NO ARRANGEMENT AT NEBRASKA FOR CWA STUDENT AID

Smith, Gunderson Receive No Information From Federal Office.

SEEK TO HELP 300 HERE

Part Time Work for Ten Per Cent of Enrollment May Be Granted.

According to a statement made by L. E. Gunderson, financial secretary, Saturday no information or instructions had been received from Civil Works Administrator Hopkins, concerning federal funds for needy students. State Tax Commissioner Smith at the capital stated that he had received no information or orders. The work would be handled thru his office, and no set-up has as yet been arranged. Chancellor Burnett recently returned from Washington, D. C., where he had tried to get sufficient funds to aid 300 needy students here at Nebraska.

May Aid 100,000.
According to announcement made Friday by Federal Civil Works Administrator Hopkins in Washington, arrangements have been made to give part-time jobs to 100,000 needy young men and women to enable them to attend colleges and universities thru-out the country during the next semester. Special aid will be provided for those who have been forced to drop out recently because of insufficient funds.

Payment of $10 to $20 will be allotted to the students for work in libraries, laboratories, and various similar jobs on the campus of the nation.

May Total 7 Million Dollars.

Hopkins stated that the program would require expenditure of between 5 and 7 million dollars of federal relief funds. Applications will be submitted to authorities of the various institutions of the nation, who will submit requests for allotments to receive relief administrators.

Authorization has been granted to state relief administrators by the federal administration to provide part-time jobs at the colleges for needy students up to 10 percent of their regular enrollment of full time students as of Oct. 15, 1933.

GODDING LISTS RATING OF FARM OP STUDENTS

Been Receives Best Average Of Sophomores; Frosh Honor to Thompson.

Harold Been, of Ord had the highest scholastic standing of second year students in the farm operator's short course at the agricultural college for the first semester, it was announced today by Dr. Godding. His average for the semester was 87 1/2. Frank Ewen of Shell, Wyo., was the second highest ranking student.

The Ord boy is a former prominent 4-H club and Future Farmers of America member. He was a member of the state and national champion crops judging team three years ago.

Among the first year students, Samuel Thompson of Lyons was the high ranking student for the first semester. He had an average of 88.1 percent. Milton Gustafson of Phillips stood second and Gordon Fredrickson of Osceola and John Furman of Marsland were third for high honors.

Several new students have entered the college for the remainder of the work this year. They include Fred Bellamy, Scottshuff; Willis Bentley, Graftin; Loren Breyer, Itasca; Clarence Hanke, Itasca; Edward Hardy, Fairbury; Arthur Lubker, Cedar Bluffs; Harry Mattson, Central City; Raymond Urban, Clarkson; Wesley Krajcek, Gretna; Harold Stork, Arlington; and Elden Stemback, Sedgewick, Kansas.

Roumanian Says State of Nebraska And His Country Are As Much Alike As Siamese Twins in Many Respects

If University of Nebraska students were to be asked how the state of Nebraska compares with Roumania, the answers would probably be somewhat surprising to a few million Roumanians. But take it from a Roumanian, T. D. Stalcu, of Christian-Biason, Roumania, the two areas are as much alike as Siamese twins in many respects than one.
Stalcu, who is in this country studying soil fertility and physics, pointed out to the surprise of the reporter that the soil of the two areas is practically identical, and the precipitation range corresponds to a T.
Furthermore, when it comes to crops, Roumania has one-third of her area under cultivation in corn and the other two-thirds in wheat. Even a Nebraska hailing from Omaha or Lincoln, knows that there are two of Nebraska's most important crops.

NEW YW OFFICERS OUTLINE PROGRAM FOR COMING YEAR

Organization Will Direct Activities Toward Four Major Aims.

