GAMES THIS WEEK.

Nebraska vs. Kansas State at Manhattan.
 Iowa State vs. Oklahoma at Norman.
 Missouri vs. St. Louis U. at St. Louis.
 Kansas vs. Tulsa at Tulsa.

The results of Big Six games for the past week-end cause interested onlookers to predict that the Nebraska-Kansas Aggie game scheduled for Saturday will be one of the critical and possibly the closest battles of the season in the conference. The Manhattan eleven gave notice that it is in the show with a powerful game when it downed Missouri under a barrage of scores, 35 to 0. Nebraska also looked impressive in downing a determined Iowa State team 20 to 0. They both remain undefeated.

Having taken the Aggies into camp by close scores of 6 to 3 and 6 to 0 in the last two years, Nebraska knows full well that the Wildcats are nobody's pickings. With a strong passing attack, Graham plunging through the line, and Russell making life miserable cutting around the ends and running back punts, Missouri was virtually helpless in the face of the McMillin attack. Russell is the man who made many long runs against Nebraska last year when the Aggies almost trimmed the Golden Bears in Lincoln.

Nebraska looked equally impressive in downing the strong Ames team. According to press reports emanating from the Iowa state stronghold the Cyclones were stinging for the Huskers in as determined a fashion as Nebraska and for Pitt last year. But the Bible attack was too strong.

Oklahoma made it apparent that the Nebraska victory over Texas was no fluke when it trimmed the Longhorns 9 to 0 at Austin, Tex. The game was played on a muddy field, and was a battle from start to finish, with a bad pass from the Texas center, and a fumble by a Longhorn back accounting for the tallies, a touchdown, extra point, and a safety. The Sooners have lost one game this season having fallen before the Tulsa university eleven 20 to 6 a week ago.

Kansas played a tilt with the Jayhawk freshmen, and in a close melee trimmed the Lawrence youths, 20 to 7. The Jayhawkers have to their credit a tie with Notre Dame, 0 to 0, last week. Notre Dame showed fans that it has something left this year when it downed Indiana 12 to 2 Saturday.

Games on the conference slate this week are Nebraska vs. Kansas State, Iowa State vs. Oklahoma, Missouri vs. St. Louis university, and Kansas vs. Tulsa university.

STRESS BLOCKING AS HUSKERS DRILL FOR KAGGIE TILT

Nebraska Works on Defense For Potent Wildcat Aerial Offense.

In preparation for their crucial conference tilt with the Kansas Aggies next Saturday, at Manhattan, Coach Bible is stressing the necessity of more effective blocking, as he emphasized in the Husker camp Monday. Enough errors were made in the Ames game to account for a defeat of the Huskers if they made the same number against a team of equal strength. Coach Bible pointed out.

SELECT CO-CAPTAINS FOR GRID ENCOUNTER

Masterson and Kilbourne Named by Coach Bible For Kansas Tilt.

Bernie Masterson, quarterback, and Bruce Kilbourne, end, have been named by Coach Bible to captain the Huskers in their annual battle with the Kansas Aggies which is to take place at Manhattan this coming Saturday.

Masterson has been doing the signal calling for the Husker squad for the past two years and is an outstanding offensive and defensive player. An excellent passer and receiver as well as being good for an average of three or four yards every time he carries the ball, Bernie was mentioned as a possible All-American candidate for the coming season for 1933.

Both Bernie and Kilbourne attended school at Lincoln before enrolling at Nebraska.

Bruce Kilbourne, who holds down the left wing position, is a very efficient and dependable man for defensive work. Bruce, in addition to three years of football at Lincoln high school, has been with the Nebraska varsity for three years.

IT SEEMS TO ME

by Irwin Ryan

The showing of the Huskers in the Iowa State game substantiated the view of the Scarlet and Cream followers as to the potency of the Nebraska football team. Up to this time there were numerous skeptical remarks as to their ability because of the common belief of weakness in the Longhorn outfit. While it is true that the Longhorns were defeated 9 to 0 by the Oklahoma Sooners it is nevertheless also true that the Ames squad was playing over their heads in their desire to down the Huskers. On the other hand the Huskers were not playing in a spirited manner.

However this indifference is likely to turn to bitterness after the results of the games for next week are listed. Kansas Aggies are always strong on their own home field and were never weak in the Husker camp. Last year a pass to Boswell in the last few minutes is all that saved the Scarlet fans from swallowing a bitter pill. Doug Russell, who is with the Aggies again this year, is one of the best open field runners in the conference. This is no idle threat, as fans remember from last year. In spite of all efforts on the part of the Nebraska squad to bring him down Russell reeled off about an average of twenty-five yards every time he returned a punt. Again, his high knee action Nebraska tacklers failed time and time again.

The year previous Nebraska had an exceptionally difficult time in defeating the Wildcats. Immediately following the kickoff the Wildcats marched down the field for a long drive. However, fearing their inability to make a touchdown on their last play they tried for a field goal which was good. The score stood 3 to 0 in favor of the Kaggies for the remainder of the game, with the exception of the last minute and half. In fact it appeared so obvious that the Huskeres were defeated that a great number of the fans had already left the scene of the battle. Only a 70 yard run in the dying moments of the game by Lewis Brown gave the strong Husker team a victory. This ought to have given the Nebraska squad a lesson.

Up to date neither the Wildcats or Cornhuskers are defeated and a great deal depends on this contest.

Ag College Judging Team Attends Intercollegiate Poultry Contest

Since the beginning of school ag college has sent teams to three judging contests, being represented at the dairy products and dairy cattle judging events and by the poultry team which is now in Chicago attending the intercollegiate poultry contest.

