GREEK COUNCIL ANNOUNCES NEW RUSHING RULES

Abolishment of Preferential System Outstanding Revision.

FEW CHANGES EFFECTED

Fraternities Receive Cards For Fall Semester Saturday.

Rushing rules for social fraternities, as set forth by the Interfraternity Council at a recent meeting, were formally announced Saturday morning by Prof. E. F. Schramm, faculty advisor to the council.

Rush cards were available at 8 a. m. Saturday for all groups, at which time they were permitted to start dating prospects for rush week in September. By issuing all cards at the same time, it was felt that all fraternities would have an equal chance.

"No leniency will be granted fraternities whose members do not observe the new rules," said Prof. Schramm. "This set of rules is the result of years of experiment, and are the best we ever had." He suggested that members of the Interfraternity Council post the rules on their bulletin boards and acquaint their members with those rules.

Preferential System Out.

One of the major changes from last year's regulations is the abolition of the preferential system of pledging. Last year a man posted his choice of fraternity in the council office before accepting a pin. Under the new rules he merely

TODAY'S NEWS Briefly Reviewed

Dr. Charles Clyde Telleson died Saturday afternoon. He was fatally injured in an automobile-truck collision eight miles north of Lincoln near midnight Friday. His was the ninth Lancaster fatality resulting from automobile accidents in 1934. He was injured when the car in which he was riding was traveling from Wynot to Lincoln for the state high school music contest collided with a truck. An inquest into the accident will be held, according to Attorney Max Towle.

Taken payments to the United States by five debtor nations has placed them out of the default class, since a ruling by the attorney general Saturday cleared Great Britain, Italy, Czechoslovakia, Latvia and Lithuania. The ruling was made on the Johnson bill, recently passed by congress. Their payments were considered as acknowledgements of their debts to this country.

Because Ronald Young, 20 year old Wayne resident, survived when his 19 year old sweetheart died in a suicide pact in which the two had allegedly entered, charges of second degree murder have been filed against him. Nancyman Alford, his sweetheart, died from loss of blood after her wrists had been slashed. A coroner's jury found that Miss Alford came to her death at her own hands, sided by Ronald Young.

Still hopeful that their fight for legislation in congress during this session would win administrative approval, a group of silver advocates ended a conference with President Roosevelt Saturday. They will meet at the white house Monday for further discussion of their conference, they admitted. The meeting was held on the president's train while he was en route to New York, where he was to attend funeral rites for former secretary of the treasury, William H. Woodin.

FERA WORK UNDER WAY ON AG CAMPUS

Beautification of the City Campus Ended for Summer.

There will be no more beautification work done on the city campus this summer, Mr. L. F. Seaton, operating superintendent of the university, announced Friday.

Several FERA projects are under way on the Ag campus, however. They include a new steam tunnel running from the Economics building to the Dairy Industry building and cleaning up of the old cottonwood grove along Holdrege and 48th street west for a distance of 80 rods.

The cottonwood grove has been a landmark for many years and its absence changes the appearance of that section of the campus considerably, according to Mr. Seaton. Work on the grove, which includes the planting of new trees, will be completed in about two weeks.

The new steam tunnel will replace the old tunnel that has been in service for the past 20 years.

ACTIVITIES OF PAST WEEK CLOSED FRIDAY BY BANQUETS, PICNICS

Law, Engineering, Bizad and Geology Students Go on Field Days.

Activities of the past week were brought to a close Friday by picnics and dinners of several colleges. Law, engineering, geology and business administration students went picnicking, baseball playing, fishing, dancing and hunting fossils for entertainment.

About sixty-five attended the Bizad box lunch picnic at Antelope park. Students beat their professors 23 to 22 in a ten inning game played after lunch. Prof. Martin was pitcher and Prof. Hicks was catcher for the teachers while Ray Elliott and Ed Glider filled the posts for the students. Profs. Martin and Swayzee were the stars of the game with several home runs to their credit.

A larger crowd attended the tea dance at the park pavilion where Wally Morrow's students entertained. Music was furnished by Leo Beck and his band.

The journalism picnic planned for Friday afternoon at Seward was called off because of the inclement weather.

Geology students journeyed to Louisville to hunt for fossils in their annual picnic. A fishing contest in which Prof. Schramm took part came out a tie as students cheered the participants on. Sig Gamms won the baseball game they played with the foraminifera, the name bestowed on the unaffiliated group. The morning events were held at the state recreation grounds near Louisville.

Law college activities began with baseball and pool games in the afternoon. P. A. D.'s won their three games while the non-affiliated won two and lost two. Phi Delta Phi won one and lost two and the Delta Theta Phi lost three. The faculty came out victorious in (Continued on Page 3.)

DEBATE LEAGUE PICKS TOPIC FOR NEXT YEAR

Federal Aid for Education Question to Be Argued Thruout Nation.

Official wording for the debate topic to be used thruout the nation next year in senior high school league debating has been announced by Dr. A. Craig Baird of the University of Iowa, and was made public Saturday by the University of Nebraska extension service. It reads: Resolved: That the federal government should adopt the policy of equalizing educational opportunity thruout the nation by means of annual grants to the several states for public elementary and secondary education.

This question and its wording were arrived at thru the cooperation of the high school debate leagues in the thirty-three states involved, and the National University Extension association, according to C. K. Moore, secretary-treasurer of the Nebraska league. Starting as an idea of one of the officers, the wording is carefully evolved so as to avoid manipulation by "term-splitters," according to the secretary.

Omaha Technical high school debaters, who won this year's tournament in Nebraska, will represent the state this week at Topeka, in the national inter-scholastic debate tournament.

RISE IN TEACHING SALARIES PREDICTED BY MORITZ SURVEY

That teaching salaries thruout Nebraska's public schools are due to rise again next year is the conclusion reached in a survey made recently by R. D. Moritz, director of the department of educational service in the teachers college. Nearly half of the public school teachers in Nebraska will receive more pay during 1934-1935, according to the survey, which included 278 schools in the state.

Not only are salaries being increased but there is a marked movement to replace teachers eliminated a year ago, says the report. Also, schools are replacing courses that were eliminated as a result of the reduction in the teaching staff, while other classes are being substituted in some cases, continues the summary of Director Moritz's findings.

Some 1447 grade teachers and 1479 high school teachers are included in this study made of 278 Nebraska schools. "This represents a cross section of the schools in the state and whatever trends may be in evidence in these schools undoubtedly are reflected in the state as a whole," the director states.

Actual percentages were figured from those schools reporting as having held elections. For next year 48.6 percent of the grade teachers will receive increases varying from $45 to $249 more for the school term, and 45 percent of the superintendents will be paid higher salaries, varying from $45 to $800 for the year. Slightly more than 34 percent of the grade and high school teachers had their salaries left unchanged for the period.
