BARBS' PETITION ASKS CONTROL OF VARSITY PARTIES

Two Groups List 11 Reasons Why Management Should Be in Their Hands.

SUCCEEDED FIVE YEARS

Matter Will Be Turned Over To Student Council For Action.

In a petition to the Faculty Senate Committee on Student Affairs which the Barb council and Interclub council are presenting members of these organizations list 11 reasons why the Barbs should continue control of All-University parties. In order for this petition to become effective it will be necessary for the Faculty Senate Committee to recognize that this petition does represent the opinion of a majority of students. The matter will then be turned over to the Student Council which will have to act on the request. It will also be necessary to secure the signatures of 150 students on the campus.

Heading the pleas is the argument that the Barbs have successfully handled All-University parties for five years. They point out that previous to this time a so-called "Varsity Party Committee" had charge of these social functions and accumulated a debt of $2,000. They go on to point out that under the present system the

PLAYERS TO HAVE REVOLVING STAGE FOR NEXT DRAMA

'Counsellor-at-Law' to Open Next Monday Night At Temple.

With the necessity of making quick scenery changes in the University Players production of Elmer Rice's "Counsellor-at-Law" the stage design crew, under the direction of Robert Reade and Harold "Pete" Sumption are building revolving stages, with which it will be possible to make a scene change in about 20 seconds.

Rehearsals for the opening night of the play, which is next Monday night, are proceeding smoothly and dress rehearsal is tentatively slated for Sunday afternoon.

A cast headed by Harold "Pete" Sumption and Jane McLaughlin will combine to present the play. Sumption is cast as a New York big-time lawyer while Miss McLaughlin has the feminine lead as Regina Gordon, his secretary.

Success On Broadway.

The play was a tremendous success when first produced on Broadway about three years ago, with Paul Muni in the leading role. It ran for about a year, closed and reopened with Otto Kruger in the lead. Mr. Sumption directed the play when it was produced in Providence, R. I. which was the first time that the play had been shown outside of New York City.

John Barrymore and Bebe Daniels were co-stars in the movie version of the play which scored a tremendous hit with movie-goers. "Counsellor-at-Law" is, by no means, Elmer Rice's first big success since he had already achieved a high place in the annals of the American stage with his "Street Scene" which ran for approximately two years, and with "The Left Bank."

Also the advance sale on tickets for the production has been very good, there are still many excellent tickets left, Charles Hoff, Players' business manager, announced Tuesday evening.

The play concerns the life and career of George Simon, a young Jewish boy who rises from the depths and obscurity of the Ghetto to a position of the highest prominence in New York legal circles.

The most dramatic moment in the whole play is when Harry Becker, a young communist, portrayed by Irving Hill, tells Simon just what he thinks of him and all the rest of the capitalists.

FIRE DAMAGES CHEM HALL

Defective Wiring Blamed for Early Morning Blaze in Campus Building.

A fire, discovered at about 12:30 this morning in Chemistry hall, threatened serious developments until firemen were able to extinguish it. Blazing in the wall between the general lecture room and the store room where high powered chemicals and explosives are kept, anxiety was felt for the safety of the building. Only slight damage resulted.

The fire was discovered by Harry Wolfe, campus watchman when he saw flames thru the windows of the building. It is thought that the blaze was started by defective wiring.

SENATOR NORRIS TO BE IN LINCOLN THURSDAY NIGHT

Speech in Cornhusker Will Stress Uni-Cameral Legislation.

Senator George W. Norris will address a meeting in the Cornhusker hotel Thursday night on the subject, "The Model Legislature." The purpose of the address will be to stress the need for a unicameral legislature in Nebraska. A state organization that will carry on all the work of campaigning for the measure will be effected at the meeting and plans will be made for the drive that the senator hopes will add his long cherished amendment to the state constitution.

Many Governors Expected.

Invitations have been issued to the governors of several of the surrounding states and it is thought that several of them will be present to hear Senator Norris. Governor Langer of North Dakota has already signified his intention to attend the meeting.

"The meeting will be strictly nonpartisan," Colonel Maher, head of a citizens' committee, said.

In order that out-state people will be at a disadvantage they may secure free reserved seats by writing to George W. Kline in Lincoln.

Idea Is Nation Wide.

Since the announcement of the unicameral legislature proposal early this fall, the movement has assumed nation wide proportions and drives are under way in five states at the present time to add similar amendments to their constitution. Missouri, Colorado, Arkansas, North Dakota, Maine and California have started drives for unicameral legislation.

Excessive governmental expense is expected to bear the brunt of Senator Norris' attack on bicameral legislation when he addresses the meeting here Feb. 22.

ASPECTS OF CHINESE SITUATION DISCUSSED

Dr. Koo Speaks Before Y.M. World Forum Lunch Tuesday.

