THERE'S NOTHING AS FUNNY AS people—particularly people in the rain. Tuesday just when everyone wanted to get home for dinner, Lincoln experienced one of the largest cloud bursts in history—we think—and it hadn't rained for so long that no one was prepared for it. Girls took off their shoes and waded home; others put coats over their heads and ran—or stumbled—wherever they were going as fast as they could. There weren't enough taxis in the whole city to go around. We heard of one district officer of a sorority, a guest here, who had to walk six blocks in the worst of the downpour. It's nice it rained even though it was two months late.

MISS AMANDA HEPPNER will give her annual tea for all women from 3 to 5 o'clock today at Ellen Smith hall. The program will consist of musical selections by Ethel Owen, violinist and Mrs. Rolla Van Kirk, vocalist, with Karma Venable as accompanist. Dean Heppner will introduce her staff, which is composed of Mrs. E. A. Burnett, wife of the chancellor, Miss Elsie Ford Piper, assistant dean of women, Dr. Elizabeth Williamson, social director of Raymond hall and assistant dean of women, Mrs. Ada Westover, employment secretary, and Miss Bernice Miller, Y. W. C. A. secretary.

PLEDGES at the Gamma Phi Beta house will give a pajama party for the upper classmen Saturday evening. Contrary to rule, the actives will furnish the program, a short and original skit. Refreshments will be served.

WAR IN IMMEDIATE FUTURE HIGHLY UNLIKELY; EUROPEAN COUNTRIES TOO BROKE TO CARRY ON PROLONGED WAR.

(Continued from Page 1.) "The failure of the Disarmament Conference," Professor Hill continues, "and the beginning of a new era of armament rivalry which every nation looks upon with misgivings. Alignments and realignments are constantly occurring, most important of which is the recent re-approach or re-establishment of cordial relations between France and Russia."

War Not Imminent. A war, however, is not imminent, in the opinion of Professor Hill. "Disability to finance a war causes some countries, notably Germany, to be hesitant," he says. "Some countries are doubtless avoiding a war for fear of the consequences internally among restless groups of people. The more sane and reflecting Europeans remember the last war well enough to make an effort to avoid another. Certainly another war as unproductive of permanent peace as the last one is a disaster to be avoided. That America will be unable to maintain neutrality in a possible European conflict of importance is Hill's assertion. He says, "America will always find it difficult to remain aloof from a major European war. One billion dollars of privately owned money invested in European countries, or our own position as a neutral in the early phases of a war might easily bring us in as belligerents."

CEREMONIES TO BE HELD AT COLISEUM

(Continued from Page 1.) Forter will administer the traditional Cornhusker oath to the 1934 freshman class, are complete, according to Franklin Meier Innocent in charge of the program. Members of the two senior honoraries, Mortar Boards and Innocents, with faculty and university administrative officials will conduct the services. Tassels and Corn Cobs, student pep organizations, will also be on hand to assist in the annual exercises. Frankforter Replaces Condra. Col. Frankforter will give the Cornhusker Oath in the place of Dr. G. E. Condra, sponsor of Innocents who has given the Oath for many years, but must miss this year's ceremony because he is out of town working on a soil erosion project. Copies of the Cornhusker Oath will be handed out to every new student as they gather at the coliseum for the convocation, and the cards will also contain several Nebraska songs and yells. The freshmen will be led in those by the yell leaders, so that they can make a creditable showing in the cheering section at the opening football game with Wyoming Saturday.
