C. A. will hold its initial meeting of the year tonight at 7:15 in the "Y" rooms in the Temple building. The meeting will last one hour.

Ray Ramsay, alumni secretary of the organization, will preside as discussion leader, and will give a short talk on "Making Friends in the University." The meeting is open to all freshmen who are interested in "Y" work.

The University Y. M. C. A. cabinet will have charge of this meeting, but within a few weeks a freshman committee will be chosen to take charge of similar affairs.

According to Morton Spence, president of the organization, a special invitation is offered to freshmen who have been active in Hi-Y work. Men who have attended Camp Sheldon or one of the state conferences promoted by the Y. M. C. A. are also cordially invited to attend. A great deal of interest in the work is being shown by freshmen this fall," said Spence.

University Players Present Child's Plays and Train Student Aspirants Among Activities of Year's Program

Enabling the children of Lincoln to enjoy the entertainment of the legitimate stage in the form of their favorite stories, the University Players have established the Children's Theater, a movement which the Lincoln Junior League has supervised since 1929.

Under the direction of Miss Polly Gellatly, assistant instructor in the dramatic school, this activity has become one of the most popular under the sponsorship of the organization. Some of the fairy stories popularly dramatized in the past years are the Wizard of Oz, Raggedy Ann and Andy, Alice in Wonderland, Bird's Christmas Carol, Sleeping Beauty and Mrs. Wiggins of the Cabbage Patch.

The Studio Theatre, a comparatively new project in the university theatrical world, was founded under the jurisdiction of The University Players for the purpose of giving students a chance to present plays. From this work the University Players hope to make the participants of the Studio theater better qualified for parts in the larger company. Private matinees for entertaining friends and public performances are being planned by this organization for the coming year.

The state reformatory, penitentiary and veterans' hospital are entertained by the cast of the University Players. The plays which are in the process of being completed for presentation to the public are given at these places before the first night of the show at the Temple Theater.

RELIGIOUS PARLEY LAUDS FACULTY'S STAND ON LIQUOR

Methodist Conference Favors University Position on Beer Control.

PLEDGE FULL SUPPORT

Clement Attitude Toward Drill 'Objectors' Is Commended.

Lauding the university administration for its stand on alcoholic beverages and compulsory education was the substance of two resolutions drawn up and passed by the Methodist conference in its closing session held in Lincoln last week.

The resolution concerning the sale and control of alcoholic beverages declared that the city of Lincoln had "with utter disregard" for the responsibility to university students, legalized its sale, and permitted beer and wine to be sold in close proximity of the university. The resolution further stated that the administration should be complimented for its action in the prohibition of beer and wine sales on or near the campus.

Assuring "the university of our interest and support in any action taken to eliminate compulsory military training from the curriculum at the University of Nebraska," the second resolution drawn up by the conference commended the attitude reflected by the university for exempting Methodist students from military drill.

Following the passage of liquor laws by the city, the university administration made several provisions for the control of liquor sales on and off the campus. A ban was placed upon the sale of liquor or its use on university premises, as

MOVIE SETTING COURSE DEEMED POSSIBLE HERE

Architect Department Has Visions of Unique Study At Nebraska.

DISPLAY SKETCHES NOW

A course in the designing of moving picture settings, the only such course offered in any university in the United States, may develop at the University of Nebraska as a consequence of Mr. Norman Hansen's visit last summer to the Paramount Pictures, Inc., in Hollywood.

A special guest of Mr. Fred Leahy, Paramount's production manager, Hansen, an instructor in architecture at Nebraska, was shown through the entire studio, made a careful study of the art processes there, and brought back four artist's sketches of settings for the picture "Way to Love," a Maurice Chevalier production now being made. The four original sketches are now on display in the basement of the Temple building.

Vacationing in Hollywood, Hansen met Manager Leahy through his association with Professor Harry Cunningham, and through the picture "Way to Love," Hansen was given the freedom of the place.

"It was through the extreme kindness and courtesy of Mr. Leahy that I got to see all of the inside of the big studio," Hansen said.

The four art sketches now on display in the architecture laboratories in the Temple building were taken from the new Chevalier picture, "Way to Love." Three of them are of attic rooms in a typical Paris dwelling, and the fourth is a dining room scene among the French bourgeois.

"We will be glad to have students interested in seeing original sketches from a picture that they will probably see later drop in and see (Continued on Page 2.)"