At the Tuesday noon luncheon of the Y. M. C. A. members at the Grand hotel yesterday Dr. T. J. Koo, famous Chinese lecturer, leader and Christian religious worker, spoke on the Chinese situation dealing with the local aspects, and the relation of them to the rest of the world. He discussed the far eastern situation in general, bringing in the Russo-Japanese trouble.

Dr. Koo is known to thousands of Americans as one of the ablest and most interesting Orientals who have come to this country. A graduate of St. John's university in Shanghai, China, he was for nine years an official in the administrative department of the Chinese Eastern Railway Service.

Later he joined the staff of the national committee of the Young Men's Christian association of China with special work in regard to universities and colleges, and with added responsibility of the cultivation of better international relations.

In more recent years Dr. Koo has been first associate general secretary of the China national committee, and then resigning this position he took up the furthering of the interests of Chinese students, working in close co-operation with the World's Student Christian federation.

Dr. Koo, rather than interpreting Orientals to Occidentals, interprets Occidentals to themselves. By many well known men throughout the United States he has been praised greatly for his accomplishments and lectures.

Dr. Koo visited two fronts in northern China when the Japanese were attempting to push through the Chinese lines. Even in the relatively small scale combat as compared with those of other wars, Dr. Koo was impressed with the horrors of modern warfare, the desolation of cities, the bombing raids, the turn of events that allowed grass to grow in the middle of the streets of the besieged cities.

MISS ALTMAN SPEAKS TO GAMMA ALPHA CHI

'Women in Advertising' Is Subject of Tuesday Night Talk.

Miss Margaret Altman, director of the Moritz Advertising Agency, spoke to members of Gamma Alpha Chi, honorary advertising sorority, on the subject, "Women in Advertising," at a meeting at Ellen Smith hall Tuesday evening.

"I think that in about twelve years, women will be the only people in advertising," said Miss Altman. "In the beginning of time Eve sold the apple to Adam, and since then women have been the salespeople." She stressed the fact that advertising is interesting and exciting, though much work.

The big problem in advertising, Miss Altman said, is to determine upon an advertising policy. Newspaper work, she believes, is the best way to enter the field of agency advertising, although department store work is equally good. History and English are the two courses which Miss Altman thinks

Revolving Stage Will Be Used by Players in Presentation of Next Play; First One in Temple Theater

When the curtain opens on Elmer Rice's "Counsellor-at-Law" at the Temple theater next Monday night, the first revolving stage to be used in the Temple theater, and the first to be used in Lincoln for ten years, will be employed in this production.

Using the same type of revolving stage and the same setting, the play will be given exactly as the original "Counsellor-at-Law" was in the Plymouth Theater, New York. Due to the large number of quick changes in scenery necessary to present the play, it was given last year when a suitable arrangement for a revolving stage was not known.

"Impetus has been given to the revolving stage idea," stated Howard Sumption of the dramatics department and a member of the cast, "by the advent of the talkies." Audiences now demand quick changes in scenery, and with this new type of stage, we will be able

STUDENT COUNCIL ISSUES CALL FOR SPECIAL SESSION

Organization Presidents to Continue Discussion of Reorganization.

TWO NEW PLANS IN VIEW

Second Called Meeting Will Be Held Tomorrow Afternoon.

Heads of the various organizations on the campus will meet for the second time Thursday at 5 o'clock in the student council rooms to continue the discussion started last week for reorganization of the student council.

John Gepson, president of the student council, called the first meeting of the group last Thursday in response to a campaign, begun by the Daily Nebraskan, calling for a revised student council. Since the beginning of the semester the council has been attacked for its inactivity in student government, and has been accused of misrepresentation and unfair politics.

Also no definite conclusion was reached at the meeting last Thursday, two plans were presented for the formation of a new governing body, and the meeting this week will be a continuation of the consideration of the merits embodied in the two ideas.

One plan calls for the council to be made up of representatives from organizations on the campus. The second plan however, is more complete as to the revision of the council. The plan, as presented by Beverly Finkle, president of the Green Toga faction, recommends the creation of a Men's Association Board to be composed of one senior and one junior from each college and four sophomores elected at large. All male students would be members of the Men's Association.

According to the plan, the reorganized student council would consist of the members of the Men's Association board and the A. W. S. Board. A point system would be set up to do away with the dominance of certain members of the student body and to make possible more general student participation in activities.

Commerce Members Honor Husker Football Star Tuesday Noon.

MANY ATTEND LUNCHEON

Nebraska Gridder Is Third To Receive That Distinction.

George Sauer, Nebraska's All-American fullback of the last football season, and hailed as the greatest backfield man of the year, was awarded the Lincoln Junior Chamber of Commerce medal for distinguished service at a luncheon in the Chamber of Commerce Tuesday noon. A number of Lincoln's most prominent citizens praised Sauer in short speeches during the luncheon.