Information recently received by the Daily Nebraskan indicates that high schools thruout the country have been participating in 4-H club activities. Many of these events correspond to the judging contests in which ag campus students have been taking part. F. K. Seroting, 4-H club secretary of Kansas City writes the following: "Youth will have its day at the thirty-fifth annual American Royal Live Stock and Horse Show, Nov. 15-25. Final arrangements are being completed for the eleventh annual conference of 4-H club boys and girls, the eighth annual national congress of vocational agricultural high school students, the sixth annual convention of the Future Farmers of America, the finals in the fourth annual national public speaking contest of vocational high school students and the first interstate meeting of Future Homemakers, girl students of vocational high schools, who live on farms.

Instruction in Marketing. "Last year 3,500 members of these organizations from practically every state in the union registered at the American Royal and as many, if not more, will be here this year. Many of these young folks will bring young fat cattle, pigs and lambs which they have fattened and cared for as their school projects, to compete for cash prizes, trophies and ribbons and then, as a spectacular finale to their year's work, this live stock will be sold at auction on Friday of show week, Nov. 24. This is wonderful constructive experience for these young folks in feeding and marketing in a practical way.

Interstate Judging Contest. "In addition to these live stock projects, there will be three interstate live stock judging contests between selected teams of boys, one team of five boys from each of the various states in each of the contests. One contest will be for vocational agricultural high schools, one for 4-H clubs and one for state agricultural colleges. Other junior activities include meat judging and identification contests in which the boys see in the dressed carcasses the real, practical results of good care and proper feeding.

Many railroads and some industrial concerns recognize the value and influence of these junior activities in their home community, by offering, as educational prizes, free trips to the American Royal for excellence in achievement."

SOCCER CHAMPIONS FOR SEASON NAMED

Sigma Chi and Delta Upsilon Are Tied for Lead in League One.

Onemore soccer league championship was decided and another thrown into a tie as a result of yesterday's games. Sigma Alpha Epsilon defeated Delta Sigma Lambda 4 to 1 to win League IV, but Sigma Chi and Delta Upsilon, playing an hour and a half in a scoreless tie are still tied for the championship of League I. The winner of League I will not be decided until another game has been played, but, in the meantime, a tournament to decide the Intramural Soccer champion of the university cannot be scheduled until the tie in League I is broken.

The winners of the various leagues are:

League I—Tied between Sigma Chi and Delta Upsilon.
 League II—Delta Sigma Phi.
 League III—Phi Kappa Psi.
 League IV—Sigma Alpha Epsilon.

TEXANS DESIRE MORE GRIDIRON ENCOUNTERS

Student Sentiment Favors Return Game With Cornhuskers.

AUSTIN, Tex., Oct. 16. (Special). More permanent football relations between the Universities of Nebraska and Texas would be entirely agreeable to Texas students. In fact they are desirous of entering into a contract to play Nebraska on a home and home basis as frequently as possible.

This opinion was expressed Friday by Joe Hornaday, editor of the Daily Texan, student newspaper at the University of Texas. He said student sentiment at Texas strongly favored a return game.

Members of the Texas football team as well as the Texas student body were very much impressed by the Cornhusker aggregation when the two schools met on the gridiron for the first time a week ago Saturday. The players commented on the power of the Nebraska team and the clean playing of the squad, according to Hornaday.

University of Missouri students may crash three shows during the season. The Student Council decided The Columbia theaters have decided to co-operate with the Student Council by permitting the students to crash on Saturday nights following a victory.—The Missouri Student.

AMES GRAD DIRECTS GOVERNMENT PROJECT

Ross White Chief Engineer On Tennessee Dam and Power Plant.

AMES, Ia., Oct. 16.—An Iowa State college civil engineering graduate of the class of 1910, Ross White, has been appointed engineer in charge of the $50,000,000 Cove Creek dam and hydroelectric plant in the Tennessee valley project for the United States government. About 2,000 men are to be employed on the project under Mr. White's direction, according to word received yesterday by Prof. A. H. Fuller, head of the Civil Engineering department here.

Mr. White has had 20 years of experience in power and irrigation work since his graduation from Iowa State, in California, Quebec and Ontario. Shortly after completing his civil engineering course he spent several years as a government surveyor in the Philippine Islands.

and Gentlemen it leaves the Ladies flat!

If you use lipstick—or if you really prefer a chocolate pecan sundae to a Scotch and soda—you might as well stop reading right at this point. ESQUIRE is not for you and you had better face the grim fact now.

If, however, you are a genuine male—if you have a healthy masculine taste for good clothes and strong language—if you like the real inside on sports—if you'd rather read a brief saga by Ernest Hemingway than a sugar-coated tale of love in the suburbs—

In that case you will want to rush right out and get your copy of ESQUIRE before this first and somewhat limited issue is sold out.

For here, at last, is a man's idea of a magazine come to life! Here are "short" short stories by such writers as William McFee, John Dos Passos, Dashiell Hammett and Manuel Komroff.

Here is humor by such a rollicking list as George S. Chappell, Montague Glass, Robert Buckner, George Ade, Harry Hershfield and David Monroe.

Here are 16 pages on what to wear and when to wear it—written for men who think that good tweed is something to be smelled with reverence and worn with ease.

Charles Hanson Towne comes to the rescue of a bathtub gin generation with some hard-and-fast advice on how to behave when the waiter hands you a wine card—and won't that be a help! Benny Leonard himself tells about half a dozen fights for the lightweight championship that were never entered in the record books. Charlie Paddock gives the inside on why some famous championships changed hands.

Never before, in fact, has such a list of contributors been gathered together in a publication. In addition, there are forty pages in color including the greatest number of full-page cartoons ever printed in a magazine.

The price of ESQUIRE is fifty cents per copy or one dollar fifty for four issues. If your dealer cannot supply you address Esquire Publishing Company, Palmolive Bldg., Chicago, Ill.
