The Daily Nebraskan

Station A, Lincoln, Nebraska
OFFICIAL STUDENT PUBLICATION UNIVERSITY OF NEBRASKA

Entered as second-class matter at the postoffice in Lincoln, Nebraska, under act of congress, March 3, 1879, and at special rate of postaage provided for in section 1103, act of October 3, 1917, authorized January 20, 1922. THIRTY-THIRD YEAR

Published Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday, Friday and Sunday mornings during the academic year. SUBSCRIPTION RATE

$1.50 a year Single Copy 5 cents $1.00 a semester $2.50 a year mailed $1.50 a semester mailed Under direction of the Student Publication Board.

Editorial Office—University Hall 4.
Rusiness Office—University Hall 4A.
Telephones—Day: B-6891; Night: B-6882. B-3333 (Journal)
Ask for Nebraskan editor.

EDITORIAL STAFF

..... Editor-in-chief

Laurence Hall .... Managing Editors Bruce Nicoll Burton Marvin

BUSINESS STAFF Bernard Jennings .. Business Manager George Holyoke Assistant Business Managers Dick Schmidt Wilbur Erickson

Why the Pictures?

N Friday's Daile Nebraskan there appeared an article devoted to an investigation of freshman registration photos and the uses to which they are put. An effort was made to get definite information about the alleged values of the system, with a view to later editorial comparison of the usues the pictures are supposed to have with the uses they actually have.

To understand the reason for this devious and rather extensive activity, it is necessary to know two things: one, the very apparent disregard in which the pictures are invariably held by students, and two, the complete lack of any visible advantage connected with the system. A freshman, himself strongly disapproving of the process, first brought the matter to our attention by his strenuous grieving. He wanted to know, finally, just why the system had been instituted and what purpose was being served. None of his immediate audience could answer that question, and it soon developed that almost no one paid any attention to the pictures, or took the trouble to be skeptical of their value. Further questioning revealed that outside the registrar's office the number of people who did know or care anything about the photos-except for indiguant freshmen-was very small.

In the registrar's office, however, a statement of the system's alleged purpose was obtained. The photos are taken as a matter of record "to provide the office and the local merchants with some more definite and exact means of identifying university students." This, then, is the broad purpose of the whole system, and it will not escape attention that this purpose is both indefinable and inexplicable.

Even more puzzling does the whole question become when it is remembered that no one has been known, at least in recent years, to make use of the pictures. Quoting the Nebraskan article again, we discover: "Heads of the credit departments of Lincoln's leading stores all replied, when asked, that they had never at any time taken advantage of the existence of a freshman's identification picture."

On the campus itself there is no question of the indifference with which the pictures are regarded. As has been pointed out, "the photos may be easily detached from identification cards, and upperclassmen have no pictures on their cards." It follows then, that for the purpose of indentification on the campus-even assuming that such an attempt should be made—the photos are equally without value.

on identification cards and personal records—to be shout "Let's get a tax!"

added to at graduation by pasting a "comparative" Cornhusker photo alongside the freshmen pictures -and generally keeping people busy with pictorial records. And all this, "to provide some more definite and exact means of identifying university students!"

The conclusion is inescapable that the system is not working, and serious questions as to its value if it did work could probably be sustained. Even in spite of the extreme vagueness of the purpose, the system cannot be adequately justified. It is complex, expensive, inoperative: these alone are enough to damn the procedure as highly un-

Because of budget reductions, the library cannot have new books, but because it exists as a system, an unnecessary and costly procedure can be maintained solely that freshmen may experience the distaste of looking at bad pictures of themselves. Anomalous conditions are not difficult to find, but this surpasses them all in mystery.

'Let's Get

A LETTER in this morning's Student Pulse coltivity tax and concludes that the alleged disadvantages are far outweighed. Stressing the value of having all students really participating in extracurricular affairs, J. H. B. concludes that even the malcontents will find themselves enjoying the new arrangement after their interests have been broadned thru the operation of the tax.

It is an effective review our contributor makes. and the spirit of enthusiasm in which it is written should be a bolstering influence for Student council workers whose concern it will be to secure administrative approval for a "blanket tax."

J. H. B. is already doing good work by merely voicing his attitude and spreading the gospel, presumably, to the ranks of his friends and associates. But he goes even further; he offers his assistance to the council committee working on the tax. With students like this at hand, that committee should have small difficulty in seeing its work thru to a successful conclusion. To organize studentswhose purpose might very well be the dissemination of additional information about the tax among students-is as much a part of the council's work as the actual compilation of data.