Members elect and retiring members of the Y. W. C. A. cabinet held a joint setting-up conference at the home of Breta Peterson Friday afternoon and at Ellen Smith hall on Saturday morning.
The Friday session was devoted to a review of the past year's work of the various staffs in the organization. "Through the Looking Glass" was the subject of the summary presented by Jean Aluen, retiring president. Dr. Charles Patterson concluded the Friday session with an address in which he suggested a number of principles which are vital in the building up and continuance of a higher standard of living. He stressed unselfishness as the essential trait which everyone must possess, if we are to achieve true living.

Fontein Gives Address.

On Saturday morning at 9:30 Elaine Fontein, president-elect of the association, interpreted the relationship of the cabinet members to the organization in an address on "The Tree of Life." Following this, Marjorie Smith conducted a devotional period during which Garnet Mayhew played the cello.
The main work of the morning was the formulation of a number of aims which are to be the centers of interest for the work of the association during the coming year. An open discussion was led by Elaine Fontein and the following principles were selected:

List Aims.

"(1) To work for the furtherance of international good will through the understanding and appreciation of all peoples; and to promote agencies for the settlement of disputes and misunderstandings by peaceful methods.
"(2) To accept education as an opportunity for the preparation for service.
"(3) To refuse the conscious exploitation of others for gain.
"(4) To know oneself, and to help others know themselves."

After the meeting, Miss Bernice Miller instructed the members-elect in the use of the files and reference material of the Y. W. C. A. The conference committee was composed of Dorothy Catheras assisted by Marjorie Smith and Jane Boos.

LAW BULLETIN WILL BE OUT IN FEW DAYS

Articles by Prof. Hanna, Of Columbia, and Seavey, Harvard.

According to announcement made by Professor Nutting of the Nebraska law school Friday, the quarterly Law Bulletin has been sent to press, and will be out within a few days.

Contained in the publication is an article by Professor Hanna of the Columbia law school on "Aspects of Recent Bankruptcy Legislation."

Warren A. Seavey of the Harvard law school contributed an article concerning Nebraska annotations to the agency for restate-ment. Other contents of the quarterly bulletin are notes and cases by students of the law school.

As an instructor in the University of Bucharest, Stalcu was given a two years leave of absence to study in the United States. He first spent two semesters at Manhattan, Kan., and has recently completed his semester's work at the Nebraska college of agriculture. He leaves this week to return to Kansas State for a month before going to the University of Missouri for a short time. Before returning to his teaching duties in the fall, Stalcu expects to spend several months in the Bureau of Soils in Washington, D. C.
"Your country is very interesting from both the professional and personal viewpoint," Stalcu stated. "I am paying special attention to your methods of research and investigation, and also to the organization of dry farming, and expect to use much of my information in Roumania"

PLAYERS PRESENT UNUSUAL DRAMA MONDAY NIGHT

'Dangerous Corners' Has Adventurous Plot in Clever Setting.

ADVANCE SALES GOOD

Ran Nine Months on New York Stage; Sumption Cast as Lead.

The University Players will open Monday night in the Temple theater for a week's stand in J. B. Priestley's mystery drama "Dangerous Corners." The play closes Saturday night, with a special matinee scheduled for Saturday afternoon.
Advance sales indicate the possibility of good crowds. Business Manager Charles Hoff announced Saturday, but he said that there were still many good seats available.

Harold "Pete" Sumption, instructor in the dramatics department, who returned to Lincoln from New York and Broadway only this year, is cast in the lead role of Robert Chatfield, wealthy New York publisher. His role is responsible for most of the plot development of the production.
New York audiences viewing the play last season were enthusiastic in their commendation of it and the play ran for more than nine months. A killing, truth-telling, and some of the most ingenious devices known to the theatre trade are used to build up an adventurous plot.

All action of the play takes place in one room in the fashionable summer home of a New York publisher and writer. Stage settings and scenery have been designed and constructed under the direction of Robert Reade, Player's stage manager.

There are but seven roles in the show, giving the Players, Director Sumption says, an opportunity for greater selectivity in choosing the cast.

