

CAMPUSOCIETY

NO ONE KNOWS WHAT WILL happen when the Cornhuskers meet the Panthers a week from Saturday but everyone is looking forward to what promises to be the best game of the season. The team has started to practice in a closed stadium. The coaches, the team managers, and the team members themselves are the only people who will be allowed to see the plays which will be sprung on the Pitt team. Rallies have been planned; the tassels and Corneobs have some new ideas, and perhaps the new Nebraska song will be presented at this game—in fact it looks as if all the interest on the campus for the next two weeks will center around making bets on Nebraska—and winning them.

ANNOUNCED MONDAY was the marriage of Miss Mary Murchison to James Paul Liggett, both of Manila, Philippine Islands. Mrs. Liggett is a graduate of the University and a member of Sigma Kappa, while Mr. Liggett is connected with a territorial oil company on the islands.

THE UNIVERSITY CLUB was the scene of a learned gathering Monday evening when Phi Beta Kappa met for dinner and an informal program. Dr. Joy Guilford presided over the program which included a talk by Dr. J. D. Clark on the "Life and Death of the NRA," and short reports on the national council given by Prof. Clifford Hicks and Dr. Guilford. About seventy-five members were present.

ALPHA TAU OMEGA wishes to announce the pledging of Clayton Evans of Grand Island Monday night.

LINCOLN ALUMNI will be the guests of honor when the active chapter entertain them at a banquet at the chapter house Thursday evening at six-thirty o'clock. Vincent Sattley will be in charge of the arrangements.

AT THE HOME of Miss Irene Jackson, Tuesday, the Phi Mu alumnae entertained the pledgers at a Halloween party. The basement recreation room, where the affair was held, was decorated with orange and black crepe paper, jack-o-lanterns and other Halloween emblems, and guests came in costume. On the committee were Miss Kathryn Dean, Mrs. K. O. Broady, Mrs. Paul Karnes, Mrs. Joe Elwell, Mrs. Sheldon Halett, Mrs. Robert Mallory, Miss Mildred Kemp, and Miss Leta Fohman.

ALUMNAE of Phi Chi Theta, honorary women's business sorority, will entertain at a Halloween party tomorrow evening in the basement of the home of Miss Irene Jackson. There will be a ping pong tournament and bridge games. Gladys Williams will assist Miss Jackson with the arrangements for the affair.

CHI OMEGA Mothers' club will meet at the chapter house Thursday noon for a one o'clock luncheon. Mrs. Martha Halley, the housemother, and Mrs. J. W. Bernstein will be hostesses.

THE OPENING feature of the annual Y. W. C. A. finance drive was a dinner for drive workers which was held last evening at six

SPORTSING

By LLOYD HENDRICKS

U. S. C. pledges have "gone Fauntleroy" as the saying goes, since President R. B. von Klein-Smidt issued an official edict prohibiting hazing activities at the University of Southern California at Los Angeles. He declared that the move was made to do away with all forms of physical punishment and hazing because "the university is obligated to protect the health and well-being of all students under its supervision."

As a substitute for "Hell Week" the period prior to initiation when pledges are required to do everything from acquiring a black cat with no tail to a black cat with a white tail—a probationary week when the neophytes would do constructive work in and around the fraternity house after classes was suggested by the U. S. C. president.

That is a good suggestion, but it loses a lot of the spirit of "Hell Week." Going out after impossible creations and bringing them literally speaking, back alive, is most interesting. The only trouble is that it entails sometimes a fist-cuff with some hotel proprietor who somehow or other is not enthused at seeing his best guest being appropriated for the night or some weary eyed nightwatchman who can not for the life of him see why any one should need hog's blood from the packing company at 12 o'clock at night.

Official prohibition of "Hell Week" is a rare instance and usually happens only after the university authorities have received some report of the ungentlemanly conduct of various neophytes engaged in their night work.

Why not place the rifle team on par with other athletic teams at the University of Nebraska? It takes just as much work and is just as self-satisfying to one who is on it as any other minor sport. Last year the rifle team members were given minor letters. When they received their sweaters finally after some six months delay, they found that the one stripe around the arm denoting team membership for one year had been

Husker Frosh Squad Scheduled to Meet Varsity

Nebraska U. varsity and freshmen will meet Saturday afternoon at Memorial stadium in their annual game. Members of the frosh squad slated to see action will include:
Lower row—Lawrence Coy, Valley; Arlo Klum, Lincoln; Homer Hoff, Wauweta; Harris Andrews, Beatrice; Ernest Schalkel, Lincoln; Marvin Plock, Lincoln; Bill Gray, Columbus; Dale Harrison, Spencer; Bill Gridley, North Platte; Art Ball, Fremont.
Second row—Bob Mehring, Grand Island; Elmer Dohrmann, Staplehurst; Bill Fitzgerald, Springfield, S. D.; Leonard Carstens, Fairbury; Vic Struve, Deshler; Charles Wheeler, Belleville, Kas.; Gordon Thompson, Neligh; Claude Faulkner, North Platte; Bill Doherty, Omaha; Merton Reese, Chappell.

left off. Well, needless to say, they all thought that there had been unfair discrimination against the rifle team. The matter was ironed out after a meeting of the N club so that the individual letter winners could supply the stripe from out of their own pocket.

That instance would make it seem as though the rifle team be the subject of unfair discrimination. It is a minor sport in all schools that favor the range work in the Big Six. It should be accorded its place of honor in the N club as much as any other sport, like tennis or baseball.

