Nebraska Hopes in Big Six Center on All-Around Strength.

JAYHAWKS GIVEN EDGE

Sooner Coach Also Brewing Upsets for Kansas Tracksters.

All around team strength will be the keynote of the Nebraska cinder squad next Friday and Saturday in the annual Big Six cinder classic in Memorial Stadium.

While Kansas is considered to have a cinch on a majority of first places, Coach Schulte of the Huskers has great hopes that his men can "come through" with a few firsts and a sufficient quantity of seconds to spell victory.

But John Jacobs at Oklahoma has the same plans for his Sooners, and if the Huskers and Sooners start a race for second places, Kansas is a veritable cinch winner.

The Scarlet and Cream beat the Jays once this year on second and third places in a dual, but with Oklahoma and four other Big Six schools in the running, K. U. may be able to amass a great enough total on firsts to bring the championship to Mt. Oread.

Heye Lambertus heads the list of Husker athletes on the roster released Tuesday, which numbers over Big Six states including Glenn Skewes, defending champ in the discus, and Adolph Dohrman, indoor 440 foot discus thrower, is another strong Sooner candidate for points, along with Lochner, who has been clocked in 9 minutes 39.1 seconds for the two-mile this year.

The Husker team will take things easy for the rest of the week, with light workouts only on schedule. Coach Schulte is the exponent of the doctrine of a week's rest before an important meet, and his men will not engage in any strenuous exercise.

Preliminaries will be run at 2 p. m. Friday, with each school permitted to enter four men in each event, from which group six will be selected for the finals. A limit of twenty men is placed on teams in the prelims. Finals will be held Saturday at 2 p. m.

Jack Grover of Kansas City, veteran Big Six conference track starter and football referee, will head the list of officials Friday and Saturday.

Graduate Training In 31 Fields Only Offered 2 Schools

Universities of Wisconsin and California were rated by the American Council of Education as the only two schools of higher learning in the United States qualified to give graduate training in 31 out of 35 possible fields of human knowledge, in a recent report taken from the Wisconsin Press Bulletin.

American Council report, based on replies to inquiries from approximately 2,000 educators scattered in schools throughout the country, gave these universities qualified rating in 14 fields of human knowledge, and distinctive rating in 17 fields. Other schools which placed fewer times included Harvard, which gained distinguished rating or was qualified in 29 fields, Columbia in 29 fields, Yale in 25 fields, Michigan in 27 fields, Chicago in 26 fields, and Minnesota in 25 fields.

When the Moseley commission of England visited the United States several years ago to make a study of the institutions of higher learning, the Hon. N. H. Jones, one of its members, named as the first five great American universities Harvard, Cornell, Michigan, Wisconsin and California. Of these, he preferred Wisconsin because of its democratic spirit, scholastic standing, progressiveness, and location.

LEROSSIGNOL JESTES LINCOLN AD CONTEST Grand Prize Winners Are Announced at Monday Luncheon.

Dean J. E. LeRossignol of the college of business administration and Mrs. E. L. Marty of Lincoln acted with Ceo C. Buchanan of Omaha in judging advertisements entered in the ad-of-the-month contest in the down town papers which has just closed. Grand prizes were announced at the chamber of commerce Monday noon.

Mr. Buchanan who spoke briefly at the luncheon commended Lincoln merchants for the high quality of their merchandise. In discussing this contest he declared that business men of this city deserved no little credit for the work. The newspapers in this city were as the logical medium for advertising and were doing splendid work in the field.

HUSKERS EVEN UP TILTS AS SEWARD GOES DOWN 7-1

Spurlock Allows Only Five Hits, Narrowly Misses Shutout Tuesday.

Avenging a previous early season defeat that has been a constant source of embarrassment, Nebraska's fighting baseball team played headsup ball to defeat Concordia college of Seward, 7 to 1, last Tuesday on the losers' field.