The cast of characters is as follows:
Robert Chatfield Harold Sumption
Maude Northridge Jane McLaughlin
Freda Whitfield Veronica Ylvisaker
Oliver Peel Sylvia Scauder
Gordon Whitthouse Armand Hunter
Daisy Whitthouse Virginia McElreath
Charles Stalton Melvin Fisher

NEW STAFF HEADS ARE CHOSEN BY YEARBOOK

Applications for Positions On Groups Received Last Week.

ASSISTANTS ARE NAMED

Charles Galloway and Elizabeth Shearer head the newly created men's and women's organization staffs of the Cornhusker, as announced yesterday by Woodrow Magee, editor of the publication.

Assistants for the men's organization staff, which will have charge of coverage of all men's organizations, are Duke Reed, Ted Bradley, Bill Hicks, Ross Martin and John Jarmin. Women's staff assistants, who will cover all women's organizations, are Jacqueline James, Maxine Herries, Mary Yoder, Dorothy Beitz and Jane Sawyer.

Applications for positions on the staffs, created because of the rush of last minute work, were received last week.

The last call for fraternity and sorority pictures to be in the Cornhusker has been issued by Editor Magee. "All pictures must be taken by five o'clock Saturday," states Magee. "as panels must be completed by then."

HARDWICK TO SPEAK BEFORE BARB GROUP

Visiting Y.M.C.A. Leader to Discuss Problems of College Age.

James Hardwick, visiting Y. M. C. A. speaker, will address the Monday night meeting of the Barb Interclub council at 7:30 in Delian-Union hall. Hardwick came last Wednesday for a two weeks stay in Lincoln, during which time he is speaking to various groups on the campus. He is dealing with religious subjects, and various problems of young people of college age.

At the meeting of the unaffiliated men's council final plans will be made for the Cornhusker picture, and there will be a discussion of the joint Interclub Council-Barb A. W. S. League party which is to be held in the near future.
Interclub basketball competition has started during the past week under the auspices of the governing council. There are two leagues, the champions of which will play for the Barb championship after the league schedules are completed.

Fake Grade List Throws Scare Into Freshman Lawyers

The work of what are probably the world's meanest persons in the world caused a hearty groan among law college freshmen Friday when a set of astonishing grades were posted on the bulletin board, proclaiming several outstanding students as flunked or dangerously low.

Since about 10 percent of the freshmen student are dropped from the rolls after semester grades are out, the period following final examinations is one of "watchful waiting" until grades are announced, usually about one week after exam. The topping off of the accumulated anxiety with flunk reports caused more than one desperate deed. One student demanded his second semester fees back and headed for parts unknown. Another told father, 500 miles away, he was coming home and slunk off to his room to pack.

Highest Brought Low.
The highest were brought low by the grade list, which allotted to Jack Thompson, Phi Beta Kappa, a C average and announced that Harry Foster, son of the dean of the college had flunked a course in property law, taken under his father. A few of the more confident freshmen "smelling a rat," an official investigation was made, which revealed that the tallies were false. The grades did not in the least correspond to those held by Mrs. Caroline Ayer, secretary to the dean for announcement Monday.
The identification of the pranksters remains as yet unknown. It is generally agreed among the seniors, logical suspects, that it was a rather mean thing to do.

MORTAR BOARDS RECOGNIZE 397 FOR SCHOLARSHIP

Upperclass Women Earning An Average of 80 or Above Attend.

The third annual Mortar Board scholarship tea, honoring 397 sophomore, junior and senior women who earned an average of 80 or above and who made twenty-seven hours in the two preceding semesters, will be held Sunday afternoon in Ellen Smith hall from 3 to 5:30 o'clock.

The recognition and encouragement of scholarship is one of the three aims of Mortar Board, according to Willa Norris, president of the organization. The development of leadership and service are also encouraged. Besides the recognition of scholarship afforded thru the tea, the group maintains a scholarship fund, for loans to students of high scholarship standing.

