mage Wednesday afternoon.

Although the Red shirts downed the ball back of their frosh and nubbins opposition's goal three times, their showing was, on the whole, somewhat disappointing on the eve of their first titular defense, and that against the team considered the best bet to dethrone the Huskers from the champs chair which they have occupied for three consecutive years.

But what was pleasing to the Husker coaches and fans alike was that the complete squad of Nebraska men will be ready and anxious to take the field at Norman, unmarred by serious injuries, with the exception of course, of Jerry LaNoue. Lloyd Cardwell and Ladas Hubka were in suit but did not take part in the strenuous share of the afternoon's work, Cardwell bothered by a bruised shoulder, and Hubka from a twisted ankle. Apart from these exceptions all were on deck for duty. Sam Francis, the big Oberlin bone crusher, who suffered a bruised ankle in the Iowa clash bucked

LONG SCRIMMAGE handicap him not in the least when he answers the call at Norman. TOPS PRACTICES Two Varsity Squads.

Two varsity teams tried their hand at advancing the ball in Wednesday's practice, one against the frosh and one against the "B". Combining scores, 19 points were made for the white-helmeted fleetfoots, and 0 by the Blues and Passes figured largely in what the Reds had to say for themselves offensively against their opponents. The running attack gained many yards, including several jaunts of from 20 to 30 yards, but at the critical moments the frosh broke thru to smear plays for losses when touchdowns seemed Yearlings Find Holes in took to the air and tabulated three times.

Skewes was stonewalled, but on the next play threw the ball twelve yards to Parsons, who stepped over for six points. The red-haired Im-perial fullback, game captain for the Huskers against Oklahoma, missed the try for extra point from placement.

Frosh Take Try.

The frosh then had their turn, developed mostly in an at-by Jack Dodd, of Gothen-to avoid the onrushing Husker ends, Bernard Scherer and Les McDonald long enough to get rid of the ball in a forward. All told, the frosh lost almost as much as they gained, Scherer proved especially adept at rushing in and snagging the passer before he re-leased the ball, and he and Mc-Donald made life miserable for several of the frosh would-be hrowers.

It remained for the second varsity team to roll up 13 points, and it didn't take long for the first score to materalize. A "B" punt was blocked and recovered on the 17. Sam Francis flipped to Ray Toman for fourteen yards, and then smashed thru the line standing up for the score. He placed the kick from placement squarely between the cross-bars. The Francis to Toman combination figured largely in the second score also. The big full-back let fly a pass that was good for twenty-three yards to Toman, and then tossed to Bob Benson for the touchdown. Previous to this, Ralph Eldridge had circled end for 34, and Sam'l had added 20 thru
