Conference Goes Into Second Day

BASEBALL FOR GIRLS GETTING UNDER WAY WITH 40 REPORTING

Directors Plan to Make Up
Four Teams; Schedule
Several Tilts.

Girls' baseball practice is getting rapidly under way, and is making splendid progress, according to Miss Estle Anderson, who is in charge of the girls' athletics for the summer session.

"We surely have some wonderful players," said Miss Anderson, "in fact, some of them are regular sharks. It certainly is a pleasure to watch them play."

Baseball practice for women is being held at 6:30 p. m., every Monday, Tuesday and Thursday evening, on the baseball ground just east of the Social Science building.

Definite arrangements have just been made so that the girls' field can be used during the entire summer session. The committee also wishes to announce that there are available about one-half dozen new in-seam balls.

"Of special interest to all would-be women baseball players, is the fact that Art Jones, a real ball player, has just returned from his fishing trip, and will be ready to help the girls learn the rules of the game," said Miss Anderson last Tuesday, when asked about the progress of the women's games.

Mr. Lantz also stated, "Art knows baseball rules perfectly. Therefore, this should be an unusual opportunity for women teachers who have to coach high school girls' athletics."

Forty women are turning out regularly for practice, but there is still room for many more. The directors stated that they are planning to have four teams. Two of these teams will just play for general amusement, instead of competing with other teams. Those who are just learning the game, or who have not yet tried it, should make a special effort to get on one of these practice teams, was the

Graduate Students' Wives Are Invited to Dames Club Picnic

Wives of graduate students are being invited to a picnic sponsored by the Nebraska Dames club Monday evening at 6 o'clock in Van Dorn park.

According to Mrs. Schmidt, president of the group, all who attend are asked to bring either sandwiches or a covered dish and ten cents.

The Dames club, instituted on the campus last semester, is an organization of the wives of graduate students at the university.

3 BROADCASTS TO END COURSE FOR MUSIC STUDENTS

Three ensemble broadcasts have been scheduled for students in the all state high school orchestral and chorus course, according to an announcement from the university school of music. These are in addition to the regular solo broadcasts scheduled every Tuesday night over KFAB thru the university studio.

The orchestra, which has been training under William Norton, will broadcast Friday, June 29, at 6 p. m., while the chorus under the direction of George R. Howerton is scheduled to go on the air at 6 o'clock on Monday night, July 2. The band will broadcast Thursday, July 5, at 2:30 p. m.

"While the chorus is not yet quite in shape, by Monday night it should have achieved a finish and balance that will be remarkable," declared Mr. Howerton in speaking of the chorus' broadcast. "In addition to serving as a goal toward which to work, thus stimulating activity on the part of the students, these broadcasts will reach their home towns and stimulate an interest in the work there," he stated.

The boys and girls here for the second annual course were paid high tribute when Mr. Howerton asserted that "their promptness and regularity of attendance, and their continued effort, despite high temperatures, is worthy of note."

Derby Day at the University of California includes everything from dances to baseball games.

The All State Educational Conference dinner will be held this evening, at 6:30 p. m., in the Student Activities Building, on the ag college campus. All men and women students of the university summer session are invited to attend.

This is one of the outstanding events on the program of the educational conference that is being held in Lincoln this week, according to Summer Session director.

The program is said to be one of an unusual nature. The main feature of the evening's entertainment, which will be presided over by Chancellor E. A. Burnett, will be a panel discussion led by Mr. Charles A. Bowers, Secretary of the Nebraska State Teachers Association. Visiting instructors and several leading educators are expected to take part in the discussion. Special music will also be a part of the entertainment.

According to the director of the summer session, this will be an exceedingly good opportunity for the university students to get in touch with the latest trends in the field of education.

Tickets for the dinner may be purchased on the first floor of Teachers College today.

The following people will assist with the ticket sale:

8:00 to 9:00 a. m.—Howard McEachen, Herman Weigel, E. C. Stimbart.

THIRD SUMMER SESSION PARTY BOOKED FRIDAY

Another summer session mixer will be held in the university coliseum Friday night, starting at 8:30 p. m., the recreation committee announced Wednesday.

Dave Haun and his ten piece orchestra, who played for the two previous mixers, has been secured for Friday's affair. Entertainment for intermission has also been secured. Wendell Dodd, member of the recreation committee in charge of mixers, stated Wednesday.

Friday's mixer will be the third held since the opening of the summer session. The admission price will remain at ten cent per person, it was announced.

The recreation committee expressed much satisfaction with last Friday's record breaking crowd of some 700 summer session students, and felt that this year's mixer program is one of the most successful since their inception several years ago.

As was the case last Friday, the hostess system will be used again this week. Briefly, the system is the selection of committee members to act as hostesses at the mixers. They are designated by red ribbons and attempt to make it easier for students to meet one another at the dance.

In addition to the Friday night dances, the recreation is planning a series of picnics for summer school students. The dates and other details of these affairs are to be announced in a later issue of the Nebraskan.

Lutheran Students To Picnic Friday At Van Dorn Park

All Lutheran students are being invited to a picnic scheduled Friday evening at Van Dorn Park. Facilities for games and a lunch will be provided by a student committee.

Rev. and Mrs. Henry Erck and Rev. and Mrs. R. E. Rangeler will be chaperons. The group will assemble at the Temple at 5:30 and those with cars are asked to bring them to assist with the transportation. Students of all synods are invited.

EXTENSION NEWS SENDS GREETINGS TO ALL STUDENTS

Greetings from the university extension bureau to summer session students, notices of additional courses offered by that department, and a complete list of new publications of special interest to teachers characterized the new issue of the university extension news bulletin released late last week.

The publication announced that it was possible for university summer session students to earn extra credit hours towards certification by taking work through supervised correspondence courses. A wide field of study, included in nearly two hundred courses, in high school work were being offered. Among them, the News stated, may be found several courses that may be of value to high school executives and administrators in adapting a curriculum to the needs of the individual pupils.

Included in the list of publications of interest to those in the teaching profession include: Volume six of the Educational Research Record containing a number of master's thesis, on educational subjects, articles by members of the Teachers college faculty and others. Others included "A Handbook for School Custodians." It was prepared by Prof. Knute O. Broady, Supt. C. J. Ireland of Elkhorn, and Supt. E. Lyle Miller of Doniphan.

Padding of freshmen has been entirely abolished by the student body at Missouri.

Students Must Be Made Conscious of World in Which They Live--Wesley

Making students conscious of the world in which they live by adopting realistic methods of teaching, was the plea voiced by Dr. Edgar Wesley, University of Minnesota professor, before 300 Nebraska school teachers at the afternoon session of the State Educational conference being held at Morrill hall on the university campus the rest of this week.

"Vested interests of many kinds maintain lobbies, promote slogans, and build up public demand for their objectives," Dr. Wesley stated. "These forces, good and bad, operate our government. To ignore them is naive; to neglect them is foolish."

In history, civics, economics, and sociology the influences of the new deal have been so great that school teachers must revise their teaching methods in keeping with the times. It is only in this manner that the public schools will be able to perform its obligation of training young men and women for future leadership in our society, according to Dr. Wesley.

"Government is a process of change," said Dr. Wesley, "and the past few years has brought tremendous changes in our system of government. Teachers must face the facts clearly, and present them realistically if students are to become fully aware of the world about them."

Earlier Dr. Wesley had outlined the general principles and ultimate objective to be gained from revising, and bringing up to date the curriculums of our public school systems.