THE tax plan does have enthusiastic backers. Men and women who realize the merits of the proposal very clearly may be found in nearly every organization, and their energy should be put to work in the serious business of seeing the tax successfully thru its last concentrated stages.

Officially the student body has registered its opinion on the matter and the results are available in the figures of the vote taken last spring. But there remains a surprising number of students who are either indifferent or misinformed about the tax, in spite of the unusual size of the spring poll. To inform these students, to make them "tax conscious," if you please is one of the major remaining problems.

Hand in hand with this project, of course, goes the actual planning of methods to be used in presenting arguments for the tax to the regents. This, however, is largely a matter of executive work, involving detailed discussion and consideration, so it is perhaps best left to the council com-

Summarizing, then, the work facing the council might be roughly divided into two classifications: Organization of forces for making the campus thoroly "tax conscious," and actual formulation of the method to be used in presenting the case for which most of the data has already been collected.

It is a big task, but the objectives toward which it aims is even bigger. No other single thing could so vitalize and rebuild student activi-There is, then, a complicated system involved | ties. No other thing could so help the individual in taking the pictures of freshmen, pasting them students. Like J. H. B., we raise the banners and

Ag College

By Carlyle Hodgkin

FARMERS BEWARE.

A farmer in Illinois, pestered by chicken thieves, rigged up a device to get rid of them. He put a gun in the hen house and tied a string to the trigger so that the thief would be likely to run into the Unhappily, at a time when the farmer was directly in front of the an old hen flew into the string and pulled the trigger. The farmer was taken to the hospital. SPIRIT GROWS BY ACTION.

Last week at Ag club's first meeting a resolution was passed to work with the Daily Nebraskan in putting on a subscription drive on the Ag campus. The idea was suggested by the Nebraskan's business staff, and the club members

Monday morning the campaign begins. In the course of the drive every Ag student and every faculty member will be offered an opportunity to subscribe to the student daily. The campaign, if suc-cessful, will be profitable to the club, and the prizes offered by the Nebraskan staff for high individuals in the campus-wide subscription drive also hold good for students working on Ag Campus. To facilitate the most complete coverage of the campus, the club, according to John Loewenstein, president, has set up special machinery for the job. Three teams were organized with Arthur Peter-son, Willard Waldo, and William Donahue as the team captains. Certain of the buildings on the campus have been allotted to each team to contact both the faculty members there and the students having classes in those buildings. The campaign bids fair to be thor-

This sales campaign, an entirely new activity for Ag club, cames at a most opportune time. Clubs, organizations and the like exist for one purpose: to carry out some function or activity. Without activities to perform, any sort of an organization soon atrophies and dies. Whatever spark of spirit and enthusiasm an organization may have grows and develops by use by activity. That is why this new undertaking comes at an opportune time.

Right now at the beginning of the year Ag club has, if it ever will have, an element of pep, a certain restlessness to be up and doing something. The subscription drive gives it something to do. In addition to being a profitable undertaking in a year when profitable undertakings promise to be the subscription campaign should be very valuable to the club as a means to bring it to life, getting it into action, getting it go-

JOBS TO GO ROUND.

The Committee on Regulation of Student Labor, an organization of Ag faculty members that has operated for several years but is not commonly known on the campus, met last week. Prof. H. J. Gramlich is chairman of the committee. The result of their conference is that all students who do unskilled labor in any of the campus de-partments will be paid not to exceed twenty cents an hour, and students doing department work that requires some technical training will be paid not more than twenty-five cents an hour. They ruled, however, that twenty dollars a month is the upper limit for students in the unskilled labor class, and that students at other work would be limited to twenty-five dollars. To those students on the campus who can remember back to the days when part-time jobs paid twice as much as that, or even more, the new ruling is hard to take. But it is necessary that jobs for students be made to go as far round as possible. The money students earn at part-time jobs in college is intended to be used to defray school expenses, not to pay for dates or week-end trips home

Heretofore there has been a lack of uniformity among departments as to the number of hours students were allowed to work and the wages they were permitted to earn. It will be a just and fair proposition all the way round if the committee's new resolution has corrected that situation.

Criticisms from outside that students should not be permitted to work at unskilled labor when men with families are out of work are frequent. But the college faculty is justified in its student-employment program, I believe, for two -one in practice and one reasons in principle.