Jerry Spurlock, ace pitcher, allowed the Seward team but five hits and robbed himself of a shutout only by walking the first two men to face him. He thus becomes the first pitcher to subdue the hard hitting Concordianites this season.

The Cornhuskers garnered ten hits off Haake's puzzling assortment, four of which were by Buzz Bauer, slugging third baseman and three of which were contributed by Copenhaver who played centerfield. Nebraska's board of strategy called for one run at a time and consequently six successful sacrifice bunts were played down.

The game was much harder fought than the score indicates, the Concordia boys refusing to give up until the third man was out in the ninth. Concordia tallied in the last half of the first on two walks, a hit and an error. After that Spurlock's fast one began to blaze and Concordia's cause was hopeless.

Nebraska's runs came hard and but one at a time in each third, second, third, fifth and eighth innings until the ninth when a three run spurge climaxed the issue.

Haake pitched a nice ball game, whiffing ten while his battery mate, Ohman combed Spurlock's curves for two hits.

A portrait of Mac West was posted in Hamilton Hall, Columbia University, as an advertisement for the Varsity show, and the portrait attracted much attention. However, the glass-paned bulletin board got much more attention after some undergraduate jimmied the lock, extracted the beautiful picture, and tacked in its place a faded mezzotint of his Aunt Mary. Under the photograph a caption reads, "With love to the Boys from Aunt Mary."

Museum Addition

Morrill hall has a new addition—Bill Buffal. While still calves he and his mate Lucretia came down from their Wind Cave herd in South Dakota and were given to Chancellor E. A. Burnett, then dean of the college of agriculture. They had been chosen by the United States biological survey of the department of agriculture from the finest buffalo strain known.

A happy family life was lived on the university experimental station at North Platte by Bill Buffalo, his mate, and seven frisky, chocolate brown buffaloes. With plenty to eat they hadn't a care in the world. When a photographer climbed the fence, he soon decided that he was safer on the outside, for Bill was boss.

But Bill became conceited and old—so last November was set as the date for his execution. Now he graces the halls of the university museum exactly as he roamed the range, his coat brown and sleek, his eyes bright and defiant.

His mounting and institution at the museum was brought about by Chancellor Burnett, Dean Burr and Supt. W. P. Snyder, who wished to preserve one of the best specimens of American buffalo. According to Prof. Barbour, museum curator, Nebraska was once the center of buffalo population of America and at one time they roamed the state in herds as large as 500,000.

Hopes are held that Bill will be reunited with his family for Professor Barbour plans that Lucretia and her young will be given to the museum when they leave the prairie.

A.G.R. AND ACACIA GO INTO BASBALL FINALS

Pi Kappa Alpha, Phi Kappa Psi Lose Out In Semi-Finals.

Alpha Gamma Rho and Acacia won their way into the finals of the interfraternity baseball tournament Tuesday, the former defeating Pi Kappa Alpha and the latter Phi Kappa Psi.

The A. G. R.'s were rather hard pressed in overcoming the Pi K. A. diamond ball team. Going into the last of the seventh one run behind, they managed to shove over two tallies on the offerings of Lloyd Loomis and win the game 7 to 6.

Acacia had an easier time of it, knocking the ball into all corners of the diamond for a 22 to 7 triumph. Baldwin, Phi Psi pitcher, was unable to stem the tide of hits that rained from the Acacia bats, and Garim hurling for Acacia, coasted in to a victory, allowing 7 runs.

The Acacia defensive strength was a feature of the game. Not until they had piled up a substantial margin did they allow their opponents to score, and then the game became more of a rout than ever. Alpha Gamma Rho and Pi Kappa Alpha played one of the closest, hardest fought games seen on the diamond this year.

Scoring was infrequent, but the A. G. R.'s got to Loomis in the last two innings for the tallies to win.

The Pi K. A. team was more consistent in their scoring, starting right out in the lead, but they were unable to maintain their advantage under the terrific pounding administered by Alpha Gamma Rho in the last two innings. Exceptionally good fielding saved the Pi Kappa Alphas from a complete rout.

