AMES IMPRESSIVE IN 32-0 WIN OVER FROSH Veenker Stresses Offense As Cyclones Prepare For Huskers.

IOWA ELEVEN IS INTACT AMES, Iowa. (Special). In pushing over five touchdowns for a 32 to 0 victory against the freshmen Saturday, Coach George Veenker's varsity squad showed considerable improvement over the last time it was in action here against Central college two weeks ago.

Varsity Polishing Up. Coach Louis Menze commented yesterday on the good playing of Brown at center, Colassaco and Coudiff at guards and Schaforth and Carlson at tackles in the prep line but lamented the poor work of his ends.

This week Coach Veenker plans to work his varsity hard the first three days polishing up, and then tapering off for the Cornhusker battle Thursday and Friday.

Tomorrow a defensive scrimmage is scheduled against the yearlings who will be using Nebraska plays in an attempt to be prepared for the powerful Cornhusker backfield.

Allender and Marlowe Williams are now bothered by charley horses but Coach Veenker intends to make it more than tough for the westerners.

Oregon Coed Relates Experiences as Student at Peiping University, China

From Oregon Daily Herald. Sitting surrounded by her souvenirs of China, her eyes flashing with enthusiasm, Bessie Lee, seven years in the schools of the orient, has given an account of her experiences in school work and play in those countries.

Nothing Doing. The Lawyer: Did your late husband leave a will? The Widow Hardnut: From the time we were married he had no will of his own to leave.

Obsession. Ethel: A penny for your thoughts, Percy? Percy: The very thing, you know! I was thinking how I was to ride home with only four cents in my pocket.

Bad Luck. Wife (reading quotations): If you see a pin pick it up, all the day you'll have good luck. Husband: Yes, and if I stoop over to pick up a pin my pencil drops out and breaks.

Commerce Chamber Pushing Drive Among Students At Oklahoma. (From Oklahoma Daily) Appealing to students and people of Norman to do their purchasing now, a local "Buy now" campaign was set in motion Monday as a second phase of the NRA program.

BUY NOW CAMPAIGN IN MOTION AT NORMAN

Minute Detail. The Man: If you are so forgetful how is it you remember me? The Girl: Lots of times I remember little things when the big ones escape my notice.

Beneath His Notice. The Officer: Didn't you see that sign "Danger-Go Slow"? The other fellow: How could you expect a sensitive man to respect so shocking a solicism? It should read "Go Slowly."

Evidence. Belle (quite rich): But, Jack, you are wedded to your art, you know. Her suitor (an artist): But I could easily be freed. She has a whole lot of things against me.

Confession. Brown: What do you think of my new car? Jones: Just what you think of it. Brown: Huh! You're a peach of a knocker, all right.

All Cut Up. Laundry proprietor (showing visitor thru): This is the mangle room for all the clothes. Visitor (sarcastic): Ah, that explains it. Some of the shirts that come back look as if they were sent thru a half a dozen times.

tured goods and products and to keep the 'in-motion' machinery going," he asserted. "If the consumer fails to do his part, the cycle of economic revolution will be broken."

Prices are lower now than they have been in the last four or five years and possibly will never be as low again, Foley declared.

"We know that there is money in the bank but people are dubious about using it as they do not know that the future holds," he said. "As prices are going up, we urge the people to do their buying now."

"Norman, as we, of the chamber of commerce, will get back of the campaign 100 percent. The campaign needs the support of every individual, town and state to make it a success."

The rise of prices and wages will mean the return to prosperity and that is what the campaign will accomplish if the consumer backs the "Buy Now" campaign, Foley declared.

MOSTOFI RECEIVES PERSIAN SCHOLARSHIP

Premedic Senior Notified of Award Several Days Ago. A scholarship from the Persian government is the prize that has been awarded Fatulla K. Mostofi, pre-med senior.

Mostofi, who received word that he had gained the scholarship only a few days ago, explained that his award is one of twenty given by the department of education of Persia each year to deserving students in foreign countries.

Application for the scholarship was made last winter. Mostofi declared, and it was only after considerable difficulty that the award was obtained. He had previously applied once before.

"Scholarships like this have two purposes," Mostofi explained. "Besides the formal educational advantages offered, my government hopes, thru these awards, to sponsor friendship and understanding between Persia and other countries."

Asked what plans he had for the future, Mostofi indicated that he hoped to continue his education, after receiving an A. B. from Nebraska, by matriculating at Harvard medical school. He will be graduated from Nebraska at the end of the next summer session.
