National President Alpha Delta Theta Visiting Nebraska Chapters This Week

THE NATIONAL PRESIDENT of Alpha Delta Theta, who is Mrs. Isabelle Wolfe Hemenway of Tucson, Arizona, arrived in Lincoln Saturday morning to visit the Zeta chapter at Nebraska and the Nu chapter at Wesleyan.

Nu chapter entertained at an open house Sunday afternoon, and Mrs. Hemenway was honored at a Sunday night supper by Mrs. Charles J. Frost, when the guests were eight local and province officers in Lincoln.

A tea this afternoon at the chapter house of the Zeta chapter will compliment Mrs. Hemenway. Receiving will be Margaret Ward, president of the chapter, Mrs. Emma Holyoke, house mother; Mrs. Roscoe Hill, province president; Mrs. Charles J. Frost, province vice-president; Dr. Elda Walker, faculty adviser; and Mrs. Harriette Platte.

ACTIVES AND ALUMNAE of Delta Zeta met at the house Monday evening for a 6:30 dinner. Thirty-five were seated at one table, which was decorated with pink roses, the sorority flower. After dinner the guests played bridge. Mrs. J. E. Thompson, Mrs. C. A. Penton, Mrs. E. T. Platt and Miss Josephine Graves.

A SURPRISE IN LOCAL social circles was the marriage Saturday morning of Virginia Gordon, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. M. Gordon of Seward, to William Hoppe, Jr., of Lincoln. Several out of town guests attended the service which was held at nine-thirty that morning. Both the bride and groom are former Nebraska students. Mrs. Hoppe was a member of Alpha Omicron Pi, and Mr. Hoppe is affiliated with Sigma Alpha Epsilon.

PORTO RICO was the scene of the wedding of Miss Hildegarde Kessler and Harold W. Felton, graduate of the Nebraska law school and a member of Alpha Sigma Phi. The marriage took place August 24 in San Juan. Mr. Felton is now in the United States district attorney's office in that city.

PI KAPPA PHI Mother's club will be entertained at a one o'clock luncheon today at the home of Mrs. J. E. Owens. Mrs. E. S. Randall will assist the hostess. Fifteen guests are expected to attend the luncheon which will be followed by a business meeting.

POWER PLANT EXHIBIT GIVEN FOR ENGINEERS

Demonstrates Tests on Westinghouse Surge-Proof Light Effects.

Faculty members and seniors of the Electrical Engineering college visited the Iowa Nebraska Power Company to witness a demonstration of Westinghouse Surge-Proof Apparatus, in the company's service garage, Monday morning.

The portable laboratory of the Westinghouse Company demonstrated the effects of lighting on various kinds of apparatus. Included in the demonstration were lighting tests of a surge proof distribution transformer, a three point protected method of lightning arrester connection, a "Deion" protector, and a surge generator and Cathode-Ray oscillograph. The Westinghouse Noftize load center and OC detachable meter advantages featuring the new Metering Sequence were discussed.

An interesting feature of the demonstration was the effect of a bolt of artificial lightning on a piece of wire. The result was the disintegration of the wire in a flash of smoke, preceded by a sharp report similar to that caused by a giant firecracker. G. G. Archibald, and W. W. Spraul, Jr., engineers connected with the Westinghouse company, were in charge of the demonstration.

THE SIGMA NU MOTHER'S club will meet for a luncheon and meeting today at the chapter house.

other university officials will attend the annual affair to welcome the dads and mothers into the Delta Alpha Delta and the Mu Alpha.

"The co-operation of every student in the university is needed in order to make this Dad's Day a real success," Magee declared. "Each student should invite his father and mother to attend the Dad's Day luncheon in order that the parents of the students may be brought in a closer relationship to the school officials."

If every student would invite his parents to attend Dad's Day, it would become probably the greatest of the university's traditions," he said. "It gives the parents of the students a chance to spend a real 'football day' at the university."

LINCOLN CITIZENS GREET TEACHERS HERE WEDNESDAY

Modern Problems Education Principal Topics of Discussion.

MAY BE 3,000 TO ATTEND

Plans for Entertainment of Teachers Completed by Lincoln Groups.