In p ractice, most of the work students do is part-time work, it is a few hours here and a few hours there. It is work that would not lend itself to full-time men, and is therefor more effectively handled by part-time workers.

The other reason is that in principle the college is a kind of a facory. It uses the young men and women of the state as its raw material, and turns out a finished product-a product that is supposed to be of worth to the stat-Now a factory has to see that it gets raw material. It has to run as nearly as possible at maximum opertion in order to work efficiently.

The raw material of the college is students, and this policy of making it possible for students to enter by granting part-time jobs is simply a part of the necessary process of securing raw material to keep the factory operating at full tilt, and hence, the most efficiently.

Wible is Master of Arts. Prof. C. L. Wible, assistant professor of pharmacognosy, was granted his master of art's degree from the University of Arizona at the close o fthe summer session.

Learn to Dance Correctly

SPECIAL RATES
BALLROOM DANCING
PRIVATE INSTRUCTION Borner Sisters

Phone B4819

YWCA STAFF SCHEDULE

(Continued from Page 1.) Boos as chairman plans to meet Tuesday at 4 o'clock. Donna Davis Philosophy Instructors and her Church Relations group are to hold their meetings Wed-nesday at 5 o'clock. The finance staff, Bash Perkins, chairman, will meet Wednesday at 5 o'clock. Violet Cross is to have charge of the publicity staff which meets on Wednesday at 5 o'clock. Helen Lutz will conduct the social staff at 5 o'clock on Monday. Elaine Fontein and her group will make plans for vespers on Tuesday at 4

Genevieve Jeffries will conduct the Ag staff on Thursday at 5 o'clock while Dorothy Cathers has Sophomore commission Friday at 4 o'clock. The Upperclass commission under the guidance of Virginia McBride will meet Thursday at 5 o'clock. At 5 o'clock, the program and office group under Lou-ise Hossack will meet. Roberta Coffee and Breta Peterson have charge of the international staff meeting 5 o'clock on Thursday, On Friday from 7 to 8:30 Helen Lutz plans to conduct the social dancing

Denice Green, chairman of the

postor committee, has not yet FOR YEAR ANNOUNCED Scheduled her staff meetings. Ruth Cherney will have the freshmen

Attend Chicago Meeting

Dr. E. L. Hinman and Dr. O. K. Bouwsma, of the philolophy de-partment of the university attended the triennial meeting of the American Philosophy association, which was held in Chicago, Sept. 7 to 9.

MEALS That Really Surprise for Only 15c We feature a large variety of foods and each customer is given individual service.

ORPHEUM GRILL

Don't Borrow a Car Good rental cars are available for all occasions, flat rate on evenings with insured cars and special rates for long trips. NRA

Motor Out Company 1120 P St. Always Open B6819

"HOTCHA" - - a Hybrid the Zoologists Missed!

It's the slickest thing since Burbank's grapefruit - this cross between a lounge robe and a huge, soft, thirsty towel! Your closest companion, next to your roommate! Fine to relax ingrand to snuggle into, after your bath-swanky enough to wear in a pullman sleeper!

It's a product of the Cannon Towel Mills-in a choice of White. White with colored trim. or soft pastels in bathroom

1.25, 1.95, 3.95 and 4.50

-Floor Two

Rudge & Guenzel Co.

At these Low Prices you will see such culstanding attractions as Too Much Harmony, I'm No Angel Night Flight ... Ann Vickers ... Footlight Parade ... Pilgrimage . . dozens of others ... all hits.

"Give them everything but love, baby and make that hard to get" - that's the creed of the worst woman on B'way!

'TORCH

COLBERT

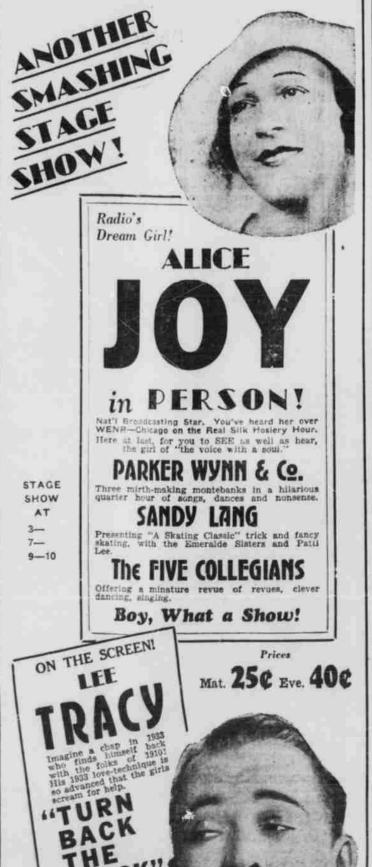

Ricardo Cortez

ELLINGTON

Rayton in a forth

on the or missions syncopation in a forth

magnification that you will remember of the feature testure
t "A Bundle of Blues"