It takes lots of practice and training to be able to hold a rifle on a target and make bullseyes consistently. So why not give them all the rights that would be given any other minor sport activity on the campus?

Pat O'Dea who at the University of Wisconsin in the early 90's was one of the greatest football stars of all time, recently exposed his real identity after having changed his name in 1914.

He was believed to have been killed in the World War. O'Dea's kicking feats have never been duplicated. He frequently broke the morale of opposing teams when, while in full stride with tacklers closing in on him he would dash a few steps to the side and dropkick the ball 60 or 70 yards for a goal. In 1898 against Northwestern he kicked a 62-yard goal during a snowstorm. The following year he placekicked against Illinois 57 yards. Many of his goals "were made from difficult angles."

North Dakota's freshman team plays its game a la Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde, every time it journeys across the border into Winnipeg, Canada. One-half of the game is played under American grid rules and the other under rugby regulations. This is supposed to be a record for North Dakota. Praises be that North Dakota can make a record at anything but basketball.

Kansas may thank their lucky stars that they had a man to call on when they needed the extra point in their affair with the Sooner gentlemen.

Suffering from a cold so severe that he was unable to play at his regular position, Tommy McCall was rushed into the game in the last quarter long enough to score the tying point against Oklahoma with a well-aimed kick.

The late Knute Rockne was once credited with having said, "One perfect play and a strong defense will win most any ball game." When Notre Dame won from Carnegie Tech it coincided with Rock's concept of a winning ball club except in one detail—Coach Layden's boys executed two perfect plays instead of the quoted one.

As the Irish were in possession of the ball on their own 44-yard line, the backfield shifted to the right, and Shakespeare received the ball, circled his own right end, and with perfect interference proceeded down the field without being touched.

The second perfect play for the Irish was when Quarterback Bill Bruno called for a pass and right he was for Andy Pilney heaved the ball in beautiful fashion from the Carnegie Tech 45-yard line to Captain Dominic Valiro's arms on the goal line, and it was good for the second score.

That is coming pretty close to the way Rockne-coached teams used to win their ball games. Time after time Rockne would not allow his teams to pile up large scores, preferring on the other hand to make a close contest out of it and keep the advantage.

That, as Cy Sherman of the Lincoln Star, so aptly stated is also the secret for the successful gate season which this year's Cornhusker team is enjoying. If people see a run away affair they lose a lot of their interest in the team and some of them won't come back to see another game.

Varsity Yearlings Mix in Annual Tilt

Freshmen Assume Panther Plays in Endeavor to Outgain Regulars.

Nebraska frosh, equipped with Pittsburgh plays, will take to the air in an attempt to outgain the varsity outfit this Saturday, in the annual Yearling-Husker tilt. Admission for the game has been set at 25 cents for adults and 10 cents for Knottolers, the proceeds going to the R. O. T. C. band.

George Sauer, backfield coach for the frosh gridmen, has six eligible passers in Jack Dodd, Gothenburg and Paul Amer, southpaw flippers; Howard Brill, Norton, Kas.; John Bauer, Lincoln, Art Ball, Fremont and Marvin Plock, Lincoln.

PAUCK SPEAKER AT FRIENDSHIP DINNER

Pool to Give Address of Welcome at Banquet Friday, Nov. 2.

Dr. Wilhelm Pauck, professor of church history, will be the principal speaker at the International Friendship banquet to be held Friday, Nov. 2 at the First Christian church. Dr. R. J. Pool of the Botany department will give the address of welcome and Ingeborg Oesterbin will give the response from the students. The foreign students will be introduced by their hosts.

Music will be furnished by Elizabeth Bushue, who will give a violin solo, and Vance Leininger, who will play several piano solos. Elaine Fontein will act as toastmistress. Reservations must be made with Grace Lewis, who is in charge, or the First Christian church by Thursday morning, Nov. 1.

WILL ROGERS, JR., STARTS NEWSPAPER

STANFORD UNIVERSITY, Calif. (CHS). While his famous father, the cowboy-humorist, epitomizes the day's news, Will Rogers, jr., this week is preparing to publish current world events in his own magazine at Stanford university.

Assuredly starting "from scratch," young Rogers will himself finance the 16-page weekly news magazine which he will attempt to sell to Stanford students. He plans to publish 1,200 copies each week, handling the entire editorial business himself.

POINTED PARAGRAPHS

Silence often covers a lot of ignorance.

It is better to have a heart of oak than a wooden head.

When some men entertain an idea it is extremely cheap hospitality.

Empty compliments and senseless abuse are on an equal footing.

Don't blame the cat. No doubt a canary bird looks as good to him as a watermelon does to a country boy.

Don't be ashamed to wear your old clothes until you are able to pay for new ones.

A lot more people would take a friendly interest in you if you made a noise like a roll of greenbacks.

Frosh, Saving Seat For Friend, Takes It From Chancellor

"I'm saving this seat for a friend," said a naive little freshman when Chancellor Burnett wanted to sit beside her at the all-university convocation Tuesday.

Imagine her consternation on learning later that the erst-while petitioner was none other than the head of the university.

That 'n this—In high school Lloyd Cardwell carried around with him the title "Brute"... donated to him by an opponent in prep football competition... now he's the "Wild Horse"... wonder if there's much difference... Fitting nickname—King Kong or Russ Thompson... he towers over the rest of the boys like the Empire State Building... Wait! Pflum played a good game at tackle last Saturday... "Fatty" he has been termed... Frosh will have their chance to do things to the varsity Saturday... Some of those boys look pretty good.