With prospects for one of the most successful conventions in years in sight, Lincoln is making final preparation to welcome approximately three thousand people when the Nebraska State Teachers' Convention for District 1 convenes here Wednesday morning, October 25. The convention will last for three days during which numerous social events have been planned in addition to the regular sessions.

Highlights in the social affairs for the session are the joint men's and women's dinner in the Cornhusker hotel on Wednesday evening, F. E. Henzlik, president of the Nebraska State Teachers' Association will preside. A reception by the Lincoln Teachers Association will be held in the Georgian room of the Cornhusker Wednesday at 8:30. The Peru dinner will be given in the Cornhusker Thursday and the commercial teachers luncheon will be held in the Chamber of Commerce Thursday.

University Players Present Play. Through courtesy of the Lincoln Chamber of Commerce, the University Players will present, on both Friday and Saturday nights, "The Late Christopher Bean," starring Ray Ramsay. Admission will be by tickets which may be obtained during registration at the booth in the Cornhusker hotel.

The honor guest of the session will be Miss Mary Stewart, assistant director of Indian education, in the office of the Indian affairs, department of the interior. She is also chairman of the National Federation of Business and Professional Women's clubs.

Discuss General Problems. Topics discussed at the business sessions in general will deal with modern educational problems such as teaching technique, the relation of the NRA to education, and the future of education. Demonstrations of teaching methods will form part of the program. General meetings will be held for all of the teachers. Section meetings for discussion concerning all academic subjects, and for all the different fields of teaching, elementary, high school, rural school, and college will be held.

The speakers' roster for the session includes many members of the university faculty and a large number of former students.

The girls at Wellesley College have decided not to speak to one another on the campus. They say that speaking to the same person several times a day grows tiresome.

SHORT STORY CLASS IS POPULAR COURSE

Students May Still Register For Night School at the Extension Division.

PRESENT CLASS CARDS

University of Nebraska night classes so far have attracted 196 registrants, according to a report from the extension division. Incomplete figures on total enrollment do not permit a comparison with last year, but staff members believe class numbers are holding up well. Women students outnumber men 126 to 70.

Out of the 69 courses offered, one taught by Mr. Vanden Bark of the English department on short story writing, has so far been the most popular. Meeting on Wednesday this class will discuss and hear lectures on the principle and construction of the short story, write short story exercises, and read current material.

Popular Classes. "Business English," a practical course designed to assist persons who make use of spoken and written English in business, is under Prof. M. H. Wessen of the English department, and has proved to be popular. Other classes that have attracted attention from larger numbers are: a brief course in astronomy given by O. C. Collins, university instructor in that subject; mental hygiene under Dr. W. E. Walton, instructor in psychology; and Dr. Earl H. Bell's class on "Life and History of the North American Indian." A number of children have enrolled for the Saturday morning juvenile art classes.

Office Workers Enroll. In the majority among night class students are office and business workers who are busy in the city during the day. Some people representing interesting occupations include: a caddy, a building elevator operator, a photo-finisher, an orchestra leader, and a truck driver. Eleven towns outside of Lincoln claim as citizens twenty of the registrants. One professor drives the hundred miles from Carson, Iowa. Others come from McCool Junction, Valley, and Fremont.

Enrollment is still being permitted, but class cards must be shown by students at the next class session, the director has ruled.

"Explosives" Is Topic of Lecture

Prof. C. J. Frankforter, of the chemistry department of the University of Nebraska, recently gave his lecture on "Explosives" before the Lions club of University Place and before the Knife and Fork club of Lincoln.

Dr. Morton Co-Author With Roy Eaton in Composing High School Volume.

Dr. W. H. S. Morton, director of teacher training at the University of Nebraska, is co-author of a new spelling book for use by grade pupils. His associate in the writing has been Roy L. Eaton, editor of the "Middle-West School Review" in Omaha. Called the "Eaton-Morton Speller," the work is in two volumes one for use in grades one to four, and volume two for grades five to eight. Keith Corn, University of Nebraska art student, has drawn the cover design.

Eunice Bingham, student with August Molzer, gave a violin program for Whittier junior high teachers Thursday evening.