BUDGET SLASHES PREVENT LIBRARY OPENING SUNDAYS

Students to Be Charged for Books Borrowed From Other Schools.

Students will be unable to study in the university library on Sunday this year due to the slash made in the university budget by the legislature last spring. Because the cost of operating the library on Sundays amounted to about a thousand dollars a year in salaries alone it was found inadvisable to continue this service.

The library will be open from 7:50 to 10 from Monday thru Thursday and from 7:50 to 6 on Friday and Saturday. It will now be possible to take out reserve books at 5:30 on Saturday night to be returned by 8 on Monday morning.

Another necessary elimination of expenses will be effected in the interlibrary loans, according to Mr. G. H. Doane, main librarian and supervisor of all university libraries. Formerly students have not been charged for books borrowed from other institutions but because the expense to the university amounted to about a thousand dollars a year a charge of a dollar a copy will now be made for these books.

The library budget has been cut to such an extent that it will be impossible to purchase any new books this year, said Mr. Doane.

DIRECTORY DEADLINE FOR HOUSES IS TODAY

Organized Groups Must Have Their Lists of Names In Wednesday Noon.

The deadline for fraternity and sorority lists in the student directory will be today at noon according to an announcement made by Bernard Jennings, managing editor of the book. All organized houses on the campus will be included in the fraternity and sorority section of the book this year.

The deadline was set early this year to enable the staff of the publication to put out the book sooner than last fall. The list will be checked with the registrar to insure its accuracy and prevent the inclusion of the names of inactive members of the organizations.

Space in the book for the organized house will be reserved after noon today and lists not in at that time will not be included in the directory.

COUNCIL ACTS TO REDUCE POLITICS

Plea for Cooperation Keynotes First Interfraternity Council Meeting; Plans for Senior and Alumni Representation Fails.

DECISION IN CHAPTER'S HANDS BEFORE ACTION

Suggested Alumni Act With Greeks in Determination Of General Policies Considered; Vote Signifies Fraternities Willing to Cooperate.

Elimination of politics from the Interfraternity Council was the keynote of plans for reorganization which the special committee on reorganization submitted to the council for consideration when it met for the first time this year, on Tuesday night.

The first plan presented, which provided for a senior and alumni representative from each fraternity to work together in the council, received but little support or approval from the council. The alumni delegate system had had a previous and unsuccessful trial some years ago, and opposition to the plan seemed general.

The second plan advanced by the committee was that each fraternity select a senior man as its delegate and a junior man as alternate, both to be present at all the council meetings, but the senior man to be active representative. Much discussion, pro and con, followed this suggestion, after which it was decided that the proposals should be taken up in the individual fraternities' chapter meetings next week, and definite action, as recommended by the several houses, be taken by the delegates at the next council meeting.

Among other proposals on reorganization discussed at the meeting was the matter of personnel of the various council committees. Attempting to correct the charge that political influence played an undue part in the selection of the committees, a plan whereby a committee and faculty advisors, it in turn to appoint the several committees of the council, was advanced. This plan, however, was from the group. A second suggestion, that seniors only be named on the various committees, was the subject of considerable argument. It was decided that these matters should both be presented to their respective action by the council representatives.

Administration proposed for the formation of an alumni group to cooperate with the Interfraternity Council in solving fraternity problems of a general nature such as finances and house administration, were presented to the Council. The Council was asked to cooperate with the alumnae body on this matter. The report of the rushing committee concerning the new preferential system of rules was submitted to the Council, but the expected discussion and action on rushing failed to take place, when the Council voted to table the report until its next meeting. The committee in its recommendations, favored as major changes, a shorter rush week, the placing of greater responsibility on the rushee, and the renewal of strict faculty and administration supervision and action of rushing as a whole.

President Thiel presided over the Council meeting, former President Leonard not being enrolled in the University this semester.

A committee of twenty-one members representing the six educational districts of America has been appointed to cooperate in the matter of changing the standards of high schools. An attempt will be made to put high schools on a more quantitative basis.

Mr. A. Reed, head of the extension department at the University of Nebraska, was selected to represent this school. Other representatives from the North Central Association include C. G. F. Franzen, of the University of Indiana, George E. Carothers of the University of Michigan, M. R. Owen head of the state department of education for Arkansas, J. T. Giles head of the state department of education for the state of Wisconsin.

Two meetings were held this summer. One was held in Chicago only July 3 and the other in Washington on the eighteenth and nineteenth of August.
