HUSKERS GETTING READY FOR SCRAP AGAINST MIZZOU

Nebraska Cagers, Victorious Over Kansas, On Edge For Tiger Tilt.

HUSKER SLATE IS CLEAN
Improved Brownemen Come Thru With Great Game Against Jayhawks.

Emerging triumphant from their first home game against last year's conference champions, the Kansas Jayhawkers, the Huskers now turn to an equally powerful quintet of Missouri hoopers for their coming battle at Columbia Saturday night. Meeting the Missouri Bengals on their home maples and returning home with their Big Six record unscathed is the difficult task which confronts the Brownemen before they can even hope to think about a conference title.

Missouri Highly Rated. Thus far the Missouri basket flippers are rated on a par with Kansas, or even better, and it is expected that they will either place first or second in the final ratings at the end of the season. Last year the Cornhuskers when they invaded the Bengal camp suffered a 33 to 37 defeat. During the second half the teams were about evenly matched. Missouri accumulated a 17 to 2 lead at the half-time and the Brownemen were unable to overcome such a large margin. From the start of the second half the Huskers had the crowd on their feet cheering (and booing, it must be said) until the final whistle sounded announcing the end of the tilt. Two Huskers were removed from the game because of fouls.

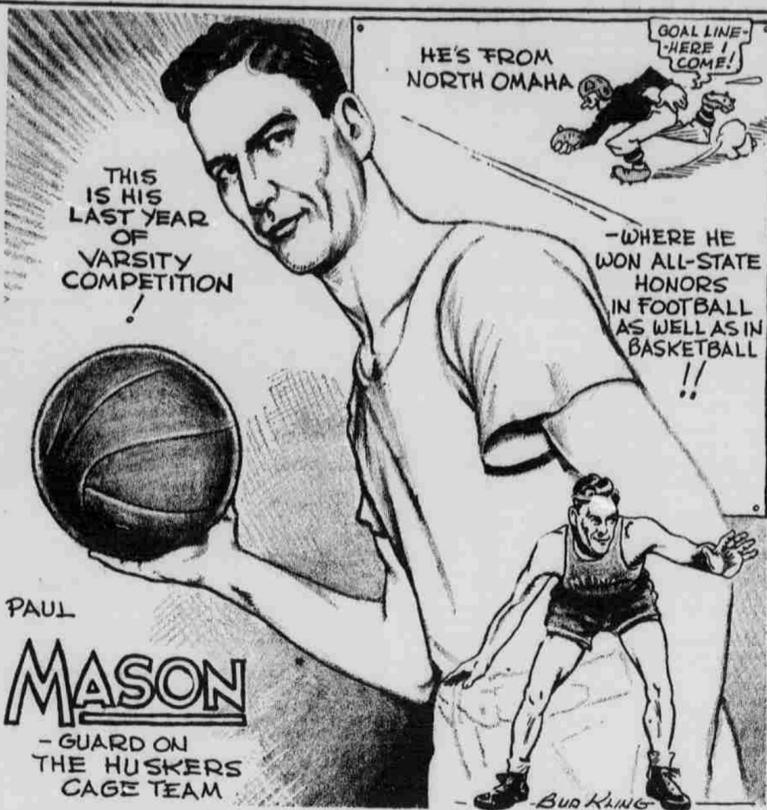

Cooper Is Star Forward. This year the Bengals, in Cooper, will have their star forward back in the fray. Cooper is considered by sports writers as one of the best shots and floor men performing on the maples.

However Nebraska's upset of Kansas has put them in the spotlight for a time at least. Their excellent exhibition of defensive work and their ball-handling left little to be desired. ElLand Cople, just recently included on the squad, has added an important element to the outfits performance. His height enables him to perform nicely under the opponents basket and in getting the ball off his own backboard. Cople controlled the tip much of the time during the Kansas game.

Widman Plays Very Well. Widman is another find who has proved of benefit to the Brown clan. Tall and rangy he aids considerably in getting the ball from the back-board, and his fine defensive work accounted, along with that of the aggressive Bud Parson's, for the Husker's possession of the ball the major portion of the time.

Kenneth Lunney, by his clever and timely sneak shots when he eluded Gray, the rangy Kansas guard, also was a potent factor in the Nebraska victory. Lunney tried very few shots but contributed a total of six points to the cause.

Playing Third Year on Husker Five

Paul Mason is one of the several two year lettermen on the Husker basketball squad this season, and is now playing his third season as regular guard on the Nebraska five. Two years ago, as a sophomore, Mason was one of the outstanding guards in the Big Six on the ill-fated Husker five of that season. He proved to be one of the most proficient men in the conference at handling the ball, and was a hawk on the defense. One of the most aggressive players in the circuit, Mason accounted for a large share of the Husker points that season, and ranked well up the list of the leading scorers in the conference.

The veteran performer has the height demanded by the cage game, and has enough experience so that he can cope with any opponent on the court. Fans in this vicinity feel that Mason is headed for great things this season, what with the Huskers coming out of their doldrums of the past two years, and playing bang-up basketball in their first two Big Six games.

INTRAMURAL SPOTLIGHT

By ARNOLD LEVINE.

With the finals just a few days off, intramural basketball teams are preparing for the last desperate stand which will decide league champions. Class B basketball reaches its peak Friday, but Class A outfits will come to definite conclusion tonight, with league leaders planning to stem the final threats of their rivals.

