

MASTERTON WILL ENTER NATIONAL SWIMMING MEET

Big Six Sprint King to Ohio State Intercollegiate Competition.

Big Bernie Masterton, Nebraska's high point varsity swimmer will show his wares at the National Intercollegiate Swimming meet to be held at the University of Ohio State March 30 and 31 where the best aquatic artists in the country will be on hand to establish their tank supremacy in the realms of National competition.

MASTERTON, (Copyright) Lincoln Journal, up the highest total of points on the Nebraska team and also in shattering the Big Six record for the 50 yard free style in the recent Conference meet. He added 49 points to his sculp belt this season.

Being mastered by Murphy of Iowa State in the dual meets, the Nebraska All-around came through in the final mixer of the season to defeat the Iowan and replace his last year's record with a new time.

His prowess on the gridiron, his ability to lead, his magnetic personality, and his superlative water performances have nominated him to take the reins of coaching the next year's sculp and cream tankmen upon the graduation of Kenneth Sutherland.

STYLES DISCUSSED BY DUNCAN PAIGE

Men's apparel today allows more freedom in taste and is designed for more freedom of action than has been the case within a generation or more.

The new double breasted drape that is being worn by the smartly dressed Easterner is more becoming in every way and easier to wear than the coat as originally designed. A greater fullness at the chest and shoulder blades makes for complete ease, but the most distinguishing change on this style is the wider placement of the buttons.

The cash flap is new.

The newest trousers taper sharply to the bottom and the plaits are deeper. Sleeves, too, are tapered which helps to achieve an air of naturalness and ease. The cash flap pocket and Franklin stitching are to be seen on the coats created by some of the better makers.

There's good news for the man who has wished for the return of three-button coats. It's back in a style that the young man who wants distinction will approve.

The University of Alabama has organized a bicycle club.

Whether you prefer double-breasted or single-breasted styles, you can now indulge in the jaunty appearance given by patch pockets. This style treatment is no longer confined to summer apparel—the new, deeper patch pockets are styled to look particularly well with plain or neat effects in either finished or rough fabrics. Franklin stitching, as used by one well known maker, does much to enhance the appearance of the patch pocket coat.

For this spring the success of the Talon closing device is assured. No man who has experienced the neater effect, the more tailored appearance this gives his trousers will ever go back to the old construction.

Plaited trousers go with the Draps.

My observations have included men in every walk of life and these men welcome the advent of today's new styles—cheatier, huskier styles that idealize and compliment the male figure.

Physical appearance, always important, today plays a more vital part in determining a man's success than it has heretofore. Today's styles are the designers' answer to that necessity.

SIX HUSKER TRACKERS ENTER BUTLER RELAYS

Storey, Ayres, Funk, White, Dohrman and Lambertus Will Compete.

SQUAD LEAVES THURSDAY

Four men who will compete in the Butler relays as the Husker two mile relay team were selected Tuesday afternoon by Coach Schulte after a half mile tryout. Jim Storey won the event with Francis Ayres second, several paces behind him. These two men, together with Glenn Funk and Howard White will compose the baton passing combination. Adolph Dohrman and Heye Lambertus hurdlers will complete the squad.

Contrary to popular expectations, Coach Schulte will not accompany the team, but intends to send Harold Petz, former varsity hurdler as coach. Petz has been assisting Schulte in his preparations for the meet, and has been assistant track coach during the current season. The team will leave Thursday at 1 o'clock for Indianapolis, making the trip by easy stages.

Coach Schulte also released the schedule of outdoor meets for the Husker squad, naming the Kansas Jayhawks, conference indoor champions, as the opposition in the first dual meet, to be held April 14. The schedule also includes: Kansas relays at Lawrence, April 21; Draks relays at Des Moines, April 28; Kansas-Kansas State triangular meet at Lawrence, May 5; Kansas State dual at Manhattan, May 12; Big Six conference meet at Lincoln, May 19 and 20.

Mary Provost is decidedly smart in a mannish tailored swagger ensemble from MILLER & PAINE, MISSES' SHOP. Long coated, about seven-eighths length, it emphasizes its versatility; the coat may be worn separately. Miss Provost chose this cadet blue tuxed, three-piece tailor for its clever designing and becoming lines. The waistcoat has six buttons and is very chic.

The sleeves have open cuffs; the skirt has side "action pleats." It's an all round ensemble for school, street, and travel. The dove grey Breton sailor which Miss Provost wears in of Ballinbuntle... a favorite for spring. Kid gloves match the hat and the navy calf bag is trimmed in gray. A casual appearing outfit that reflects credit to the designer, the wearer, and to Miller's Misses' Shop which brought this moderately priced ensemble to Lincoln.

Depression Gives 'Blues' to Tone of Spring Wardrobe

One thing the depression has done is to give us all the "blues" this spring, for it is a blue season as far as fashion's mood is concerned. The smartly dressed young lady will wear blue this year, from head to foot, in at least 20 different shades ranging from navy to aqua.

Navy blue scores first with commander, a few shades lighter than navy, close behind. Fleet blue, a bright shade, and French blue, as light as Alice blue but with a pansy hue, are good and are especially charming on the blonde and Titian type.

The new aqua tones of blue greens and green blues are as cool and refreshing as the name implies.

FOREIGN NOTE HITS FEMININE FASHIONS

"Let's go international" is the style cry. And so influences from a number of countries may be seen in spring fashions.

Dressmakers have taken ideas from the kimonos of Japan and China. Japanese influence is shown in folded-back hemlines for evening and in one-sided openings with a single button at the neck. Chinese touches are being shown in the flowing lines of coats copied from mandarin styles.

From Mexico comes striped blouses in a riot of color. From Spain comes the bolero length jacket and the use of bright, wide sashes.

England brings us the mannish cut tweed in double and single breasted suits. These are worn with fluffy cotton, stiff linen, or plaid silk blouses.

The kepi is a perky little hat that sits on the back of the head, and it finds its origin in the French legion.

The Russian coronet is typified in the halo hats which are worn now to give that much desired wind-blown effect.

"THE CURTAIN RISES"

A hilarious comedy hit by E. M. Kaye will run all week with a special matinee on Saturday. Cast in the leading roles are Melvin Fielder, Beth Langford, Blanche Carr and Armand Hunter.

MONOGRAMS FEATURE NEW SPRING PURSES

Bags are many and varied and are an important accessory to the spring costume.

Monograms are smarter than ever and are being shown in gold and silver block letters on antelope, kid, and fabric purses.

It is smart to harmonize your purse with your shoes, and so, many bags in rough leathers and crushed pig fabric. There are zipper models and others with twisted metal bracelet handles.

Gay fabric purses show the influence of Russia and Mexico, many of them being made of flowered peasant shawls. They are usually envelope shaped and unornamented. The most popular materials are suede, linen, and shantung.
