BIBLEMEN BID 4 YEAR NO HOME DEFEAT SLATE

Nebraskans Vs. Nebraska Sums Situation as Coach Witte, Former Scarlet and Cream Veteran, Brings His Laramie Eleven to Lincoln Saturday.

By ARNOLD LEVINE.

Nebraskans vs. Nebraska will sum up the grid situation when Willard "Dutch" Witte trots out his Wyoming Cowboys Saturday afternoon, to answer the first kickoff of the 1934 season on Memorial stadium turf, and Nebraska's bid for a fourth straight year of undefeated football at home.

The Laramie ropers will arrive in Lincoln Friday, coached by Witte, a former Husker star himself, boasting two ex-Nebraska prep stars in their starting lineup, and with the advantage over the Huskers of having one game under their belts.

DIRECTORY CHARGES DROPPED, SAYS FUNK

Money Received from Houses Will Be Refunded at Office Saturday.

Charges for classification in the fraternity and sorority section of the student directory have been dropped, according to a statement issued late Thursday by Bob Funk, editor of the directory.

"Money already received from houses will be refunded if they will call at the directory office in the Temple Saturday morning. This step, cutting the revenue as it does, however, makes it necessary to omit the geographic section of the directory," Funk announced.

The lists go to the printer for final checking and arranging Friday at 1 p. m., and fraternity lists must be in by that or inclusion in the section will be impossible.

Lists covering students whose names begin with ABCD will be posted for correction on Social Science bulletin board and all mistakes in personal listings should be corrected and omissions reported so that the directory can be released as soon as possible, Funk asserted.

NEW FALL ISSUE OF PRAIRIE SCHOONER ON SALE AT STAND

"This is unquestionably the best year that the Prairie Schooner has ever had," declared Prof. L. C.

Wimberly, editor. He is especially happy over the fact that every story published by the magazine last year was classed as "distinctive" and worthy of survival by the O'Brien collection.

CITY CHURCHES HOLD RECEPTION FOR FRESHMEN

At Caldwell Memorial United Brethren church, the student reception is to have as its theme "Treasure Island." Decorations will be based upon the trappings of seafaring life, and the refreshment table will take the form of the deck of a treasure ship. Amusements will be in keeping with the general theme.

Another idea is to be carried out by the St. Paul M. E. Epworth League which plans a "kickoff party" at the church at 12th and M streets. All decorations will be in keeping with the football season.

A Century of Progress tour will be taken by the Presbyterian students, who gather at the Manse at 333 No. 14th streets. The Catholic reception will be held in the Newman club rooms in the Temple.

The Evangelical churches are staging a western roundup at the Calvary church, with the games and decorations lending the proper atmosphere.

Games and short skits are to be featured at the First Baptist church at 14th and E streets. J. H. Agee will make the welcoming address and Rev. and Mrs. C. H. Walcott, Miss Grace Spacht, Baptist student secretary and faculty member, will be introduced. S. David Koch will preside during the program at the Second Baptist church, and Clover Ross will give the speech of welcome.

A receiving line, composed of officers of the church, the university faculty members, and the officers of the university department of the church, will greet students attending the reception at the Christian church.

On each one of these coats the manufacturer has staked his reputation, his whole business for the season. They have to be good—better than that—the very best he can make.

Witte Former Husker.

Witte himself is a product of the Nebraska football school. Back in '26, '27 and '28 he played quarterback on Ernest Bearg's eleven, but now he enters the Husker gridiron world as arch villain to the Husker's hopes.

Eddie Dunn is the chief Cowpuncher ball totting threat. Dunn was enrolled at Nebraska in his freshman year, but transferred to the Western institution. Against the infantry he ran wild, and his punts out of bounds were sensational, promising an interesting afternoon for the Husker lads if he ever gets started.

Loup City Lou Danczyk is the other Nebraskan in the starting lineup, holding down a guard berth as a sophomore. Wes Christensen, veteran guard who will play tackle against the Nebraskans, is, in the opinion of the Wyoming coaching staff, familiar with the Husker type of play, in for a good afternoon Saturday.

Justice May Be Out.

Nebraska may have to use a new man in the line. Glen Justice, holding down the right guard assignment in practice this season, limped in from last Tuesday's play with an injured knee. Altho treatments have been successful, whether or not he will be able to play hangs in the balance.

"The boys are right mentally and physically and ready to go," was the only statement Coach Bible would make regarding his Husker team. The Husker mentor admitted that he doesn't expect Wyoming to be a push-over for his lads. "They'll be an inspired bunch," he said. "Dutch would like to have his boys give him a real homecoming, and they'll play as they never have before."

Pflum Game Captain.

Walter Pflum, husky 220 pound tackle from Imperial, will captain the Cornhuskers in their first start of the season.

Coach Bible polished off his offense and defense Thursday, light work being the order of the day, with the game just two days ahead. The lineup starting for the Nebraska mentor will be a combination of sophs and veterans, much the same one that has been working together in practice.

Probable starting lineups: Wyoming—Nebraska West... Scherer Sougins... Pflum Lang... Heid Lanz... Meier Erickson... Justice or White Christensen... Reese Pickett... Yelkin Kizaire... Bauer Dix... LaNoue Cardwell Dunn... Francis Pendants...

Phalanx.

Members of Phalanx are to meet Friday afternoon at 4:30 in Nebraska hall 210.