Several games of the utmost importance will be played, promising excellent basketball for the spectators. In League II Pi Kappa Alpha and Sigma Alpha Epsilon meet in a game that will determine the league champion both being undefeated. Contemporary results give the P. K. A.'s a slight edge over the Sigma Alphas. Each team has won four games, Sigma Alpha Epsilon two by forfeits and Pi Kappa Alpha one by this means. Comparative scores in the two conflicts won by Sigma Alpha Epsilon and of the same teams vs. Pi Kappa Alpha gives the latter team the margin in points, but only a very slight difference exists.

One of the other most important games of the evening is scheduled in League IV between Sigma Alpha Mu and Beta Theta Pi. Each team has suffered only one loss in four games, and both are in a three-way tie for first place with Tau Kappa Epsilon forming the third member. Pre-game scores seem to favor the Betas, but Sigma Alpha Mu defeated the one team that beat the Betas by one point. Similarly the Betas by a one-point margin beat the team that won over the Sammies. Results in the other contests favor Beta Theta Pi, but anything may happen in this contest.

Tau Kappa Epsilon and Sigma Nu also clash in League IV, which game will settle Tau Kappa Epsilon's fate in their fight for the championship. If they beat the Sig Nus they will play the winner of the Beta-Sammy fracas for the championship of the league. If they are defeated, on the other hand, they lose all claim to the crown, and the winner of the first battle will be undisputed champion. Sigma Nu, having suffered two defeats, is out of the running.

In League III competition Delta Tau Delta needs but two more victories to win the championship, one of them being a postponed game. They decisively defeated their closest rivals, Theta Xi, and are regarded as the strongest team in the league. Their opponents tonight will be Phi Sigma Kappa.

Alpha Gamma Rho has the crown of League I in its grasp, needing but one more victory over Kappa Sigma tonight, to be undisputed champions. This game is generally conceded to them, as Kappa Sigma has not broken in to the win column yet, and, barring a tremendous upset, Alpha Gamma Rho will be champ of League I.

That feeling of piercing needles when fingers ache during cold weather is not imagination, according to a paper read before the American Association for the Advancement of Science by Dr. Paul A. Young of Montana State College. The needles, he said, are real, microscopically small spears of ice which shoot through flesh and blood, moisture in the skin having become frozen.

MAGEE REVEALS FURTHER PLANS FOR 1934 BOOK

junior and senior sections will be something for them to look back to—to recall their activities and the activities of their friends when they were in school.

"To further record the interests of the individuals, the Cornhusker is going to, for the first time in history, have pictures of leading people on the campus," he said.

Feature Sections Large. "With a feature section larger military and athletic sections, nearly everyone in school will be represented in the book, making it more truly an all-university annual," he said. "That too, will add to the value of juniors and seniors having their pictures in the class sections, and of every fraternity man having his picture in the Greek letter section."

More activities of the campus, with personalities as a secondary interest, will feature the snapshot section of the annual. Photographs are now being taken by the photographers which will appear in that section with other pictures of parties, rallies, football games, and specialized activities.

Som Section Closed. Part of fraternity and sorority sections have been closed. Fraternities whose panels have been sent to the engraver, have been notified. Members of any group which has not been notified, and who have not yet had their pictures taken may still have them taken. Magee stated that the yearbook for this year would contain more pages than the 1933 annual. Altho there is no decided increase of size in any one section of the book, each section will be larger than in previous years.

HUSKER ARGUERS WILL BE CHOSEN THURSDAY NIGHT

to be announced until this evening just before the tryout. The men competing are Dwight Perkins, Lincoln; Irving Hill, Lincoln; Eugene Fester, Lincoln; and Morton Spence, Lincoln; speaking on the affirmative. Their opposition will be Jack Pace, Lincoln; Vincent Broady, Plains, Kansas; John Stover, Malcolm; Quintin Wilder, Lincoln; and Charles W. Steadman, Lincoln.

Last Tryout of Year. This will be the last tryout of the year, contrary to the usual practice in the past, but the present budget for debate activity has limited the squad in its work away from home. Other schools are under the restrictions and are unable to send many teams on tours. However debates have been scheduled with Morningside college, Grinnell, and Iowa State college for early in February.

The team will probably be able to make a trip to the annual tournament sponsored by Delta Sigma Rho, honorary forensic fraternity, which will be held in Iowa City about the first of March.

Eligibility will be governed by the collegiate ruling established for all amateur events. Runners-up and champions will receive prizes in the customary eight weights:

Flyweight, 112 lbs.
Bantamweight, 112-118 lbs.
Featherweight, 118-125 lbs.

Candidates have been reporting in large numbers for the "Y" meet which is being conducted as a preliminary to the Golden Gloves tournament to be held in Omaha, Feb. 13-15. Y bouts will take place here at the Lincoln Y. M. C. A. Jan. 15-16.

Need Lighter Weight Men. Coach Ostran reports that more men should report to box in the bantam and flyweight divisions. "The material is all green but looks very promising," stated Ostran. "All the boys need is a little competition to put them on razor edge."

Offers to meet Cornhusker boxers in intercollegiate meets have been received from Minnesota, Missouri, Iowa, Columbia and Wisconsin. Dates will not be agreed upon until a decision has been reached by the athletic board.