Alpha Gamma Rho and Acacia will meet for the interfraternity diamondball championship of the university next Thursday on the fields behind the Coliseum.

Pi Kappa Alpha and Phi Kappa Psi will play for third and fourth places at the same time, in a game which may determine the winner of the all-intramural sport award for the year.

PI K. A. CINDER MEN ON LONG END OF FINAL SCORE

Farm House, Phi Kappa Psi Place Second, Third Respectively.

LEAD INTRAMURAL RACE

Frosh Trackster, Chapman, Ace of Winning Squad.

By ARNOLD LEVINE.

Pi Kappa Alpha was on the long end of the count in the interfraternity track meet when the final results were tabulated Tuesday. The Pi K. A. trackmen piled up 15,162 points, only a 587 majority over the second place winners, Farm House. The Farmers finished with 14,775 points. In third place was Phi Kappa Psi with 11,970. The remaining Greek houses were left far behind.

By virtue of their win, the Pi Kappa Alpha intramural athletic team now stands at the top of the ladder in the race for all-university honors, with but a small margin over their closest competitors, the Phi Psis. Undoubtedly, it will be left for the diamond ball games and golf meet to decide the all-fraternity champs.

Kenneth Chapman, big frosh trackman from Wymore, was the ace of the Pi Kappa Alpha team, as he has been in freshman track this year. Lester McDonald also aided the Greek champs cause considerably, as did Bill Watkins.

The 1934 Greek meet was considered by Harold Petz, director of Intramural Athletics, to be the best held in recent years, from three standpoints. It was exceptional in the number of houses entered, the number of men participating, and the marks made. Seventeen teams, a greater number than ever before, entered men in the track and field events. Out of these seventeen frats tramped over 130 young men to participate, an all time record. The majority of them scored points in one event or another.

The closeness of the race for first place was a feature of the meet. Farm House came up strong in the last day of competition to almost tie the leading Pi Kappa Alphas. The Greek champ was in doubt until the final results were tabulated.

Some of the best marks made were in the hurdles and pole vault. Kenneth Chapman led the timber toppers to the tape with 15 seconds in the 110 highs. Lester McDonald and Jack Hammond, Phi Kappa Psi, tied for first in the pole vault at 11 feet.

Scoring was done on a competitive basis, with a time limit excess of which denoted no score made. The faster the time, the greater the number of points.

Rice and McGarraugh were the stars of the second place team, Farm House, while McClean and Hammond led the Phi Kappa Psis to their third place position. Martin and Whitaker were instrumental in securing fourth for Beta Theta Pi, and DeJarnett, Woolf, and Lichtenberg looked best for Theta Xi, in fifth place.

Final standings of the competing fraternities:
Pi Kappa Alpha—15,162.
Farm House—14,775.
Phi Kappa Psi—11,970.
Beta Theta Pi—8,272.
Theta Xi—5,847.
Acacia—5,790.
Sigma Alpha Epsilon—5,039.
Lambda Chi Alpha—4,792.
Delta Tau Delta—4,220.
Sigma Phi Epsilon—3,252.
Alpha Tau Omega—3,025.
Phi Sigma Kappa—2,374.
Alpha Gamma Rho—1,582.
Sigma Chi—680.
Delta Upsilon—75.

SOFTBALL TOURNAMENT SEMIFINALS FRIDAY

Acacias, Phi Psis Capture Titles in Leagues III and IV.

Semi-finals of the interfraternity soft ball tournament will be played Friday afternoon at four-thirty on the coliseum diamonds according to Harold Petz, director of intramurals. The winners of leagues I and II; leagues III and IV are scheduled to meet, and the winners of these games will play in the finals.

Alpha Gamma Rho completed a successful season winning all of its league games, and will represent league I in the semi-finals. Pi Kappa Alpha gained the right to play in the semi-finals from league II. Leagues III and IV played their final round of games Saturday when Phi Kappa Psi and Acacia took the laurels in their respective leagues.