Two hundred members of commerce members and guests attended the luncheon, the crowd being one of the largest to ever attend a junior chamber luncheon. Robert Van Pelt, winner of the chamber's award for 1932, gave the presentation speech before awarding the medal to Sauer. F. H. McCulla, who in 1931 received the first distinguished service medal ever awarded by the junior chamber, addressed the meeting on the national aspects of the work of junior chambers of commerce.

In his presentation address Mr. Van Pelt said that the medal was not given to Sauer merely because of his gridiron prowess, but that he was selected by the committee more because of his contribution to the boy and girl life of the city. He stated that Sauer has been placed in the minds of school children as their ideal, and has also gained the admiration of the adult population of the city.

Words of praise were expressed in letters of recommendation from

PATTERSON DISCUSSES AIMS OF THE Y.W.C.A.

Professor Addresses Vespers Services Tuesday Afternoon.

"It's a forward step to restate and rethink aims and objectives," stated Dr. Charles Patterson, professor of philosophy in the university, who spoke on "Aims of the Y. W. C. A." during the vespers services in Ellen Smith hall Tuesday afternoon, "but it's only the first step, for it is better never to profess Christian ideals and resolutions than to make them and never carry them out."

Dr. Patterson gave several interesting examples of Christian ideals in the lives of such outstanding Christians as Harry Emerson Fosdick, minister of Riverside church in New York, and Dr. Edward A. Steiner, professor of Applied Christianity at Grinnell college, Iowa. Dr. Patterson helped the Y. W. C. A. cabinet to restate their aims and objectives during their recent retreat.

The meeting was presided over by Mary Edith Hendricks who read a poem embracing the work of the Y. W. C. A., announced the holding of the Nebraska state leadership conference which is to take place at Midland college in Fremont next Friday, Saturday and Sunday, and also the Girl Reserve Training course which is open to anyone interested in leading Girl Reserve groups and which will be held in the city Y. W.

Music for the devotionals was played by Inez Dovel.

HUSKER ARGUERS MEET NEBRASKA WESLEYAN TEAM

Powers of President Topic Of Debate Held Here Tuesday.

Arguing the question of the enlargement of the powers of the president of the United States, Charles Steadman and John Stover debated against a team made up of Chester Hunt and Paul Rieber from Nebraska Wesleyan here Tuesday. The afternoon engagement was arranged at the last moment and no previous announcement was made of it.

Wesleyan on the affirmative contended that the powers of the president to make ordinances should be extended and made permanent leaving only general legislation in the hands of congress and that the powers of the president over industry, agriculture and related activities should be made a permanent grant to the executive.

Huskies on Negative.

Nebraska, debating on the negative, claimed that increased power would lead to usurpation, and that all presidents are not able to handle the powers as those listed by the affirmative. Also the negative decried the move toward bureaucracy and the inevitable irresponsible government which they claimed followed.

There was much side argument on the question whether the powers which the affirmative outlined were not already included in the grant of powers to the executive office and therefore outside the consideration of the proposition. The affirmative upheld its position by saying that the topic stated Resolved: That the Powers of the President of the United States Should be Enlarged as a Permanent Policy" implying that all powers were included in the topic which were not permanent and that the present emergency powers of the executive were consequently within the limits of the discussion.

Defend Present System.

The negative also defended the Research students and laboratory assistants, clerks and stenographers, readers and library workers, laborers and custodians, a musician and a life guard have all been put to work on the CWA jobs, which will enable them to continue their college careers.

Seventy-five men and thirty-eight women have already been employed in those positions which best fit their particular qualifications. Thru the CWA student aid fund these 113 students who otherwise would have been forced to leave school can now proceed with their courses.

The government is paying from $15 to $20 a month to keep these deserving students at their studies. This money is not loaned or given but is paid for the work done by the students.

Clerks and laboratory assistants were in highest demand as there are twenty-eight workers in each group. The clerical positions are

TODAY'S NEWS Briefly Reviewed

The house of representatives will vote on the cash payment of the soldier's bonus March 12, also President Roosevelt has on several occasions expressed opposition to the plan. The one hundred and forty-five signatures of representatives necessary to bring the matter out of the committee and present it for a vote were secured late yesterday afternoon.

At least the bankers think that business is getting better. Their national president told President Roosevelt yesterday that banks are returning to a more normal lending policy and that the banking structure in general is sound, a factor in the restoration of confidence.

The weather won a battle with firemen and would-be rescuers in a fire that caused the death of ten of the residents of a Pennsylvania Memorial. The firemen were unable to combat the flames in the 18 below zero weather which destroyed a one-story frame building housing relatives of Civil War veterans. All of the victims were women.

The weather also caused army pilots considerable difficulty yesterday in flying the mails. Delivery was held up in the east because of blinding snow, sleet, or fog, which kept a great number of the planes on the ground. Only in spots was delivery held up in the west.
