Tassels Set Record in Ticket Drive

FINAL CHECK SHOWS INCREASED SALES

Women's Pep Organization Surpasses Former Marks in Athletic Ducat Campaign by Selling a Total Of 1,450 Student Athletic Tickets.

WEEK'S PROGRAM ENDS SATURDAY AT 2 P. M.

Roma DeBrown, Ann Bunting Lead Saleswomen With Tie for High Honors With 96 Each Sold; 21 Receive Free Athletic Books for Year.

Leaving all previous athletic ticket sales records broken behind them, the Tassels, women's pep organization, Saturday completed the most successful sales drive ever staged at Nebraska with 1450 student and over 200 adult tickets sold for a total of 1650. These figures did not include faculty tickets which would swell the totals considerably.

A definite comparison with figures for last year was not available Saturday night, but it is thought that over 250 books more than last year were sold. Athletic department officials, administration heads, and officers of Tassels pronounced the drive a success from every viewpoint and were well pleased with results.

Last Minute Rush.

The Tassels worked up to the last minute before the game, trying to sell last-minute stragglers and what few students might not have been approached. Many students who hesitated in buying earlier in the week purchased tickets Saturday with the result that the athletic office was unusually busy Saturday morning.

The Friday noon checkup revealed sales since Thursday of 136, while an additional 143 tickets were sold before the drive ended at 2 o'clock Saturday. Salesmen reported that the number of unaffiliated students buying tickets greatly exceeded that of last fall and was no doubt responsible for much of the increase in sales.

Tie for High Honors.

The race for individual selling honors ended in a tie with Ann Bunting and Roma DeBrown each credited with 96 sales. A total of twenty-one girls had sold thirty-five or more tickets and therefore received season tickets as prizes, it was announced Saturday night, after the checkup. The six highest salesmen, who will receive trips to the Missouri game free, as a reward, are Ann Bunting and Roma DeBrown, 96 each; Mary Reimers, 66; Thelma Sterkel, 61; Leona Pollard, 56 and Gretchen Schrag, 50. Girls who will be awarded season grid tickets are Francis Bruene, Jane Bedson, Jean Brownlee, Alaire Barkes, Ann Bunting, Donna Davis, Doris Erickson, Roma DeBrown, and Gretchen Schrag.

BIG SIX PUBLICATIONS FOUND NEWS SERVICE

Nebraska Representatives to Attend Kansas City Press Meeting.

KANSAS CITY, Mo.—Formation of a skeleton organization for the Missouri Valley College Press association was the major work of the week end for delegates from Big Six publications who met in Kansas City.

Faculty advisors and full-time publication managers will constitute the foundation of the new organization and a subsidiary group for student publications executives will be a part of the major unit.

Representatives from Nebraska who attended the sessions were Gayle C. Walker, publication board chairman; Woodrow Magee and Bob Thiel, editor and business manager of the Cornhusker; Carlyle Sorensen, Awgwan business manager and Bernard Jennings and Laurence Hall of the Daily Nebraskan.

All Big Six conference schools were represented and temporary officers selected were Walker (Nebraska), chairman and E. F. Graves (Kansas university), secretary. A constitution is being prepared.

The new organization will deal with problems common to publications in schools of this region and as a firmer footing is reached its limits will be expanded beyond Big Six confines. A basis for membership was not definitely set at this, the first meeting of its kind in this section.

Graves, K. U.; Charles Kooser, Joe Duncan and Glen Lloyd, Iowa State; E. T. Keith and Clay Reppert, Kansas State; C. H. Brito, Oklahoma, and Scott Corbett, Missouri.

Advertising representatives who appeared before the meeting were Sheppard, of College Publishers' Representatives, and Keith for Major Publications.

RALLY ATTENDED BY LARGE CROWD FRIDAY EVENING

Pep Gathering Reputed to Be One of Largest in Several Years.

BIBLE SPEAKS TO THROG

Parade Through Sorority and Fraternity Rows Precedes Meet in Stadium.

With student spirit reaching its height in preparation for the Texas game, almost two thousand football-minded students gathered in Memorial stadium Friday night to sing, applaud, and cheer as Coaches D. X. Bible and Henry Franchois addressed the throng and presented the 1933 edition of the Nebraska Cornhuskers.

