Combination of Armistice Day and Annual University Celebration Attracts One of Largest Crowds in History of University.

HOMECOMING PARTY CLIMAXES FUNCTIONS

Thousands of Grads Return to Lincoln to View Big Six Championship Battle With Kansas; Friday Evening Parties and Dinners Start Proceedings.

With the combination of Armistice day and homecoming serving as an attraction, thousands of grads, football fans, and legionnaires came to Lincoln to take part in the various phases of the double celebration Saturday.

Other groups present at the annual fall event were 1,000 University of Kansas students, delegates to the state high school press convention, and a large number of high school football squads from all points of the state.

A Busy Day.

A full days program was in store for the visitors both on the campus and throughout the city. Several house parties, a down-town fall party, dinners, and banquets were on the program for Friday evening.

Saturday afternoon the Kansas-Nebraska game was the climax of the whole program, which was terminated Saturday with the annual Homecoming party in the university Coliseum.

Saturday morning the Armistice day parade was held on the downtown streets, the line of march having as its main route, N street instead of O street, which is at present time going thru the process of partial repaving.

University R. O. T. C. and the band in two sections took a major part in the parade with members of Tassel's women's pep organization, carrying the University Service flag as their part in the proceedings.

R. O. T. C. Marches.

The university regiment of the R. O. T. C. started from its place of formation on the south hall at 8:40 joined the other units of the parade at 15th and O streets, marched west on N street to 10th, and from there north to the stadium, where it was reviewed by the commanding officers of the unit, the football squad, and coaches.

A firing squad fired a salute, and taps were sounded as a termination of the morning review.

Stadium Dedicated.

Col. W. H. Oury, commandant of the Nebraska unit, reviewed the Pershing Rifles at 1:50 in a special memorial stadium dedication service preceding the game. A squad from this honorary company fired a salute, taps were sounded, and the Tassels carried the University Service flag on the field.

Party Ends Celebration.

The Homecoming party offered the presentation of the new decorations and Arlie Simmons music as major attractions, and one of the largest crowds in the history of coliseum crowds was present. It was the third of three annual parties to be held, and was sponsored by the Innocents society. Special permission was granted by the administration to dance until 12 o'clock.

MISS HOWELL HAS PARTY

Drama Written by Kaufman And Ferber Involves Difficult Staging.

When the curtain goes up Monday evening for the first performance of "Dinner at Eight" by the University Players, Lincoln will have an opportunity to witness the play that was the outstanding success on Broadway last season.

Staged by Harold Sumption who appeared in the eastern cast, the play will run through the week with a special matinee Friday. The opening curtain is scheduled each evening for 7:30 and the Saturday matinee will begin at 2:30.

Involves Huge Cast.

In assembling the huge cast of thirty actors, the players have enlisted a group that includes numerous favorites of past seasons as well as several actors who have yet to win the acclaim of local audiences. The casting of the play was made unusually important by the fact that every role is a distinct characterization, and there are no parts in the play that might be considered minor roles.

By Irwin Ryan. Thirty thousand spectators who jammed Memorial stadium Saturday to witness the annual homecoming tilt of the Huskers with Kansas were brought to their feet by a thrilling forty-four yard pass from Sauer to Bruce Kilbourne who snatched it out of the air and sped twenty-eight yards to register the first touchdown of a 12-0 victory which brought the Big championship to Kansas for the fifth time in six years. Eluding the Kansas safety Kilbourne grabbed Sauer's pass on the dead run and continued full speed until he had traversed the Jayhawk's last marker, making the score 6-0 for Nebraska. It was one of the most beautiful passes and run combinations that Husker fans have ever witnessed on Nebraska sod.

Publication Features Story By Harry Leslie West, Law Student.

Dr. L. C. Wimberly, of the University of Nebraska department of English, announces the release within the next few days of the autumn number of Prairie Schooner, Nebraska's own literary magazine. Since about half the contributions of each issue are by Nebraskans or former Nebraskans the announcement of the forthcoming issue is of particular interest to citizens of the state.

"Altho it has been necessary to decrease the number of pages in the Prairie Schooner," states Doctor Wimberly, "the high standard of writing appearing therein, that same standard which has moved eminent critics such as H. L. Mencken, Edward J. O'Brien, and Thomas Uzzell to rank the Prairie Schooner among the highest of literary publications, has been not only maintained but, I believe, raised even higher. "In the issue about to be released," Doctor Wimberly tells us, "is featured a story by Harry Leslie West, law student at the University (Continued on Page 4.)
