COUNCIL OUSTS CORN COBS

WAR ERADICATION IS AIM OF GROUP

University Y. M. C. A. Offers Unanimous Backing of Youth Peace Council Activities in Drive to Eliminate Strife Between Nations.

TWENTY-THREE ARE ON CAMPUS COMMITTEE

Morton Spence Acts as Spokesman for Nebraska Group of National Organization at Wednesday Night Meeting; Breta Peterson Heads Council.

Pledge to eradicate war and to organize the world on a peace basis was presented to the Y. M. C. A. by Morton Spence, president, at its regular meeting last night.

In the presentation, Spence acted as a spokesman for the Nebraska committee of peace action which was formed as a result of Paul Harris, Jr.'s visit to Nebraska. The first peace organization on the campus, the committee is composed of twenty-three students, seven of whom form the nucleus or steering committee. The declaration is also to be presented to the Y. W. C. A. and to Hi-Y and Girl Reserve groups in the city.

Part of National Group.
The Nebraska committee is part of a national peace movement, which is headed by the Washington Youth Peace Council. On Armistice day the Washington council will make its fourth semi-annual pilgrimage to the Tomb of the Unknown Soldier. There, in accordance with their usual schedule, there will be a guard of young persons for the entire morning, interspersed with fifteen minutes of special program, including the laying of a wreath and the declaration of a statement of purpose against war very like the one read to the Y. M. C. A. last night.

What Can Be Done?
At noon the group will visit the white house where they will leave a memorial for the president. During the afternoon an institution will be held on "What Young People Can Effectively do for Peace." Peace committees from states near Washington are asked to send a delegation to participate in the ceremony and the afternoon institute.

Breta Peterson heads the steering committee for the Nebraska peace organization. Other members of that group are Jean Alden, Elaine Fontein, Gwen Thompson, Charles Hulac, Joe Nuquist and Morton Spence. The sixteen additional students who complete the Nebraska committee are:

Delores Jacobs	Norman Gundinger
Roberta Coffey	Carl Grill
Dorothy Cathers	Eurus Harris
Luella Hendry	Jack Compend

STAMP SALE NEARS GOAL
Team Recording Largest Number Sold Will Get Prize.

With several thousand more stamps sold this week, the sale of Nebraska homecoming stamps moved toward the goal of 20,000. Maxine Herries and Dorothy Wachtler are the leading team for downtown sales.

A prize will be offered to the team selling the most stamps during the drive. The downtown district was covered last week and this week salesmen are canvassing to students and faculty.

The sale of Nebraska homecoming stamps is sponsored each year by the A. W. S. board to advertise homecoming and to encourage statewide participation in the event.

YOUTH PEACE COUNCIL DECLARATION
Echoing the sentiments of the spokesman for Youth at the Disarmament Conference in February, 1932, we young people, after contemplating the events preceding the catastrophe of 1914, remain unconvinced as to the wisdom of our predecessors. . . We respect the noble we dead, but we question the judgment of those responsible for their death.

Organized slaughter, we realize, does not settle a dispute; it merely silences an argument. . . We have much at stake, for we are literally fighting for our lives. It is our generation which will be called upon to surrender all we consider worthwhile in life in order to become targets for machine gun bullets and victims for the latest poison gas. It is the young men and women of our age who will be commanded not only to commit suicide but also to commit murder. It is our generation which will be requested to destroy the best in human culture, perhaps civilization itself, for causes which future historians will discover to be erroneous, if not utterly stupid or actually vicious.

Despite the recognition granted this day to the folly of the past, despite the hopes of our generation that war shall not come again, there stands staring down at us the specter of Death. We desire to live and to live at peace. We desire to construct a world society providing freedom, equal opportunity, and a sense of security. We desire to make possible for every human being full development of personality in terms of the highest human and spiritual values we know.

We therefore, in the light of these convictions that war does not settle disputes, that war means the destruction of the best of human culture, and that the mind of man is constructing adequate peace machinery if he will but use it, pledge ourselves to the eradication of war and to the organization of the world as a whole on a peace basis.

Miss Anna V. Jennings, librarian at Kearney, reported to the Thursday morning session on the meeting of the American Library association stressing the feeling of the convention that the time was ripe for the education of the unemployed and that librarians should interest themselves more in the knowledge of books and reading than in the knowledge of library methods.

STAGE PEP RALLY AS TEAM LEAVES FOR MISSOURI TILT

Loomis Appeals to Students To Support Send-Off Friday Evening.