The rally was one of the greatest in Nebraska history and was but little exceeded by that before the Pittsburgh classic last year. Forming at the Temple at 7 o'clock under direction of the Innocents society, and with assistance from Tassels and Corn Cobs, women's and men's pep organizations, the procession proceeded east, on R street on foot and in cars, cheering and singing lustily as the Nebraska band played the fight songs.

At sixteenth street, the crowd turned north and proceeded up sorority row cheering madly while Tassels and Corn Cobs routed out inmates of houses to join the rally. At Vine street, the procession turned west and marched past the Coliseum to the stadium where students mobbed the entrances in an eager effort to be the first inside.

Head Coach Bible, addressing the assemblage, declared that Texas was no setup for the team, and would give the Cornhuskers a tough battle. "However," Bible continued, "with the student body behind the boys as this rally shows it to be, you can be sure the team

BOOSTERS WILL FOLLOW HUSKERS BY GRID-GRAPH

New Machine Will Enable Fans at Home to See Game Play by Play.

Lincoln football fans will this year be able to follow the University of Nebraska team when it plays away from home. They will do it by means of a grid-graph that the alumni association has recently purchased, and that will be set up in the coliseum and used for the first time Oct. 14 when Nebraska plays Ames.

The grid-graph is a board, thirteen feet long and eight feet wide, which reproduces the game by means of electric flashes and signs. Three men work at the back of the graph, operating switches which turn on lights by the name of the player who is carrying the ball, the tackler, and the kind of play used. Watchers will follow the ball by watching an electric light move on a lined screen gridiron. A direct view from the playing field will carry telegraph reports from an operator there to another in the coliseum, who will inform the workers at the board.

The play, written by Rene Franchois and adapted by Sidney Howard, enjoyed tremendous popularity on Broadway during the past season. The players will present the comedy-drama all this week starting Monday night.

PLAYERS LAUNCH THEATER SEASON MONDAY NIGHT

Ray Ramsay Takes Lead in Comedy-Drama Adapted From French Play.

COMEDY ENHANCES PLAY

Action Precipitated by Art Critic's Arrival in New England City.

A comedy-drama that has proved a smash hit on two continents will launch University Players' season with a week's run beginning Monday evening. Ray Ramsey, Clara Christensen and Dorothy Zimmer head the cast for this play, "The Late Christopher Bean."

The short time which has elapsed since the Broadway run of this play and the players' performance of it is almost without precedent in the history of the university theatres. Only last spring the play was being hailed by New York critics as one of the finest comedies to be produced in the past few years.

Sidney Howard's adaptation of the original French comedy, "Prenez Garde a la Peinture" by Rene Fauchois, was staged by Gilbert Miller in New York, starring Pauline Lord, Walter Connolly, Beulah Bondi and Ernest Lawford.

STUDENT DIRECTORY PRICE IS SLASHED

Business Manager Promises Early Distribution of Publication.

Reduction of the price of the student and faculty directory from 50 cents to 35 cents is announced today by Bernard Jennings, business manager of this publication, which is expected to be ready for distribution shortly after Oct. 15.

"An increase in the advertising space sold this year over that of the past makes such a reduction possible," he explained.

One of the new features of this year's directory will be the inclusion of the three dormitories and two literary societies in the section listing the membership of organized houses.

"The excellent co-operation displayed by the students and faculty in the correcting of the lists which were posted has aided considerably in elimination of errors from the directory," said Frank Crabill, editor.

Correction of the lists is also being conducted by the Lincoln Telephone company, a check being made to obtain accurate listings of telephone numbers. The addresses are also being checked at the same time.

In addition to the editor and business manager other members of the staff are Richard Schmidt, assistant business manager; Robert Funk, advertising and sales manager; and Laverne Strough, associate editor.

BIBLEMEN SHOW GREAT STRENGTH

Purported Duel Between Bohn Hilliard and George Sauer Ends With Latter Having Good Margin In Average Yardage for Afternoon.

