

CAMPUS SOCIETY

EVEN THOUGH IT ISN'T LEAP year, beau brimmels around the campus are looking forward to Friday night, when it will be their turn to be wined and dined in a reversal of the usual procedure of social events. The annual Mortar Board hop at the coliseum, which is, by the way, a program dance, will turn the tables, causing some doubt as to whether the boys or girls have benefited by the exchange of places. Several sororities are planning dinners at the houses, and numerous small parties have been arranged.

PLEDGES ARE still in the limelight around the campus as was evidenced last Sunday afternoon, when the Phi Mu pledges entertained the pledge president and housemother of each sorority. Forty-four attended and were met by a receiving line consisting of Alice Lou Davis, Phi Mu pledge president, Jean Taylor, Leona McBride, Dorothy Chatellow, and Mrs. Marie Coddington, housemother. Decorations were in rose and white, and the guests were sorority.

A SLUMBER party and waffle breakfast entertained sixteen members of Sigma Eta Chi last weekend at the home of Mrs. George Brandt at Unadilla. Mary Stillwell was the hostess. Sunday the girls were dinner guests at the W. L. Stillwell home, when the tables were ecote with Christmas candies and favors.

RED AND GREEN were the colors used at the dinner given last night at the university club by Miss Amanda Heppner, when her guests were Miss Elsie Piper, Dr. Elizabeth Williamson, and Mrs. Ada Westover. Poinsettias centered the table.

THE WEEK is filled with parties, honoring former university students who will be married during the Christmas holidays. Miss Ruth Holmes, who has chosen Christmas day for her wedding to William Tempel, will be busy during the days preceding the event, rushing from party to party. Tonight Mrs. J. W. Easton will honor her at an apron shower at her home. Twelve guests have been invited, and the evening will be spent sewing for Miss Holmes. The affair will be at eight o'clock, and Christmas decorations will be used on the one large table, from which the guests will be served.

LAST NIGHT Mrs. Marian Matthews entertained at her home for Miss Janice Ducker and Robert Sikes, who will be married on the 28th. The twelve guests spent the evening playing bridge, and refreshments were served at small tables decorated in pink and white.

BOTH IN Omaha and in Lincoln there are many parties planned for Miss Elizabeth Pancoast, Theta, who recently announced her approaching marriage to Henry Phyle of New York, which will take place December 28. Next Saturday afternoon in Lincoln two affairs have been planned for her. Miss Mary Helen Davis has arranged a luncheon and Miss Mary Elizabeth Prouditt will entertain at a tea at her home. In Omaha during the vacation Miss Pancoast will be honored by Miss Jane Steele, Miss Margaret Beardsley, Miss Elizabeth Shearer, Miss Mary Edwards Sumner, Miss Mary Updike, and her parents Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Pancoast.

ARRANGEMENTS for her wedding on Christmas eve, have been made by Miss Paige Crawford, who will be married to Howard Church at the Tabernacle Christian church at 8 o'clock. Miss Crawford was a Sigma Alpha Iota here, and Mr. Church was a Delta Sigma Phi. Mrs. Irene Hageman has been chosen as matron of honor, and Miss Frances Mangold and Miss Katherine McAlpin will be the bridesmaids. T. K. Church, brother of the groom, will act as best man, the ushers will be Gerald LaNoue and Thomas Griffen. Following the ceremony, there will be a reception at the church. The couple will live in Lincoln.

SUNDAY afternoon Miss Jean Field, who will be married to Donald Scott on the 27th, was entertained at a tea from 3 until 5 o'clock at the home of Mrs. Marguerite Corby. Christmas colors and tapers featured the decorations, and the guest of honor received gifts for her new home. Miss Vera Enrich and Miss Eloise White assisted in serving, and receiving guests at the door were Mary Lou and Jean Ballance.

A HARD times party tonight will honor Miss Field and Mr. Scott, when Mr. and Mrs. Earl Hillier will be hosts to eighteen couples at 8 o'clock at their home. The table will be centered with a huge birthday cake for Mr. Scott, and the decorations will be in Christmas colors.

TWO FACULTY men will address local organizations at their meetings today. Dr. C. H. Patterson of the philosophy department will discuss "Prophet and Priest in the Old Testament" at the Lincoln Women's club meeting this afternoon at the Y. W. C. A., and Dr. F. M. Fling of the history department will speak on "The World Situation and America's Responsibility" at the meeting of the Prescott P. T. A. this afternoon at three o'clock in the Prescott building.

LAST FRIDAY evening, Miss Mildred Lett was married to Dr. Edward M. Leigh. Following the ceremony, dinner was served at the home of the bride's parents. Dr. Leigh was a member of Delta Sigma Delta here at the univer-

University Players Present Another Broadway Success, 'Another Language,' as They Offer Production in Temple Theater This Week

Courtesy Sunday Journal and Star.

Here are two scenes from the play "Another Language," which opened last night in the Temple theater for a week's run with the University Players as the artists. This is the third Broadway success which has been presented by the campus actors during the present school year.

Shown in the top picture are the three "sisters-in-law" in the Hallam family. From left to right in the scene are Adela Tombrink who plays the part of Grace Hallam; Mary Kay Throop, who has the comedy lead in the role of Helen Hallam; and Nora Osborn, cast as Etta Hallam.

In the lower picture are Armand Hunter, in the leading role of Victor Hallam, and Dorothy Zimmer, the other principal with the part of Stella, his romantic wife.

Miss Zimmer plays the part of the misunderstood wife, her temperament being somewhat different from those of the other members of the Hallam clan, while her relatives by marriage are of the materialistic mold.

Armand Hunter, who plays opposite Miss Zimmer in the leading role, partially understands his wife's temperament and personality at first, but is soon swayed by his family's ridicule of Stella.

MINNESOTA LAUNCHES DRIVE TO FIND WORK

Seek 500 Positions for Boys Coming to School for Winter Quarter.

WILL CREATE NEW JOBS

Editor's note: Officials and instructors at Minnesota are busy securing work for 500 students who will matriculate there early in January, according to the following article in the Minnesota Daily.

In an effort to recruit more than 500 jobs on the campus for the group of students which will come here during the winter quarter under the federal work-relief program for unemployed youths, directors of the project yesterday launched a campus-wide canvass for sources of student work.

All of the 500 students matriculating at the university Jan. 8 under the provisions of the $190,000 federal-state educational grant will be required to fill jobs in some department of the university for a maximum of 136 hours each quarter, under the provisions of the measure.

Plan to Create New Jobs. No students now employed by the university will be displaced by students entering school under the work-relief grant. New jobs that otherwise would not be created will be filled by the group, in return for the assistance they get from the government.

Notices were sent to heads of every department earlier in the week asking for lists of all available work within the departments. The lists, when returned to President Coffman's office, will form the basis for issuing jobs.

Part of the group will be employed in checking class attendance, in clerical and filing departments, and with the buildings and grounds divisions.

in order to provide work for all of the 500 who will fall under the measure," Prof. Malcolm E. Willey, assistant to the president and director of the university unit, declared yesterday. "When this is completed we will have to face the problem of placing the individuals."

Meanwhile, efforts to solve problems of feeding and housing the group were being held up, pending the return of administrative officials from the northern part of the state late this week.

Thomas Minehan, instructor in sociology, who joined the department recently when Professor Willey took over his new position, was appointed secretary of the administrative unit of the project at the university. His appointment completes the group.
