PLAYERS PRESENT BROADWAY SUCCESS

Schedule 'Dinner at Eight' Under Direction of 'Pete' Sumption, Who Appeared in New York Cast; Production Opens on November 13.

MISS HOWELL PORTRAYS ROLE OF HOSTESS

Play Enlists Personnel of Thirty Characters, Which Is One of Largest Ever Assembled on Temple Theater Stage; Contains Three Acts.

"Dinner at Eight," Broadway smash hit of last winter, is brought to the local stage by the University Players as their second production of the current season. The play is being presented under the direction of Harold Sumption, who appeared in the New York cast, and will open for a week's run Nov. 13. Acclaimed the biggest hit since "Of Thee I Sing" and "Grand Hotel," this play by George F. Kaufman and Edna Ferber will be one of the largest productions in the history of the university thespians. A cast of thirty actors, which is one of the largest ever assembled on the Temple theater stage, is required by the play.

Favorites Take Part.
In existing the personnel of this huge cast the players have gathered together a group that includes numerous favorites of past seasons as well as several new faces. The fact that each member of the cast is a distinct characterization adds greatly to the impressiveness of the play.

By appearing in the role he played in the New York production, Mr. Sumption will be seen on the local boards for the first time since his return. He was formerly a member of the players, but during the past few years has been appearing in the major plays on Broadway. Besides having appeared in the play, Mr. Sumption is also responsible for a previous staging of the play.

Miss Howell Appears.
An event of importance will be the appearance of Miss H. Alice Howell, head of the dramatics department, in a role in the play. Miss Howell's part is that of the hostess, whose dinner party precipitates the action of the play.

Herbert Yenne has been chosen to play the excellent character role in which John Barrymore starred in the screen version. This will be (Continued on Page 3.)

PEACE COMMITTEE OPPOSES CAMPUS ARMORY PROJECT

Council Calls Mass Meeting For Sunday in Attempt To Halt Action.

Voicing unanimous disapproval of the armory project which is now being pushed before public works administrators, the Nebraska committee on peace action voted last night to use every possible means to block the success of the armory movement and called a student mass meeting for Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock. Just where the mass meeting will be held is as yet undecided but will probably be announced some time Tuesday. Rev. Ervine Inglis will speak on the subject of peace.

"It seems to me a useless waste of public money in a time when there are so many more worthy projects," Chairman Brets Peterson of the committee said, "but if that were the only objection, the plan would not be so bad. In addition to this, it is merely an indication that there is no longer a thought in this country that world peace is possible. They are now arming heavier than ever before. The university will be used to educate young men to slaughter and to kill in the event that this country may decide to come to a disagreement which would have to be (Continued on Page 4.)

The annual sale of homecoming stamps is sponsored by the A. W. S. board and is a part of the homecoming program.

MORE FUNDS ARE NEEDED FOR COST OF DECORATIONS

Selleck States $1500 Needed Before Coliseum Drapes Completely Paid For.

Announcement of the need of an additional $1,500 to complete the purchase of the new permanent decorations for the university coliseum was made yesterday by John K. Selleck, director of student activities, and advisor to the Innocents society in securing the new decorations. Selleck stated that the additional money was needed to complete the lighting and orchestra arrangements for the decorations purchased thru a fund started last year by the Innocents society and to be used for the first time this coming Saturday at the Innocents Homecoming party.

Methods of Raising Funds. An attempt will be made to raise the additional funds needed thru contributions and charges from organizations using the decorations at dances held in the coliseum. A number of organizations last year contributed to the fund in this way, and others will do the same this year.

"When the decorations are finally installed, they will transform the coliseum into the finest ballroom in this part of the country," Selleck said yesterday. "Every Nebraska student should be proud of this completed project and glad to say that he helped in realizing it."

Otto Kotouc, member of the Innocents in charge of the decorations, said that the society would establish the tradition that there would be no smoking inside the draperies, only in the outer halls of the building. "This is to be a tradition connected with the decorations as well as a safety precaution," he said.

CORN COBS WILL MEET TONITE FOR REVISION

Pep Organization to Present Revamped Constitution to Council Wednesday.

At a meeting of the Corn Cobs' constitutional committee and the Student Council cooperative committee Monday night, which was called to patch up the now defunct pep organization's status on the campus, plans for reorganization of the club were completed.

Henry Kosman, president of the Cobs, issued an order for a meeting of all Cobs tonight at 7:30 at the Sigma Nu house. "Every member of the organization must be present or his name will automatically be dropped from the roll," he declared. "The purpose of the meeting is to affect the reorganization and to outline our plans for the Homecoming game," he continued.

William Eddy, who represented the Council at the meeting last night indicated that the student governing body would be ready to recognize the Cobs as an official organization providing they are able to produce an acceptable constitution to the Council in their meeting Wednesday, and if they are able to prove their worth at the game Saturday.

"This makes it absolutely necessary that every Cob, active and pledge, be present at our meeting tonight. If we are to continue as an organization at Nebraska every member will have to do his part, and I believe that we can do it," Kosman concluded.

NOVEMBER ISSUE AWGWAN GOES ON SALE WEDNESDAY

Number Short-Short Stories Appears in Latest Publication.

An array of new features will greet readers of the Awgwan, university humor publication, when the November issue goes on sale Wednesday morning at booths in Social Science, Mechanical Arts and Andrews halls. Homecoming is the theme of the magazine.

Several short-short stories headed by "Rose Is a Rose," written by Morris Johnson, will appear in the magazine, according to Rosalie Lamme, editor. She stated that following the policy of the magazine for this year, there would be no long stories printed as in past years.

Football Photos.

"King Football," a group of photographs of football players in informal poses and scenes at the games with articles concerning the pictures, will be one of the main features of this issue. Another section of the magazine will give the names and numbers of the players on both the Kansas and Husker squads.

Magee Will Schedule Dates For Taking Various Club Pictures.

Starting this week, group pictures of organizations will be scheduled at the campus studio, Woodrow Magee, editor of the 1934 Cornhusker, announced yesterday afternoon. A box "At the Studio" will appear each day in the Daily Nebraskan to notify the members of the various organizations that their pictures have been scheduled.

Urges Student Attention.

The box will appear at the head of the Official Bulletin column. "It is hoped that the students will notice the box so that they will be sure to know when they are supposed to be present for one of the group pictures," Magee stated. The editor pointed out that organization pictures are being scheduled and that he expects to have most of them taken within the next four or five weeks.