TWENTY THOUSAND SEE FIRST BATTLE OF YEAR

Varsity and Reserves Display Power and Speed in Downing Longhorns; Boswell Stars With Sweep Around End to Score Touchdown.

Outclassing the Texas Longhorns in all departments of the game the Nebraska football team dimmed Bohn Hilliard's chances of becoming All-American by presenting four more efficient backs in Sauer, Masterson, Boswell and Miller, who aided in submerging the Steers 26 to 0 Saturday afternoon in the memorial stadium. Over 20,000 persons were on hand to witness the Huskers present a potent and versatile first and second string varsity team.

Sauer was the driving rod of the game, slashing and punching his way through the Longhorns' defense for successive gains in spite of the desperate attempts of the Texas squad to bring him to earth.

A sweeping end run in the third quarter by "Hub" Boswell which totaled an advance of thirty yards plus a brilliant forward-lateral pass play in the same period were the high spots of the game. A forward pass from Sauer to Masterson, who tossed a beautifully timed lateral to Boswell, constituted the most perfectly executed play of the day. It was a touchdown play but the sidelines prohibited Boswell from scoring as he was forced out of bounds when only nine yards from his destination.

Sauer Does Quick Kicking. Sauer added another laurel to his list of achievements by gaining considerable yardage in quick-kicking. This upset the Steer squad badly on several occasions and put the Scarlet and Cream in advantageous positions.

Allowing the Texas' only one first down for their afternoon's work the Nebraska squad placed the ball within the Longhorn's ten yard line seven times, only to be thwarted by their own fumbling on two of the occasions.

Huskies Make First Downs. Consistently setting Hilliard for two and three yard losses and no gains the Huskers made first downs with comparative ease, making eight sustained drives totaling 45 yards to each drive.

Sauer accounted for two of the touchdowns with the other two being made by Jerry LaNoue and (Continued on Page 4.)

MAN DRIVES HUNDRED MILES TO NIGHT CLASS

W. G. Shover, Carson, Iowa, Covers Distance Once Every Week.

W. G. Shover, superintendent of schools at Carson, Ia., drives the 100 miles and back between his city and Lincoln every week in order to attend night classes at the University of Nebraska, according to a report from the extension division of the school. He is at present registered for a class in education under Dr. W. H. S. Morton, principal of the teachers college high school, and plans to enroll for more work. Interest has been shown in the classes by several registrants coming from Lincoln's neighboring towns; but Mr. Shover has set the distance record so far this semester.

Most of the sixty-nine night classes scheduled held their first meetings last week. Dr. J. M. Reinhardt, professor of sociology, has organized and will teach a course in social psychology at the request of students, it was announced.

Because newcomers wished to visit classes before joining the extension division has announced that another week will be given in which registration for work may be made, from Oct. 9 to 14.

Military Department to Place 24 Additional Juniors Under Contract.

Colonel W. H. Oury, commanding officer of the Nebraska unit of the R. O. T. C. has received twenty-four additional commissions for juniors from corps area headquarters. This will enable the military department to put all juniors desiring advanced work, under contract. Approximately 110 juniors will be under contract this year.

Tassel Enthusiasm, Spirit Run High As Pepsters Meet for Final Luncheon Before Close of Athletic Ticket Drive

Rallying for final instructions at the last of a series of daily pep luncheons, the Tassels were brimming over with enthusiasm Friday noon, while competition among individuals and teams for high sales honors waxed keen with the deadline but one day away. The meeting was the liveliest of the five held this week, with everyone trying to talk at once, and optimism evident everywhere.

The Tassels just were not to be denied Friday. No one was spared as victim to their "Stand up" songs: Sauer, Miller, Bunting, Sterkel, even the Rag reporter, had to take their bows. Jack Miller left a trail of broken tradition after him when he responded to cries of "speech" twice, the first time with a courteous "thank you" and later with "It's spirit like this that wins the games." Sauer maintained his previous status by not speaking, although George was by no means bashful during his second appearance of the week. Sauer was right with the Tassels in everything they did, even to the extent of answering roll call with them.

Thelma Sterkel continued in the role of cheer leader Friday and had the Tassels so well organized that after the first half of the (Continued on Page 4.)