"We rather emphasize scholarship," states Miss Norris, "and we're proud of the fact that for the last two years the seniors with the highest averages have been Mortar Boards. Donna Davis and Jane Boos were highest scholastically this year, while last year the president of Mortar Boards, Margaret Upson, was high."

PRESENT THIRD 'POP' PROGRAM ON SUNDAY

CWA Makes Possible Concert By Lincoln Symphony Orchestra.

Sunday afternoon, at 3 p. m., the third of a series of "Pop" concerts will be presented at the Stuart theater by the Lincoln Symphony orchestra.

"Pop" concerts are given this year in addition to the regular season course and were made possible by a CWA grant for the purpose of employing more musicians during this particular period.

The program is composed of the lighter type of music having a wider popular appeal; hence the name "Pop" concert.

TALKS TO GEOGRAPHY CLUB

Ruth Hutchinson Describes Life and Customs in Montevideo.

Miss Ruth Hutchinson of Lincoln, freshman in Bisd college, was guest speaker at the regular meeting of the Geography Club at a luncheon in the Lindell hotel last Friday. The club is composed of graduate students and assistants in the department of geography.

Miss Hutchinson spoke on "Life and Customs in Montevideo," describing the country that was her home until she entered Nebraska.

Nebraskan Issues Call For Student Reporters
Students interested in holding positions on the Daily Nebraskan reporter staff are asked to report to the office of this publication each afternoon at 2 o'clock. PHYLLIS BENTLEY WILL BE SPEAKER FOR CHARTER DAY

University Secures Famous English Novelist for Program Feb. 15.

BURNETT LAUDS AUTHOR

'Literature and Life' Theme Of Writer's Address at Annual Event.

Plans are going forward in preparation for the University of Nebraska charter day program to be held in Lincoln on the sixty-fifth birthday of the university, Feb. 15. Phyllis Bentley, famous English novelist, will be guest and principal speaker of the day, and will present a public address on "Literature and Life" in the coliseum at 10 o'clock Thursday morning, Feb. 15. No admission will be charged and several thousand townspeople, faculty, students, and alumni are expected to attend.
Miss Bentley arrived in the United States only a few weeks ago, and she was greeted by a telegram from the University of Nebraska asking if she would speak before a large audience in Lincoln on her charter day. This will be one of her first public appearances in this country. In London she has had large audiences, and has become a popular lecturer as well as author in her own country.

Is Popular Author.
"In bringing Miss Bentley to Nebraska, the university feels that it can make a distinct contribution to the development of literature in the Missouri Valley," stated Chancellor E. A. Burnett Saturday. "The university has given much thought to the individual who should give the address on charter day, and considers itself fortunate in being able to secure Miss Bentley. Not only is Miss Bentley a young woman, and therefore particularly interesting to students, but her reputation is growing very rapidly. Then, too, she follows in the great traditions of English fiction, and by some critics has been compared to Galsworthy and Bennett. Besides all this, she has developed a

UNIVERSITY MUST FINISH CWA WORK WITHIN TEN DAYS

Improvements in Stadium And Tennis Courts Under Way.

With only ten days remaining before the allotted time set for campus CWA projects expires, foremen are speeding up the jobs, and completion of all plans is expected before the deadline, Feb. 15.

Two new improvements were begun Wednesday, the alteration of the tennis courts and installation of new steam pipes between the wings of the stadium. One court is being removed from the tennis grounds, and the ground is being leveled off to improve the tennis courts and installation of new steam pipes between the wings of the stadium. One court is being removed from the tennis grounds, and the ground is being leveled off to improve the tennis courts and installation of new steam pipes between the wings of the stadium.
The dirt taken from the excavations is being used to fill in the football practice fields, and the remaining improvements for spring use.