A send-off rally for the Husker football team will be held Friday evening at the Burlington station, according to an announcement made Wednesday afternoon by Lloyd Loomis, innocents member in charge of rallies. The team will leave Lincoln at that time for Columbia, Mo., where they will play Missouri Saturday in their fourth Big Six contest of the season.

"The send-off rally preceding the Iowa State game three weeks ago was deplorable, because students didn't attend, and no spirit was shown," stated Loomis. "It is imperative that all students turn out for the rally Friday evening, and that they show some spirit."

According to announcements made by Anne Bunting, president of Tassels, women's pep club, and Henry Kosman, head of the Corn Cobs, men's pep group, it is compulsory for members of those two organizations to put in an appearance Friday evening at the Burlington.

No other rallies will be held preceding the Missouri game this Saturday, and there will be no special train chartered to carry students to Columbia to see the conference tilt.

INVITE ORGANIZATIONS TO GRID-GRAPH PARTY

Alumni Association Sponsors Free Reproduction of Missouri Game.

A special invitation to fraternities and sororities for the free Grid-Graph party to be held at the Coliseum Saturday was issued by Ray Ramsey, secretary of the Alumni association, sponsor of the party. The Tassels, R. O. T. C. band, and the university cheer leaders will help to make the game realistic. All students and their friends are invited to attend the Grid-Graph reproduction of the game, Ramsey stated.

A new feature of the Grid-Graph that will be used for the first time Saturday is a loud speaker system, over which an announcer will describe the plays to the crowd. The Grid-Graph itself is an electrical device which gives a graphic reproduction of the progress of the game, and is operated by a special leased telegraphic line.

Invitation was extended to organized houses Wednesday morning by the Alumni association in a special letter. The announcement appeared in the Monday issue of the Nebraska Alumnus. Because of the cancellation of an admission charge, Ramsey expects a record crowd. The game will start at 2 o'clock.

NEW CLUB APPROVED. Students Display Definite Interest in Foreign Affairs by Sanction of International Relations Club.

Student interest in foreign affairs is on the upturn if the definite sanction of the International Relations club of the University by representative students of the University is any indication.

In a series of interviews conducted yesterday, a number of students expressed an interest in the organization and a desire to take part in its discussions.

John Gepson, president of the Student Council, when questioned as to his opinion of the newly formed organization stated, "With the present trend of economic nationalism, it is the duty of every student to become better informed on international relations. This seems to be a worthwhile medium for such a purpose."

Democratic Step.
"The formation of such a club is a democratic step in bringing about a closer relationship between teachers and students and deserves the co-operation of students," declared Anne Bunting, president of Tassels, girls' pep organization.

DECLARE PEP CLUB CONSTITUTION VOID

Student Governing Body Suspends Men's Organization At Wednesday Meeting Following Rejection of Recent Constitutional Revision.

COUNCIL BRANDS PEPSTERS 'POLITICAL GROUP'

Special Committee Will Work With Corn Cob Officers In Effort to Effect Reorganization of Group On Principles of Merit and Service.

Rejecting the new Corn Cob constitution as "unsatisfactory," the student council yesterday left the campus without a men's pep organization.

The student governing body, basing its action upon an effort to eliminate politics from the pep society, threw out the constitution on a technical error in the wording of the document. Stirred to action by Prof. E. W. Lantz, faculty advisor for the council, who declared that "the organization is nothing more than a political organization failing utterly in its purpose as pepsters," the council struck its first blow in an attempt to clean up politics in the pep organization.

Technical difficulties in the constitution were encountered when wording of the document infringed upon a power delegated to the student council.

"Politics are playing too big a part in the organization," declared Professor Lantz. "The Corn Cob organization has constantly been a source of trouble to the council for one reason or another. The group as it functions now is serving no useful purpose on the campus."

Will Inspect Other Groups.
At the same time, the council served notice that it will take further action on the campus to demand of all student organizations written constitutions which are to explain their function and aid the council's attempt to eliminate politics from the campus.

Council sentiment was vigorously opposed to the present state of affairs in the Corn Cob organization, as members expressed their dissatisfaction with the organization's conduct.

William Eddy, holdover member of the council from last year, stated that "the Corn Cobs have failed to conduct a real rally this year, thus failing to live up to the real purpose of the organization. Corn Cobs have yet to show a sign of real enthusiasm."

Lantz Attacks Club.
Professor Lantz, continuing his attack on the organization, stated that he could find any number of students on the campus that "would show more enthusiasm than the pep organization." He added that he felt the true purpose of the organization was a worthwhile enterprise, and should be encouraged.