The Student Pulse

Brief, concise contributions perti-mit to custers of student life and e university are welcomed by this opariment, under the usual restric-ues of sound newspaper pro-tice, ich excludes all libelous matter of personal attacks. excludes all libelous matte ersonal attacks. Letters mus med, but names will be with from publication if so desired

A Look at the Tax. THE EDITOR:

The student council has pledged of it. itself to the adoption of a blanket Corr Riself to the adoption of a blanket activities tax. The Daily Nebraskan last year devoted considerable editorial space to acquainting students with the tax. There is no question as to the merits of the tax either from a financial or an educational standpoint. The issue, as I see it, is to justify any action which thrusts upon the student body something which they may or may not want and something in which the majority may or may not be interested. Is participation to remain elective or to be made as I see it, is to justify any action my approval I am ready to engage mpulsory?

Obviously, this raises the quesfon as to whether a university is more than a place where book-learning is made available, where students may study and supposedly learn under professional guid-ance. We must therefore ask ourselves whether or not extra-curricular activities are an aside to the business of education or a vital part of it.

students take book-learning too clety should be proud to possess. students take book-learning too clety should be proud to possess. lightly and student activities too But the last two years have so seriously. There are many in the reverse situation practising the that only two courses can be puropposite extreme. We are here sued with dignity: revolution or primarily for study. That is one destruction. way of learning. But our associations, our contacts, and the experimental ganization tions, our contacts, and the experience gained by participation in men each year that had in themrience gained by participation in men each year that had in them-student activities are another way. No one enrolled at the university of leadership and accomplishwho cannot appreciate her traditions, who cannot show an interest in them and be a part of them has a right to proclaim himself or herself a student of the university.

The wine the honor is if dance. A grand march led by Dean and Mrs. Burr was the big event of the evening. Lunch was served at the close of the entermination of the university.

LEARN

for the price of

Lee A. Thornberry

TYTYTY

DANCE

ly selfish conception of college.

est in the school outside of classroom experiences will be com-pelled to become interested. It will with a society that should reprebreak down their indifferent atti- sent the best of our university. tude of long standing. And most An honorary society should in itimportant of all they may resent self imply impartiality and fair the compulsion but they WILL play. But in this instance such is like to participate and enjoy it not the case. At the present time once they become an integral part it is just another political group Smoke—and Fire.

TO THE EDITOR: Nebraska received a self-inflicted "blackeye" last Mayday when thirteen so-called "bigshots" were tumbled to the turf. Whether the body-politic on our campus realizes it now or not is still a matter of question but the truth will out, no matter.

The Innocents of the University No one doubts but that many of Nebraska have a glorious past, one that any senior honorary so-

The original purpose of the or-

Y Y Y Y Y Y Y Y Y Y Y Y Y Y Y Y T T-T-

It appears to me to be an extreme-ly selfish conception of college. history. Corrupt politics now has the Innocent Society under its The Greeks have much to gain mailed fist with the aim in view by a blanket tax. But so have the non-Greeks. And by the tax students who formerly had no inter-for themselves for allowing their using under-handed methods to rob Nebraska university of one

AG STUDENTS ENTERTAINED

Faculty Reception Officially Opens Social Season On Campus.

Nearly five hundred people were present Saturday night at the reception given students by the Ag college faculty, according to a report given by members of the committee in charge. The faculty reception, which occurred at the student activities building on the Ag campus, officially opens the social season for agricultural college stu-

University officials in the receiving line, according to the re-port, were Chancellor and Mrs. E. A. Burnett, Dean and Mrs. W. W. Burr, Dean T. J. Thompson, Dean Amanda Heppner, Miss Florence McGahey, Coach Dana Bible, and Coach Henry Schulte. According to D. B. Whelan, reception committee member, the major part of the program con-

at the

GREATER ORPHEUM

ART STUDIOS INC.

STAGE SETTINGS

THIS WEEK BY ERNIE LINDEMAN

See Us for Your Decorations, Signs or Displays