Replace Pipes.
The new steam pipe being laid across the stadium field replaces a similar pipe line that is now covered up by the new practice fields. The new route lessens the distance between connections by going straight across the field, and will be easier to gain access to in case of any trouble.
The new water connections to the administration building have been completed, and the "trenches" are being filled in. The practice fields are nearly leveled; sod will be laid next spring.

Over twenty thousand dollars was received by the university for CWA work, and full advantage has been taken of the funds. Unemployed workers were hired for a thirty hour week, as 90 percent of the funds had to be spent for employment. The possibility that the university will gain any other much needed improvements lies in steps now being taken in the recovery program of the national government.

NEBRASKA DEBATERS TO MEET IOWA STATE

Coach White Urges Students To Turn Out for Contest.

In Social Sciences auditorium Wednesday afternoon, Feb. 7, at 3 o'clock, the Nebraska debaters will meet a team from Iowa State college at Ames in the first convocation debate of the year. Dr. H. A. White, who is director of debate, urges all students to turn out for the contest this week, and expresses the belief that more student interest should be shown in the competition.
Dr. White also announced Saturday that there is a possibility that another tryout for debate teams will be held later in the season if enough students desire to get on the team.

To Hold Five Matches.
During February the university debating teams will hold five matches, according to plans being made by Dr. White. Opponents of the month include Iowa State college, Maryville State Teachers college, Morningside college, Grinnell.

Physical Development Which Does Not Bring Spiritual Returns Is on Way Back to Brute, Says Hardwick

Johnson, manager of the Washington American League baseball team, to the lowest would-be athlete in grade school.
He will be in Lincoln until February 14 speaking before fraternities and other student groups concerning religious and student problems.
"My brother and I inherited a strong predisposition toward tuberculosis," he said explaining his intense interest in athletics. "Physical education is a matter of application. My brother, Harry, who is line coach for the United States Naval Academy, is the strongest man who ever graduated from the Academy. His rating is based on tests given to each graduate. Physical education has become almost a religion with us. It has kept me alive."

HUSKER QUINTET TRIMS WILDCATS BY 38-31 SCORE

Brownemen Never Heeded In Rough and Tumble Encounter.

LUNNEY IS HIGH SCORER

Nebraskans Assume Eight Point Lead; Count at Half 22-10.

Revengeing their former defeat at the hands of the Kansas Aggie hoopers, the Nebraska maplemen, led by Kenneth Lunney, soundly trounced the invaders 38 to 31 in a rough and tumble contest featured by center smashes.
Trouton of the tilt the outcome was never in doubt as the Huskers were never headed in a rough and tumble contest featured by center smashes. Fouls were committed promiscuously by members of both teams and the play was marred by the numerous eight point shots distributed by Referee Wolf.
The scarlet assumed an eight point lead from the start of the battle, baskets by Boswell, Parsons and Lunney accounting for the score at the half-time stood 22 to

WIMBERLY ANNOUNCES STORY WRITING RULES

Contest Open to Students Of All Colleges and Universities.

Rules have been announced for the $150 prize short story contest being sponsored by the magazine Story, according to Dr. L. C. Wimberly, professor of English at the University of Nebraska. They are as follows: All manuscripts should be typed. If this is impossible ink writing will be accepted. Manuscripts should be written on one side of the paper only. All manuscripts must be written under a pen name. Manuscripts must be accompanied by a sealed envelope with the title of the manuscripts written on the outside. The envelope must contain the title of the manuscript, with both the pen name and the real name of the author. Thus, the identity of the authors will be unknown to the judges.
Open to all registered students of colleges and universities in the United States, two stories will be selected by each school and sent to Story magazine, where the outstanding stories will be chosen. First prize is $100, and second prize is $50. University of Nebraska writers must submit their manuscripts to the office of Dr. Wimberly in Andrews hall on or before Thursday, February 15. University students who have been elected as judges are: Frederick L. Christensen, Pearly Joan Cosgrave, and Paul Barron.
